Celebrity Interview: Lifestyle Coach Laura Baron Talks Relationship Advice

By

Mackenzie Scibetta

If you're looking for guidance or direction in your life then listening to the unapologetic and uncompromising lifestyle coach Laura Baron may be just what you need. With a background in television, Baron has appeared on countless reality TV shows such as Bad Girls Club and You're Cut Off, giving contestants a taste of her own philosophy regarding career tips, relationship advice and family affairs. Baron is returning to the small screen as a relationship expert on Oxygen's new show Fix My Mom, which premieres tonight at 9/8c, where she will tackle the issue of complicated mother-daughter duos who need serious help mending their bond. In our exclusive celebrity interview, Laura Baron offers her professional take on reality TV, dating and divorce.

Timeless Relationship Advice from Reality TV Life Coach

In your experience, where have you found that women are most in need of a life coach? And, at what age do you feel this is most common?

My private clients range from late twenties to late forties. They're usually at a transitional point whether it be in a relationship and love, a job, or getting back to who they really are. A woman reminding herself of her true value is often the underlying theme. But any age and any time is the right time, as long as she's ready to do the work!

Related Link: Relationship Advice on Financial Infidelity

One of the mother-daughter groups faces a problem because the mother is dating younger men. What advice do you have for mother's who are on the dating scene and don't want to upset their children?

This shouldn't be about upsetting the children, this should be about setting expectations that EVERY member of the family deserves happiness. I don't subscribe to the idea that mother's should put their lives on hold to satisfy their kids. It's strengthening for kids to see that mom is also a woman and there is life outside of the family. They will grow up with less guilt that their mom sacrificed everything and less obligation to be her sole support. In the process, moms can have open discourse to assure their kids understand she's not looking to replace them or their father, but merely looking to add more love and support into their lives.

When is it the right time for a parent to start dating again after a divorce or tough break-up? And, how do they ease back into it if they have been out of the dating game for a long time?

The time is right when that parent feels ready. It's not about the action of going out to date, it's about the communication at home to make sure the kids feel safe and loved. They can ease back in by starting to have more social times with their same sex friends. Establishing a social life outside of the home is often the first hurdle parents have to get over. Then, get open and say hello.

We see it time and time again, women settle for second best and end up in unhealthy relationships. What is the one piece of advice you would give to someone to help them avoid or break this pattern?

To avoid getting in a toxic relationship, before you date others, date yourself. People who get into sub-standard relationships are looking to fill a need. Get honest with what you're working with, so you can both better take care of yourself and also look out for where you're letting someone in for the wrong reasons.

Related Link: Exclusive Celebrity Interview: Former 'Bachelor' Chris Soules Says His Dating Life is "Relatively Non-Existent"

What are three red flags (not obvious ones) that a woman can look for to know whether or not she is in a toxic relationship from the very beginning?

1. Pattern of control. Unhealthy partners want to control you and it usually starts small. You deserve authority over all decisions you make.
2. Rude behavior. How people treat others who cannot ultimately 'benefit them' (i.e. waitstaff) is who they ultimately are. Someone who is comfortable belittling or being rude to another human regardless of their perceived status is going to eventually treat you the same way.
3. Woman power. There are men who love women and men who do not. You can tell by how he talks about women, treats the women in his life, and ultimately how he treats you. Choose a man who loves women, that simple.

What is the best lesson viewers can take away from watching Fix My Mom?

Change is not limited to these women. Yes, they worked their tails off. Please allow that dedication to inspire you, that ANY RELATIONSHIP CAN HEAL, as long as both people are committed. And as long as women support each other ANYTHING IS POSSIBLE!

Cupid's Advice:

Celebrity weddings aren't the only weddings that can be amazing and personal; yours can be, too. Cupid has three tips on personalizing your wedding festivities:

1. Add a shared interest to your theme. Do you have a favorite TV show or book series? Add it to your wedding theme to give your celebration a personal touch. It doesn't have to be anything huge or the whole thing. You can add little nods to your shared interest in small ways. If you're both into, say, Disney, you could use Disney wine glasses.

2. Have a theme you'll both enjoy. We've all heard that the wedding ceremony is all about the bride. But remember, your partner is part of this, too. If he thinks Twilight is strange and really doesn't like it, making Twilight your theme wouldn't be the best idea. Make it a shared interest theme if possible instead. Something that is just really "you two".

This celebrity couple has some adorable celebrity kids! What are some ways to cherish your children's childhood?

Cupid's Advice:

It seems like we only have fleeting moments with our children before they're grown up and off to college. Minutes are precious and balancing cooking, cleaning, work and family can leave only small moments dedicated for your children. Get the most out of each day with your children because before you can blink they'll be adults. Cupid is here to help you live in the moment and appreciate your children to the fullest:

1. Get them involved in your day: Take a cue from the Gellar-Prinze family and make your breakfast, lunch and dinner with them. Allowing them to help you crack the eggs or butter the bread not only saves you time, but makes them feel important. You can incorporate your kids into endless other daily chores too.

2. Journal only the big moments: As a parent you will naturally want to document every move your child makes, but this takes away from the actual moment. Let your camera take a back seat and focus on living in the present the majority of the time. Your brain is a surprisingly effective tool for preserving moments so don't hold back and enjoy the moment.

3. Cuddle them: When they've had a nightmare let your kids sleep in your bed and, rather than complain about the space they are occupying, appreciate their comfort. Even if it's just having them sit on your lap while you read your morning paper, there's always time to get close with your children.

Cupid’s Advice:

This latest celebrity news featuring Simon Cowell and Louis Tomlinson offers some pretty good advice about parenting when expecting an upcoming baby. Cupid is here to give you three more tips to keep in mind about parenting:

1. You cannot be too loving with your child: No matter how much you love your child and show it, it will never be too much. So don’t be afraid to spoil your kiddo with lots of love. Just don’t let that love manifest in a negative form, such as helicopter parenting.

2. There is no such thing as the perfect parent: Humans by design are flawed creatures so of course there’s no way someone could be a perfect parent. But that’s OK. What matters is how you love and take care of your kid – that’s all they care about. They don’t want perfection.

3. Respect your child and keep up with them: Speak politely to your child and respect their opinions. Pay attention to them and be kind. They're people too just younger people. And consider how age is affecting your child's behavior.
