There could be a celebrity wedding getting planned soon! How do you know when your partner is ready for marriage?

Cupid's Advice:

When you're with that special someone, you're going to know you want to marry them. But how do you know when your partner is ready to tie the knot? Cupid is here with some relationship advice:

1. Look for the hints: Your partner may drop a couple "when we get married" or "for our wedding" into conversations when they get reminded of something wedding related. They may keep the hints subtle without directly confronting you, but that's just their way of saying they see a future with you.

2. Talk to them: If you're not getting any hints, try the direct approach. You can ask them if they've thought about marriage, or talk to them about where they see themselves in the next 10 years. If you're not getting a clear answer, it's best to talk to them directly.

3. Look where they stand: Are they financially independent, are they emotionally stable, and do they like children? Make sure that your partner is in a good and happy place. If they are, then that is a sign they are ready for a future with you, and that means hopefully starting a family.

the moment wedding?

Cupid's Advice:

Love can be spontaneous and full of adventure! If you're a couple who likes to take a drive on the more spontaneous side, Cupid is here to tell you why you should have a spur of the moment wedding:

1. No planning: Planning a wedding has the capability to be stressful and may take a turn for the worst between you and your partner. So, why not skip all the hassle of planning and just go for it? All the planning you'll have to do is picking the Vegas chapel and deciding on which Elvis you want to have marry you!

2. No invites: Another stressful event when having a wedding is figuring out who you're going to invite. There tends to be a lot of family problems; who doesn't get along, who can't sit next to whom, and who doesn't get invited versus who does. You can take out that stress by just going for it and getting married. There's no one involved except the two lovebirds.

3. It's fun: Spontaneous actions can bring out the best moments. If you and your partner are about doing things just because "you feel like it," it may make your relationship strong. Former 'Bachelor' Ben Higgins Feels 'Disconnected' from Celebrity Wedding Planning

By

Kayla Garritano

Will the wedding drama ever stop? In the Tuesday, November 1 episode of Ben & Lauren: Happily Ever After? Ben Higgins and Lauren Bushnell made another attempt at wedding planning, then quickly moved on to other things to avoid more planning. According to UsMagazine.com, the little bit of planning they did included Lauren's sister, Mollie, helping the celebrity couple with their wedding registry. Ben immediately became defensive over everything and didn't want anything that they don't need. Mollie and Lauren ignored most of Ben's negative comments and continued making the registry. As the episode continued to show them arguing and disagreeing with things such as houses and what they “don’t need,” Ben took a moment to admit to the camera, “I’m very disconnected from wedding planning.”

This former Bachelor is feeling isolated from celebrity wedding planning. What are some ways to involve your partner in wedding plans?

Cupid’s Advice:

A wedding is a joint ceremony, where you learn a lot about your partner and deal with the craziness of planning a wedding together. You want to make sure neither of you feel isolated in the planning, especially if you both want to be involved. Cupid will tell you how you can plan your wedding together:

1. Take them on the hunt: When you’re testing out cakes, or trying out the food, or picking out your wedding registry, make sure your partner is there with you. Show them the journey you’re going on, and let them experience what you’re experiencing. Your partner should be allowed to try what it is that you’re trying, and have the same opportunity to plan out the wedding that you’re both a part of.

2. Let them have opinions: When you have a dream wedding in mind, you don’t want to let anyone else’s opinions in. Well, what if your partner has something to say about the situation? What if they prefer something different? Make sure their voice is heard, and that you consider what they say. You should learn to talk to each other about what you're thinking. If you don't, that may foreshadow some problems in the marriage.

Related Link: Learning to Compromise: My Way or the Highway!

3. Compromise: Marriage is about compromise, as is a wedding. You are taking two lives and melding them into one. You are creating a new life for yourself the minute you say "I do" to each other. Do something for each other that seems fair. Take something out of the wedding that you love in exchange for putting in something your partner loves, and they should do the same for you.

Cupid's Advice:

It's your wedding! You want to make it your own and give it a personal touch. You and your partner should be planning a night to remember. Cupid is here to help with ways you can personalize your wedding:

1. Picture perfect: What better way to personalize your wedding than by putting your face everywhere? You and your partner must have plenty of memories leading up to your big day, and there must be pictures to prove it. Lying pictures on tables or around the walls makes the party feel inviting. You're inviting your guests into your personal journey, which is a heart-warming gesture.

Bathroom Law

Stephanie Sacco

In celebrity news, Ciara and Russell Wilson finally tied the knot after two canceled celebrity weddings. Their wedding planner, Mindy Weiss had her hands full with these two. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity couple called off their first wedding due to the bathroom laws in North Carolina. Many celebrities have called off tours here and the 2017 NBA All-Star Game was moved from Charlotte. Their back-up was France where Couture Fashion Week was in full swing. Their celebrity wedding ended up being at the Peckforton Castle in Cheshire, England. This setting proved that good things come in threes.

This celebrity wedding finally happened, but not on the first try. What are some important things to consider about the location of your nuptials?

Cupid's Advice:

Location is a huge decision when it comes to a wedding. There are a lot of factors to discuss and many venues to check out. Cupid is here to help:

1. Other people: Destination weddings are a hike so if you're planning one, maybe make it a small wedding. Not everybody is going to be able to or want to attend a wedding somewhere far away. Think about your guests when you decide on a location.

2. Money: You might find your dream venue, but that doesn't mean it will be the dream price. Be conscious of your budget and weigh your options. If you spend a little more on the location, spend a little less somewhere else.

3. Space: Big wedding parties need enough space to fit everybody. Make sure the location is big enough. If you decide on a beach wedding, you can maximize your guest list where as if you have a small church wedding, it might be a bit smaller. The party afterwards needs to provide room for a dance floor and tables so plan wisely.

It's a celebrity couple Bachelorette engagement! What are some ways to propose in the most romantic way possible?

Cupid's Advice:

This celebrity engagement was not only heartfelt, but also extremely beautiful. Even if your proposal doesn't have a set designer, there are so many ways to have it be a memorable and romantic moment. Think outside the box to create a memory that will last a lifetime:

1. Just you two: Proposing in front of a lot of people may seem like a romantic move, but nine times out of 10, a one-on-one moment will be much sweeter. You'll have plenty of opportunity for attention after you announce the engagement, so consider proposing in a private setting or with just close friends and family in your audience. Plan a couples' vacation and propose at some point during the trip, or make a meal at home, set the room with flowers, and propose there. Let the moment be just for the two of you.

2. Speak from the heart: Nothing can make a proposal more romantic than letting your true feelings out. Think about what you want to say beforehand. It doesn't have to be written out, but you should know what point you want to make. Talk about your favorite memories, and why you love each other. No matter what setting you're in sweet words will make your proposal romantic, for sure.

3. Keepsake: Whether it's a video or photo documenting the engagement or a memento you used to propose, incorporate a lasting element into your proposal plans. Create a photo album of things you've done together, make a short storybook about your relationship, or simply have someone there to take a picture when you pop the question. Showing that you put a lot of thought into the proposal is super romantic, and having something to look back on after the moment has passed will preserve the romance forever.

By

Cortney Moore

This may not come as a surprise to most, but rapper Kanye West has once again made celebrity news in regards to his comments about wife Kim Kardashian and her nude selfies. In an exclusive interview with Harper's Bazaar, the celebrity couple spoke on a variety of topics, one of them being Kardashian's viral nude selfies. "I just love seeing her naked; I love nudity. And I love beautiful shapes. I feel like it's almost a Renaissance thing, a painting, a modern version of a painting," the 35-year-old rapper said. In the same interview, he admitted that he'd send nude selfies of his own to women before he entered a relationship with Kardashian. Perhaps now we know how this celebrity couple keeps the passion alive in their relationship!

This is certainly risque celebrity news! How do you know if nude selfies are right for your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Nude selfies have become increasingly popular in the dating scene and even in long-term relationships, as we've seen in this celebrity news. Though it may be fun to send a flirty text, there is always a risk in doing so. Cupid is here to help you figure out if nude selfies are right for your relationship:

1. Know your partner: First and foremost, you need to take into account who your partner is. Do you know them well? How long have you been together? Are they trustworthy and mature? These are all questions you should ask yourself before you snap that picture and hit send. You don't want this intimate part of yourself to be accidentally or vindictively leaked.

2. Only do it if you want to: Sometimes a significant other may pressure you to send a nude photo. Don't let them bully you into it. The person you're with should respect your wishes if you don't want to do it, and understand your apprehension if you're unsure if it's the right time to do so. Something of this nature should be your choice alone. You don't owe anyone a nude selfie, not even a wife or husband.

3. Protect your identity: If you decide that you're ready to send a nude selfie, do so in a way that protects your identity. Your face doesn't have to be visible (you don't have to follow Kim's example). Even consider using a messaging app that provides an alternate phone number. Do whatever you can to ensure your privacy.

This celebrity wedding story has us swooning. What are three reasons to have a large wedding celebration?

Cupid's Advice:

Take a page out of the Wilson's book and plan a large wedding celebration. All of their friends and family were in attendance, and yours should be, too. There's no reason to skimp on your big day, so here are three reasons to have a large wedding celebration:

1. Lower stress: Having a large wedding celebration may sound more stressful, but it just might be less stressful. There is nothing worse than sitting down to make a guest list, deciding it's too long, and having to cross people off. Chances are if you put the person on the list, you don't want to cross them off. Planning a large wedding will save you the terrible feeling of crossing a friend off your list, and will also save you and your betrothed many arguments over the number of guests.

2. All the pieces of the puzzle: Whether a large wedding celebration refers to the actual number of people in attendance or just the general grandeur of the event, go big. Plan a budget that is within your means, but also allows you to have everything you want on your big day. Planning a large wedding celebration will ensure that every aspect will be the way you pictured it. You shouldn't skimp on your guest list, dress, food, or decor if you don't have to.

3. Party time: If there is no other reason, plan a large wedding celebration because at the end of the day, it's a party! Let loose and celebrate this new chapter in your life with all the people who are important to you. You can't have an awesome party with only 50 people, so just go for it!

The Siriano-Walsh wedding had tons of style and incorporated so many personal touches. Take a page out of this celebrity couple's book, and personalize your nuptials:

1. Venue: If you're looking to personalize your wedding, start at square one—with the venue. Where you chose to have your wedding can say a lot about you and your betrothed. If you're traditional or religious, you may choose to get married in a place of worship. If you're both outdoorsy, have your ceremony on a beach or in a field. If you're adventurous, plan a destination wedding. Let the setting of your ceremony be the backdrop for who you two are as a couple.

2. Food: Personalizing your food is a basic, but important part of your wedding. If you grew up in a family that is connected to their culture, let it shine through in the cuisine. Whether it's traditional Indian, Chinese, or Italian, your heritage is a big part of who you are, and the food was no doubt a big part of your life growing up. If you want to personalize your food in a more small scale way, consider picking out a custom cake topper.
