Cupid's Advice:

Although they've only been together for a month, Tyler Cameron supported his girlfriend Gigi Hadid during an extremely personal and difficult time. Cupid has some advice to help you be there for your partner without overstepping:

2. Give them space: No one wants to be coddled when all they want is some alone time. It might be difficult, but finding the right balance of space and support will make your partner feel less alone and not suffocated.

Cupid has some advice that will help you avoid any unnecessary tension between you and your ex:

1. Talk it out: It's better to get all of your feelings out early so they don't sneak up on you after you and your ex have made amends. Take some time and talk about the things in your relationship that really bothered you. The key to successfully airing out your grievances is to always keep it civil.

3. Focus on yourself, not your ex: We're all guilty of creeping on an ex's social media profile. While that might be comforting in the early stages of a breakup, you shouldn't spend your time wondering what they are doing. Focus on bettering yourself in your spare time instead of checking their tagged photos!

She empowers women and created so much conversation on how women should be treated. I am grateful for our time together and all that I learned from her.”

These celebrity exes are keeping their feelings positive all the way around. What do you do if your ex is throwing shade at you?

Cupid's Advice:

When an ex decides to throw shade your way, it triggers an almost immediate emotional reaction. It's hard to ignore the issue and not let it affect you or your behavior. It's even worse if this ex has thrown something like this at you before. But, is it worth giving them the satisfaction of visibly showing how upset it made you? Not at all. Take a look at a few of Cupid's suggestions for relationship advice on how to deal with an ex that is trying to shade you:

1. Delete their social media from your accounts: A big mistake people make is keeping their exes on their social media as friends, followers, etc. It not only keeps a break-up fresh, but it's easy to go on their pages and keep up with their every move. Deleting them as friends or unfollowing their accounts will help you deal with an ex that might cryptically tweet about you or like shady tweets that could be indirectly addressed towards you. In fact, after wiping them away, you might not even know they're doing it anymore.

2. Take a breath: Taking a long, deep breath can do wonders for how you react towards an ex throwing shade. It'll help you balance your composure by trying to keep your mind and body calm. And, if you feel like you need to respond, taking a moment to collect yourself and your thoughts before you reply can do wonders for how the entire situation will go.

3. Surround yourself with positivity: There's nothing worse than being alone or around negativity when an ex decides to throw something your way. The isolation and negative energy will only fuel you to respond with something you'll regret later. When an ex is exhibiting this behavior, try and find friends full of positivity to surround yourself with. They'll bring your mood up while further encouraging you and keeping you motivated to be above the nonsense.

Cupid's Advice:

Even Hollywood's stars go through jealousy after break-ups. It's a normal feeling to have, especially after seeing an ex with someone new. Jealousy can consume, but it doesn't have to be that way. Fortunately, Cupid has some relationship advice on how to keep the eye of jealousy away when your ex has moved on:

1. Distract yourself: Keeping one's mind busy after seeing an ex with a new fling is an important step in keeping jealousy at bay. Distraction can be your best friend when all else fails, and you just need time to turn your brain off from it all. Throwing yourself into a new hobby, double-downing at work, or even spending more time with friends could be the perfect way to keep your mind from wandering to your ex and the person they're with.

2. Try to bring closure to the relationship: Many studies state that journaling, venting to loved ones, and creating arts and crafts are just some things that bring closure after a break-up. By creating a safe space where you can let out all your feelings without judgment, the less likely you'll become jealous and act on that jealousy. It could also help you find out more about where this jealousy is stemming from, and how you can de-construct it.

3. Embrace your 'wins:' Break-ups take such an emotional toll on us. It's even worse when it seems like they've moved on before you. You've got to learn to let go by discovering all the 'wins' that the relationship gave you. By studying the positive sides of the relationships and understanding that those things were 'wins' to you even if the relationship ended, it helps you come to terms with the loss before jealousy overrides it. What did this person teach you about yourself? Did they encourage you to embrace something you wouldn't have otherwise? That's the 'win' that keeps the memory of the relationship positive.

can take to move on after an intense split?

Cupid's Advice:

Not everyone is experiencing a celebrity break-up, but the hurt generated by splits are universal. Break-ups are hard, and it's even harder when an ex quickly moves on with someone new. But, it's not impossible to get over a heartbreak! Fortunately, Cupid has some relationship advice on steps to take after you go through an intense split:

1. Remove the rose-colored glasses: Sometimes, it's easy to forget that we are all just human. It's natural to almost idealize an ex-partner after a break-up, experiencing insecurities and wondering if you'll ever find someone that matches up to them. But, it's important to make an effort to see the limitations of this person. They have flaws, doubts, and insecurities, themselves. They were never perfect, and it's better to find the logic in the realistic nature and incompatibilities of the break-up to be able to properly move on.

2. Surround yourself with good friends: Good friendships are important for many things, but they are especially important when life-altering situations occur like intense break-ups. They tend to be your biggest supporters, rooting you on and giving you the love and positivity you need. They are there to distract you and pick you up when you're feeling down. When relationship problems arise, these people are the ones that help you put the relationship into perspective, making it easier to see the ex-lover objectively.

3. Find a great therapist: Therapy is a very helpful tool when going through hardship. It acts as a safe space to open up about feelings and communication without being judged. Working through loss, like a relationship, in a setting where you can freely talk and further your introspection is significant in easing the pain. A lot of people feel more comfortable speaking out about these kinds of issues with someone they hold no personal attachment to than those they know. Find a therapist you can trust being vulnerable around, and you might have a healthier time moving on from your past relationship.

In celebrity divorce news, Liam Hemsworth quickly filed for divorce from Miley Cyrus after news of their split became public. What are some ways to know you're ready to file for divorce?

Cupid's Advice:

Even the strongest of Hollywood relationships can end messily. Some will last and some will barely survive. Not all relationships are going to have a perfect ending, and that is okay. Luckily, Cupid has some relationship advice on how to know when you are ready to file for divorce:

1. You have outside interests: The maintenance of any marriage can definitely be made more difficult if you or your partner have different interests. Either both of your interests no longer line up, or your interests lie outside of the best interest of your marriage. You or your partner may want to explore something new outside of your marriage, whether it be sexually, physically, mentally, etc. Having interests outside of your marriage can include wanting to travel the world, wanting to pursue your own career goals, and much more. If this is the case, then divorce should be an option that you two explore together.

2. You fight with your partner: Of course, no relationships has only ups. You and your partner are going to experience downs and some relationship problems along the way. It is impossible to agree on every single thing that comes your way. Occasional disagreements are healthy, but when you and your partner are fighting more than you are having a good time with each other then it is probably best to end your marriage for the sake of wellbeing and happiness.

3. You aren't intimate: Intimacy with your partner can be physical, emotional, or mental. If you feel your intimacy with your partner has declined at all in any context, then perhaps your marriage is not as strong as it used to be. A loss of intimacy can include no longer sleeping in the same bed as your partner, no longer having sex with your partner, not having as many conversations with your partner as you used to, and much more.

This celebrity couple's nest just got a little bit smaller. What are some ways to deal with an empty nest when your children leave home?

Cupid's Advice:

It's college season in America! Parents cry and young adults rejoice as they ship off to schools across the country. Empty nesting may seem daunting at first, but think about all the perks of your children leaving home:

1. Reconnect as a couple: It's likely that you and your partner have not lived alone since before your child was born. Once your baby moves out, recommit to your relationship. Being home alone with your partner means date nights in and walking around in your underwear again. A child leaving is nothing lost; it's readjusting to a life you once had.

2. A new relationship: When your child moves away, your relationship will morph. Likely, it'll get better. The saying "absence makes the heart grow fonder" is absolutely true in this case. Instead of relying on you for their needs, they will learn to care for themselves. In doing so, your relationship will become more balanced and less demanding on your end.

Almost a year after his initial proposal on The Bachelorette, Jordan Rodgers proposed to JoJo Fletcher all over again. The celebrity news was revealed on Rodgers' Instagram on Saturday, featuring a photo of the couple showing off Fletcher's new rock. The caption went on to explain that their first proposal for the show was real and meant the world to both of them. However, as they began planning their wedding, they wanted to do it their own way, in private. Cue proposal number two!

Perhaps there will be a celebrity wedding on the horizon finally for this Bachelorette couple. What are some ways to make your partner feel special during a long engagement?

Cupid's Advice:

Wedding bells are in your future, but the road to the chapel is a long one. Fear not! Long engagements are challenging, but there are ways to reassure your partner and reaffirm your love during the process.:

1. Remember the date: Commit to small gestures that remind your partner you are excited for your nuptials, however far down the line they may be. Write the date with doodled hearts on your fridge's whiteboard, or leave your partner a sticky note reading "one year to go!" However you remind your significant other of your excitement, make it a fun, any day surprise.

2. Keep the romance going: Wedding planning can throw your brain into overdrive. While the details may be tempting to take over your life (and all your conversations), share a world with your partner outside of your wedding. Find a balance between excitement for your wedding and commitment to your love life by scheduling date nights where wedding talk is off the table.

3. Take small steps: Do not let your engagement drag without any planning whatsoever. Even if your wedding is set years down the line, make yourself a schedule. Try to settle at least one detail a month so that both you and your partner feel you're moving forward.

Being part of Female Voices Rock, she has learned that through other strong women that saying “yes” all the time can be exhausting. She tells us that she gets her greatest ideas for her artistic work through interpersonal interactions. "I'm a friendly person and I will talk to anyone and everyone," she says. Traveling and meeting new people has helped her to view the world differently.

However, when it comes to forming romantic relationships, that can be a bit tricky for this upcoming superstar. "When you've had the summer I've had, it can be tricky to make lasting relationships," she admits.

Celebrity Break-Up: Find Out Why Katie Holmes Ended Relationship with Jamie Foxx

By Ashley Johnson

In the latest celebrity break-up news, Katie Holmes officially made solidified her split from Jamie Foxx after six years, on Monday, August 19. Just four days earlier, Foxx had been spotted out with a mysterious blonde, and then not too long after was spotted with singer Sela Vave in Hollywood. According to UsMagazine.com, a source said, "It has been many years of him stepping out with other women. He's disrespectful and their lives were different. His partying ways don't fit with hers as she's focused on raising her daughter and working."

In celebrity break-up news, Katie Holmes had her reasons for breaking things off with “disrespectful” Jamie Foxx. What are some ways to know your partner is respectful?

Cupid’s Advice:

Break-ups can be hard, especially when it involves Hollywood couples in the spotlight. Luckily, Cupid is here to give you relationship advice on how to know if your partner is respectful, so you can avoid having relationship problems like Katie Holmes and Jamie Foxx:

1. Makes room for ‘quality time’: Everyone has busy lives and a multitude of responsibilities to deal with on a daily basis. However, if you and your partner can prioritize your relationship and make time for each other, that shows you two truly respect the relationship. You can tell your partner really makes an effort to spend quality time with you when they stick to important plans and don’t constantly try to reschedule, or when they make an effort to show up on time for special events.

2. Appreciates your differences: Each and every one of us are different: we all have different personalities, pet peeves, needs, desires, etc. While it is unlikely that you and your partner are going to agree on everything or have the same exact perspective, it is important that you and your partner embrace the differences between each other. If your partner really respects you they will try to understand your way of thinking, if not completely agree with it... they may even learn something new if they are willing to appreciate the differences between you two, rather than discourage them.

3. Supports your goals: Your partner should be your #1 supporter, and if they are not, maybe they are not the best person for you to share your life and dreams with. Having a support system and someone who believes in you is essential in any relationship. If your partner doesn't rain on your parade and does nothing but shower you in love and support, then they are probably a keeper.

Celebrity Wedding: Dwayne 'The Rock' Johnson Secretly Marries Lauren Hashian in Hawaii

By Ashley Johnson

In celebrity wedding news, Dwayne “The Rock” Johnson and Lauren Hashian tied the knot! The movie star may have been calling the Garcia Companies CEO his wife for years, but it was not until Sunday, August 18th the two made it official in true celebrity style. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity couple had a secret Hawaiian wedding, accompanied by traditional leis and a classic sunset. The wedding was picture-perfect, as the newlyweds posed in front of the waterfront after their nuptials and posted to Instagram, which caught the attention of many other celebrities, such as Tom Brady and Kevin Hart.

This celebrity wedding was a big surprise! What are some benefits to keeping your wedding under wraps?

Cupid’s Advice:

Getting married can be one of your most special moments in life, and you can feel very pressured in making sure that your big day is perfect for you and your partner. That being said, sometimes big life moments do not have to be such an event, but rather the moment itself is special enough. Sometimes getting carried away with a big guest list and making excessive plans can ruin the special moment, so Cupid has some advice on the benefits of keeping your wedding under wraps:

1. Fewer opinions: When fewer people know about your wedding or are invited to your wedding, it can put a lot less pressure on you and your partner. Everyone is going to have an opinion on something: the dress you are wearing, the food being served, the music being played at the wedding, etc., so it is best that you focus on yourself and your partner's needs/wants rather than those of numerous guests. It is yours and your partner's special day, and no one else's!

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: 'DWTS' Cheryl Burke and Matthew Lawrence Marry in San Diego

2. Less money: If you are keeping the big day just between you and your partner then you certainly have no one but yourselves to impress. You are free to make whatever arrangements you want to for your wedding and do not have to worry about it being so extravagant for a big group of people. Anything like food, drinks, or seating will be completely up to you, as there will be very few or no guests in attendance.

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding News: Zoe Kravitz & Karl Glusman Secretly Married

3. More special: Your wedding could be a whole lot more special with just your dearest friends and family. Big extravaganzas can be fun, but they will not be as intimate as a small wedding with a select guest list. When your closest loved ones are there to watch you and your partner make vows to each other it can make the moment feel a lot more special, as opposed to inviting a list of guests you have no direct relationship with.

After a hectic year divorcing Ben Affleck and supporting him through two stints in rehab, a source told UsMagazine.com, “John is the complete opposite of Ben. In celebrity news, Jennifer Garner feels like she’s finally met her match. What are some ways to know you’ve met your “true partner”?

Cupid’s Advice:

Sometimes you just know you’ve found the one. Butterflies flutter in your gut, and your heart swells just looking at them. But, a true partner goes far beyond falling in love. Here are relationship tips to be sure your significant other is the one:

1. You want the same things: A partner should share your goals. When it comes to spending your life with someone, they should generally want the same things. If kids, a suburban house, and a steady career are in your future, love won’t save your relationship with a kid-hating, apartment-renting, daredevil.

Related Link: Celebrity Break-up: Miley Cyrus & Liam Hemsworth Split Less Than 8 Months After Wedding

2. They support you: Of course not all goals need to be share.

However they should stand by your individual goals and root you on as you achieve them. For example, if you want to eat healthy and get fit your partner doesn't need to do the same. However a partner that undermines your attempts to stay on track by offering you ice cream every night is not trying to help you succeed.

3. You're both willing to work: Aside from goals, communication is the key to a healthy relationship. A partnership likely won't have to same communication styles. But true significant others should be willing to compromise and workshop communication for a healthy relationship.

Their lives and celebrity style keep them traveling and working in different locations, and ultimately apart from each other. your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

While Kaley Cuoco and Karl Cook may be living separately, for now, they eventually plan on moving into their dream house. which is currently in the works. Living together can be a whole new world and a big step for a relationship, but Cupid has some relationship advice on how to deal with the ways living with your partner can change your relationship:

1. No privacy: You are perhaps going from seeing your partner at least once a week to seeing them at least once a day. Co-habitation means you and your partner will be sharing multiple spaces together, whether it is the kitchen, bathroom, or bedroom. It is essential that you not only get comfortable sharing space and materials with your partner but also get comfortable sharing yourself with your partner. With a new lack of privacy, you and your partner will only learn more about each other and each other's most personal habits, for better or for worse. Of course, no privacy does not mean you cannot set some boundaries for each other if you need to... and that can easily be done through honest communication!

2. New fights: A new living arrangement means new rules. While you may be used to living one way, that is certainly not the only way to live. You and your partner may have different cleaning habits, sleep habits, monetary habits, etc., and it can take some time to adjust to. It is unlikely you two are going to agree on every single thing, but you can learn to find common ground. Whether it is figuring out household chores or household finances, you are going to have to sit down with your partner to make a reasonable plan for both of your well-being.

3. More intimacy: Going to bed every night with your partner and waking up every morning together can create an important bond. Living together means your partner is going to be your “go-to” person. If you need a hug or just someone to sit and listen to a problem you are having, your partner is probably the first person you will run to. Whether it is through physical comfort or intimate conversations with each other throughout the day, you and your partner are definitely going to feel a whole lot closer to each other.

The chef explains that his spread of sandwiches can be a healthy option to make at home with your wife or for your kids, as they contain no preservatives, and no nitrates or artificial flavoring. While these sandwiches are healthy, that certainly does not mean that they are not delicious! Talbott explains that you can switch it up and use different meats to make certain classics like the Spiced Cubano. The chef recommends the classic be served with Hillshire Farm's sliced honey ham and premium carved honey ham and adds that it of course cannot be complete without butter pickles, spices, and cheese! In celebrity news, the Bachelor drama is heating up! What are some ways to make sure you're on the same page with a potential partner before getting involved?

Cupid's Advice:

Not all couples are perfect (not even Hollywood relationships). Sometimes people are on the same page, and other times they are on completely different books. Since budding relationships can be confusing sometimes, Cupid has some relationship advice on how to make sure you're on the same page with a potential partner before getting involved:

1. Communicate: In every and any relationship communication is necessary. By having frequent and honest conversations with each other, you and your partner can learn more about each other and each other's feelings, thoughts, intentions, and so much more.

2. Share goals: In your honest conversations with your partner you should also be sharing your goals with them. Their goals do not have to be the same exact as your own, but they do have to be similar. For example, you both may have completely different career goals, but it is important that your romantic goals are the same, in that they want the same thing as you out of the relationship.

3. Prioritize: Relationships can be a big commitment and it can be tricky trying to prioritize them at times with busy schedules, and lives in general. Sometimes people are ready to make that serious commitment, and sometimes they are not. Check in with your partner to understand all their priorities and see how much of a commitment they can, or are willing, to make to you and the relationship.
