

Celebrity Couple: Royal Celebrity Couples Face Online Bullying

by Mara Miller

Kensington Palace is worried about online bullying against the royal celebrity couples, Kate Middleton and Prince William, and Meghan Markle and Prince Harry. In the latest celebrity news, according to People.com. Kensington Palace staff have spent countless hours monitoring negative comments aimed toward the royal sisters-in-law. These comments often try to pit Duchesses Middleton and Markle against each other, with fans of both taking sides and arguing among themselves. In some rare cases, there have even been serious threats of harm. The cyber bullying isn't just toward both women: Kate and Meghan fans often turn against, and threaten, each other.

The Royal Celebrity Couples are facing terrible comments on social media and, in response, Kensington Palace is making a peace movement. What are ways can adults cultivate a positive experience online?

Cupid's Advice:

Kensington Palace has been locking down the comments on social media about the royal family. While it might be easy to act thoughtlessly online without caring about another person's feelings, bullying has serious emotional repercussions that have, in some cases, led to suicide when an online social interaction is not as easily monitored. We should all strive for a positive online experience. Here are some ways to achieve it.

1. Remember the Golden Rule: Remember the saying, "If you can't say anything nice, don't say anything at all?" Apply this logic to any future comments you might make online in a public forum. Realize the comments you are making are about real people, too. It's easy to get into shipping wars when we adore our royalty and our celebrities, but they have feelings and busy lives just like we do. Would you want to hurt your favorite celebrity because you've said something terrible about one of their family members when they're trying to work out their personal differences?

2. Report Threatening Behavior: If you're on a forum like Facebook or Twitter, you can report any threats toward someone who is getting bullied. Often, there is the option to block a specific user. Never make any threats yourself. While there are no exact laws against cyber bullying, it is still a form of harassment and there can be legal ramifications if you're caught.

3. Just Walk Away: The best thing to do is ignore it, even when you might really want to make that comment to try to make an internet troll go away. Bullying can take away the enjoyment of the video or article you're trying to read and put you in a horrible mood when you could have just ignored someone else's childish behavior.

The elusive celebrity couple Emma Stone & Dave McCarry are not often seen in public together. What are some ways you and your love can prevent public expectations from influencing your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

It's important to not let others influence your ideal relationship. While public expectations may be tough to overcome, there are some ways to help prevent them from influencing how you and your partner carry on your love for one another:

1. Forget about public expectations altogether: It seems much easier than it actually is, but it's important to forget about what others expect of you. When we let go of all public expectations, we tend to enjoy our partners even more.

2. Put your relationship first: Instead of worrying about having to impress other people, just focus on yourselves. There's nothing saying that the two of you have to enjoy the same public events as other couples, so just participate in whatever makes the two of you happy.

Working with your partner may seem like a wonderful idea, but there can be some drawbacks. There are some adjustments that have to be made when intending to spend your working hours and your downtime with your S.O. To avoid putting your relationship in jeopardy, we have some ways to know your boundaries when working with your partner:

1. Maintain your privacy: Every relationship needs to have some space to survive, this is especially true while working with your significant other. Give each other enough time to respond to emails, make phone calls, and complete projects without shadowing each other throughout the entire day.

Keeping a marriage fresh and healthy for a long period of time is usually not as effortless as it may seem. Just like anything else, marriages take hard work to stay strong and remain successful. Here are some tips on how to keep a powerful, lasting marriage:

Celebrity Dating: Chrissy Teigen Questions Modern Dating

By Mara Miller

In the latest celebrity dating and celebrity news according to EOnline.com, Chrissy Teigen questions modern dating. Teigan and her husband, John Legend, have been together for twelve years and married for five. They have two children, Luna and Miles. Teigan questioned modern dating on Twitter on Sunday, saying, "I haven't dated for a long, long time but are guys really pulling the 'let's be exclusive' thing six months into dating like what, I have been exclusive what the f-k have you been". Chrissy is right—modern dating can be a mess.

Chrissy Teigen's questions about modern celebrity dating are way too relatable. What are some old-school tips we should adopt in today's dating game?

Cupid's Advice:

Though online dating platforms are the newest way to meet someone, old-fashioned dating still has its merits. Here are a few old-school tips:

1. Get off the phone: We carry mini-computers around with us, allowing constant access to the outside world. Old-fashioned dating meant actually spending time with your date to try to get to know them and giving your date time to get to know you if you're genuinely interested in a relationship. Try leaving the phone in your purse or back pocket on vibrate to give your date your sole attention.

2. Take Things Slower: While waiting for marriage to be intimate might seem too old fashioned, taking things slow while you're dating has its benefits. Keep in mind that there is nothing wrong with jumping into bed together on the first date, but if you're serious about the person you want to date, waiting and taking things a tad slower will allow both of you to decide if pursuing the relationship is plausible or a total disaster.

3. Find someone you can dance with: While this might seem like something your grandmother would say, couples who can dance and have fun together are more likely to have a successful relationship. And no, this doesn't mean a bump and grind in a club. Think head resting on shoulder, holding hands, swaying together kind of dancing.

What are some old-fashioned dating tips you suggest?

you are ready to take that step?

Cupid's Advice:

Moving in together can be a mix of amazing, frustrating, exhausting, and exciting emotions, not to mention expensive, even if you're just moving an hour and a half away from the city to the countryside. How do you know when you're ready?

1. Review your expenses, and then decide how you'll break things up: Are you going to split the bills even, or share them? Consider if you're ready to share the cost for food and gas, and if you're renting and the utilities aren't included, the water and the electric. This can be easily done by creating a budget for your potential new household.

2. You're willing to make a couple sacrifices: 3 AM dance sessions and binge-watching your favorite television show might have to be put on hold while your partner sleeps. You'll need to take time to do chores, and these will go quicker, like helping your partner wash the dishes or walk the dog together. You might also have to put down the social media to spend more time together. If you can see yourself making tiny sacrifices like this, then you both might be ready to live together.

3. You trust they will be great with your pets or children: While this might not be a factor for everyone, it's still an important factor to consider. If you are with someone who doesn't like children or animals, and you adore both your toddler and your pet rabbit and they want nothing to do with either, then you might need to re-evaluate your relationship. Trust in this situation is key because you don't want your human babies or fur babies to get hurt.

1. Sit them down for tea or coffee: Don't let them know what you think about their S.O. publicly. Invite them over for a private conversation. 1. Social media: If you open up on social media about your current relationship, exes that you're still friends with may see what you're doing and may try causing drama in your life. Revealing too much about your relationship can leave you open and exposed to the antics of a rejected ex.

3. Added pressure on your relationship: By putting your relationship out in the open, you give people permission to idolize your relationship. Sharing your every move in your private life can put your relationship in a position to be the prototype of what real love is. This can convince people that they want what you have solely based on what they have seen. This can put a lot of pressure on you and your relationship. You may want to go above and beyond the expectations for your followers, which makes it easy to lose sight of what's really important, building an unbreakable bond with your significant other.
