Cupid's Advice:

Expecting a child is an exciting time! Your family is growing and there's a lot to prepare for. It's important to know that a baby's brain develops differently for each sex. If you want a sneak peek into your little girl talents and struggles, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Talking: On average, girls start talking a month earlier than boys. Girls also tend to have larger vocabularies than boys as early as 18 and 24 months. However, reading to your child has more of an impact on their vocabulary than biological sex does, so be sure to talk and read to your baby as much as you can!

2. Spatial skills: Boys tend to better understand the space objects take up. Boys can usually understand how objects appear rotated between three to five months old, which is earlier than girls. Make sure to play with your daughter in ways that help her with this: build with building blocks, teach her to count, throw a ball around with her.

Cupid's Advice:

Break-ups are tough and moving on can feel impossible. If you're looking for ways to get that train rolling, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Unfollow them: If you know you'll be itching to stalk their social media profiles and constantly check-up on what they are doing, unfollow them. During this process, it's important that you are focusing on yourself and doing what's right for you. Wasting your time on their socials will only make moving on more difficult and longer. 2. Cut the communication: While you may be thinking reaching out and continuing to seek closure is a beneficial thing, it will only hurt you in the long run. Once you break up make sure you understand what went wrong and why. After you receive this closure, don't continue asking to talk, it will only sour the split. By cutting off the communication, you will be able to completely focus on yourself and spend time working on your personal growth. Use this time to better who you are whether that's in your career or with your loved ones.

A break-up is never an easy thing, and a lot of the times you never want to see your ex again, but if there are kids involved, then that's out of the question. If you are looking for ways to keep things civil with your ex for your kids, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Only talk when you have to: If you and your ex ended things badly and you have kids together make sure that the only reason that you both are communicating is the kids. Keep every conversation, phone call, or text message pertaining to the children. Don't talk about what went wrong in your relationship, it'll just create bad blood between you two.

1. Take it slow: Once you get into a new relationship after a recent split you want to make sure that you're taking this slow and steady. Having a small wedding might be perfect for you. It’s more intimate. It’s cheaper. It’s less stressful. The only downside is chopping down your guest list. If you’re worried about your distant relatives and coworkers asking why they weren’t invited, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Blame your budget: One way to curve these awkward conversations is by blaming your budget. Tell those that didn’t make the guest list that your tight budget prevented you from inviting everyone you wanted to celebrate with you.

Cupid's Advice:

Your relationship ended for a reason, but you can't stop thinking about your ex. How do you know if you should really give it another chance with your ex? Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Time has passed: You and your ex have spent time apart. Maybe, you've both grown. Maybe, you can't remember what fight broke you up. You may be able to start again with a clean slate. If extended time apart helped you realize you still want to be with your ex, why wait any longer?

Cupid’s Advice:

Figuring out if you want to be a parent is such a big decision and even though you may have found who you think is “the one” they might not have the same plans as you to become a parent. If your partner isn’t interested in having kids and you are, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Figure out if there’s an underlying issue: A lot of the time if someone doesn’t want to have kids, it’s not necessarily because they don’t want to be a parent, but because of something that they think may prevent them from being the best parent they can be. For instance, lack of time, lack of money, or lack of space could be factors. Talk to your partner and see if this is an issue that can be resolved before starting a family.
