How do you go public with a new partner?

Cupid's Advice:

You've just started seeing someone and you think you're ready to go public with the romance. Dating someone new is always fun and exciting, but you don't want to introduce your significant other to the people you love unless you're absolutely sure he/she will be around for awhile. Cupid is here to help:

1. Talk to your partner first: You need to have "the talk" with your new love before you make any plans to go public. Ask your companion how they feel about making the relationship known to some of your friends and family. If he/she is unsure about their commitment to you or they're just not ready to meet your loved ones yet, give them a little more time.

2. Let your family know: If your significant other is OK with taking your relationship to the next level, give your family the heads up first. Tell you family and friends about your partner before you introduce them to one another.

3. Make sure you're ready: Really think about what you're about to get yourself into. Are you sure you're ready to let the family meet your honey? Hold off on any meeting plans if you feel even the slightest bit of hesitation. The person you're dating might not even be the right one to meet your loved ones.
