1. Your mental health is suffering: If you aren't feeling like yourself anymore, and the relationship is the root cause, it's time to move on. Letting your mental health suffer for the sake of another person isn't healthy or positive. Love the life you live, with confidence and strength!

2. The spark is gone: When your relationship feels more like a friendship, then maybe it's become just that. Recognize this shift and have an honest conversation with your partner. It's not fair to either of you, staying in a romantic relationship that you aren't 100% invested in.

Cupid's Advice:

Getting back together with an ex is a tough decision to make, and you want to make sure you're doing it for the right reasons. Cupid has some factors to consider:

1. Remember why it ended in the first place: Look back at your relationship and think about what went wrong and if those problems can be fixed. Starting from the beginning will allow you to analyze the pros and cons for the future. If the issues that plagued your relationship are hard to come back from, think about whether a second chance is really worth it.

2. Ask yourself the big questions: Has this person really changed? And if they haven't, am I prepared to deal with that? Reconciliation can be a positive and wonderful thing, but not at the expense of your mental health. If they aren't ready to commit to you in a way that illustrates growth and understanding, then maybe they aren't the person for you.

3. Take charge: Have a genuine and honest conversation with this person about what you are looking for in this relationship and respectfully allow them to do the same. There’s not one right answer to how to handle yourself after the divorce. Cupid has steps you can take to move on immediately after a split:

1. Take some time to heal: Everyone handles a break-up differently, but we all can agree that we will miss the good times that we had with our partner once its over. 2. Ask for some space: Having people constantly asking you about how your divorce is going will not make it any better.

Find a decent way to tell them that you are okay, and that you need your privacy at this time. This also can be used for family members. You might not be ready to tell everyone how you're really feeling. If you have children, spend more time with them. The younger ones will have a harder time understanding what is happening.

3. Find yourself again: Sometimes when we're in a relationship for so long, we forget what it feels like to do things by ourselves. Cupid's Advice:

Having an addiction can be very toxic in any form in your relationship. Whether it's a big or small addiction, it will have a negative affect. Drinking and smoking are the most common addictions, and they can tear your bond apart. However, there can be other addictions that have the same effects as a substance abuse. Cupid has some ways is to know if your addiction is affecting your relationship:

1. Communication starts to become strained: If you notice that your partner or your children do not want to communicate with you as often anymore, then you have to look into what you are doing differently than you used to. For example, if you are used to having family night and watching the football game together, and now no one has an interest in watching with you anymore, your addition could be the source of the problem. Ask your partner and your children why they're communicating with you less. If they respond with, “I don’t like it when…” then your addiction is a serious problem.

2. Lots of interest in public events: You would rather stay at home and drink a glass of wine or skip a family event to go and play poker. If this is the case, your addiction might be affecting your life. You’ll start to seclude yourself from people, including your family members, because you want to perform the action that everyone hates.

Celebrity Break-Up: David Eason Speaks Out After Jenelle Evans Announces Split

By Hope Ankney

In the latest celebrity news, Teen Mom 2 alum David Eason has spoken out after Jenelle Evans announced their celebrity break-up. This is the first time he's addressed the issue with his estranged wife, and he seemingly shaded Evans through several Instagram stories on Sunday, November 3rd. According to UsMagazine.com, Eason posted two screenshots of TMZ articles. One detailed a request for full custody of the pair's two-year-old daughter, Ensley. The other discussed Evan's road rage that was broadcast in 2018 where she followed a driver home and then brandished a gun.

In celebrity break-up news, David Eason threw some shade Jenelle

Evans' way after she announced their split. What are some things to avoid on social media during a break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Getting over a nasty breakup is hard, but it is even harder when social media is involved. Whether it is viewing their stories, stalking their profiles, or keeping up with what their friends are doing, it is a breeding ground for hurt feelings and questionable consequences. If you're going through a break-up, and you're having a hard time pulling yourself away from your ex's social media, don't worry! Cupid has some relationship advice on what to avoid on social media during a split:

1. Social media stories: Facebook has them. Instagram has them. Snapchat has them. Social media stories allow users to see exactly what's going on with someone in real-time. It's a cool feature unless you're going through a tough break-up. Seeing your ex out having fun on their stories can further fan the flame, and it might lead to feeling worse or to toxic social media behavior. Before you decide to click on their icon, think about what viewing this story is really going to help when it comes to getting over them.

Related Link: Celebrity Parents: 'Teen Mom 2' Alum Jenelle Evans & David Eason Lose Custody of Kids After Legal Battle

2. Burner accounts: If you follow their FINSTA (private Instagram) or Fake Twitter, chances are your ex will be venting about you and your relationship after it ends. If they haven't already blocked you from following their account, maybe it's a good idea to unfriend yourself from seeing those posts. And, if you are blocked, don't give in to the temptation to ask friends who are still privy to the accounts to spy on them and report back. You'll see or hear something you weren't prepared for, and it will only lead to anger or hurt.

3. Keeping up with the circle: Chances are, when a relationship ends, the friend circle won't be the same. Some people will choose to stay with your ex while others might be more neutral about the breakup. Either way, it isn't a good idea to poke your nose into the circle, especially on social media, to keep up to date about what your ex is doing. Not only does it not paint you in a good light, but it can cause issues in the friend group. It's better to keep a safe distance than to cause more distress than is necessary.

In celebrity break-up news, another

‘BiP’ couple has called it quits. What are some ways to announce your split to family and friends?

Cupid’s Advice:

Announcing a break-up can be hard. There’s never a right time or place to tell someone that you are done with your relationship. This is not something you can get perfectly right. Cupid has some advice on how to tell your family and friends that you are no longer dating your partner:

1. Break the news when you’re ready: Just because you guys broke up two days ago does not mean that you have to tell the world that you guys are no longer together. Give yourself some time to come to terms with it and then tell your family and friends.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Jenna Dewan Opens Up About Love, Divorce and Healing in New Book

2. Tell them in person in an intimate setting: Talking to someone face-to-face can show you the emotions that they feel by the reaction that they give you. It’s easier to open up about pressing topics and issues when you’re in front of someone. Try rehearsing what you’re going to say before you say it. Talking to someone about your break-up can also bring you comfort if you are sad. This will help release some of the pain that she might be feeling at this time.

3. Ask for some space: You’ll need some time to process all of this. Having people tell you what you should and shouldn’t do is not going to make the situation better. Tell them the truth about how you feel, but ask for your privacy at this time.

When you're ready to have an in depth conversation about with the situation, let them know.

If you're on the rocks with your partner, and you don't know whether or not you should end the marriage, don't worry! Cupid has some love advice on when it might be a good idea to reevaluate your relationship:

1. No communication: The most important aspect of a relationship is the ability of both parties to be able to communicate with one another. If conversing openly and honestly with your partner has deteriorated, this might be a sign that the marriage needs to be reassessed. This is only if attempts to strengthen the communication has failed before.

Lack of respect: Joe dissing his wife Teresa by saying she needs to find another man that can handle her and her "high maintenance" tendencies is a very disrespectful thing to say about your partner. Cupid's Advice:

Relationships can be hard when you both don't get to spend alone time together, Your conflicts can become bigger ones if you don't talk about your issues face-to-face. Cupid has some tips and tricks on how to handle time management with your love:

1. Don't accuse them of anything: If your partner is spending a lot of hours at work, you may start to think something is going on outside of that. Instead of accusing your partner of infidelity, ask them why they've been spending so much time at work lately. If your partner has a demanding job, it could be perfectly innocent. It's best to never jump to conclusions.

Celebrity Break-Up: Kenya Moore's Husband Marc Daly Reportedly Had Multiple Affairs Before Split

The celebrity couple has been married since June 2017 and share their 11-month old daughter, Brooklyn. According to sources from UsMagazine.com, the divorce filing comes after an alleged extramarital affair involving Moore's husband. Moore has requested her privacy at this time, while her soon-to-be celebrity ex husband has not commented.

In celebrity break-up news, Kenya Moore's estranged husband may have cheated on her with multiple people. What do you do if you find out your partner is cheating?

Cupid's Advice:

It's a hard pill to swallow when you find out that your partner has been having an affair with another person. It's even harder to accept the fact that you have been "replaced". Being upset is a normal emotion to feel at a time like this. However, how do you deal with this realistically? Cupid has some advice on how to deal with your lover's cheating ways:

1. Talk about it: Now, this is easier said than done. If you haven't given your partner a chance to explain him or herself, then you won't really know what's happening. Nobody likes hearing the potential unfaithful person's perspective, but it's important to talk to your partner before you take any further action. It is also important to point out any noticed changes in your love life. Tell your partner that you've notice the change in behavior. This will let them know that you are still paying close attention to them.

2. Go to therapy sessions: If a conversation is not obtainable, please seek professional help. Tell the therapist what's happening and how you feel about this. Your partner should also be willing to attend sessions to take steps to repair your relationship, if that's something you're willing to do. Try to let them tell their side of the story without interrupting. This will be the only way to get them to open up. Also, try to talk about how things were prior to the infidelity. This will help target a sequence of events and a timeline.

3. Don't rush a decision: If you have children, this may affect them as well. Consider them as well when you're deciding how to move forward with your partner. Don't make any hasty decisions. As much as you may want to leave, take some time to think. Your partner's actions may not be justifiable, but choosing a plan of action in the heat of the moment is not a good move. Distance yourself and talk about the important things that involve your children or your household. If there's no repairable solution to fix your relationship, and they are living a separate life, take steps to tell your children what's going on and start filing for a divorce.

Nothing in between. No questions regarding wealth, career, talents, race, age sex ... They love back 100X ... all they ask is to be cared for in exchange for loyalty, reliability, and faithfulness. (reminds me of someone)."

In celebrity news, Miley Cyrus sent a message to her exes via Instagram. What are some ways social media can help you cope with feelings?

Cupid's Advice:

Even celebrities air their dirty laundry on social media from time to time. It's hard not to, especially when you're trying to handle your feelings that can be difficult to ignore. But, it can get messy if you throw your feelings out on your social platforms without thinking it through. If you're having a hard time coping with feelings by yourself, don't worry! Cupid has relationship advice on how using social media, in a healthy way, can help you sort through your feelings:

1. Private Instagrams: Something I'm sure you've heard before, but FINSTAS (or fake Instas) are accounts that are private for you to vent and cope over your feelings in a space that only a few people have access to. By creating a private IG, you're allowing yourself a place to comfortably discuss and post about things you're having a hard time dealing with. It's therapeutic to have a sense of freedom when it comes to not censoring yourself online, and accounts like these can act as a personal diary.

Related Link: Celebrity Break-up: Miley Cyrus & Liam Hemsworth Split Less Than 8 Months After Wedding

2. Private Twitters: Another way to cope on social media is through something similar to the FINSTAS- a private twitter. Private Twitter accounts are something that, from personal experience, has been even better at coping with feelings because of the format of the platform. Instead of having to post photos and write captions underneath to vent, Twitter allows you to simply post a tweet and even write threads that hold all your thoughts together in a cohesive manner. This type of account feels most like a diary because it's like you're writing down excerpts from your day. You can also quote tweet others without them seeing it, so that can also help to vent if you're sorting through feelings about a certain person.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Miley Cyrus & Kaitlynn Carter Step Out for Date Night in Matching Outfits

3. The 'close friends' option: Lastly, with the progress in certain social media to include options that allow you to post without others seeing, the Close Friends option allows someone to post their feelings on their own account, like their Instagram Story, without having to create a whole private account just to do so. This is much more accessible to the average person, and it can feel even more liberating to do it on your main account. The only issue here is to be sure you're careful in how you word things or choose to vent because even though things seem to be private, you must be observant which accounts on your main are allowed to see these stories. Trusting some friends to not share things you post in confidence might not be the best idea.

celebrity couple have been together for eight years and share a son, Angelo, together. The two plan to go their separate ways, but will raise their son in a loving environment. In celebrity divorce news, Adele has officially filed for divorce from her husband Simon. What are some ways to announce your divorce to family and friends?

Cupid’s Advice:

Telling someone that you and your ex lover have decided to split is not the easiest tasks especially when there is family involved. Some couples live separate lives, but stay together in order to please their family members. This is not the best idea especially when you are not happy being with this person. Cupid has some relationship advice when it comes to telling your family and friends about your divorce:

1. Don’t break the news at a family event: This can become awkward very quickly. You don’t want to ruin a fun filled event with some bad news. Avoid making any “grand entrance” with news about a separation. You don’t want to be put on the spot to answer private questions about your relationship.

2. Try not to play the blame game: Pointing fingers at why the relationship ended is the easiest way for many to avoid talking about what really happened. Even if it is the other person's fault try not to be petty about what happened. Accepting what when wrong is the first part of the healing process. Learn how to tell the story in a positive light. Use words like "this was the best decision for us" or "we've come to a mutual agreement". Not only is this mature, but this language will be best for telling important people like your children.

3. Let everyone know that you are still processing this: Whether you called it quits or your partner its important that you take the time to process it all. You might be wondering what went wrong or how you will get over this person. The warning signals could have been there, but you didn't know it would go downhill so fast. Take your time and needed space to reflect.

In celebrity news, Demi Moore opened up about a miscarriage she suffered with Ashton Kutcher in her memoir. What are some ways to support your partner who has gone through a miscarriage?

Cupid's Advice:

Seeing the “positive” come up on a pregnancy test for many women can be very exciting. Welcoming a bundle of joy to the family can be the happiest time in a woman's life. However, some pregnancies result in a miscarriage and can leave a heavy impact behind. It's not easy to uplift a person who has just encountered something traumatic. Cupid has some advice that will help you and your partner get through this difficult time:

1. Don't expect them to tell you how they are feeling right away: Everyone has a different way of processing hurtful situations. It's important that you keep an open heart and be mindful of the situation. Avoid saying insensitive things like, “You can have another one”. Not everyone is able to conceive right away or it might be hard for them to do so. Be there for them and offer any help they will allow.

2. Offer to attend therapy sessions with them: Therapy can help bring ease to the situation if your partner is willing. The therapist will be able to discuss the “root” of the problem and give you ways to make appropriate approaches to help with conversations at home. This also may take several sessions for them to be comfortable about telling you how they really feel. Don't force or rush them to talk.

This celebrity divorce comes after multiple decades of marriage. How do you know when to call it quits on your marriage?

Cupid’s Advice:

No matter how long the relationship, we all encounter our likes, dislikes, and most importantly, the common ground with our partners. Marriage is kind of tricky. Every day, you respond “until death do us part” and “I do”, but what happens when you begin to respond “I don’t”? Cupid has some relationship advice on how to know when your marriage is definitely over:

1. Communication starts to change: We all go through that honeymoon phase of our relationships, and then we start to get comfortable with each other. It’s healthy to have arguments here and there, but if your partner starts disrespecting you, not caring, and not telling you important information, then you likely have a problem. Communication is the root of every successful relationship. If your significant other starts to talk less or gets mad at everything you say or do, it’s time to have a serious conversation about why this might be happening.

2. Not making time for each other: A relationship does not end when you get married. It’s important to still schedule in date nights and continue the ongoing flow of bliss. A spark dies when you don’t continue to maintain it. If you have children and busy schedules, you can still make a romantic dinner or watch a movie. The more creative and thoughtful you are, the better.

serious argument, seek out professional help.
