What are some ways to get your partner to stop nit picking?

Cupid's Advice:

If you're with someone almost all the time, you can't help but interfere with parts of their life. But sometimes, it gets to be a little too much interfering. How do you get your partner to back off a little? Here are some tips:

1. Have a talk with them: You can first start the nice way by simply sitting them down and explaining to them that you need to do some things your own way. They should be understanding and respectful that you approached them the way you did.

2. Leave them hanging: If you slowly stop telling them your daily plans, they'll feel know something's up. They'll ask what's wrong, and you can tell them why you don't want them to know what you're doing, because they'll get in the middle of it.

3. Do it right back: If nothing else has worked, try the Odom method and do what they're doing to you right back to them. Your significant other will see how annoying it is to be meddling all the time that they'll get the picture and eventually stop.

'The Bachelor' Winner Courtney Says She Tried Hard to be Nice to the Other Women

Robertson was quick to pull Flajnik for some one-on-one time in Switzerland to explain herself. In high hopes of gaining his full trust back, she desperately told him, "I'd say something and they'd jump on me. I had my guard up." Little does Flajnik know, there's a lot more she said to her cast members that he wouldn't be so happy about.

What do you do if you don't get along with your partner's friends?

Cupid's Advice:

There are times where you just can't get along with your partner's friends, but they have a problem with that. Not sure how to fix this problem? Here are some tips:

1. Give it another shot: Maybe there are certain friends of your significant other's who you don't get along with, but there has to be someone you can manage to have a conversation with. Try not to be close-minded, and try giving his or her friends another chance.

2. Bring a friend with you: Whenever you both go out with a bunch of friends, bring yours along, too. It's much easier to loosen up and be cool when you have your best friends along with you.

3. Have them over your place: If you all get together at your place, you'll feel comfortable and there will be less tension. Also, since it is your pad, their friends will most likely be extra nice to you.

What do you do if you see your friend making relationship mistakes?

Cupid's Advice:

Watching your friend make mistakes is hard, but so is trying to intervene with his or her relationship. Here are some friendly ways to have your pal's back:

1. Get your facts straight: Before taking your referee skills center court, be sure you know what you are breaking up. For all you know, your friend could be giving you one-sided stories and their partner is completely guilt-free. Observe as a separate third party to be sure your assistance is necessary.

2. Approach your friend: When you are positive there's an issue, point it out to your friend. She may not even be aware that her boyfriend is sounding like her father. Once his flaws are showing, your friend will hopefully clear things up on her own.

3. Offer advice: If your gal pal doesn't help herself, it's time to step in and try to make some changes. Give her some advice; tell her how you would handle the situation. Don't tell her exactly what to do, though, because that could just cause problems within your friendship.

What do you do if your partner gets involved with the law?

Cupid's Advice:

Getting in trouble with the law is not fun, especially when it involves your lover. While it all depends on the situation and how you choose to handle it, Cupid has some advice to help:

1. Be their support system: "Through sickness and health, and 'til death do us part..." Getting involved in the law can fall somewhere in between those two. Having your significant other in trouble with the law can be a stressful situation for the both of you, but try to be there through the difficult time.

2. Ignore the negative feedback: In this situation, there's always going to be at least one person who's going to degrade your decision to stand by your mate. While the backlash may get to you, develop thick skin and try to remain positive about the circumstances.

3. Move along: If your partner is in serious trouble with the law and it gets to the point to where you no longer have the patience to deal with it, then it may be best for you to move on and live your life.

How do you make the relationship work the second time around?

Cupid's Advice:

The best part about giving your relationship a second shot is that you know what not to do. Don't continue to do the things that tore your relationship apart the first time. Here are some ways to make it work the second time around:

1. Trust each other: A successful relationship is built around trusting one another. You can't be happy with someone if you can't rely on them.

2. Start new: You're giving your relationship another chance for a reason. If you both keep digging up old dirt then there's no way you will be able to move forward to a fresh start.

3. Spend some time alone: Try to rekindle the love you once had by doing the things you did together when you were both happy. Sometimes all you both need is some one-on-one time to get back to that happy place.

Courtney Stages a Fake Wedding for Ben Flajnik on 'The Bachelor'

Courtney Robertson's fake wedding vows on The Bachelor may have been sweet music to Ben Flajnik's ears but it seemed to be a bit too familiar to Sex and the City aficionados. Complete with a stand-in officiant, Robertson set up a mock wedding in a local park of her hometown of Scottsdale, Arizona during her hometown date. While wheedling Flajnik into writing original vows, the model repeated the same vows as the Sex and the City character Carrie Bradshaw, played by Sarah Jessica Parker. "I'm looking for love. Real, passionate, can't-live-without-each-other-love. When I look at you from across the room, I know that the key to your happiness is the key to mine. Ben, I want to love you and treat you right. Every day and every night," Robertson told him. "I hope you know I'm 100% ready for marriage and so happy I found you. I want you to know that I'm in love with you."

Forget the mock ceremony, let's begin with whether or not a woman should propose to a man!

Cupid's Advice:

Beyonce may have said it best in Single Ladies: "If you like it then you should have put a ring on it..." But what happens if your partner doesn't put a ring on it when you feel the relationship is ready? Women are going after what they want nowadays- and love is no exception. While it's up to you to decide if you want to pop the question to your partner, Cupid has some advice to help you make the decision.

1. Go after what you want: Being an independent woman, isn't a task- it's a lifestyle. Instead of waiting for your Prince Charming to plan the perfect proposal, show him how you want it done by doing it yourself.

2. Be non-traditional: Sure, a man is supposed to ask for his woman's hand in marriage, but that doesn't have to be the case in every situation. Make your engagement story unique.

3. If you really love him: If you're ready for the next step in your relationship but your partner hasn't necessarily approached you about it, take the initiative to do so yourself. Talk to him about marriage and make sure you're both on the same page and plan from there.

Tom Brady and Gisele Bundchen Vacation in Costa Rica

A vacation in Costa Rica with wife Gisele Bündchen and 2-year-old son Benjamin was more than enough compensation for Tom Brady's loss in the Super Bowl recently. Supermodel Bündchen had an outburst after the loss, blaming Brady's teammates,

1. To de-stress: Not only does Gisele Bundchen have a stressful job as a model and mother, but Tom Brady probably needed some relaxation after his tough loss in the Super Bowl. If you or your partner has a stressful job, a vacation can do the trick to help you both relax.

2. To get some time away: Hard to find some alone time with your sweetheart? A vacation, even if it's just for the weekend, can be just what you need.

3. Family time: Spend some time with your love and immediate family. There's nothing better than a one-on-one get-to-know-you opportunity; especially if you're considering making the relationship more permanent.

How do you keep the intimate details of your relationship private?

Cupid’s Advice:

The intimate details of what goes on between you and your lover are only for the two of you to share. Here are some tips to keep those moments private:

1. Make a pact: Agree with your significant other to keep your private lives on the down low. If you are both on the same page you should be able to keep your secrets between yourselves.

2. Don't share with friends: If you want don't want anyone to know your business, sharing your relationship secrets with your chatty girlfriends isn't a good idea. Don't tell your friends random lies to satisfy them either, or you'll start hearing rumors that you started yourself.

What type of dog makes the best gift for your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

The type of dog you buy for your partner depends on his or her preference, but here are some guidelines:

1. A big dog: Most guys want a big dog that they can play in the yard with, or go on runs with. Getting your man a big dog will ultimately make him feel, well, manlier. Women often prefer smaller dogs that they can pamper and easily handle.

2. A dog of choice: Take your partner dog shopping, but turn it into a game. Pretend to build your future, all the way down to what dog your significant other might enjoy running around the apartment with. After you see exactly what they like, sneak back to the pet store and take the dog home.

3. A dog you can deal with: Giving your mate a dog means you'll be spending a lot of time with it, too. So, make sure the pooch is one that you love as well. As long as you're in a relationship, the dog will be your new baby.

How do you make your children comfortable around a new partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Children can often take time to adjust to a new special someone in your life. Cupid shares ways to help your child adjust:

1. The first introduction: Ease your way into the first meeting. Ask your child questions and let them ask you questions about this new significant other in your life. Give them time if they need it, but make sure it's within reason.

2. The first meeting: Don't make the first encounter entirely focused on the significant other. Take a page from Christina Aguilera and have it coincide with another event. Not only does it say money, but this allows the child to associate good memories with your new partner.

3. Avoid conflict: You won't always be able to please both your partner and your children, but avoid situations where you have to choose between them. This is especially true if it's a highly tense situation which could lead to resentment.
