But even relationships that have lasted long may be due for a split. How do you know when? Cupid is here with some advice on how to know if your relationship may be ready for a change:

- 1. You only communicate when you have to: If you are in a long-term relationship, it may seem as if you already know so much about your partner. You may lose that curiosity that was fluttering in the beginning of your relationship. Therefore, you only talk to them when necessary. If you realize this is happening, you can work to change it, but if it feels too forced, that’s when you know.

This celebrity break-up didn't leave any hard feelings. What are some ways to build a friendship with your ex after a break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

It takes a good amount of maturity and open-mindedness to be able to co-exist with your ex in a healthy manner without any hard feelings. It's so important to make it work for your kids, and getting along helps with the process. Even if you don't share children together, it is still possible to build a friendship with your ex after a break-up. Cupid has some advice:

1. Don't doubt the break-up: If you are going to commit to being friends with your ex, then that is exactly what you have to do. Get it through your mind that this is no longer a person that you look at in a romantic way. They are your friend. With that said, you both may need some mourning time before you begin to form a friendship. Allow that time for yourselves before forcing things. Once you do venture down the path of friendship, try not to get so close that you begin to doubt that you broke-up in the first place. If it is meant to be, it will be, and you can make that judgement call along the way. That being said, try to stick to just being friends again at first.

2. Accept the new relationship: Don't go into the friendship with your ex with the same expectations that you had when you were in a relationship with them. It is going to be different. You won't spend as much time together and the way you interact is going to be altered. Don't get hung up on the past and long for that relationship. Rather, embrace this new pleasant friendship that you have formed.

3. Go into it with a positive attitude: This is the key for everything. If you litter your mind with doubt that this won't work out or you feed into the disapproving thoughts of others, you will become consumed with looking for a reason to make it not work. 1. Cut off contact: First and foremost, make sure that you have cut off all contact from your ex. Delete their number so you don't have the urge to text them. 2. Make peace: Accept what happened. Truly accept it. Even if the relationship ended badly, try to be happy about the good experiences that you got from it. Self-forgiveness is also very important to embrace during the time of a break-up. Relationships help us to uncover aspects of ourselves that we may not have shown before. Take time to examine some great personal achievements from this time. "We don't need to rush into anything." Hang in there, Corinne!

Corinne Olympios just went through another celebrity break-up very soon after announcing her relationship. What are some ways to know if your new relationship will last?

Cupid's Advice:

When you begin a relationship, there's always an element of uncertainty. Sometimes, you just know when somebody's going to be around for longer than a few dates. Here's what Cupid has to say:

1. They're eager to be with you: Everyone's busy to some extent. However, it is important to recognize the difference between not having time and making time. If your partner seems super eager to spend a lot of time with you, and never (or very, very seldom) postpones plans, that is very telling! Even better: when the time they want to spend with you is thoughtful or seemingly mundane (i.e. offering to tag along with you while you run errands.)

2. They take a genuine interest in your life: When others might brush you off and seem indifferent about something small that excites you, your new partner shares the new excitement with you. They love hearing you talk about the details of your life – big and small. The same goes for you, too. Celebrity News: Harvey Weinstein Lied About Having Intimate Relations with Gwyneth Paltrow

By Rachel Sparks

Harvey Weinstein's name has become a household warning. There's yet more celebrity news on Weinstein's decades long scandals. According to EOnline.com and The New York Times, Gwyneth Paltrow published a staggeringly long list of cover-ups and lies throughout Weinstein's career. One major lie Weinstein told was that Paltrow had consented to have sex with him in order to advance her career. Paltrow's name and Weinstein's lie was used as a weapon against other actresses in order for them to say "yes" to his advances.

This celebrity news has us cringing. What are some ways to ward off unwanted advances?

Cupid's Advice:

We all at some point will be in a position where we are made uncomfortable by unwanted advances. Male or female, someone with power can abuse their position to negotiate with you something you don't want to do. Cupid has relationship advice to help you when you're in these situations:

1. Call them out: Use your best judgement. Sometimes, calling out a person on their advances is exactly what it takes to end it. If a person thinks they can get away with something because they don't think you'll speak up, prove them wrong. Sometimes, though, the person making the advances is too aggressive and calling them out will anger them. Again, use your best judgement, but don't be afraid to speak up for yourself.

2. Tell them to leave you alone, in no uncertain terms: If you firmly say you want nothing more, sometimes the person coming onto you will stop. If you say this in front of a group, the other people can hold the advancer accountable for their actions. But be careful, doing this makes it much more uncomfortable being alone with that person, so avoid alone time at all costs.

3. Report the behavior: If you've asked the person to stop and they haven't, told them to stop and they won't, called them out and they don't care, it's time to report this behavior. Telling an authority figure will likely mean someone steps in and protects you. There may be backlash, so don't be alone with that person. Stay strong.

By Jessica Gomez

In celebrity news, Naomi Watts showed support toward ex Liev Schreiber while he was at the Golden Globes, according to UsMagazine.com. Watts watched the Golden Globes from home with their two sons. She posted a photo Sunday via Instagram of her two kids hovering over the television cheering their daddy on. How cute!

These celebrity exes are supporting one another even after their break-up. What are some reasons to continue supporting one another after a split?

Cupid's Advice:

Seeing this former celebrity couple get along so well is a beautiful thing, and we should follow by example! Cupid has some advice as to why you should be on a good note with an ex after a split, a good ex that is. Here are three reasons why:

1. For the children, if you have any: It is important for children to see their parents get along. It helps them through the separation process, and helps them feel balanced and in harmony. You don't want hostility and bad vibes around!

2. Closure: Why end on a bad note? Going through a break up can be a hard time with emotions running high. However, when your ex isn't a bad person, it's good to leave things on a good note. Resolve your issues and get closure – it brings peace and helps you move on.

3. You never know what life brings: This is important! You may never speak or see your ex again, but then again, you may run into them again. It's always good to keep a good relationship or reputation with as many people as possible, although it's not always possible. Whether you run into an ex in the future in a professional setting or a social one, you would not want an awkward situation to unfold.

Celebrity Break-Up? Nina

Dobrev & Glen Powell Taking Time Apart Amid Busy Schedules

By Karley Kemble

Uh oh, it looks like Nina Dobrev and her boyfriend Glen Powell could soon face an upsetting celebrity break-up. According to EOnline.com, the celebrity couple are taking a break from their relationship. Though they've not officially called it quits, a source close to the duo says that Dobrev has been quite busy with various projects, which has caused a rift in the relationship. While there hasn't been any explosive fights between or bad blood, sources are saying they are not as close as they had been earlier this year. We hope things work out for this celebrity couple!

Though this may not be classified as a celebrity break-up yet, it seems busy schedules are getting in the way of this relationship. What are some ways to keep a busy schedule from affecting your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, life gets in the way and it's challenging to balance your professional life with your personal life. Check out some ways to manage your busy schedule, without feeling as though you're neglecting your relationship or your job:

1. Set boundaries: Make it a point to keep your work at work. When you constantly blur the lines between your relationship and your career, it's inevitable that one will take up more of your time. Being present with your partner without checking your phone for work updates when you're off the clock really means a lot! Set boundaries and make sure you keep yourself accountable.

2. Communicate: A strong relationship needs strong communication to survive. If you or your partner conceal your feelings of neglect, then it's likely an explosive argument will occur somewhere along the line. If you need to work late, and reschedule date night, make sure your partner knows you still care for them, and aren't choosing your job because you love it more than them!

3. Include them in your plans: If it's possible, you can try merging your two worlds. This doesn't mean you have to find your partner a job at your workplace, but perhaps you two can form your own business together (given that you two mesh well on a professional level, that is!) Alternatively, invite your partner into your "work world," and bring them to social events outside of work. That way, they can meet the people you spend your working hours with, and they can get a first-hand look into another area of your life that is kind of unknown.

Celebrity Break-Up: How Jennifer Lawrence & Darren Aronofsky's Age Difference Led to Their Split

By Rachel Sparks

We're sad to see this celebrity couple split. Jennifer Lawrence, 26, and celebrity ex director Darren Aronofsky, 48, broke up just one month after the release of mother!, the movie where they met. According to People.com, a source told the magazine that the age difference between Lawrence and Aronofsky was likely the cause for the end of their relationship. The source says that though the couple was extremely infatuated with and respected each other, the differences in life experiences was the cause of this celebrity break-up.

This celebrity break-up happened back in September, but we are just now getting some more details. What are some factors to consider when it comes to age in a relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

When Cupid strikes, rationale is forgotten. It's not always logical who we fall in love with, but sometimes it's important to sit down and evaluate a relationship. Age doesn't have to be a negative factor between two people. The Olsen twins are notorious for dating older men, and despite what critics may see, the longevity of their relationships speaks to their happiness. There are things to talk about with your partner to ensure that age will not have a long-term effect between you two. Here is Cupid's relationship advice:

1. Children: Let's knock the biggie out right off the bat. Sometimes older partners may not want kids, may not be able to have them, or already have some. Children are a huge factor in many people's relationships. Are you and your partner on the same page in regards to this? Age doesn't have to have any impact on the ability or desire to have children, but be sure both you and your partner are open and honest about what you want when it comes to children.

Related Link: Celebrity Baby: Mary-Kate Olsen & Husband Olivier Sarkozy 'Really Want a Baby'

2. Friends: We all tend to hang out with people who are similar to us. While ages may vary in friendships, more often than not we gravitate to people who are close to our age because, generally speaking, life evolves on similar paths. If you're around a bunch of older friends, will you be intimidated or inspired? Will you feel left out or will you grow and feel like part of the group?

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: John Stamos & Girlfriend Caitlin McHugh Are Engaged

3. Life-experiences: Older ages have dealt with kids, divorce, education, careers, health issues, etc., while younger people are likely still trying to figure out life. Sometimes moments occur where there's tension because of these differences. Age differences are not impossible to work with in a relationship. The older person likely places more value on the relationship because of their past experiences, adding more depth to the relationship; however, there will be challenges. Just be certain this is something the both of you are willing to work through.

Celebrity News: A-Rod's Intelligence is Questioned by Ex-Girlfriend Anne Wojcicki's Mom

By Rachel Sparks

The latest celebrity news is full of low insults and, interestingly, a sincere compliment. Alex Rodriguez has been under fire by celebrity ex Anne Wojcicki's mom who, in short, called him the dullest lightbulb in the box. According to UsMagazine.com, Wojcicki's mom stated that the only thing A-Rod knew how to talk about was baseball. That's not the impression you want to leave with your future in-laws. Wojcicki's mom did say that it was clearly evident A-Rod loved her daughter. Jennifer Lopez, now part of one of the hottest celebrity couples with A-Rod, complimented her beau by saying he can conquer anything. So, while you may not watch Big Bang Theory and debate particle theories, at the core, A-Rod is a great guy.

This celebrity news seems a little shallow to us. What are some ways to make a good impression on your partner's parents?

Cupid's Advice:

If you're trying to build a lasting relationship with your partner, impressing their family will need to be a priority eventually. It's intimidating. You're trying to tell the people who love your significant other more than anyone else that you're deserving. If your partner has close relationship to their parents, impressing them, or lack thereof, could be detrimental to future movement of your relationship. Read Cupid's relationship advice to help you put your best face on for that monumental meeting:

1. Act like it's an interview: because it is. Dress to impress, as they say. Turn off your cell phone, shake hands, stand with confidence and power, and follow common protocols for respect. Be on your best behavior and act like you're getting a job, because you are. Your partner's parents expect you to take care of their baby (no matter how old they are) so you're interviewing for the role of supportive partner.

2. Southern respect: "Sir" and "Ma'am" go a long way. Sure, major cities like New York and Seattle think these terms are out-dated, but they ultimately stand as a sign of respect. Even though we're all adults, showing respect through the language you use sets the tone for how you're likely to treat their kid. Plus, you're impressing your S.O. when you treat their family with respect. Don't worry, you'll get rewarded afterwards.

3. Showcase your skills as a partner: We said you're interviewing, right? Well how better can you interview than by showing off your skills as a partner? Shower your love with affection and admiration. Believe us, this will go very, very far for both your partner and their family.

Celebrity Break-Up: Jennifer Hudson's Ex David Otunga Will Fight for Primary Custody of Their Son Post-Split

By Karley Kemble

Jennifer Hudson could be facing a long and messy custody battle. In the latest celebrity news, UsMagazine.com reports the American Idol alum and current coach on The Voice is fighting her ex-fiancé David Ortunga for primary guardianship of their son, David Jr. According to Ortunga's attorney, he has been working to settle an "amicable parenting agreement with Ms. Hudson for several weeks now," but the estranged couple has not been able to finalize it. Hudson has previously been granted a petition for Order of Protection against her celebrity ex, citing protection for herself and for her son. The pair announced their celebrity break-up earlier this year.

This celebrity break-up seems to be getting very messy. What are some things to consider when you're splitting with your significant other and you have a child in the picture?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, relationships fizzle out. While a split is always complicated and full of emotions, if you and your estranged partner have a child, there are even higher chances for issues to arise. If you are breaking up with your partner and you share kids, Cupid has some things for you to consider:

1. Be ready to co-parent: You and your partner have a shared responsibility for your kids. If you are splitting up, you should figure out how you'd like to continue raising your kids. Ideally, this should be done without the help of lawyers and a court. Figure out a system that works best for your lives and stick to it.

2. Adopt a "kids come first" mindset: Establishing this mentality is important after a split. Regardless of the differences between you and your partner, it's important to remember that your kids come first. This will help you in times of conflict and stress. Sometimes, you'll both have to swallow your pride and put on a happy face for the sake of your kids' well-being.

3. Keep it professional: Never badmouth your partner in front of your kids. No matter the situation, it's important to voice your negative opinions in private. By projecting your feelings about your ex onto your kids, you could cause long-term emotional issues for them. Let your children form their own opinions and conclusions, and make sure you're there for them when they need you.

By Rachel Sparks

After only a week without celebrity ex Selena Gomez, The Weeknd has been spotted out on the town with Justin Bieber's ex Yovanna Ventura. He was seen holding hands with Ventura while hanging out with French Montana, according to EOnline.com. The Weeknd's partying is the latest celebrity news. Post-celebrity breakup from Selena Gomez, The Weeknd is definitely getting around. What are some ways to recover from a split quickly?

Cupid's Advice:

Post-split is a disorienting feeling. You've lost the person you spent all of your time, likely other friends, and common hobbies. For the sentimental, TV shows, music, video games, etc. that the two of you shared bring back painful memories. Figuring out what to do with yourself after a breakup is hard, but it starts with getting over your ex. Here's our dating advice for all of you who are newly single:

1. Actually feel your feelings: No one wants to feel lonely, guilty, hurt, or betrayed, but pushing all of those feelings aside will only prolong the process of moving on. Grab a friend and bawl your eyes out. Get to the gym and work-out your frustrations. Drink until feel your sorrows, purge them, and move on.

2. Cut them off: The only way to really get over your ex is to ignore them. Sounds harsh? It's worse being that guy who is stuck in the past. Delete all contact information for your ex, get out of your shared group of friends, and find new hobbies if you shared any with your ex. Finding who you are on your own starts with actually being on your own.

3. Get back out there: Ok, so one-night stands, flings, and rebounds can happen if you get back in the saddle before you're ready. Celebrity News: Scott Disick is Upset Kourtney Kardashian Didn't Invite Him to Khloe's Surprise Party

By Karley Kemble

Uh oh, it looks like celebrity exes Scott Disick and Kourtney Kardashian are making celebrity news yet again. According to EOnline.com, Disick was very upset he was not invited to her sister, Khloe Kardashian's surprise birthday party. In a preview for next week's Keeping Up With the Kardashians episode, a disgruntled Disick confronts his ex, saying, "I would have wanted to be there for her" because he still considers himself part of the family. When asked for explanation, Kardashian explained that she was worried about the photos and press attention – but later reveals that she simply did not want her celebrity ex to be there. The preview ends with Disick calling his celebrity ex "really fake" for not being honest with him. Yikes!

This celebrity news shows that these exes aren't necessarily civil all of the time. What are some parameters you can put on your relationship with your ex if you have children together?

Cupid's Advice:

Breakups can be messy. Breakups with kids can be really messy. While Kardashian and Disick try and remain civil for the sake of their three children, it's clear they face their fair share of problems. If you're having trouble with an ex, Cupid has some tips that you can implement into your life:

1. Kick the emotions to the curb: You must keep your frustrations and all negative feelings about your ex between the two of you. It's easy to jump to conclusions and expect the worst from your ex if you ended on bad terms and continue to have drama. Your child (or children) are the most important commitment you two share, so when they're around, get along as best as you possibly can.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Scott Disick Threatens Kourtney Kardashian for Dating Again

2. Have a clear-cut plan: Early on into your separation or divorce, it is pivotal to have a clear and defined custody agreement. Between the two of you, decide on a visitation schedule and figure out how you will celebrate holidays and their birthdays. It won't be easy by any means, but it will really help you diffuse potential conflicts from arising.

3. Leave the new boyfriend/girlfriend out: Introducing a new person into your child's life can be complicated. It is best to leave the parenting to the parents until the relationship becomes very serious. That way, you and your ex can learn how to co-parent maturely and avoid playing the blame game with each other.

Cupid's Advice:

Break-ups are almost always rough. While it may seem challenging to heal, it's important to maintain a strong sense of self. Cupid has some tips that you can implement into your life to help keep your past from dictating the future:

1. Respect the past: Your past relationship ended for a reason. You don't have to forget the good times you had. Respect the relationship for all that it was, because it probably was right for you at that point in your life.

2. Be present: If you spend your time dwelling on what used to be, it'll be super challenging to find happiness in another relationship. Yes, you should respect the past for what it was, just know you are a different person in the present. Learn from your past self and relationship, and fully embrace yourself for who you are presently.

Celebrity Break-Up: Selena Gomez & The Weeknd Split After 10 Months of Dating

By Karley Kemble

Selena Gomez's heart wants what it wants, and apparently it's not The Weeknd. In the latest celebrity news, the former couple has ended their 10-month relationship, according to UsMagazine.com. News of this celebrity break-up is a surprise to many, as they appeared “stronger than ever” just last month. Gomez has reportedly been back in contact with ex-boyfriend Justin Bieber after undergoing a kidney transplant, but the two are just on friendly terms. Hang in there, Selena and The Weeknd!

This celebrity break-up has us wondering if Selena Gomez will be getting back together with Justin Bieber anytime soon! What are some ways to cope with a recent break-up?

Cupid’s Advice:

Break-ups are almost always difficult to overcome. While it may seem like you will never be able to get over your ex, we promise it’s possible. Here are some ways to get that ex off your mind:

1. Write it out: In this digital age, it’s easy to want to take your feelings to social media. Don’t. Put your phone away, shut down your laptop, grab a pen and piece of paper, and start writing. You’ll find it to be very therapeutic!
