How do you know when it's time to move on after a separation?

Cupid's Advice:

Breaking up or separating can be very emotionally damaging, and sometimes it takes a while to get back up on your feet and move on. Cupid has some tips on how to know when it's time:

1. Grief completion: You may still harbor hurt feelings as a result of your split, but if you've completed the grief process and no longer cry into your pillow at night, it may be time to start getting out and experiencing what life has to offer again.

2. Time limit: Sometimes it's good to give yourself a set amount of time to heal after a breakup, and then move on after that point no matter what. You can't mope forever, as life is for living.

3. You're happy: If you find yourself smiling a lot and re-establishing your independence, it's now okay to let someone in.

How do you stay close to your long distance mate?

Cupid’s Advice:

Being in a relationship is hard enough as it is, but what about when you are in separate states, or even separate countries? Here are some tips on how to stay as close in a long distance relationship:

- 1. Skype: Skype is a lifesaver for long distance relationships. Seeing your sweetheart’s face every day makes the distance seem much more bearable. Even if you chat for only five minutes, talking face-to-face will keep your relationship alive better than any text message could.

2. Share photos: Send each other pictures. Even if it's only what you had for lunch, share your life with your partner. Send pictures of things you would normally laugh about together, or something you tried for the first time together and are passing in the grocery store. Keeping your partner in the know will make reuniting seamless.

3. Make countdowns: Countdowns can definitely help you through a long distance relationship. If you have visits planned, count down to those. Or, if you have a birthday coming up, count down to that. The smaller and simpler the count down, the better they will make you feel, until the ultimate countdown of being able to be together for good.

What are some cases where someone is "off limits" to date?

Cupid's Advice:

In society, there are many cases where someone is off limits to date. Here are some examples of people in your life who you may want to keep it strictly platonic with:

1. Your friend's ex: Even if your friend claims to be okay with it, dating a friend's ex can never end well. After all, you probably wouldn't want any of your friends dating one of your exes no matter how long ago you broke up.

2. A boss or teacher: Having an intimate relationship with an authority figure is inappropriate in so many ways. If you start to have feelings for someone such as a boss or teacher, wait until you no longer work under them to act on your feelings.

3. Someone who's taken: Never get involved with someone who you know is already committed to someone else. If someone is willing to cheat on their significant other to be with you, then they don't respect you or their current partner.

2. You talk about them non-stop: If your friends are sick of hearing about how funny your new man's jokes are, you are surely talking about him too much. Although this may be annoying for your girlfriends, it's just another sign that you are stepping in the right direction in your relationship.

What are some ways to introduce your new partner to friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Introducing your new lover to your friends can go great or horribly wrong. Cupid has some tips to make sure it goes smoothly:

1. Prep: Tell your new man about your friends, and dish to your friends about your new man. A surprise meet and greet will be awkward for everyone. If you forewarn your man about your goofy friend who laughs when she meets new people, he won't feel like she is laughing at him and the process will be effortless.

2. Neutral location: Don't show up at your girlfriend's house, which is like your second home, with your new boyfriend. It will surely be uncomfortable for him. Try having a group of friends meet at a bar or bowling alley. That way, you can all mingle and everyone meets your new beau in one shot.

3. Be proud: Have confidence when you introduce your sweetheart to your friends. If they think you're embarrassed of him, they are going to assume something's wrong. The last thing you want is friends who disapprove of your new man and a boyfriend who feels insecure about your relationship.

Introducing your partner to your parents shows that you are serious about making your relationship work long term. Here are some signs that it’s time to take this significant step:

- 1. You’re exclusive (and you wouldn’t have it any other way:) When you can’t imagine being without your partner and you’re not interested in seeing other people, it could be time to meet the parents.
- 2. They’re always on your mind: When you are constantly thinking about someone, picking up little things for them when you shop or considering what they would like even if you’re not together, it’s a sign that things are getting heated. But the test is if you can envision your partner laughing with your mom, hanging with your dad and tossing the football with your brother. If that's the case, it could be time to introduce them to the people who are most important in your life.

What are the best ways to come clean about your sexuality to friends and family?

Cupid's Advice:

The nuclear family is changing, and more people have the confidence to come out about their sexual orientation. Cupid has some tips to help you be honest with your friends and family:

1. Friends: Coming out to your friends first will be good practice for when you tell your family. You'll get an assortment of reactions, and you'll be able to identify your true friends. It will be easier to tell your family once you already have a support system behind you.

2. Be ready: If you have gay friends that have already come out, they may pressure you to hurry and do the same. Wait until you're completely ready emotionally and mentally, so that the situation is handled the best it can be.

3. Confidence: Your biggest fear about coming out may be your friend's and family's reactions. If things take a turn for the worst, be patient and give them time to come to terms with the situation.

What are three strong dinner date conversational points?

Cupid's Advice:

Being nervous about a dinner date is perfectly normal. Conversation can be a serious challenge when your nerves have the best of you. Here are some great go-to points to discuss:

1. Education: Discussing your college life can be a great way to get to know someone. Uncovering that your date was a music major may make you 10 times more interested. Sharing his experiences can give you a new outlook, as well as a great way to get to know one another.

2. Work: Knowing what your new man does for a living is a deal changer. However, don't let work steer the entire conversation, as it would get boring very quickly. Bring up how much you enjoy your job as a nurse, but don't give any gruesome emergency rooms horror stories.

3. Hobbies: Talking about what you love to do in your spare time is the number one way to get to know someone. Maybe you both enjoy skiing, or biking. Either way, once you discover what you have in common, your conversation will steer itself in the right direction.

How do you know how long to wait before moving on after a split?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be difficult to determine when the right time comes for you to move on from your last relationship. Cupid shares some advice:

1. Mental closure: If you think of your ex late at night and are filled with feelings of hate, anger and jealousy, you need some time before attempting to move on and begin a new relationship.

2. You stop thinking about them: When you realize that you've gone more than just days without thinking of them, you're probably ready to begin dating again. You have to be happy by yourself before you can be happy with a new partner.

3. When dating helps: If you're potentially interested in someone and they already help you forget your ex, you may be able to move on with them. However, make sure that whoever you begin dating isn't a rebound.

Cupid’s Advice:

Getting back into the dating scene after a breakup or a divorce can be tricky. Here are some ways to keep things simple:

1. Keep quiet: Your first few dates after getting out of a serious relationship can be a little shaky, so only tell one or two people close to you that you’re seeing someone until you think the relationship is ready for exposure.

2. Social media: Keep the relationship status on your Facebook out of the situation. People love gossip, and changing your status will make the topic free game for anyone with access to your page.

3. New places: Avoid going to the same places that you used to frequent with your ex. People will realize that your old partner is missing, and without knowledge of the split, could bring up some topics that could result in awkward conversations.

Is it OK to date a co-worker?

Cupid’s Advice:

When you spend so much time at work, it’s easy to develop crushes every now and then. If you decide to act on them, however, things can get a little tricky. Cupid has some tips:

1. Decide if it’s worth it: There’s no point in indulging in a short-term fling with a co-worker, because the negative after-effects way outweigh the benefits. However, if you can really see a future with one of your co-workers, it's worth risking the potential for awkward and hurtful post-breakup sightings.

2. Read up on company policy: Whatever you do, don't break any policies or procedures at your place of work. Make sure to read up on the guidelines for inter-company relationships, as they vary from company to company. Follow the rules, because it's not worth damaging your career.

3. Keep it low-key: If you do decide to begin dating a someone you work with, it's important to downplay your relationship at the office. The last thing you need are your other co-workers talking behind your back about inappropriate behavior.

Brandi Glanville Admits to Hooking Up with Gerard Butler

A source said the “fooling around” occurred shortly after Glanville was left by ex-husband Eddie Cibrian.

What do you do if a former partner starts bragging about hooking up with you?

Cupid's Advice:

It might seem like flattery when an ex brags about being with you, but it can also be a little too over the top and way too much information. Here are some tips on how to handle the situation:

1. Politely ask your ex to stop: Without causing unnecessary drama, talk to your ex and request that they stop discussing your private matters. This is easier said than done, but if you are polite, patient and understanding towards your former partner the showdown should run smoothly.

2. Make sure the facts are straight: If your ex does not stop, be sure he is at least blabbing the right story to the public. If his word is coming out sideways against yours, go ahead and set the tale straight.

3. Warn your current lover about what they might hear: Dealing with exes in new relationships is a sticky subject. If your current beau is clueless about your past lover, be sure to tell him before someone else does. Even the hard stuff sounds better coming from your own lips.

"Ages are mere reminders of the hours logged on this earth and the precious time remaining. Close your ears and open your hearts; Love and be happy."

How do you handle people's criticism of the age difference in your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Though an age difference might not matter to you, it may bother others. Here are a few ways to handle the criticism:

1. Ignore the naysayers: Ultimately, your opinion and your partner's opinion are the only opinions that matter in the relationship. Ignore the skeptics, and eventually their criticism will die down.

2. Talk to your partner: Though the age difference may not bother you, make sure that your partner is comfortable with it as well. He or she may need your encouragement in the face of adversity.

3. Express your happiness: An easy way to stop people's criticism is to show them that they're wrong. Try being a little more open with your relationship, and let others see how happy you are.

Under-the-weather singer Adele has been out and about recently. The “Somebody Like You” songstress, who’s recovering from vocal chord surgery, took a romantic walk with new boyfriend Simon Konecki in the Everglades on Monday, reports UsMagazine.com. Konecki, 36, is a founder of the charity Drop4Drop, which gives clean drinking water to those who need it. “[Konecki] watched [Adele’s] every move, especially when she was on the dock and on the boat. He wanted to make sure she didn’t fall into the water!” said a witness. “They were lovey dovey with one another [and] very into each other. She seems really happy.”

What are some unique and romantic locations to take a walk with your partner?

Cupid’s Advice:

Sometimes the best dates are the simplest ones. Here are a few unique and romantic places to take a stroll with your significant other:

- 1. The woods: Try escaping the hustle and bustle of city life and driving to a more rural location. Take your partner on an expedition in the woods. Bring along a camera and plenty of insect repellent.
- 2. The harbor: If you live by an ocean, there’s most likely a nearby harbor. Most harbors have a boardwalk, some of which have stands that sell ice cream and other snacks. Take your partner and admire the ships and seagulls.
- 3. Your neighborhood: Though this seems less than exciting, chances are you haven’t fully explored your own neighborhood. Take a left turn where you normally take a right, and discover the rest of your environment.

How do you prepare to meet your partner's parents?

Cupid's Advice:

Meeting your partner's parents is a big deal; sometimes their feelings about you can give your mate the final seal of approval ... or at worst, denial. Cupid has some advice:

1. Dress appropriately: When it comes to meeting your mate's parents, especially for the first time, it's always best to wear something respectable and not so revealing. You want them to focus on getting to know you instead of giving a bad first impression as soon as you set foot outside of the car. Think classy instead of tacky.

2. Be social: Sure, meeting the parents for the first time can cause you to become a bit nervous, but make sure to remain calm and cool. Ask questions and casually keep the conversation going to show them that you're just as interested in getting to know them as they are in getting to know you.

3. Be you: There's nothing worse than being fake, and it's pretty obvious when you're doing it. The important thing parents want to know and see when they meet you is why their son or daughter fell in love with you. Be honest and confident.
