How do you know when to take your romance public?

Cupid's Advice:

When things are new in a relationship, it can be a hard decision to take it into the public eye for fear of ruining something. Cupid has some tell-tale signs it's time to head out:

- 1. You're comfortable: First make sure that this is a relationship you definitely want to be in. You need to be comfortable before you declare your love to the world; otherwise, the relationship won't stand a chance.
- 2. Be aware: Make sure there aren't external factors that will hurt your relationship. For example, a jealous ex or an overbearing parent can put a halt to any relationship.
- 3. Be understanding: There are inevitably people out there who will not be happy for you and your new relationship. Don't let this cause a rift between you and your partner. Don't buy in to rumors that are spread. Trust your gut.

If your partner has serious character flaws or has wronged you in some major way, you may wish to rethink getting back together.

3. Your future happiness: If you feel that your ex will make you truly happy, then go ahead and rekindle the relationship. However, if you feel that there's someone better for you out there, then end your relationship for good and get back onto the dating scene with an open heart.

So even though her beau feels she's perfect, he flew out to Houston to be with Girardi during her rhinoplasty in July. As if that wasn't sweet enough, Kahl also told Girardi, "I am here for you and I support you no matter what you want to do" after the surgery. That's true love right there.

How do you know when your partner loves you, for you?

Cupid's Pulse:

It's tough to know if your beau really loves you for you, but Cupid has some tips on how to tell if your partner is real with you and cares for you no matter what:

1. They don't try to change you: Yes, everyone tries to change their significant other a little bit, whether it be their wardrobe, their eating habits or even the TV shows they watch. How you know the 'change' is going too far is if your partner is forcing you into changes you can live without.

2. They are honest with you: Kasey Kahl didn't feel that girlfriend Vienna Girardi needed a nose job, and he even told her he loved her inside and out despite any size nose she had. If your honey is honest with you and isn't afraid of sharing his or her opinion, that's a sign they are here for all the right reasons.

3. They support you: Even if you and your mate don't agree on something, he or she should always support you. Like Kahl said, he is there for Vienna Girardi no matter what. Simple things like that will show you that your boo is for real.

It was easy for Bachelor Pad stars Vienna Girardi and Kasey Kahl to figure out it was time to move in together because they knew they were ready to take their relationship to the next level. Cupid has some advice on how to know when the time is right to make the big move:

1. You love each other: As if this point wasn't obvious enough, if the two of you truly love each other, the next step is to make sure you're really compatible as a couple. Living together is the ultimate test because it allows you to fully know your partner and his or her everyday quirks.

2. You're practically always together: If you and your beau are always together, the most rational thing to do would be to make the big move and see how things pan out. This can help bring the two of you closer together or show you that that two of you maybe aren't ready for such a serious commitment. Plus, you'll also save money on rent and/or household expenses.

3. You want to take it to the next level: A good way to know you're ready to move in together is to realize that you and your mate want to take your relationship to the next level. Take some advice from Vienna and Kasey: you know it's time when the two of you know you want things to go further.

What are some things to consider when you're dating a co-worker?

Cupid's Advice:

You won't be able to keep dating a coworker a secret for long, so just expose yourself from the start. Here are three ways to do so:

- 1. Be open: We understand that relationships are only supposed to be between the two people involved. However, when you're dating a co-worker, that theory isn't going to hold up. Everybody always knows everybody's business at the workplace. It's best you tell everyone about it before somebody else gets the chance to.

2. Treat it like any other: Once step one is out of the way, there's no need to be secretive anymore. Treat your new relationship the same as you would any other. Let everyone else see you and your honey holding hands or even smooching on breaks. That's a sure way to make it known that it's official.

3. Be happy: Give your partner your all and love him or her completely. Don't let anyone's judgments get to you. Appreciate what you have while you have it.

3. Treat it like a friendship: Friendships build great foundations for almost all relationships. Kissing and hugging doesn't mean that your partner can't be your friend. With a friendship base, going with the flow might be a little bit easier.

If you’re busy and can’t go on a date, how do you let someone down gracefully?

Cupid’s Advice:

If you must turn down a date, do it with class. Here are three ideas:

1. Be honest: If you keep it honest from the beginning, you won’t have to go through any twists and turns when he or she asks more questions about why you turned the date down.

2. Always give a reason: It's rude to simply say "no." Always give a reason as to why you can't go on a date with someone. You may not feel obligated to do so, but there are millions of excuses out there. Pick one.

3. Plan another date: If your reason is because of your busy schedule, make sure you let him or her know that you're still interested, and plan another date at a more convenient time. Make sure it fits into his or her schedule, too, although it may not be as busy as yours.

Mila Kunis and Justin Timberlake Confirm Marine Corps Ball Invitations

Kunis, 27, was invited by Sgt. How do you let someone you're not interested in down gently?

Cupid's Advice:

While Justin Timberlake and Mila Kunis were happy to accept their invitations to the Marine Corps balls, sometimes you're just not interested. Cupid has some tips on how to let someone down gently:

1. Make excuses: It may not be the most moral thing to do, but telling a little white lie makes things a lot easier. If someone asks you out and you say you already have a boyfriend or girlfriend, they won't get hurt by your rejection.

2. It's not you, it's me: Instead of saying "I don't like you,” just say you’re not looking to date right now. This takes the focus away from the person asking you out and puts the blame on you.

3. Honesty is the best policy: If you want to be honest, just admit you’re not interested. Tell him or her it’s not personal, and most people will get the hint and leave you alone.

Ryan Reynolds Is Dating Charlize Theron

New hot couple alert! Ryan Reynolds, who split from ex-wife Scarlett Johansen last December, has been dating Charlize Theron for months, according to UsMagazine.com. An insider said, "They're both career-focused, but not in a crazy way." Could Reynolds have found his perfect match?

What do you do if your partner's career focus is becoming too obsessive?

Cupid's Advice:

Ryan Reynolds and Charlize Theron may be equally career-driven, but sometimes in relationships, one partner may find the other partner a little too focused on work. How can you handle your partner when their motivation to work hard turns into an addiction and their entire life is centered around work? Cupid has some advice:

1. Accept your partner: It's important to remember that you can't change your partner. If work is central to his or her life, don't try to make him or her negotiate that. Respect your honey's priorities and give him or her space.

2. Communicate: So you want to give some needed space, but you also want to let him or her know that his or her career obsession is a problem, because it makes you feel neglected. As long as you put the focus on your feelings and emphasize your desire to spend time with your significant other, he or she shouldn't get offended.

3. Help him or her relax: When your partner comes home after a hard day at the office, give him or her a soothing massage and allow them to take their mind off serious matters. Let them indulge in a leisurely activity with you.

What do you do if your partner's partying habits become too much?

Cupid's Advice:

Having fun is one thing, while being addicted to partying on a consistent basis is quite another. Cupid has some suggestions on what you should do if your partner's partying ways become too much:

1. Evaluate: The first and foremost thing you need to do is assess the situation. Is your significant other just partying more than you would, or does he or she truly have a problem? Either way, if it makes you uncomfortable, it's something you need to confront.

2. Hint: Before coming right out and telling your honey that he or she is a party hound and you can't handle it, try a subtle approach first. If your partner has plans to go to the bar on the weekend, suggest going to dinner and a movie instead. If he or she is planning to hop on a booze cruise, suggest a tamer dinner cruise instead. There are many ways to get your point across without coming right out and embarrassing your significant other.

3. If all else fails, be blunt: Sometimes the best thing you can do is come right out and tell your partner that he or she is partying too much, and it's making you uncomfortable. Often times, your partner may not have known that what he or she is doing is affecting you. Once it's out in the open, you can work on coming up with a solution.

Cupid's Advice:

Blind dates can often times be incredibly awkward and uncomfortable. There's undoubtedly a lot of pressure involved. Cupid has some ideas on how to make your next blind date more comfortable:

1. Talking points: It sounds like overkill, but one way you can make sure there aren't many awkward pauses in conversation on your blind date is by coming up with a list of talking points before you go. AskMen.com has a great list of 10 first date conversations.

2. Double date: If one of your friends set you up on your blind date, have that friend bring a date and come with you. Having someone you know there as you meet your new potential mate will put you more at ease.

3. Keep it casual: Instead of spending your blind date at a fancy restaurant, go to your favorite hole-in-the-wall diner. Wear jeans, and say “no” to high heels. If you’re physically comfortable, it’ll help you become more emotionally calm.

How do you overcome the struggles that come with a long-distance relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

1. Trust: Spending time apart can present itself as a challenge for a couple's commitment. This means that you and your partner both need to trust each other in order for the relationship to survive. If either one of you gets paranoid, there's going to be trouble. But if your trust can tolerate the long distance, it'll make your relationship grow stronger.

2. Communicate: Fortunately, contemporary media enables us to overcome geographical barriers. So, being physically apart does not mean you can't still interact on a daily basis. It's important to frequently keep each other in the loop.

3. Be romantic: Ironically, it's likely that your distance has brought you closer. Not being able to see each other every day will hopefully teach you to appreciate each other's presence. So when you do have a chance to reunite, take advantage of it and express your love for each other.

What are some things to think about when deciding whether to go back to your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes you have to forget what you want and remember what you deserve. Cupid has some things to consider before going back to an ex:

1. Make a list: Take a stroll down memory lane. Jot down a list of all the good you and your ex had, and then do the same for the bad. Obviously if the bad outweighs the good, you shouldn't want to go back.

2. Talk to them: Get the heaviest things on your chest off of it. Without playing the "Blame Game," tell him or her how you feel about the break-up and see if he or she is on the same page as you.

3. Decision time: Put yourself first. How did your ex make you feel? How did he or she treat you? Before you make that choice, do some soul searching. Just because you love him or her, that doesn't necessarily mean that's who you're meant to be with. Stop. Think. Know your worth.

Is it healthy to date someone new after ending a serious relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Just because your close relationship came to an end, it doesn't mean that you can never date again. Here's how you can decide if you're ready to re-enter the dating world without rebounding:

1. Think “me,” not “us”: During your intimate relationship, you came to see you and your partner as one unit. After you break-up, it'll take some time before you can accept that you're single and on your own. Before dating someone new, spend some time alone and do whatever makes you happy, in order to rediscover who you are as an individual.

2. Don't compare: Once you've gotten to know yourself again, you can start seeing new people. But don't fall into the trap of comparing your new potential mate with your ex, because you may be setting yourself up for disappointment.

3. Go at your own pace: There's no specific amount of time you need to spend alone after you split with someone, but there's no need to rush to replace your partner. Remember that it takes everyone different amounts of time to gain closure after their past relationships.
