How do you know when to go public with your relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

You’ve been dating someone for awhile and you think it’s time to let everyone you care about know about your new relationship. Before you do, there’s a few things you need to think about first. Cupid has some tips:

1. Timing: Take into consideration how long the two of you have been dating. If the relationship is still fairly new, then maybe you should wait a little while longer – at least until you and your new boo are sure things are headed in the right direction.

2. Feels right: If you’re comfortable in the situation you’re in and your partner is OK with the decision to go public, then go for it. Don’t feel like you have to tell your friends and family what’s going on in your love life if you’re unsure if the person you’re dating is the one for you. Be sure what you have with that special individual isn’t just some fling before you start spreading the news.

3. You talked about it: You're not the only one who gets to decide when to go public with your relationship. Your partner needs to be in on the decision as well. If you're thinking it's time to let your loved ones know who that special someone is in your life, you should have a conversation with your honey about your plans to announce the exciting news first.
