What do you do if your ex airs details of your failed relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

It would be nice to think that after a break-up, your ex would refrain from giving away the good and the bad of your relationship. However, sometimes it happens. Here's how to cope:

1. Ignore: It may seem easier said than done, but you need to be the bigger person and show your ex that you are a confident single gal.

2. Fight fire with fire: If you want to get rid of your babbling ex partner, why not tell everyone a secret from your past relationship that will put him/her to shame? This may be stooping to his level, however, so think about it carefully before doing so.

3. Own up: Go ahead and confess to the bad that your ex is laying out to the world. You will look like the honest ex who has nothing better to do, but move on.

Avril didn’t like that. Brody said, “I need to stay in L.A. and get back into TV, either scripted or reality. But I feel like a loser.”

What do you do if your partner isn’t achieving success in their career?

Cupid’s Advice:

Encouraging your partner is tough, especially when your successes outweigh their own. Here are a few ways to handle your partner’s faltering career:

1. Be supportive: If you offer tactful and sincere advice, your partner will appreciate your efforts. Be cautious not to belittle your partner’s struggles.

2. Watch your words: If you have a particularly good day at work, be careful what you say. It’s okay to tell your partner about your successes every once in a while, but sharing your excitement too frequently will come across as bragging.

3. Offer to help: If your partner’s lack of success at work is due to issues that can easily be fixed, offer to help. Spell-check your partner’s latest presentation or forward some necessary emails. Hopefully, you will be able to get some work done and bond.

Is it OK to keep in touch with your ex's children?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be difficult to “dump” the rest of your ex’s family after a breakup, especially when it comes to kids. Cupid has some tips:

1. Healing time: If you’re the one who’s broken up with your partner, it might be a good idea to step aside and give them their space by avoiding their kids as well.

2. Be a friend: If you want to continue the relationship that you’ve built with your ex’s kids, it would be best for both sides if you and your ex were friends. Whatever you do, don’t vent to the kids about your past relationship and current feelings about your ex.

Ashton Kutcher and Demi Moore Have Pre-Golden Globes Run-In

It looks as though Ashton Kutcher and Demi Moore may be having a case of the exes. Besides having continuous awkward run-ins with each other at different locations in Hollywood, it appears the two haven't been seeing much of each other since announcing their decision to split-up this past November, amid rumors that Kutcher was unfaithful. Although going through a divorce, the former couple was cordial with one another as they crossed paths at the CAA Foundation pre-Golden Globes bash this past Friday. Sources told UsMagazine.com that the exes kept their distance most of the evening and briefly said "Hi" to each other.

What are some ways to avoid awkward run-ins with an ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Depending on the breakup, bumping into your ex can be a bit awkward. Here are some positive ways to react when you encounter a previous mate:

- 1. Be kind: Even if your ex hurt or cheated on you, try to be kind when you run into them. You don't necessarily have to jump up and give them a big hug as though you're trying to be their best friend for the next few seconds, but you don't want to come off as bitter either. Keep it simple with a smile and "hello."
- 2. Keep it simple: Prolonging the conversation may bring up old feelings which can cause even more awkwardness. So, depending on whether or not you and your ex want that old thing back, keep the conversation to a platonic minimum.
- 3. Be confident: Show your ex that you're doing just fine without him or her. Don't boast or brag about how great a new partner is or how your life has been extremely over-the-top-magnificent without them. Wear your confidence on your sleeve and give a friendly and quick update on the new accomplishments in your life since the split.

How long should you try to fix your marriage when it's not working?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes a marriage hits some rough spots that you have to work through. Cupid shares how long to keep trying to fix a broken marriage:

1. If you're playing the blame game: Don't blame each other for the problems in your marriage. Accusations can only cause a further rift. If you and your partner are unable to discuss things without blame, this could be indicative of a larger, unfixable problem.

2. Questions: If you or your partner constantly asks why you are together, it may be time to seriously sit down and weigh the pros and the cons of the marriage. If the con list far outweighs the pro list, it may be time to consider other options.

3. Control: Do you have control over the problems in your marriage? If they can be fixed by mutual work between you and your spouse, you should continue to try to fix it. If it's something beyond your control, you may have to seek outside help in fixing your marriage.

What are some ways to explain moving on after a split to your child?

Cupid's Advice:

Moving on is a difficult hill to climb, even without the added pressure of telling your child. Here are a few things to consider before breaking the news to your kids:

1. Your new relationship: Before introducing your new partner to your children, make sure that you're serious about the relationship. Children look for stability, so introducing your kids to a mere fling could harm them in the long run.

2. Your past breakup: Let your children adjust to the changes in their life before you change yet another element. Instead of introducing your new partner immediately, give your children some time. Eventually they will be more accepting of a new relationship.

3. Your children: You know your children's personalities better than anyone. Use your best judgment before introducing your partner. Decide if a face-to-face meeting or a discussion is the best way to break the news.

- 2. Keep the convo simple: Ask your ex what they've been up to

Cupid's Advice:

If an ex decides to tell all after a split, there's really not much you can do to prevent them from doing so. All you can do is stay strong and move on:

- 1. Allow only positive influences: Surround yourself only with positive people and things. After all, it's your ex who is airing their dirty laundry and not you.
- 2. Don't answer questions: If someone asks you about something they heard from your ex, simply tell them that it's none of their business.

3. Let time work in your favor: Time cures all wounds and rids all rumors. When you are in bad place in your life, time always works in your favor.
