What are some appropriate times to display your affection for your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

When you and your partner are very close, it's understandable that you want to be affectionate whenever you can. However, there are times and places where PDA just isn't appropriate. Here are some good times to show that you care:

1. Date night: If you're out at a restaurant or a bar without any other friends, you can certainly give your partner some sweet kisses and be generally affectionate. Dates are the perfect time for romance, so it makes sense to show it.

2. At the beach: Everyone looks sexier in the summer sun, so you shouldn't be afraid to show your love for your partner with some PDA when you're at the seashore. Even simple displays can make your beach date more romantic than it already is.

3. At a party: If you're in a crowd at a party, try to find a quiet, secluded corner where you can spend some time alone with your partner. Cuddling together for a bit can make you feel like you're the only ones around, even if you're among many people.

Showing your significant other you care is important in every relationship because words are not always enough. Here are some great ways to express how you feel in more active ways:

- 1. PDA: Showing affection to your love is the simplest yet sweetest gesture to show you care. Simply holding their hand or kissing their forehead can go a long way.
- 2. Recite a poem: Bring your honey to an open mic night and surprise them with your poem. Share your deepest feelings for them in front of a crowd of strangers.

3. Invite them to a special event: Take them to an awards show or a fancy business dinner. Sharing a special moment with them really shows how important they are and how much you want to show them off.

'The Bachelorette' Contestant Sean Lowe Struggles to Say 'I Love You'

Most things are easier said than done. This is not that case for The Bachelorette contestant Sean Lowe when it comes to saying “I love you” to Emily Maynard. According to People, Lowe said, “So desperately I just want to open up and tell her how I really feel which is ‘I love you.’ It’s hard to say those words and it’s always been hard.” Luckily, Maynard still senses that Lowe cares for her, even though he can’t seem to find his words on the most recent episode in Curacao. “Sean does a million things a day to tell me that he’s the one for me,” Emily says in an exclusive preview of the episode. “But I need to know more. I can’t go through this and fall in love and have it not work again.” Hopefully Lowe will find the courage to say those three little words before Maynard questions his affection.

What are some ways to get over your fear of saying ‘I love you’?

Cupid’s Advice:

It may be just three little words, but “I love you” has a lot of impact and implied commitment behind it. If you know you are ready to say it, but can’t seem to find the words, follow these guidelines to overcome your fear:

- 1. Plan it out: If you plan an extravagant date night and prepare exactly how you want to phrase your expression of feelings, you’ll feel less pressure and won’t fear getting it wrong.
- 2. Say it out loud when no one is around: Thinking about it is much different than saying it for your loved one to hear. Say it out loud several times so that when the time comes, it will sound effortless just as love should be. Practice makes perfect.
- 3. Remember why you love your partner: The pressure of saying ‘I love you’ can cause you to forget about the reasons you love your partner and focus more on the theatrics of it. Take a moment to reflect on all the things you love about your significant other, and then it will just come naturally.

How do you keep past relationships from affecting new ones?

 Cupid's Advice:

It's tough being around exes, especially when you're in a new relationship. Of course, it's sometimes unavoidable when you share mutual friends. Here are some ways to keep your past relationships from affecting your new ones:

1. Be clear: If you know your ex is going to be at a party, it's best to tell your partner ahead of time. That will prevent any awkward run-ins. This also ensures that the two of you will know to avoid your ex or interact if you've decided that's appropriate.

2. The past is the past: Recognize that the problems you had in your past partnerships happened in your past partnerships, and aren't likely to happen again. Don't close yourself off in your new relationship based solely on the things that happened with your last beau.

3. Forget about it: Your ex is your ex for a reason, and while the relationship may be important to who you've become as a person, your ex is no longer an important part of your life. It's time to focus on your new significant other and stop focusing on what used to be.

What are the benefits to a double date?

Cupid's Advice:

Even though you should always have one-on-one time with someone to get to know them, there are a lot of benefits to bringing along another couple for a double date. Here are some reasons why a double date might sometimes be better:

1. You're more comfortable: When you're alone with your date and there's a constant pressure of thinking of things to say and staring at them awkwardly, it's easy to feel nervous. When you're around more people, you're likely to loosen up a little.

2. More to talk about: There's always more to talk about when there are more people at the dinner table. When there's another couple around, you'll have fewer silent moments than if it was just you and your date alone.

3. Less likely to fail: Even if you have a terrible date, at least you have two other people to entertain you throughout the night. It's much better than being stuck alone with someone you truly can't stand.

- 2. Have fun together: You and your partner can have a date night doing something fun. Laughing together is enough without having to constantly be kissing each other.

How do you keep your independence while in a relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes when you're in a relationship, it can be hard to keep yourself from getting completely wrapped up in your partner. Here are a few ways to stay independent:

1. Make sure to keep your friends: A relationship can be time consuming, because you always want to spend time with each other. The most important things are to keep your friends and to continue living your life normally. Once you lose your friends, you rely on solely each other for happiness and completely lose that independence.

2. Reserve at least one night a week with your friends: Have one night of the week which remains a guys/girls night out without each other. This will make sure you're still doing stuff for yourselves.

3. Don't change your dreams for anyone: If there is something you've wanted to do your entire life, don't let anyone change that. You shouldn't have to give something up that once meant so much to you just because you're in a relationship.

2. Respect: All relationships are built on mutual respect. Partners who don't treat you fairly or appropriately aren't worth staying with.

How do you know when you’ve found “the one”?

Cupid’s Advice:

Finding love doesn’t necessarily mean finding “the one,” or else we all would have married our high school sweethearts. Here are some ways to tell the difference between your right now and your forever:

1. You are best friends: Sure, you have your girlfriends and he has his guy friends, but there should be a special place in your heart for your partner as not only a lover, but a friend.

If your partner is “the one,” you should be able to tell them your deepest darkest secrets and let yourself feel vulnerable.

2. You can be yourself: There is nothing worse than pretending to be someone you’re not, or your partner expecting you to be something you are not. If you feel comfortable around your partner, can let loose and share your most embarrassing moments with them and still feel the utmost love for one another, you are most likely meant to be.

3. You both want the same things: If you think you have found “the one,” but then cannot agree on whether you want kids or not, you may want to rethink your relationship. Find someone who shares your dreams, or at the very least, understands your dreams and wants you to follow them.

2. You communicate well: Just because the two of you work well together doesn't mean you won't hit some speed bumps. If you can get through your arguments by speaking your part while still listening to and appreciating his, it shows how much you care, even if you disagree on certain points.

3. You're genuinely happy: The emotions and energy you have when you're with your significant other are the best way to tell if he's right for you. If you feel great about yourself and he makes you want to be a better person, stick with it! If you feel fearful or put down, it's time to let him go.

Joshua Jackson and Diane Kruger Show the Love at After Party

This weekend, typically-private Diane Kruger came to the Broad Stage in Santa Monica to support her boyfriend Joshua Jackson, who was appearing in The 24 Hour Plays. Though they refrained from PDA during the red carpet event, the two were very passionate during the after party, spending time together in a quiet corner. A source told People that the two appeared to be “totally in love” and were “really sweet” to watch, making engagement rumors seem even more likely.

How do you show your partner you care in public?

Cupid's Advice:

We all want to let the people we love know that we care about them. However, the ways to show this are very different in public than they are when you're at home. Kruger and Jackson set a great example of simple ways to share your feelings when you and your partner are out:

1. Simple PDA: Though it's best to save the sloppy makeout sessions for the privacy of your own home, there's nothing wrong with some simple and sweet kisses and handholding to show you care. Even just a glance into your beau's eyes can say a lot about how you feel toward them without disturbing others.

2. Support them: Just as Kruger came out to support Jackson in The 24 Hour Plays, you should make an effort to go to the events your partner feels are important. Being there for your partner shows both your sweetie and the rest of the world that your relationship is important to you.

3. Make time for yourselves: Even at a crowded party, there are ways that you and your partner can find a bit of privacy. Though it's great to be with a large group of people, try to spend some alone time with just your beau. Whether it's sitting in a secluded corner or taking a trip outside, making a little bit of time for just the two of you can show you care.

Nikki Reed Says Having Kids Right After Marriage is a Mistake

Nikki Reed is sure that she and her husband, American Idol finalist Paul McDonald, want kids, just not any time soon. The 24-year old Twilight star told People that she thinks “it’s a mistake for people to get married and then just [have kids right away]. I feel like it is the pressure of the family making them do it. We want to travel and be able to fly on an airplane without a baby and just have freedom.” Of course, the couple’s busy schedules are also major obstacles keeping them from having kids right now.

How do you know how long to wait to have kids after marriage?

Cupid’s Advice:

It takes careful consideration, planning and commitment to decide to expand your family and have a baby with your partner. Before you make this huge decision, make sure these things are in order:

1. Happiness: Before having children, ensure that you're not only largely happy with yourself, but also completely happy with your marriage. Many people think that having a baby can fix their relationship, but if you're not already happy, it will just create more problems.

2. Support: It takes more than two people to raise a child successfully. If you're considering having kids, make sure that you have a solid support system in line. Friends, neighbors and relatives can all help you when you need it and are all essential to being a good parent.

3. Finances: Most of all, a couple needs to make sure that their finances are in order. With an extra family member, you and your partner will need to buy everything from a crib to food, and these expenses won't go away when your baby becomes a child. Try to commit to at least 18 years of bills before you can even consider starting a family.

When are lunch dates more appropriate than dinner dates?

Cupid's Advice:

Even though it seems like a lunch date and a dinner date aren't that different, they can mean very different things. Sometimes, one is more appropriate than the other. Here are some tips on when to have a lunch date rather than a dinner date:

1. You're just friends: A lunch date is a lot more casual than a romantic dinner date in the candlelight. If you're not quite in to the other person romantically, lunch is the perfect time to just spend time with them.

2. You're still getting to know each other: If you've recently had a dinner date with someone and are interested in getting to know more about them, a lunch date says just that. It means you want to hang out with them during the day too, where a conversation doesn't have to necessarily have to take place with drinks.

3. You're in a relationship: Lunch dates are especially good for partners who have been together for a while already. They give you time to spend time together during the day, which make them normal for longtime couples.

Cupid's Advice:

There is nothing wrong with showing love for your partner in public, but there is a line between affection and getting a room. Here are some ways to know your boundaries:

1. Kissing: A quick kiss like Kate Middleton and Prince Williams's wedding day kiss is an appropriate public display of affection. The longer the kiss, the more inappropriate it becomes. Don't be afraid to kiss, but do not go over-the-top.

2. Cuddling: Places like restaurants and park benches give couples a chance to cuddle in public. But, these public places should not mimic your at-home couch. Putting an arm around one another or holding hands while sitting side by side is just right. If you're sitting on top of your partner, you've gone too far.

3. Beware of your surroundings: If you're around a playground with children, even kissing could be too much PDA. Be wary of who you are with and what you are near, because you wouldn't want to make anyone feel uncomfortable or set a bad example.

How important is a potential partner's sense of style?

Cupid's Advice:

Style can be the first thing you notice in a potential partner. A neon shirt can mask a great personality and charm. Here are some reasons why it is important to follow fashion trends not only to be stylish, but to help your dating life:

1. Dates in public: If you dress poorly on a date, you'll not only make yourself look bad, but you will also embarrass your partner. How you dress is a reflection of who you are and what your partner likes, and I'm sure your mate does not like pajama pants on a dinner date.

2. Instant Attraction: We're all a little picky when it comes to scoping out potential dates. You're initially attracted to physical details like a great smile, a certain kind of hair and style. When style is a major factor in judging potential partners, why wouldn't you want to dress nice? Better style leads to more dates.

3. Having fashion in common: When you dress well, you most likely love to shop. If you and your partner are both stylish, shopping could become a great daytime date and something to bond over.

What do you do if the person you're dating doesn't accept your child?

Cupid's Advice:

Any single parent knows how brutal the dating world can be. Here are some tips to make it easier if your significant other doesn't accept your child:

1. Leave: Any date that doesn't accept your child doesn't accept you. There's no point continuing a relationship with this person.

2. Be understanding: If you're dating someone who has never been a parent, you have to understand that they don't know what it's like. Try to show them how important your child is and maybe they'll come around.

3. Involve your child: The problem may be that you haven't had your child around enough. Take the little one out with you more so your significant other can see why your child is so amazing.

How do you show appreciation for your partner’s looks?

Cupid’s Advice:

Although looks aren’t the most important thing in a relationship, it’s important to show your partner you’re attracted to them. Here are some ways to support their style:

1. Compliment them: It may seem obvious, but make sure you vocally show you think your partner is attractive. If they’re dressing up for a work function or simply a date with you, tell them they look “beautiful” or “handsome.”

2. Show without words: Being more affectionate than you usually are will show your mate that you’re into how they look a specific day or time.

3. Pay for a pedicure: If you appreciate the time your love puts into her looks, show your appreciation by buying her a mani-pedi or a gift certificate to her favorite outlet.
