Cupid doesn't think these celebrity exes are getting back together anytime soon! What are some ways to keep things civil post break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

It's nice to know that these celebrity exes are able to maintain a friendship even after their romantic relationship ended. Although it seems difficult, exes can be in each other's lives. Here are a few relationship tips on staying civil with an ex:

1. Give them their space: While in a relationship, it isn't uncommon to want to know what your partner is up to throughout the day. However, after a break-up you no longer need to know what your ex is doing all the time. Constantly checking in on them may cause some unnecessary tension.

2. Let old arguments go: Once you two are no longer a couple, all the fights and bickering that used to happen aren't important anymore. Try to forget any grudges you may have and start this new friendship with a clean state.

3. Be okay without them in your life: Sometimes exes don't want to have a friendship once the relationship is over, and that's okay. You shouldn't force a friendship with them, it will only cause drama and cause a wider gap between you two.

OWN Star Kiki Haynes Shares Love Advice: “If the Heart Behind It Isn’t Genuine, Then I’d Rather Not Have It”

By

Sarah Batcheller

Kiki Hayne’s tremendous personality is impossible to ignore. Whether she’s on-screen starring as Keisha Jones in Tyler

Perry's For Better or Worse, which airs on the Oprah Winfrey Network, or divulging her best love advice, she never fails to make her audience laugh. The television star knew at a young age that acting was her passion. After meeting Bill Cosby and other cast members of The Cosby Show early in her acting career, she became determined to pursue a successful career in the entertainment industry. Since then, she's captivated fans with her riotous, sassy attitude. In this exclusive celebrity interview, the New Jersey native opens up about her thriving career and the importance of keeping your head up.

OWN Star Discusses Castmates in Exclusive Celebrity Interview

The For Better or Worse star explains that she and her castmates are like family. "We're all team players. It's gotten to the point that we know each other so well that we play off of each other," Haynes gushes. "We just have a good time while we're filming! It's kind of like having a best friend who you don't have to say anything to; you can just give each other that look."

In addition to having such supportive friends, the OWN star names her faith as being what helps her keep her head up during tough times. "It is everything," she says of her beliefs. "This business will tear you apart. There are always more actors than there is work, so everybody's trying to get those two or three roles. My faith in God makes me feel a comfort that, when I don't get a role, no matter how great I was or how hard I worked on the audition, it just wasn't meant for me. A lot of people think, 'What did I do wrong?' It's not that you did something wrong; it just wasn't meant for you. I know for a fact that my faith taught me that – it keeps me sane!"

Related Link: Girl's Night Movie Pick of the Week: 'The Single Moms Club'

When it comes to her For Better or Worse character, Haynes admits that Keisha is very different from her true self and draws her inspiration to play a villainous woman not only from people she's known in real life but from reality TV as well. "I've met people like Keisha before! They're not necessarily friends of mine, but I've been in settings where I've witnessed people bring on the drama," she reveals. "And I've watched reality TV shows like Bad Girls Club and Basketball Wives. I look at the drama they bring and use those kinds of mannerisms for Keisha. It's so much fun!

"But I also find a truthful side to her because I wanted the audience to still have a heart for her," she adds. "She is a lot of trouble, but underneath is a woman who's hurt."

Kiki Haynes Offers Old-Fashioned Love Advice

Haynes's sweet disposition is evident in her outlook on love. Like many single celebrity women, she describes herself as a "renaissance woman" but still values chivalry when it comes to dating. In our exclusive celebrity interview, she points out, "I have a modern outlook that women should be in more powerful positions and be able to be independent, but I still like tradition in my dating life. I like old-school courtship. I want a guy to actually come and ring the doorbell and open the car door for me. I also like it when guys ask me about me; I've been on dates when guys talk more about themselves. Don't just try and sell yourself to me – get to know me!"

The Jersey girl's best love advice comes from the early days of a past relationship, in which she claims if she could go back and do the relationship over again, she would have known better from the get-go: "On a date one night, we were talking at dinner, and he asked me about things I had never done, so I told him things like parasailing and canoe riding. On the next date, we went parasailing, went to breakfast afterward, then went on a gondola ride, had champagne and strawberries, then dinner, and finally went to a huge Latin dance concert. He had the full date planned out from top to bottom. I really felt like a princess!” she shares. “But it was too good to be true because it was all for show. As much as I enjoyed it all, if the heart behind it isn’t genuine, then I’d rather not have it.”

Related Link: Celebrity Interview: ‘The Real’ Co-Host Jeannie Mai Shares Recycling Tips and Beauty Advice

Of the same relationship, Haynes continues, “Another thing he did was that, every time he came to my house, he would spend a long time in my bathroom, and I found out he actually made a mental note of all of the products I used and stocked his bathroom with the same shampoo, deodorant, etc. so that I wouldn’t have to bring things back and forth. He did all of that in the first month! Not that anything is wrong with that, but I could probably have waited another two to three months. After six months, he showed his true character.”

So what did she learn from this failed partnership? “If someone does too much too fast, they’re probably on a schedule. Why did he have to plan that date in one day? It was too much, too fast! If I could go back and do it all over again, I would have known to run for the hills,” she says.

By

Courtney Omernick

UsMagazine.com reports that Kaitlyn Bristowe is the new Bachelorette on ABC. As with any season of The Bachelorette, Bristowe will have to handle a lot of relationships and love, put her heart on the line, and see who is truly there to win her over.

The new 'Bachelorette' Kaitlyn Bristowe is ready to risk it all for love! What are some ways to take risks for a relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, we get comfort out of our day-to-day relationship routine. However, in order to keep things fresh, it's important to take relationship risks. Below are a few pieces of relationship advice regarding ways you can take your relationship to the next level by taking risks:

1. Disagree with their opinion: Obviously, you don't want to disagree with everything your partner has to say. But, if you don't have the same view as they do on a big topic like politics, speak up. Nobody wants a partner that says "yes" all the time.

2. Do you own thing: When you're in a relationship, it may be hard to pull away from the other person and spend time on your own. However, make sure that you do make time for yourself outside of the relationship. This can help you strengthen your independence, and if you're not spending every waking hour with your partner, you'll have time to miss them.

3. Bring forward relationship issues: A lot of people think it's best to keep quiet and "pick and choose their battles" when it comes to relationship arguments. However, it's best to say something if there's a specific issue that you've been having with your partner for a long time. If you keep quiet, you'll eventually resent the other person.

Bristol Palin Cancels Celebrity Wedding

By

Courtney Omernick

Sarah and Bristol Palin recently took to social media to announce that Bristol will not have a celebrity wedding with Dakota Meyer after all. While People.com reported that neither Sarah nor Bristol officially canceled the celebrity engagement, they did say that both Palin and Meyer families will be gathering in Kentucky to “celebrate life in general” on the date the official ceremony was supposed to take place.

Celebrity wedding no more! What are some reasons to call off your wedding?

Cupid's Advice:

While the celebrity engagement between Bristol Palin and Dakota Meyer didn't work out as planned, it's important to note that this isn't uncommon. Unfortunately, many relationships take a turn for the worst before the big day. Below are some reasons you might want to call off your wedding:

1. Cheating: Unfortunately, this isn't an obvious turnoff to some people. However, this is a huge, red flag, and there are deeper issues at hand. Call it off right away!

2. You're hoping they'll change: If you think that your partner will “settle down” or “become more mature” because they're married, think again. Someone's personality isn't going to change overnight just because they have a ring on their finger. Reevaluate what you expect from your partner.

3. You haven't discussed the details: Sure, no one likes an awkward or heated conversation. But, you have to talk about children, religion, politics, where you're going to live, etc. if you want any chance of sticking together. What if one person wants kids and the other one doesn't? That's obviously an issue!

Chris brought his adorable, 11-month-old celebrity baby daughter, Royalty, along as his date. Royalty stole the show with her golden colored tutu, white fitted jacket, and her Timberland kicks, according to E! Online.

Latest celebrity news shows that Chris Brown clearly values his role as a father. What are some ways to know your partner will do the same?

Cupid's Advice:

Although this celebrity news article shows Chris Brown as a great dad, he hasn't built the best reputation for himself in the past. Even if you've been with someone for a long time, it can be hard to tell how they'll act once you bring a child into the picture. Cupid has some tips:

1. They know what you need: Do you need to be left alone? Do you need comfort? If your partner is able to sense your mood and what you need, chances are they'll be a good parent. If they can tell what you need, they'll be able to tell what your child needs.

'American Crime' Actress Gwendoline Yeo on Relationships and Love: "You Have to Have Similar Hearts"

By

Sarah Batcheller

Gwendoline Yeo captivates audiences with her ability to capture the essence of every character she plays. She is best-known for her roles on Desperate Housewives, Broken Trail, and most recently, ABC's American Crime. While her comedic virtue keeps fans coming back, it's her knack for expressing deep human emotions that is truly unforgettable. The Singapore native is an outstanding example of a female actress whose undeniable talent demands reverence. In addition to her television roles, she has crafted her own one-woman show that reminds us all about the power of inner strength. In our exclusive celebrity interview, Yeo opens up about the representation of women in the entertainment industry, her booming career, and, of course, all things relationships and love!

American Crime* Star Discusses the Role of Women in the Entertainment Industry

The actress believes that the entertainment industry should always work to increase the number of empowered female roles, particularly when it comes to women of color. During her time on Desperate Housewives, she recalls the ways in which the media would miss the point and celebrate women for things other than their acting talent. “I remember that there was a cover story about Eva Longoria saying something like, ‘Mexican Latina Explosion!’ Eva was like, ‘What explosion? It’s just me,’” she says.

She explains the importance of a diverse representation in the TV world by saying, “You’ve just got to keep working at diversity. I do think that many networks are trying to get there. American Crime is such a diverse show, and ABC as a network has such a diverse roster.”

She then adds, “It’s also not just about being in front of the camera. It’s important for people to want to be behind the camera directing and writing these roles. With all of that being said, I don’t think I work any less than other actresses. I've been very fortunate, and half of the roles I have booked have not been race specific. I still believe that talent and authenticity win in a room."

As far as the behind-the-scenes work goes, the Desperate Housewives veteran explains that women are often times harder on her, but she describes that as "a joyful challenge" because, all-in-all, they understand each other.

Yeo is currently working on transforming her one-woman show, Laughing With My Mouth Wide Open, into a screenplay. The show details the true story of her journey from abuse and suppression to freedom and happiness, and her goal is to connect with her audience through art. "I feel that, often times, when you expose yourself, people are actually very accepting because everybody has their own shame about things," the actress-turned-producer explains. "I really wanted to impact younger women. I had a lot of women come up to me, and while none were very vocal, I think they were like, 'Wow, I learned something.'"

She continues, "I wanted to prevent people from getting into situations where they feel compromised. Whenever people are victimized in certain ways, they always wonder, 'Did I cause it?' But I don't feel that's the case."

Gwendoline Yeo Gives Relationship Advice to Fans

Although there was a time when her parents disagreed with her career choice, Yeo changed their minds when she realized that acting gave her a sense of wholeness. "In any family, you want stability for your children. When we came over to the states, my dad was making twenty to thirty thousand a year, and my mom sold sewing machines at five dollars an hour. All the while, they were putting us through Catholic school. They were doing their best, so I felt indebted to them," she candidly shares in our exclusive celebrity interview. “Eventually, though, they came around completely. When I found a sense of self-esteem through acting, they had to respect it.”

Of her desire to act, she reasons, “Some people choose the art of creativity because it makes them process things and it makes them more stable people. There’s nothing more important than emotional health.”

Sharing her best relationship advice – a tip that applies to both family relationships and romantic partnerships – Yeo says, “I think that when you are your authentic self and when you’re moving with a purpose – I think that’s the gift that God gave me, to make people feel less alone and entertain people – people cannot deny your self-confidence. People respect it.”

When it comes to sharing her life with someone special, the actress offers sound knowledge on how to balance love with a busy career. “It’s something that I still struggle with! When you are a successful woman, I think communication is important. You have to be able to communicate, navigate, and not be selfish. You’ve also got to realize that any time is quality time. It doesn’t have to be something romantic. If you have four hours, just kick it!” she insists. “I also think you have to have similar hearts. Whether it be a passion for creativity, giving, or kids or even a racial connection, there needs to be an anchor. Whatever that ‘thing’ is – that centripetal force.” While she hasn’t had a celebrity relationship and prefers to keep her love life private, she does believe that “kindness, authenticity, and manners” go a long way.

Kenya Moore's Celebrity Ex from 'Millionaire Matchmaker' Is Married

By

Katie Gray

Bravo star Kenya Moore is an alum of Patti Stanger's show Millionaire Matchmaker. She found a match, but along the way, he married someone else. Clearly, that now makes him her celebrity ex. According to UsMagazine.com, "Kenya Moore just revealed that her boyfriend, James Freeman, whom she met on the Bravo show Millionaire Matchmaker wasn't as unattached as he seemed. The Real Housewives of Atlanta star just revealed she found out he married someone else behind her back while they were dating." That being said, she has an optimistic attitude and took to Instagram to say, "Unfortunately, I just learned today that the man I met and fell in love with from Millionaire Matchmaker was married a week after the show aired. I am astounded and devastated to have learned this news VIA social media as opposed to from him directly. However, I still believe in love and my heart remains open to the man God has for me. I wish him well."

These celebrity exes probably won't be reconciling anytime soon. How do you know if you are dating someone who is monogamous?

Cupid's Advice:

Above all else, you need to be on the same page when it comes to exclusivity in a relationship and love. If you want to be monogamous, but your partner still wants to date around, that's an issue. Cupid has some tips:

1. Ask: The best way to know if you are dating someone who is monogamous or not is by flat out asking. It's efficient and straight to the point. If you are dating this person, it's not prying to ask about it because you are involved, and you have the right to know.

2. Read their personality: You can tell a lot about a person by reading their actions and behaviors. Feel out what kind of personality they have. If they are honest and trustworthy, then you can believe them when they say they aren't seeing other people in addition to you. Sometimes it is obvious if a guy is very flirty and seeing multiple people, but other times it can be discreet. Figure out the type of person he is and go from there.

3. Learn their goals: If the person you are seeing has goals of marriage and starting a family, it's obvious he is probably on the path to settling down. If someone is just having fun and doesn't want to be serious with anyone, that will also be evident. Discuss what outcomes you both want from the relationship and love life and go from there in determining if you want to continue seeing one another!

Exclusive Celebrity Interview with Reality TV Star Chef Richard Blais

By

Meranda Yslas

With summer around the corner, people will be bringing out their barbecues and getting ready for cookouts. Lucky for us, reality TV chef Richard Blais shared some helpful tips for starting up our grills in our exclusive celebrity interview. Read on for more!

Exclusive Celebrity Interview with Reality TV's Top Chef

Blais first appeared on television in season 4 of Bravo's Top Chef, and nine years later, he is making his return to the small screen. "I'm returning again as a judge for Top Chef season 13, which we're getting ready to film in California," he explains. Since his premiere on the reality TV show, the New York native has made great strides in his career. He has already published one cookbook, and the second one will be out later this year. He shares that it's "going to be great," adding, "It'll be in the same vain as my first cookbook, focusing on creativity for the home cook. I'm really excited about it."

Being a chef is a career where you’re constantly honing your skills and even learning new techniques. There’s no doubt that Blais has changed since the start of his career. “My cooking has become more for the people than it is for myself,” he says. “I cook for everyone and hope to inspire home cooks to get creative in the kitchen because that’s when it’s really fun.” The Top Chef All-Stars winner elaborates on his new approach to cooking: When in the kitchen, “it’s not about me; it’s about the guest. I cook for everyone else, whether it’s at my restaurants or on TV – it’s all about the people who enjoy your food.”

Learning The Science of Food

Some people may think that cooking is just about throwing in ingredients and hoping for a tasty result, but there is actually a science and psychology behind food decisions. “Science is about asking questions, and as chefs, we often ask questions about how to make food taste good,” Blais reveals. “Understanding where food comes from is understanding the science of deliciousness.” Being aware of this science ultimately influences how the reality TV star cooks and what ingredients he uses. “I really like to look at flavor, and if it is delicious and makes people happy, then I’m very interested,” he adds.

One type of flavor that the Trail Blais owner has been paying attention to recently is the smoky flavor of barbecue. “There’s a nostalgia with smoked foods – everyone has a personal memory. Whether it is a family cookout, a favorite barbecue dish, or the summer holidays, who doesn’t love smoked foods?” he says.

If you’re interested in grilling out, consider this advice from the chef: “When smoking meat, the type of wood you use is key, as each wood creates a smoke with its own unique and distinct flavor. That's why I'm excited to be working with Boar's Head on their Black Forest Beechwood Smoked Ham," he divulges. "It's naturally smoked with imported beechwood from Germany and has a clean, balanced flavor. It's a distinct braise that's not bitter or ashy, and the texture and color is amazing."

Related Link: Wolfgang Puck of 'Top Chef: Seattle' Says Taste is the Most Important Part of Cooking for Your Loved Ones

Achieving this distinct and delicious flavor isn't as hard as one might think. "The best thing to do is use things that already have smoked ingredients...and get creative in the kitchen," he advises.

Of course, a great date idea for this summer is to fire up the grill with your significant other and try out some recipes with a smoky flavor. Blais offers three final tips to make your cookout successful: "First, wear Hollywood short shorts. Second, do most of the work ahead of time. Mis en place. And third, use a wood-burning grill and make sure you have a great playlist!"

These celebrity exes have nothing but kind words for one another. How do you keep things amicable with your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Break up and make up! Moving on from an ex doesn't necessarily mean you never see or hear from them again, it is possible to eventually become friends:

1. Exit gracefully: When the break up comes, make sure that you go out as peacefully as possible. Creating extra drama or arguments will only make the post break up more stressful. The aftermath can be a time of coexistence and growth, be sure that you are not the one to hinder that.
