

Play Your Way to Love With Match.com, Spontuneous and AshLee Frazier of 'The Bachelor'

By Kerri Sheehan

Match.com understands that love really is a game! That's why they're teaming up with Rob Ridgeway, the creator of a new board game called "Spontuneous," to bring together singles for a night of competitive fun. On Thursday, September 5th, from 7 to 10 p.m. ET, "Spontuneous" will be the game of the night at Stir Game Night. AshLee Frazier of The Bachelor will also be in attendance to challenge Match.com members in rounds of the game that brings song lyrics to life.

The game promises to get everyone in the mood to belt out his or her favorite tunes by challenging players to stump each other with lyrics. Hearing what's on people's "inner playlist" can be a real eye-opener, and it's sure to give you a few laughs. "Spontaneous" is less about strategy and competition and more about just having fun together.

"Match.com believes that connecting with new people should be fun. Over the last year, we've seen it happen time and time again at our Stir events – whether it's during a game of kickball, trivia, Ping-Pong or at our first wildly successful game night," says Luke Zaiantz, VP of Events at Match.com. "We're excited to help our members connect over some of the best board games around – from well-known titles to the industry's newest hidden gems."

Let Match.com do the work for you so you can make easy connections by taking some time out to unplug and engage with other singles through game play. If you're looking for love and in the New York area, come on down to Match.com's "Spontaneous" Stir Game Night and try your hand at Ridgeway's game. You may not win the game, but you just may be able to win someone's heart. Best of luck!
