Celebrity Exes Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner Bring Kids to Orlando for His Birthday

By Maria N. Capalbo

According to UsMagazine.com, celebrity exes Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner are keeping things civil between themselves, as they celebrated Ben's birthday this past weekend in Orlando with their children. Despite all the rumors flying around about Ben's new celebrity romance with their former nanny, Christine Ouzounian, Ben and Jen still remain discreet and respectful in the public eye, especially for the sake of their children.

These celebrity exes are remaining civil for their kids. What are some ways to compromise with your ex with regard to your children

Cupid's Advice:

Having children with an ex may be a sticky situation. Cupid has some suggestions on how to compromise with your ex with regard to your children below:

1. Children always come first: No matter what dispute or issue is going on between you or your ex, the child always comes first. In some instances, you may need to fake a smile, but you both being there for the child is much more important than not, just because you're in an argument with your ex.

2. Be respectful: Know that your children look up to you as adults, so arguing, and being disrespectful in front of them should not be something you and your ex do! Handle your issues elsewhere, and teach the children to respect each other always.

3. Don't put the children in the middle: Never put the children in the middle or make them pick sides regardless of anything that is going on with you and your ex. That is immature and the children love both of you equally, so to make them pick sides is unfair.

Cupid's Advice:

Drama is unfortunately an unavoidable part of life. However, with the right attitude, most unpleasant situations can be diverted. Cupid has three love tips below to help keep your relationships drama-free:

1. Act only with good intentions: It's an unwritten rule that those who wreak havoc will ultimately face havoc of their own. Instead of seeking revenge on an ex, show them you're the better person by letting it go or even helping them out. When fighting with your current love resist the urge to intentionally do anything you know will make them angry because, at the end of the day, nothing good comes out of vengeance.

2. Avoid negativity: You've likely heard it a thousand times but keeping negative people in your life will only attract drama and pessimistic views. Avoid lovers who focus on the bad and seek partners who's positivity emanates directly from them.

people, with real lives, with real families, friends, and colleagues. Therefore, we kindly ask for privacy and compassion concerning this very personal matter.” The country singers tied the knot in Texas in 2011, after dating for six years. Their very long celebrity relationship has been the target of several tabloids for years, and now all those tabloid rumors are coming true.

We're really sad to see this famous couple call it quits. How do you know when it's time to end your long-term relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be tough to know when it's the right time to call a long-term relationship quits. Cupid has some tips:

1. Changes in communication: This is probably the first thing that happens when a couple loses its spark. You used to look forward to the calls, texts, and emails, but now neither one of you seems interested in holding a conversation for longer than you have to. If this is happening in your relationship, it may be time to throw in the towel.

2. Constant fighting: Another sign that a break-up is looming is if the two of you are constantly fighting about the silliest and smallest of things. When you no longer want to be with someone, anything they do will bother you. Couples who are looking to get out of the relationship will fight whenever the opportunity presents itself.

3. No more emotion or affection: A happy couple will constantly show affection to one another. A sign that things are coming to an end is when neither of you show any affection towards each other. Hugs, kisses, and hand-holding are not a part of your every day routine.

This 'Bachelorette' contestant isn't fairing well. What do you if a friend gets in the way of your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Being able to hang out with your significant other and your close friends at the same time is great. However, sometimes you and your friends need some space in order to allow your relationship and love to grow. Here is Cupid's relationship advice on how to handle a friend getting in the way of your relationship:

1. Time apart: Be honest with your pals and let them know that there are going to be times when you and your beau need to spend time alone. Often times they will understand and won't get hurt when you don't invite them to everything.

2. Set boundaries: A romantic relationship is just between you and your partner. Although it's fine to tell your best friend everything about your love life or ask for advice, they shouldn't be controlling your relationship. Listen to what they have to say, but in the end, how you act with your beau is your decision.

This line of celebrity breakup news keeps getting more drama-filled! What do you do if your ex checks out of his or her responsibilities to your kids?

Cupid's Advice:

Your kids should be number one and if your partner isn't holding up his or her end of the deal, it's time to re-evaluate. Cupid has some love advice:

1. Talk to your kids: If your kids are old enough, they will notice that their father/mother isn't around and may even start asking questions. So, talking to your kids can help them get through this difficult time and clear up any confusion.

2. Do your best to play both roles: If your ex checks out, your job as a parent becomes a little harder. You have to make sure the kids aren't affected. Although as a mom you can never be a dad and as a dad you can never be a mom, you do have to step your game up to make sure your kids don't feel like they're missing out on anything.

3. Don't give up: People go through things, and sometimes it takes them a while to snap out of it. If your ex checks out, always keep in mind that he/she more than likely does love the kids. Never trash talk in front of your kids, and don't make them hate their mom/dad or lose hope in them.
