How do you bond as a couple while giving back at the same time?

Cupid's Advice:

It's hard to balance your goals of contributing to the greater good, and growing stronger as a couple. But it's very easy to manage if you take some cautious steps to make sure your joint venture into charity doesn't end in a worse disaster than the one you're fundraising.

1. Discuss your purpose: Before rolling up your sleeves, discuss with your partner the reasons this contribution is important to you. Listen to your significant other's opinion and ideals regarding future charitable work. If you find a common purpose to share with your partner, then you've just hit two birds with one stone.

2. Work together: While dividing up the tasks is an effective way of completing work that is important to both of you, you won't get the same bonding effect as you will together. Laboring for your cause as a unit, and sacrificing together affirms you're both on the same team.

3. Review your achievements: After the work is done, it's time to debrief. You want to make sure you're both comfortable with the extent of your toils, and the good you've accomplished. Discuss the effects your contribution made, the challenges you faced, and ideas for future contributions as a couple.

Alicia Keys and Swizz Beatz React to Hurricane Sandy by Reaching Out

By Nic Baird

Hurricane Sandy, a storm that shut down the New York Stock Exchange for the first time since 1888 and killed over 40 of the city's inhabitants alone, has left New York resident and singer Alicia Keys and her husband Swizz Beats without power or running water, reports Essence. The couple and their two year old son, Egypt, were forced to evacuate their $17-million Manhattan penthouse on Monday and take shelter at Keys' mother's apartment, which fortunately did have power. "God forbid there's anything else coming – but if it did, I want to be more prepared about how to handle it and be able to ride it out," Keys said. "My heart really goes out to all the people out there going through crazy circumstances." The singer added, "I really feel for people and am reaching out in any way I can.”

What are some ways to participate in charitable causes as a couple?

Cupid’s Advice:

Charitable causes can be a great way to work with your partner towards meaningful goals. If sudden disaster hits – like a Hurricane for example – share your altruistic passion with your significant other. Try these ways you can participate in charitable causes with your partner:

1. Grassroots kindness: You don’t have to formalize your good deeds by scheduling them. Open your heart and your home to those in need. The most meaningful impact you can hope for is to change someone’s life for the better. Having your partner to brainstorm with you on the best ways to lend your neighbor a hand will make things easier. Be ready for opportunities, your relationship can handle the spontaneity!

2. Local fundraising: You may not know how to build homes, or repair power lines, but you and your partner can think up tons of ways to raise money with friends. Bake sales, car washes, book/garage sales, casino nights, the list goes on. As a couple, showing your compassion together allows you to clarify your relationship’s identity. The Red Cross is currently accepting donations for the Hurricane Sandy relief fund!

3. Volunteering with an organization: There are many great systems in place to accommodate volunteers in a range of charities for a range of positions. Don’t expect any reward besides self satisfaction. Check the internet for groups that are active near you, or ask around at local churches and community centers. Having your partner volunteer with you will make the time pass painlessly.

Meredith Vieira Says Her Husband Has Never Warmed to Their Dog

By Nicole Weintraub

Meredith Vieira provides proof that perhaps all dogs aren't a man's best friend since her husband dislikes the family dog, according to People. Her husband, Richard Cohen, just recently released a new book entitled I Want to Kill the Dog in which he uses humor to convey his dislike for the dog. Vieira admitted that she does not think that her husband ever really took to the dog, though she dotes on him. Cohen remarked, "I find it mind-boggling that anybody can be as affectionate and pay as much attention,” when discussing his wife’s relationship with the dog. “Maybe there’s a little jealousy,” said Vieira teasingly as she kept her dog by her side even while appearing on the Today show.

How do you compromise if you want a dog, but your partner doesn’t?

Cupid’s Advice:

Adding a furry friend to the family can be an exciting adventure with your partner. Though, here are some ways to deal if you want a dog but your partner does not:

1. Visit the shelter: Before committing to the idea of getting a dog, why not take a trip with your partner to visit a shelter. Perhaps the two of you can volunteer or spend time with the animals to see whether or not the two of you are truly animal friendly.

2. Downsize: If your partner is dead set against getting a dog, perhaps they will compromise for a smaller pet. Why not try a cat or a rabbit before jumping into the commitment of owning a dog?

3. Pet sit: Another way to ease your partner into the idea of adopting a furry friend is to pet sit for a friend. This way, you will get the full experience of having a dog without the life long commitment. This may be a reality check for you and your partner.

What are some signs that it's time to go out after having a baby?

Cupid's Advice:

When you first have a baby, you want to spend all of your time at home with them. Though, you can't forget about your relationship time. Here are some ways when you know it's time to head out after having the baby:

1. Claustrophobic: If you are beginning to feel suffocated or claustrophobic from spending so much time indoors with the same routine, it's time to call the babysitter. It's healthy to go out as a couple every now and then, even if you have a baby at home.

2. Déjà vu: Have the sense of déjà vu all of the time? If you feel yourself doing the same thing over and over again day in and day out, it's time to break up that routine a little bit. Go out for dinner or catch a flick with your partner; something that is out of the house.

3. It's been months: If it has not been weeks but rather months since you and your partner have gone out, it's time to put down the remote and go outside. It is not healthy to live like a hermit. Regardless of how busy you are, you need to take time out to refresh yourself.

How do you decorate your home to reflect your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Just like love, home decoration styles come in all sorts of designs with varying degrees of uniqueness. Some can be very black and white while others may prefer blending every color imaginable. Whatever you and your partner's love style is, why not have it reflected throughout your home. For tips on how to accomplish this, these following three ideas can help you get started:

1. Items you cherish: Look all around your home and gather things that are either important to one of you or both of you. Knick-knacks, heirloom items, his favorite TV chair or the floral vase you two picked up on your last vacation; anything really that makes you feel special and loved. Use these items as a starting point to find a common decoration theme.

2. Places you both love: Similar to items, take the time for you and your mate to write down the places you love. Then, under each place, write down the things about that place that you love the most. Finally, share your places with each other and together decide on elements you both can love and live with in your home.

3. Common threads: As you go through items, furnishings and images both you and your partner prefer, look for common threads in design, materials, colors or shapes. You might find that your relationship is a blend of styles rather than just one. If so, don't be afraid to mix and match to create your own unique blend representing the love you two share.

What are some ways to keep your married life grounded?

Cupid's Advice:

Finding a "soul mate" is a wonderful thing and what most people strive for in life. Yet, it's the years after that can stress you to the point of throwing in the towel. So what's a person to do when marriage has begun to show its downward times? The answer might be easier than you think. Here are a few ideas on keeping your marriage and sanity together:

1. Define "yours," "mine," "ours": Have the upfront conversation of what belongs to whom? This is not just about the financial accounts. Include time that will be shared together and separate, such as holiday vacations, his Thursday night basketball games or your Saturday afternoon book club meetings. Defining and respecting each other's time and money will work on strengthening your bond.

2. Continue courting: Often, the little things like an "I love you" post-it note left in his car or flowers "just because" can really go a long way to keeping the romance alive. The key is to be genuine and spontaneous, treating each other similarly to the exciting "newness" of your first beginning dates.

3. Renegotiate your contract: As with many contracts in life, your marriage terms and conditions need to be re-evaluated and renegotiated to fit you two currently, every so many years. As time passes by, and people inevitably change, so should your marriage evolve. Be sensitive to what each other requests or no longer needs; focus on continuing the happiness you both give each other.

What are some signs that you have a lot in common with someone?

Cupid's Advice:

In order for a relationship to have a chance at survival, both parties involved will need to have things in common besides mutual attraction. Personal goals, lifestyles, moral grounds and intimacy are important factors to consider. While having too much in common can lead to a very boring relationship, a healthy amount in each of you is at least 50%, leaving plenty of room to grow. To help you understand where you two stand, here are a few clues to look for:

1. You have unusual things in common: Many new couples have ordinary things in common and are mistaken that this means they are a match. A clearer sign is when you and your new partner have many unusual things in common. The more quirky habits or likes you two share, the better the relationship can grow.

2. "We" terms when times are bad: While all new couples will eventually think in "we" terms, the real clue is when you think this way when the chips are down. If one of you has a sudden problem and both of you think of it as a joint issue, you two are on your way to merging lives together. It is terms like these that will keep you two together through the hard times.

3. You finish each others' sentences: Suppose you begin a sentence and your mate is able to finish it with little effort, then your relationship has a great chance of surviving. Being able to finish each others' sentences shows that you both have more in common than not.

'Glee' Star Matthew Morrison and Girlfriend Dress as Britney and JT for Halloween

By Nic Baird

Glee star Matthew Morrison and girlfriend, Renee Puente, chose retro Justin Timberlake and Britney Spears as their couple costume this Halloween, reports UsMagazine.com. Though the celebrity pop duo split ages ago, Morrison and Puente reminisced about the musical media pair during JT's 'N Sync days and Britney's python charming circa 2001. Morrison, who portrays the coach of a high school glee club on TV, paid tribute to these 90s musical icons for his third annual birthday/Halloween party on Sunday. Morrison captured the look with a head and arm bandana, tinted sunglasses, a blousy white shirt, a spiky hooded vest, fingerless gloves and a hands-free microphone. Puente's outfit recalled the tiny green top and blue hot pants from Britney's "Slave 4 U" outfit, complete with a fake snake.

What are three couples costumes you can wear for Halloween?

Cupid's Advice:

Don't waste time fretting over costume ideas. Couples outfits can seem daunting, but they can easily come together with the right vision. Inspiration is within your grasp! Read these methods to find a fitting costume for you and your significant other.

1. Puns: Literally being "apples and oranges" will get you some groans, but costumes that work together is a cute Halloween option. Try to physically represent common phrases, like dressing as Justin Bieber and Swag, which could be a treasure chest of hair products. Sound out names or words to get other ideas, like the celebrity couple costume: "Sunny" and "Chair."

2. Pick a Disney movie: This is a great couples costume because Disney movies have replaced any fairy tale imagery we had as children. Try the classic couples: John Smith/Pocahontas, Aladin/Jasmine, Lilo/Stitch, etc. If you do Mulan, I'd choose Mushu or the evil Hun over Captain Li Shang.

3. Suit and Dress: For last minute costume scavengers, you'll never have an easier time than if you build a couples costume from your own wardrobe. JFK with Marilyn or Jackie is pretty quick to throw together. Mad Men, celebrity couples, and British royalty can save you at zero hour using just a suit and dress.

Among other guests to join the festivities were Seal and a mystery date, Emma Roberts, Ryan Seacrest with Julianne Hough, Dax Shepard with fiancée Kristen Bell and many more. The new mom, Duff, gushed about motherhood claiming that, "He's getting his first teeth and he's rolling over like a maniac".

What are some ways to coordinate your clothes with your beau?

Cupid's Advice:

Whether it's Halloween or a wedding, sometimes couples like to coordinate clothes with one another. Here are some tips on how to coordinate properly:

1. Twins: While some couples dress up in exactly the same clothes, you don't want to be mistaken for twins rather than a couple. Make sure that you are not crossing the line between coordinating outfits and being twins.

2. Colors: A great way to make sure that your outfit matches your beau is sticking to the same color scheme. For example, if you are wearing a blue dress, have your beau wear the same color for his tie. The two of you will obviously be together without being mistaken as twins.

3. On the same page: The two of you may not be on the same page according to color and that it completely fine. As long as the two of you are in the same theme area, that's all that matters. For example, if your partner is dressing up as a cowboy and you are dressing up as an M&M then the two of you are not coordinating at all.

Jennifer Aniston Shows Off Engagement Ring in LA

By Nicole Weintraub

Jennifer Aniston is engaged to fiancé Justin Theroux and is not shy about it, according to UsMagazine.com. The couple attended the LACMA 2012 Art and Film Gala in Los Angeles where Aniston was dressed in a sexy black number with a plunging neckline, revealing the silhouette of two of her greatest assets. Along with showing off her cleavage, Aniston proudly flashed her ginormous engagement ring that Theroux presented her with back in August. The ring is a whopping $500,000 beauty as she showed off while chatting with pals such as Cameron Diaz and Salma Hayek. Ironically, this is the same place where Angelina Jolie presented her rock from Aniston's ex husband Brad Pitt in April.

How do you know what kind of engagement ring to get your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Thinking of getting engaged? Congratulations! Now how the heck do you decide which engagement ring to choose from? Here are some tips on how to pick the perfect ring for your partner:

1. Ask around: Chances are that your partner has spilled to her fellow gal pals or her family members what kind of diamond she is hoping for. Be discreet with your asking and make sure your helpers' lips are sealed, but do some investigating and find out if she has been discussing what she likes in rings with her friends and family.

2. Drop hints: Purposely walk past a jewelry store and see if anything in particular catches your partner's eye. Perhaps bring her along with a guy friend of yours who is planning on getting engaged to see what she would suggest. Try not to be too revealing about your intentions, though.

3. Do your homework: Look into her own jewelry box and see if she has any rings or other type of gems. Take a look at what the pieces look like as a whole – is there a pattern between the pieces? Perhaps she likes white gold more than yellow gold for instance.

By Nicole Weintraub

However, any children that the couple has together will be in line, along with their mother for the throne.

What are some signs that you're dating your soulmate?

Cupid's Advice:

The term soulmate is not something to be taken lightly. In fact, many people believe that there is no such thing as a soulmate. Though, here are some signs to turn you into a believer:

1. You automatically know: As cliché as it sounds, when you are with the right person you just know. Call it an epiphany or a feeling in your gut, but when you are sure, you are sure. As O'Neill claims, he always knew that Madeleine was the one for him.

2. You're a better person: When the person you are with makes you a better person, then they are the one for you. They should not try to change you by any means, but if you find yourself being kinder or happier, then they are making you a better person.

3. You are blissfully happy: If you are not happy with your current partner, then they are not the one for you in the end. At the end of the day, regardless of the fights, you need to be happy with your relationship and your partner.

What do you do if you find yourself as part of a love triangle?

Cupid's Advice:

Love triangles – we've seen them in Twilight and in Stewart's own personal life. Though, what do you do when you're a part of one yourself? Here are some tips on what to do:

1. Take a step back: Before you get too wrapped up in a love triangle, take a step back and look at the bigger picture. Are you currently in a relationship? Is someone else involved in the love triangle already involved with someone? Find out all of the details before you act on impulse.

2. Check yourself: Do you really want to be the person that breaks up someone else's relationship or marriage? Do you want to be the other one? Before you throw all of your convictions out of the window, take a look at what you are planning to do. How would you feel if you were in the other person's shoes?

With this birthday cake surprise AND the birthday trip to Italy, you can definitely say Kanye West knows how to be romantic.

How do you surprise your partner on his/her birthday?

Cupid's Advice:

Remembering your partner's birthday is a must in life. After all, it is the day they were born! No matter what your partner says, celebrating their birthday shows that you value them and truly care. So write it in your calendar, tattoo it to your body or do whatever it is you need to do in order to remember the date. Most importantly, have fun planning the event with ideas such as these:

1. A false birthday party: When planning a surprise party, it's easy for someone to accidentally leak the surprise out. To prevent this, why not plan the birthday party a few days in advance. This way, people can feel comfortable speaking to your partner about the party, just not the exact day. Plus, your mate will definitely be surprised on the day of the event.

2. Party-less surprises: If your partner happens to not like surprise birthday parties, don't fret. There are many ways to surprise him/her; such as filling the bedroom, their car or office with balloons, making them breakfast in bed, planning a fun road trip for two or surprising them with tickets to their favorite concert or event. The ideas are endless. Remember, a party is not the only way to show your love.

3. A party for one: If your partner devotes more time everyone else but himself/herself, why not throw him/her a party for one. Set them up with a day at the spa, a golf lesson with a former pro, or a ride-a-long with a professional race car driver. The gift of time doing something they truly enjoy will leave him/her feeling loved and renewed.

How do you know if your new partner is a player at heart?

Cupid's Advice:

There's nothing more painful than a one-sided relationship. Don't pour your heart down a bottomless pit. Relationships need sharing, vulnerability, and devotion. Find out if your partner has these qualities by looking for these signs:

1. Values: Getting a baseline for the personal values of your partner is a good way to decide if they're ready for a serious relationship. Discuss the principles you hold when you enter into a relationship, such as monogamy and honesty. It should be clear if they're looking for one person, or if they have a constant flirtatious attitude.

2. Priorities: Does their lifestyle support your relationship? Recognize if they'd rather spend time with you, or go out drinking with mixed company. If they don't have room for you in their schedule, it could be that they're very career oriented, but make sure you're their preference. If they're willing to spend the time to develop as a couple, it shows sincerity.

3. Intimacy: Fostering a connection with your partner, takes time and patience. If they're afraid to open up to you, maybe they're afraid to be honest. Players, though charismatic will be reluctant to share too many details of their life. As zealously enigmatic creatures, the fact that you haven't yet figured out if they're a player or not is a bad sign.

What are some ways to know you can trust your partner after a betrayal?

Cupid’s Advice:

Trust is a main element in a strong relationship. When your partner violates that trust, often it is much harder to ever trust him as much as before. Even so, to stay together AND never trust him again is only torturous for you both. Explore the ways to learn to trust again with these three tips:

1. You are no longer blind: In experiencing this betrayal, you open your eyes to the red flags and lies you used to deny. You realize that he was able to lie to you because along with his dishonesty, you too were dishonest with yourself. In being truthful to yourself, you can now expect your partner to do the same.

2. You know what he will do: In reconciling, your partner is open and honest about the necessary steps he is taking to regain your trust. In him doing this and being consistent, you are able to slowly release your fear of him betraying you. You both are aware that this isn't easy for him; yet, you guys support each other in this venture to unite strong again.

3. You have seen examples of trust again: In all this, you and your partner are beginning to reach a point where you can trust him again. Little instances that are equally important to major ones have happened and your mate has not failed you as before. You see that he is honest with you and can trust it.

Garfield and Stone saw the production at the Dolby Theatre in Hollywood on Tuesday evening where they were joined by Andrew Armstrong who is Spider-Man's stunt coordinator.

What are some other productions you can attend as a couple?

Cupid's Advice:

There are tons of productions you and your partner can see as a couple instead of visiting the same old dinner and a movie type of Friday night date. Here are some different types of productions you two can attend.

1. The Broadway Play: Broadway, especially in New York City and California, are fantastic date night ideas. Seeing a play together is a great anniversary outing or a birthday celebration. Rather than dinner and a movie, try dinner and a play out in the city. Some plays include but are not limited to Rent, Les Miserables, Hairspray, Mamma Mia, etc.

2. The Circus: A more fun, filled exciting date can be to the circus where there is something for everyone. You can bring the kids or the family members since it is a family friendly entertainment outlet for everyone. There are often various times so that you can either attend earlier in the afternoon or later in the evening.

3. The Murder Mystery: A less common production date idea is a murder mystery dinner in an unconventional dinner and a show type of setting. In an interactive, entertaining setting where you are the guest to a show, a staged crime or murder is executed. As the guests, you mingle with staged actors and work together with other guests to solve the mystery.

Cupid's Advice:

When a partner betrays your trust, the pain can be debilitating to yourself, along with your relationship. Betrayal acts like scissors, cutting the millions of strands you both worked hard at tying together between your hearts. Nevertheless, there are situations when a couple is able to move past it and reconcile. If you are in one of these relationships, here are a few tips to consider on when to forgive and forget:

1. The relationship is important: When you two and the relationship are more important to each other than the betrayal, it is a sign that reconciling is possible. That is not to say that it will be easy; it won't. However, the importance factor shows you and your partner are on the right path to a possibly stronger union.

2. Actions: Another good sign is when your partner has apologized AND acted on that apology. Is your partner apologizing repeatedly when you need it? Does he hear your pain? Does he answer you so it no longer haunts you? Consistent action is what you'll need to get there.

3. The pain is forgettable: Most importantly, forgiveness is possible when you are not completely consumed by the pain. No matter how much he tries to help you heal, you must be able to let go. Otherwise, you will only create a hell for both of you.

What are three ways to enjoy the engagement period before you start planning a wedding?

Cupid’s Advice:

Engaged? Next comes the wedding with all of the appointments and decisions and research that has to be done – it can be a nightmare. Though, here are some tips on how to enjoy the engagement before starting the stress of planning a wedding:

1. Discuss long-term goals: Instead of jumping right into wedding talk, which can take up an entire engagement period, hold the reigns on that for now. Instead, why not focus on the future that goes beyond the wedding day. If the two of you have not moved in together yet, focus on that aspect.

2. Have an engagement party: Nothing says enjoyment and relaxation like a celebration. Perhaps a few friends will throw an engagement party for you or if you're the do it yourself person, plan a small one for yourself. Don't go overboard though – that's for the wedding.

3. Spend time together: Engaged couples can become so caught up with wedding and marriage talk that they forget who they are as a couple. Don't become lost in all of the future aspects of an engagement and be sure to embrace the here and now.

1. Friends forever: If you were friends before your relationship, you may want to remain friends after your

2. Connections: You never know whom you are going to come across in the future. You may want to keep in touch and touch base every now and then with an ex to see if they have any networking connections that can help you down the line in your career, especially if the two of you have or currently work together.

3. Formality: It is a small, small world. If you and your ex remain in contact and bump into one another at a function down the road, it will not be as awkward as if you go complete separate ways. You don't have to be best friends, but a simple smile and nod would do.

1. Fact or fiction: Know the difference between fact and fiction for the benefit of your own relationship. If you hear a rumor regarding your lover, don’t look too much into it.

Chances are, you would have known about it first if it were true.

2. Let it bounce off of you: Remember the infamous old saying rubber and glue? Just let it bounce right off of you and don't let it get to you. If a particular rumor is keeping you up at night, talk about it with your partner. It's better to set the record straight than to keep thinking what if.

3. Laugh it off: Rumors are rumors – they are childish and honestly a part of everyday life. If someone asks you if such and such is true, laugh it off as if you don't have a care in the world. Others will see your reaction and have similar ones.

What are some ways laughing together can benefit your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Laughter is the best medicine. If moods are tense, maybe your relationship needs a healthy injection. Of course there are times to laugh, and times when laughter is a bad idea. As long as your partner isn't modelling a new outfit, here are some benefits of laughing in your relationship:

1. Communication: Laughter tells your partner how you feel about different topics. If they mention marriage, and you're the only one laughing, it will definitely communicate something. More often, it simply shows your sense of humour, and allows your partner to find common ground. Laughing together is enjoying the company of your love, so find the things that put them in hysterics.

2. Assessment: Being able to laugh with your partner comes harder if you communicate differently. Laughing together is a connection, and if that never happens it should prompt you to examine your relationship. You might find you have different values, interests, or experiences. It could be you're just a very serious couple. It's not necessarily bad, but how much you laugh together can explain important details about your dynamic.

3. Comfort: Laughter expresses confidence by making yourself vulnerable to your partner. If you're on edge, being able to laugh can relieve tension between your significant other. You're showing approval of your relationship by demonstrating enjoyment, familiarity, and empathy.
