By Brittany Stubbs

It's a busy life for the handsome Brad Pitt. Right after the Producers Guild Awards, he hopped on a flight to Australia's Gold Coast Airport and then onto a waiting helicopter, presumably to reunite with celebrity love Angelina Jolie and their six children, as UsMagazine.com reported. Although Jolie has been filming Unbroken in Australia and Pitt has had a busy few months with projects of his own, they always make time for their celebrity relationship and family.

Following Pitt's example with his celebrity love, what are some ways to put your relationship and love before a busy work schedule?

Cupid's Advice:

In an ideal world, we would have the perfect amount of time to devote to all our priorities, but that's not the way it is; instead, life is often a constant balancing act. No matter what you or your partner have going on, even if you two are in different countries like Pitt and his celebrity love Jolie, it's always important to make sure your relationship and love never takes a backseat to your business:

1. Designate weekly "us" time: Make time to put down the cell phones or the kids' projects and just be together. Whether this means that you have a weekly date night or you spend 30 minutes chatting at the end of the day, if you are both committed to it, your relationship and love will benefit.

2. Set boundaries: Every busy couple needs to set boundaries to keep their work life from getting in the way of their relationship. It may mean ignoring business calls and e-mails once you get home each evening or only traveling for two weeks out of every month. Whatever your rules might be, set them as a couple, reminding one another that they are meant to improve your partnership as a whole.

What are some ways to keep your relationship under wraps at first?

Cupid's Advice:

When your relationship is new and fresh you might feel it is best to keep it under wraps, especially when it is important for you to keep your personal life private, until you know it's real and will last. It is important to feel secure in a relationship and not reveal anything until you both are ready. How can you keep your relationship under wraps in the beginning? Cupid has some advice:

1. Keep it to yourself: Don't discuss your personal business. When people bring up your personal life maintain short and cool responses. If people are persistent about it don't be afraid to say, "I don't discuss my personal relationships." If you are not ready to show you're a couple or talk about it then don't, no one needs to know about your private affairs.

2. Keep physical contact to a minimum in public: If you want to keep your union under wraps, that means hiding all signs of a relationship when you are out in public or with your family and friends. What you do on your own time or in private is up to you, but if you're looking to keep the fact you are together a secret, and you are both constantly all up on each other your affair won't stay that way.

3. Deny or Avoid the subject: You can deny the fact you two are an item if anyone asks or you can avoid the subject. If someone asks you about them you can say things about them, without revealing you are with them simply by avoiding the subject of romance. Say things like, "Yes they're great," and "We are very close." This lets you talk about your lover without actually stating the two of you are lovebirds.

Kristin Cavallari Shows Off Baby Bump #2

By April Littleton

According to UsMagazine.com, former Hills star Kristin Cavallari showed off her second baby bump via Instagram Jan. 18. “Gym selfie...baby bump getting big!” she captioned the photo. Cavallari married Jay Cutler last June. The couple are already parents to son Camden, 17 months.

How do you prepare for a new addition to your family?

Cupid’s Advice:

Congratulations on your growing baby bump! Family is important. Adding to something that already means so much to you is a special thing. You’re ready to include a new life in your already amazing family, but how do you get them to feel the same way? Cupid is here to help:

1. Communicate with your child/children: One of the first things you should do when you find out you’re expecting another baby is share the news with the child/children you already have. If they’re old enough to understand what it means to be a big sister or brother, just let them know when you let the rest of your family know. If they're too young to full grasp the meaning, keep reassuring your love for them and get them excited about the new baby. Let them help pick out toys, clothing, etc. When the newborn finally does arrive, allow them to help out with small things involving their new younger sibling as well.

Related: Chris Hemsworth and Elsa Pataky Are Expecting Twins

2. Budget: How much money you're spending on your family now versus how much you'll have to spend when the baby comes will differ greatly. Be prepared for a new budget. A new child also comes with new responsibilities and a bigger family means higher expenses.

Related: Olivia Wilde Shows Off Baby Bump at Golden Globes

3. Look through old baby items: Before you go out and buy unnecessary baby items, look through some of the things you already have from your previous pregnancies. Depending on the sex of your newborn, any of the old clothing you have will do just fine until your child grows out of it. You can choose to update other items such as a crib, stroller and toys, but if you'd rather save your money for the things you can't reuse (diapers), your loved ones and your newborn baby won't hold it against you.

Will Arnett and Katherine

Heigl Talk About Their Children and New Animated Film

By Maria Darbenzio

Will Arnett and Katherine Heigl walked the red carpet joyfully on January 11th at the Los Angeles premiere of their new animated comedy, The Nut Job. This family movie follows the story of an independent squirrel named Surly, who is banished from his park and forced to live a city life. Celebrity Baby Scoop had a chance to catch up with Arnett and Heigl to discuss the movie as well as their children. Arnett is the father of two sons, Archibald William Emerson and Abel James. Heigl is the mother of two adopted daughters, Nancy Leigh and Adalaide Marie Hope.

Tell us about work life balance. Is there such a thing when you're a parent who works?

Will: "Anyone who's a parent knows that it is a balance and that you're always trying to find a way; I try to reverse engineer it, to look at what my family demands are and what my kids need and then kind of work backwards from there, and then retro fit everything into it. I feel very blessed when you get to work on something like this that doesn't take you away from the kids. Anything that takes me away from my kids, I dislike."

Did having kids impact your decision to take this role and how you played your character?

Katherine: "I just really wanted to do something that I could show my kids, that we could watch together. We watch movies every night, so hopefully, we won't have to watch this one over and over again. "

Will: "Yeah, it did for me. I also watch a lot of these animated films, and I'm a huge fan of a lot of it. There's a lot of really good stuff out there, and it is important to me at this stage in my life to do stuff that I can share and enjoy with my kids and that they can watch. That's much more important, and now that's what I kind of want to do. "

Are there any animated films you remember as favorites from when you were growing up?

Katherine: "The Little Mermaid. I have a 5 year old and a 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ year old. The little one is more of a tomboy, but the bigger one is obsessed with princesses – to the point of exhaustion."

1. You've dated long enough: If you've dated your partner for longer than five months, then it's definitely time to let the world know about your new romance. Everyone deserves their privacy and you don't have to give away every single detail about your relationship, but wouldn't you like to spill a little gossip to your best friend? Being able to confide in someone about your new honey will eventually be a necessity when you least expect it.

How do you keep jealousy about your partner's career at bay?

Cupid's Advice:

No matter how happy you are for your partner's success, jealousy is in human nature and can occur in any relationship, no matter how stable or healthy it may be. Knowing how to handle jealousy is what will keep the green-eyed monster from harming both your relationship and your partner's career:

1. Show support: Even if you wish you had gotten the raise or promotion over your partner, at the end of the day, you must congratulate and support your partner on everything they achieve. Supporting one another is what keeps relationships both positive and strong.

Related: Fergie and Josh Duhamel Are Expecting

2. Share their success: Remind yourself that as a couple, you are a unit, meaning their achievements are also your achievements. When they score the big promotion or get rewarded for their hard work on a project, remind yourself that by supporting them, you contributed to their ultimate success, and they may not have been able to accomplish it without you. This can replace feelings of jealousy with pride.

3. See the positives in their career: While you may feel envious about certain parts of your partner's job, whether that comes from their role of working closely with the opposite sex, or accomplishing more than you have in your own career, try to focus on the positives it brings to your relationship. This could be anything from their paychecks that support your family, or the personal growth and happiness the specific career provides your partner. Never overlook the positives.

Chris Hemsworth and Elsa Pataky Are Expecting Twins

By Brittany Stubbs

Chris Hemsworth and Elsa Pataky are getting ready for not one, but two new additions to the family! Hemsworth's rep confirmed with People that the actors are expecting twins this spring. This will make them parents of three, already having their daughter India Rose, who is 19 months old. "It's incredibly exciting," Hemsworth told reporters.

How do you prepare for twins versus a single child?

Cupid's Advice:

Preparing for the arrival of any number of children can be difficult, but twins bring along some specific challenges to watch out for:

1. Be ready for an early arrival: When you're having multiple babies at once, there is a higher chance of them being born early, so have that overnight hospital bag ready by the door ahead of time. Having a premature arrival also means they're born smaller than average newborns.

Related: Chris Hemsworth and Wife Welcome a Baby Girl Named India

2. Have extra help: As if caring for one newborn isn't tough enough, you'll definitely need some extra hands when bringing home two, since that's twice the number of dirty diapers, spits ups, and all the other other "blessings" that come with the little miracles. When it comes to feeding twins, whether by breast or bottle, you might also try and seek extra help from the doctor regarding special strategies for feeding two.

Related: Celebrity Baby Beat

3. Prepare for some separation: Although they'll be used to being together, it's important that from an early age twins begin to learn how to be apart from time to time. Whether this is done by occasionally having them play in different rooms, or ensuring their preschool and elementary school puts them in different classes, it's crucial that they learn to function as individuals, as well as a unit.

David Arquette Says Having a Second Child Is 'Less Scary'

By Brittany Stubbs

It can be pretty scary becoming a parent, but David Arquette reveals the second time around is much easier as he discusses preparing for the arrival of his baby boy. "I know I've done it once so there's not that fear that a first-time parent has because you just don't know what to expect," the actor told People after the TCAs panel at the Langham Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, California on Sunday. "Animals across the world have babies and they know how to take care of them instinctually. Us humans get so in our heads about it all but as soon as the baby comes it is just instinct." Although not as nervous, Arquette knows how much children can change his life, learning this from the arrival of his daughter Coco, now 9, with his ex-wife Courtney Cox. He is making sure to schedule his work around his girlfriend Christina McLarty's due date.

How do you prepare for a second child differently than your first?

Cupid's Advice:

Although preparing for your second child is less stressful regarding what to expect during the pregnancy, the labor process, and when you first bring your sweet baby home, there are some new things you'll have to prepare for now that you have another child around during this process:

1. Cherish your time with your first child: Although expanding your family is exciting, things will change and you will sometimes miss that special time as a threesome. So when preparing for the arrival of your second baby, make sure you take advantage of all the moments you can while it's just the 3 (or 2) of you.

Related: David Arquette and Courteney Cox Finalize Their Divorce

2. Explaining the new addition to your first child: A card in the mail that says, "we're expecting!" simply won't do. Your little one is probably going to be wondering why mommy's belly is getting so big, so you'll have to explain, and be prepared for lots of questions. You'll also need to explain to your child how things will change when their little brother or sister is born. If your first child is old enough, they might need to be taught how to help out when the new baby is brought home.

Related: David Arquette Is Expecting With Girlfriend Christina McLarty

3. Sharing your time and attention: When you bring home the first baby, they consume you; their every move and cry is attended to. But with a second baby, you have another child in the picture. They won't stop needing you simply because the new baby has a dirty diaper or needs to be fed. Whether it's working out a system with your partner, or hiring extra help, be prepared to figure out a way you can manage your time so both of your children are feeling the love.

The RSVP card is also quite witty. For those attending, it says "can't wait," but for those with regrets, the box to check is "something more important to attend than celebrating the union of Sean & Catherine."

The former Bachelor stars, who reside in Texas and plan to move in together after they're wed, first announced the date of their big day on Good Morning America in October. The wedding ceremony will be held in Santa Barbara, California. They've certainly captured our hearts too!

Leading up to their wedding vows, the TV sweethearts have had a blast attending wedding-related events, such as their celebrity engagement party, bachelor and bachelorette parties, and two wedding showers. The latest shower was held at the Lowe house on Saturday, January 4th – three weeks before their big "I do's." Lowe posted a picture of him and Giudici on Instagram (above) looking partied out and in bliss after a long day of celebration. They received gifts from their registries at Crate & Barrel and Macy's. Guests can also make donations to the organization Micheala's Army, which helps children with pediatric cancer. Isn't it nice to see a celebrity couple use their special day to support a good cause?

Ashley Olsen and Boyfriend David Schulte Call It Quits

By Brittany Stubbs

It looks like Ashley Olsen is back on the market. Several sources confirm that she and David Schulte have split up after dating for a little less than a year. “He was a great guy and cute, but it didn’t work out,” a source shares with UsMagazine.com. Despite her relationship with Schulte, CEO of luxury eyewear brand Olive Peoples, the Olson twin has kept her personal life pretty private, and her rep had no comment regarding the breakup.

What are some ways to tell it’s time to call it quits on a relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

Not everything is meant to last forever. In fact, some relationships are just ticking time bombs. Here’s when you know it's time to say goodbye:

1. There is no trust in your relationship: Lack of trust can destroy a relationship. Whether it's rooted from consistent lies, or infidelity from the past, without trust, there's no healthy future for the two of you as a couple.

Related: Ashley Olsen and Justin Bartha Split

2. Everyday is a different battle: If your relationship has gotten to the point where it's just one fight after another, it might be a sign it's time to move on. Granted, every couple has their conflicts here and there, but if you're no longer seeing eye to eye on anything and tensions are high anytime you're in the same room, step back and reevaluate.

3. You no longer communicate: Whether far apart or in the same room, if you're no longer communicating with one another, you've lost one of the most essential aspects of your relationship. You need to either find a way to reconnect and begin communicating again, or call it quits, because without communication, your relationship can't move forward (successfully, at least).

Kaley Cuoco's 'Big Bang' Co-Stars Says Ryan Sweeting Will

'Take Great Care' of Her

By Louisa Gonzales

Kaley Cuco's relationship with Ryan Sweetings bloomed fast and has received skepticism from some, but not from her Big Bang Theory co-star. Co-star Kunal Nayyar, 32, only has positive things to say about their relationship. Nayyar tells People at the 2014 Golden Globes that he thinks they're great for each other and expresses only his full support. He went on to explain how they are 'family'. The newly wed couple married on New Year's Eve.

What do you do if your friends are not supportive of your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

When you are at a good place in your relationship with your partner and think you may have found 'the one' it is a major buzz kill when your friends don't think so and tell you things such as 'you can do better' and 'they're not right for you'. Support from your friends is something you need and want. Cupid has some advice on how to handle friends disapproving of your relationship:

1. Try to change their minds: Try to get your friends to see the positive sides of your relationship and see your 'love' the way you do. Explain to them how and why your honey makes you happy. Maybe arrange a time for you, your lovebird, and friends to get together and hangout to get to know each other better. Ask them to give your lover a chance to win their approval.

2. Take their thoughts into consideration: It is always best to listen to what your friends have to say. Tell your friends you will think about what they have told you. Who knows maybe they have valid points that you just didn't want to see. However, ultimately let them know the decision to remain a couple or not are entirely your choice as it is your life.

3. Agree to disagree or find new supportive friends: If in the end you can't change their opinions than either ignore them or find new friends to surround yourself with. Maybe they are not the right friends for you and you need to find pals who do respect your choices in partners. Your friends might have biased opinions. Don't let it affect your relationship as only you can decide what is right for you.

What are some ways to keep your relationship romantic post-baby?

Cupid’s Advice:

When a baby is added to the picture, spending quality time with your significant other can be tough to do. Yes, the well-being of your newborn should be the most important thing to you, but you also want to make sure your honey knows the love is still there. Cupid has some tips:

1. Spend time together: For the first few weeks of your newborn’s birth, spending some alone time with your partner might be a little impossible to do. When things start to calm down and you feel more comfortable in your new routine, try to spend at least five minutes with your honey. Give him/her a hug, or just chat for a little bit. Any time you share with your significant other from here on out is precious and shouldn't be taken for granted.

3. Dine together: When you find the opportunity to do so, eat dinner with your significant other. The meal doesn't have to be anything expensive or huge, but the few minutes the two of you share together while dining will mean the world to the both of you. You can choose to cook together, or simply order takeout if you're too exhausted from handling baby duties all day.

How do you support your partner's career aspirations?

Cupid's Advice:

Being supportive of your significant other's aspirations and goals is important if you want to have a successful relationship. Regardless of how hard it will be at times to understand your partner's motivation, it's your job to show them you're there for them through it all. Cupid has some tips:

1. Act interested: When your partner wants to discuss his/her career goals, listen to them with an eager ear. Be encouraging and add some useful advice when it's necessarily. Your significant other doesn't want to hear negativity coming from the person they love. Suggest new ideas, but never appear as if you don't believe in their dreams.

2. Help them make it: What better way to show your support by acting helping your partner make their dreams come true? Instead of just listening, go a step farther and take an active role in their aspirations. Do whatever it is they ask of you. They'll be more than appreciative and when they do finally make it to where they want to be, they'll remember who got them there in the first place.

3. Be understanding: Sometimes you'll have to make a few sacrifices in your relationship if you want your significant other to be successful in pursuing their dreams. If they're late coming home for dinner a couple of times a week or if they can't call you every second of the day like they used, just realize what they're trying to achieve and try to understand that the lack of communication won't last forever.

Kelly Osbourne and Matthew

Mosshart End Engagement

By Brittany Stubbs

Not all engagements make it to the white dress and fancy ceremony. Kelly Osbourne and Matthew Mosshart have called off their engagement after two years together. “Kelly Osbourne and Matthew Mosshart have decided to end their engagement,” Osbourne’s rep tell UsMagazine.com. “The split is amicable and the pair continue to have nothing but the utmost respect for one another. Kelly is looking forward to a new year full of fresh beginnings.” Meeting in the summer of 2011, the TV personality and vegan chef had confirmed their engagement in July 2013 in a romantic Anguilla proposal.

What are some reasons to call off an engagement?

Cupid’s Advice:

Although the thought of calling off your happily-ever-after is tragic, there are times when it is unfortunately necessary. Granted, it might be one of the hardest decisions you will ever have to make, but remind yourself that calling off an engagement now is much easier than ending in divorce down the road:

1. Infidelity: Everyone has their own opinions on cheating—whether it's always a complete deal-breaker or just depends on the circumstance—but if your partner is already being unfaithful before you tie the knot, what will they be doing after several years of marriage? Think about it, is a ceremony and contract going to suddenly change their ways?

Related: Kelly Osbourne's Secret Engagement to Matthew Mosshart

2. Serious second thoughts: It's important to preface this item by clarifying there's a difference between getting cold feet and rethinking the entire engagement. It's normal for one to get nervous as the wedding date begins to approach, but if one of you is seriously wondering if you're ready to make this commitment or are not convinced your union will last, it may be a sign the engagement needs to be called off, or at least put on pause.

3. Unresolved issues: Every relationship has their conflicts, but if there are some serious issues between the two of you that have yet to be worked out, it's important to resolve them before walking down the aisle. Issues don't go away just because you're married. Often times, couples believe if they just seal the deal, the old problems will disappear, but they'll still be there at the end of the day, with or without that marriage certificate. So if there are issues weighing on your relationship, consider calling off the engagement until they're resolved.

How do you continue your professional relationship post-breakup?

Cupid’s Advice:

Breakups are always difficult and awkward to some extent, especially between two people that are forced to be around each other in the workplace. But despite what happened between the two of you, it’s important to keep your history from interfering with your professional life:

1. Don’t involve other people: Discussing the breakup with fellow co-workers or mutual friends should be avoided. This not only gets them involved in your business and often leads to gossip, but you will look unprofessional to them. If you value your current position and even aspire to move up, you need to make it clear your past-romance hasn’t changed anything. Also, if your ex gets word that you’re talking poorly about them or the relationship to other people, you’re only adding tension to an already awkward situation.

2. Agree to leave the past in the past: Whether your breakup was completely amicable or there is still unresolved tension between the two of you, it’s important that you both make an agreement to forget about your history while you're in the workplace. Being on the same page about this, meaning neither of you will be discussing, joking about, or reminiscing your past relationship, allows for you to both move forward professionally.

3. Avoid playing games: Often times when a relationship ends but the couple is still running in the same circle, they'll get in the habit of playing games with one another. Whether this means harmlessly flirting with a mutual co-worker or friend to make an ex jealous, or pretending like the two of you are complete strangers, these games rarely end well for either person. It's best to acknowledge your history and just move on, avoiding anything that might add tension or more hurt feelings down the road.

Continuing to maintain contact with an ex who is physically and/or emotionally abusive is the wrong move to make. You need to take the necessary steps to rid him/her from your life for good before the situation gets even more out of control. Cupid is here to help:

'Bachelorette' Alum Emily Maynard is Engaged to Tyler Johnson

By Brittany Stubbs

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again! This expression seems to be the mindset to getting married for Emily Maynard, who got engaged to her boyfriend Tyler Johnson on Jan. 4th. Although the reality TV star has previously been engaged to the late Ricky Hendrick, Bachelor Brad Womack, and Bachelorette winner Jef Holm, she believes she's finally found the one. "We're really excited!!" Maynard tells UsMagazine.com, explaining how her husband-to-be included her daughter, Ricki, in the proposal. "He proposed to me at home and gave both Ricki and me rings. It was so sweet! Ricki loves him more than she likes me!"

What are some compelling reasons to pop the question at home?

Cupid's Advice:

You don't need a five-star restaurant, horse and carriage, or private beach to create a magical proposal. Sure, those options are nice, but there are advantages to having the special moment right in your home:

1. Privacy: Getting engaged is both special and intimate. Where better to experience a moment like this than the privacy of your own home? This allows you to react and celebrate however you want, without worrying about disturbing or being watched by people around you.
