

Willis McGahee

Willis McGahee is a former American football running back who played in the NFL. Prior to this, he played college football at the University of Miami and even earned an athletics scholarship based on his skill in the sport. In 2003, he was drafted into the Buffalo Bills during the NFL's first round picks, but was later traded to the Baltimore Ravens in 2007 after making disparaging remarks about Buffalo. With the Ravens, McGahee flourished, accruing over 3,300 total yards from scrimmage, as well as 35 total regular season touchdowns, 31 of which were rushing touchdowns. This made McGahee the highest touchdown scoring Raven in the last half decade. Despite doing well with the Ravens, he was traded to the Denver Broncos in 2011. McGahee was made team captain of the Broncos and led them to success up until he experienced an injury the following year that put him out of commission for the rest of the season. Finally in 2013, McGahee left to join the Cleveland Browns. He ultimately finished his career with 377 rushing yards and retired shortly after.

In terms of celebrity relationships, McGahee has the reputation of being a ladies man, fathering several children with different mothers. McGahee is very open about his relationships, citing a lack of maturity for many of the relationship problems he's faced. McGahee has had his share of celebrity relationships including Kandi Burruss from The Real Housewives of Atlanta and Olympian sprinter Marshevet Hooker. The latest development in McGahee's career is his appearance on the E! reality TV show Famously Single. As a cast member of the show, he joins seven other celebrities and relationship experts in order to discuss their relationship problems. Throughout the series, McGahee carried out an ongoing flirtation with castmate, Jessica White. The pair secretly made out multiple times without the other cast members knowing. McGahee tried and failed to ignite a hotter spark with White.

Brandon McMillan

Brandon McMillan comes from a family of circus animal entertainers. Beginning with wild animals like tigers and moving on to household canines, he has a love of adrenaline and has mastered the art of command and diligence. On his CBS reality TV series Lucky Dog, the animal lover shows off his training skills by adopting lonely dogs from shelters and bringing them back to Lucky Dog Ranch to be trained. Then, he finds homes for the lucky dogs. As far as his own relationship and love life goes, Brandon McMillan is a single celebrity, attributing his relationship status to the fact that he is dedicated to his work.

Lea Michele

We first fell in love with this Jersey girl as Rachel Berry on Glee, and she continues to impress audiences as her acting and singing career flourishes. Lea Michele was born on August 29, 1986 in the Bronx, New York, but she grew up in Tenafly, New Jersey. She discovered her passion for performing at a young age and was drawn to the New York City theater scene. At eight years old, she landed the role of Cosette in the Broadway production of Les Miserables. After her debut, she moved on to the production of Ragtime and landed another part in a revival of Fiddler on the Roof. She was accepted to New York University's Tisch School of Arts but decided to turn it down to continue to pursue her career. Her big break came in 2006 with Spring Awakening, a rock musical in which she played Wendla. After two years, she left the show to move to Los Angeles and seek out movie and television roles.

Her work on Glee earned the actress her first Emmy nomination in 2010. She has been praised for several of her singing performances on the show, including her rendition of "Don't Rain on My Parade," originally sung by Barbra Streisand, and the cast's rendition of "Don't Stop Believin'," which became the top downloaded song on iTunes. Besides her work in Glee, the star also appeared in the movie New Year's Eve, where she played opposite Ashton Kutcher, and voiced Dorothy's character in an animated version of The Wizard of Oz.

Prior to appearing together on Glee, Lea Michele briefly dated actor Matthew Morrison. In November 2009, she began a two-year celebrity relationship with Broadway actor Theo Stockman. Michele first met Cory Monteith in October 2008 when he was cast as Finn, her love interest on Glee. They became an official couple in November 2011 but kept their relationship and love private until February 2012. The famous couple remained together until Monteith's drug overdose in July 2013. After the news of his tragic death spread, the actress stayed out of the public eye for weeks, finding solace at co-star Kate Hudson's house. During the 2013 Teen Choice Awards, she spoke publicly about Monteith's death for the first time and paid tribute to him in her acceptance speech for one of the event's awards. During the summer of 2014, she began dating model and lifestyle coach Matthew Paetz, who appeared in her music video for "On My Way." The celebrity couple, who have documented their love on Instagram, moved in together in September 2014.

Kate Middleton

We continue to be enamored by future queen of England, Kate Middleton. Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge, was born on January 9, 1982 in Reading, Berkshire, England. She grew up in Chapel Row, a village near Newbury, and studied art history in Scotland at the University of St. Andrews, where she met Prince William in 2001. She is famously known for having a major impact on British and American fashion, which has been called the “Kate Middleton effect.” In 2012, she was selected as one of Time magazine’s Most Influential People in the world.

After meeting in 2001, Kate Middleton began dating Prince William in 2003. In 2005, she complained about harassment from the paparazzi and received her own 24-hour security in 2006. She continued to attend royal events throughout their courtship, and media attention started to increase as celebrity engagement speculations began in 2007. The famous couple finally announced their engagement in 2010 and celebrated their celebrity wedding in 2011. Middleton gave birth to a beautiful baby boy, Prince George, in July 2013 and will welcome her second child in April 2015.

Demi Moore

Born Demi Guynes on November 11, 1962 in Roswell, New Mexico, she is better known as Demi Moore, an American actress, former songwriter, and model. At the age of 16, she dropped out of high school to begin her career. She signed with Elite Modeling Agency and began working as a model in Europe. She soon filmed an appearance on General Hospital and was cast in a few small film roles, but her breakout role was for Blame It on Rio (1984). Her part in St. Elmo's Fire (1985) brought her international recognition, and she was officially labeled part of the Brat Pack. Her role in About Last Night... (1986) was her first serious role and established her as a true Hollywood star. She continued to do many high-profile and blockbuster hits, including Ghost (1990), for which she received a Golden Globe nomination, A Few Good Men (1992), Indecent Proposal (1993), Disclosure (1994), Striptease (1996), for which she was paid an unprecedented fee of $12.5 million, and G.I. Jane (1997), after which she took a short acting hiatus.

Before her 17th birthday, Demi Moore married musician Freddy Moore. Their celebrity marriage only lasted five years, and following their split, she was engaged to actor Emilio Estevez. Their celebrity engagement was called off in 1986. A year later, on November 21, 1987, she married her second husband, actor Bruce Willis. They have three daughters together: Rumer (born 1988), Scout (born 1991), and Tallulah (born 1994). During her celebrity pregnancy with Scout, Moore did a nude photo shoot with Annie Leibovitz for the cover of Vanity Fair. The photoshoot sparked a huge controversy for portraying a pregnant sex symbol.

In June 1998, Willis and Moore announced their celebrity divorce, which was finalized on October 18, 2000. From 1999 and 2002, the actress was linked to martial arts instructor Oliver Whitcomb. Following their celebrity break-up in 2003, she began dating Ashton Kutcher, who is 15 years younger than her. In 2005, they were married, and in November 2011, after many months of celebrity gossip and media speculation, they announced their celebrity divorce.

Tia Mowry

Tia Mowry is an actress, author, model, and executive producer. She first gained fame for her teen role as Tia Landry on the ABC/WB sitcom Sister, Sister (opposite her identical twin sister, Tamera Mowry). She has also appeared on shows and movies including The Game, Twitches, and Tia & Tamera. Now, she appears on Nickelodeon's Nick and Nite show Instant Mom. The actress met her husband, actor Cory Hardrict, while filming the movie Hollywood Horror. They dated for six years and became engaged in 2006; the famous couple celebrated their celebrity wedding in 2008. Their first child, a son named Cree Taylor, was born in 2011. In 2012, Tia Mowry published her first book Oh, Baby: Pregnancy Tales and Advice from One Hot Mama to Another, which is about her celebrity pregnancy and being a working mother.

Josh Murray

Josh Murray is a former professional baseball player, financial adviser, and American reality TV star. From 2002 to 2007, he was a shortstop for the Milwaukee Brewers. Athletics definitely run in the Murray family as his brother is a quarterback for the Kansas City Chiefs. Shortly after retiring from baseball, Murray pursued a career in finance.

Despite his success in baseball and finance, Murray ultimately made his climb to stardom as a cast member on season 10 of The Bachelorette, where he gained the heart of Andi Dorfman and proposed after eight weeks. Dorfman accepted the proposal, but their celebrity relationship ended after nine months together due to irreconcilable differences. Dorfman claims she was insecure in her relationship with Murray and that he was verbally abusive. Murray has denied all allegations. However, his relationship status has once again made celebrity news with his recent appearance on the E! reality TV show, Famously Single. On the show, Murray discusses his failed celebrity relationships with relationship experts who are assigned to coach each of the celebrities on their path to love. Hopefully, Murray has learned from his mistakes and won't go back to his old ways when we watch him on the next season of The Bachelor in Paradise.

Dr. Paul Nassif

Dr. Paul Nassif is a Lebanese American plastic surgeon and television personality. As a skilled facial cosmetic and reconstructive surgeon, he is a co-host of E!'s reality TV series Botched, a show that focuses on correcting failed plastic surgeries. Many celebrities, like Courtney Stodden, have had work done by the famous doctor, and he has even appeared on TV shows like The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills and Dr. 90210 where he promoted a better understanding of the benefits and comfort of cosmetic surgery. Dr. Nassif has also authored numerous peer-review articles on facial plastic and reconstructive surgery and has been called upon to give medical conference presentations and lectures about the latest surgical techniques.

He appeared on RHOBH because of his celebrity relationship with Adrienne Maloof, a former owner of The Palms. After 10 years of marriage, the pair filed for celebrity divorce in 2012. While the doctor is no longer married, his life keeps him busy with his celebrity children, Gavin, Colin, and Christian. Dr. Nassif also has two skin care lines and told us about them in our exclusive celebrity interview. He even offered some dating advice, saying that dating is fun, but it also takes a lot of time and energy out of a busy schedule. For his full interview and more dating advice, click here!

Britt Nilsson

Britt Nilsson is a 27-year-old reality TV star who made a name for herself on The Bachelor season 19 when she brought a lot of drama into the mansion. She was one of two girls vying for the spot of leading lady on The Bachelorette season 11. Unfortunately, in the premiere episode of The Bachelorette, 25 men voted and chose Kaitlyn Bristowe as the sole bachelorette. The fun-loving waitress, who moved from Michigan to Los Angeles, has dabbled in acting and enjoys spending time soaking up the California sun. As charity work, Britt Nilsson sponsors children who are living in poverty. According to celebrity gossip, she is currently dating one of the contestants from The Bachelorette!

Aubrey 0' Day

Aubrey O'Day is an American singer, songwriter and reality TV personality. Originally from New York City, O'Day attended La Quinta High School in California and had a childhood that leaned heavily on entertainment, such as singing and acting. The singer went on to study political science at the University of California, Irvine, but ultimately dropped out so she could pursue her music career. Never giving up on her dream, O'Day made her television debut in 2004 when she was cast in the MTV show Making the Band, where she met her idol Sean "Diddy" Combs and competed for a spot on his record label, Bad Boy Records. Eventually, the songwriter was selected to be a part of the girl band, Danity Kane. The group released their first album in 2006, which hit number one on the Billboard 200 charts. Danity Kane followed their success in 2008 with a top charting second album, and even performed as opening acts for Christina Aguilera and the Pussycat Dolls. Despite being a breakout star in the girl group, O'Day was fired by Combs in 2008.

Shortly after leaving Danity Kane, the reality TV star signed with Universal Motown Records, where she attempted a solo music career. Her debut album Between Two Evils was released in 2013. O'Day also tried her hand on a number of other reality TV shows, such as, All About Aubrey, Celebrity Apprentice and Marriage Bootcamp. In 2014, Danity Kane reformed as a trio and released their third album, but shortly disbanded again due to a fight between O'Day and fellow Danity Kane singer, Dawn Richard. After the band's final split, O'Day joined forces with Shannon Bex to create the music duo Dumblonde.

Aside from a music career, the singer is a cast member of E!'s reality TV show, Famously Single. The show follows the lives of eight single celebrities whose goals are to work out their relationship problems. The celebrities are coached by relationship experts and given dating advice that is meant to help fix their love lives. The advice O'Day has received from the show must have helped because she is currently in a celebrity relationship with her Famously Single co-star, Pauly D.

Gwyneth Paltrow

Gwyneth Paltrow was destined for Hollywood when she was born into an entertainment family on September 27, 1972. She is the daughter of actress Blythe Danner and producer and director Bruce Paltrow, who passed away in 2002. She grew up in Santa Monica, California and started acting when she was 17 years old. After her acting debut in the TV film High, which her father directed, she was hooked. She went on to appear in movies including Seven, Emma, A Perfect Murder, Shakespeare in Love (which won her an Academy Award, a Golden Globe Award, and two Screen Actors Guild Awards), The Talented Mr. Ripley, and Proof, to name a few. Most recently, she's played Pepper Potts in the Iron Man series as well as The Avengers. She also won an Emmy for her role as Holly Holliday on Glee.

Since entering the spotlight, Gwyneth Paltrow has had a steady stream of serious celebrity relationships. Her first high-profile partnership was with Brad Pitt; they dated for three years and got engaged when the actress was 24 years old. She called off the celebrity engagement in 1997 because she wasn't ready for marriage. Next, she had an on-again, off-again relationship with Ben Affleck. They filmed the movie Bounce together before breaking up for good in 2000. In October 2002, she met Coldplay singer Chris Martin. The couple married in December 2003 and later welcomed two children: daughter Apple and son Moses. In 2014, the low-key couple surprised everyone when they announced their celebrity divorce after 10 years of marriage. In a blog post on her lifestyle website Goop, she described the process of “conscious uncoupling” and discussed how they would co-parent their kids together.

Robert Pattinson

The British star is best known in his role as vampire Edward Cullen in The Twilight Saga. Robert Pattinson grew up in London, England where he attended Tower House School and The Harrodian School and became involved in amateur theatre. He officially caught the attention of the public in the production of Tess of the d'Urbervilles. In addition to his role in The Twilight Saga, he is known for playing Cedric Diggory in Harry Potter: The Goblet of Fire as well as his appearances in movies Water For Elephants, Remember Me, Cosmopolis, The Rover, and many more.

Robert Pattinson had a four-year celebrity relationship with his Twilight co-star Kristen Stewart. The famous couple moved in together before she was caught cheating with her Snow White and The Huntsman director, Rupert Sanders. Despite her public apology, the actor was unable to forgive her. Currently, he's in a relationship and love with London singer FKA Twigs.

Ben Patton

Ben Patton is a Texan business executive turned reality TV star after his appearance on NBC's 2013 dating show, Ready for Love. Fans may also recognize him from a few episodes of The Bachelor Season 20, supporting his sister, JoJo Fletcher in her attempt to find love with Ben Higgins. Now that his sister is The Bachelorette season 12, perhaps Patton will reprise his role as Fletcher's protective brother which airs on May 23. On Ready for Love, the star returned to the U.S. from his successful business in Dubai in hopes to settle down. The charming businessman found his match with contestant and Cupid's Pulse contributor, Angela Zatopek, going as far to propose to her during the show's season finale. Unfortunately this celebrity couple did not make it to the altar, citing time and distance as a strain on their celebrity relationship.

Patton has spent his time since then focusing on his work as president of Integrity Transitional Hospital and founder of The Patton Hope Foundation. The 35-year-old entrepreneur is currently single, but don't count his reality TV career out just yet. He could take a page out of his sister's book and give reality dating shows another shot, and possibly try his hand at another celebrity relationship.

Sean Penn

Sean Penn was destined to become an award-winning actor. He was born into an entertainment family on August 17, 1960 and grew up in Los Angeles. Like his parents, he had an interest in acting and directing, which led him to move to New York City to pursue his dream. He landed roles on several TV shows and appeared in the Broadway play Heartland. His big break came in 1981 when he starred alongside Tom Cruise and Timothy Hutton in Taps. He then appeared in popular films like Fast Times at Ridgemont High, Bad Boys, and The Falcon and the Snowman.

Penn was starting to create a bad boy image, and his aggressive behavior towards the paparazzi even got him imprisoned for 34 days for punching an extra who tried to take his picture. He shifted his focus to his career and directed his first film The Indian Runner, which received mild reviews. He soon starred in one of his best films Dead Man Walking, which earned Golden Globe Award and Academy Award nominations and also won him the Independent Spirit Award. He finally won his first Academy Award for his performance in Clint Eastwood's Mystic River and another one for his role in Milk.

Throughout his successful career, Sean Penn has had a number of high-profile celebrity relationships. He gained a whole new level of fame when he wed pop icon Madonna in 1985. Unfortunately, the famous couple divorced after four years of celebrity marriage. He then married Robin Wright in 1996, and they had two children together before their celebrity divorce in 2010. In June 2014, rumors started swirling that he was dating Oscar-winning actress Charlize Theron, but they announced their split in June 2015.

Katy Perry

This bubbly singer is known for her over-the-top fashion choices and her crazy stage props. Katy Perry was born

Katheryn Hudson on October 25, 1984 in Santa Barbara, California. Surprisingly, the quirky singer – whose song lyrics may be considered a little risqué – was brought up in a very conservative Christian home. In fact, she got her start as a gospel singer. She learned how to play the guitar, took singing lessons, and eventually recorded a gospel album entitled Katy Hudson. As a teenager, Perry started rebelling against her parents and their beliefs. Wanting to focus on her music career, she got her GED and moved to Los Angeles to work with producer Glen Ballard, but her road to success was not as glamorous as you might expect. She stuck it out, and her big moment finally came in 2007, when she signed with Capitol Records after having three record deals fall apart. Her second single “I Kissed a Girl” took her from struggling musician to mega popstar.

Perry soon had her own special on MTV. The soundtrack for the show Katy Perry: MTV Unplugged was released in 2009 and was widely accepted and loved. The beloved pop singer followed her debut with three more albums: Teenage Dream, Teenage Dream: The Complete Confection, and Prism. Many of the singer’s songs have spent weeks at the top of the charts. “Dark Horse” on her latest album helped her beat Mariah Carey’s record of 45 weeks with all of her hits.

Katy Perry’s relationship and love life has been as busy as her career. In 2008, she dated Travis McCoy for a year before breaking it off and moving on with comedian Russell Brand. The famous couple quickly went from dating to engagement to marriage. They got hitched in an extravagant celebrity wedding in India in a traditional Hindu ceremony, featuring camels, elephants, fire jugglers, snake charmers, and more. Unfortunately, the two announced their celebrity divorce after only 14 months. The singer opened up about her failed marriage in her movie Katy Perry: Part of Me but picked herself back up and began dating again. She was rumored to be with model Baptiste Giabiconi and guitarist Robert Ackroyd. She committed to her first serious celebrity relationship post-divorce with John Mayer, and the two were on-and-off for about a year before calling it quits. They even recorded a song together called "Who You Love." Most recently, Perry has been seen with Diplo; the two appear to be going strong despite the fact that the disc jockey just welcomed a child with his celebrity ex.

Brad Pitt

A man of exceptional talent and good looks, Brad Pitt has been a household name since the 1990s. Born as William Bradley Pitt in Shawnee, Oklahoma, he has established himself as one of the most successful actors today. The handsome star wasn't always set on acting though. Before moving to Los Angeles, he attended the University of Missouri where he studied journalism and advertising. He struggled at first to establish his newfound entertainment career, but in 1991, he was finally recognized for his role in the classic film Thelma & Louise. He soon appeared in A River Runs Through It, Interview with a Vampire, and Legend of the Falls, solidifying his place in Hollywood.

Not only did his career take off, but so did his relationship and love life. In 1995, Brad Pitt starred in the film Seven, alongside Morgan Freeman and Gwyneth Paltrow. The film generated an international success and happy celebrity romance for Paltrow and Pitt. The Hollywood couple were together for three years and were even engaged before calling it off in 1997. The following year, he met Friends favorite Jennifer Aniston. Their killer looks made them an instant It couple, and the media couldn't get enough. Despite their highly-publicized celebrity relationship, the Hollywood couple managed to wed in a private Malibu ceremony in 2000. In 2005, they made a shocking announcement that they were breaking up. Soon, reports surfaced that Pitt had cheated on America's Sweetheart with his Mr. & Mrs. Smith co-star Angelina Jolie. Although the actor denies that he stepped out on his first wife, he does admit to falling in love with Jolie while filming.

The new celebrity couple was dubbed "Brangelina." Just a year later, the actress confirmed that she was pregnant with Pitt's baby. The Jolie-Pitt family quickly grew: The pair adopted three children together (sons Maddox and Pax and daughter Zahara) and also welcomed three biological children (daughter Shiloh and twins Vivienne and Knox). After seven years together, they announced their celebrity engagement in 2012. Much to their children's delight, they finally tied the knot in a private ceremony in France during the summer of 2014. Thanks to their ability to balance family and career while also focusing on humanitarian and political causes, the celebrity couple has set the bar high for other Hollywood pairs.

Nicole “Snooki” Polizzi

Snooki has been a household name ever since the hit reality TV series Jersey Shore premiered on MTV. Nicole Elizabeth “Snooki” Polizzi was born on November 23, 1987 in Santiago, Chile before being adopted by her parents from Marlboro, New York. The nickname “Snooki” came about long before she became a reality star: She received it in middle school after the character “Snookie” from the movie Save the Last Dance because she was the first one of her friends to kiss a boy. Although she studied to work with animals, the reality star had quite the career change when she was cast on Jersey Shore in 2009. With five seasons of drama-filled summers in the Jersey Shore, Miami, and even Florence, Italy, she had a wild ride in the media.

In 2010, Polizzi met Jionni LaValle at a nightclub in Seaside Heights where the show was filmed. None of us would've guessed that the pair would end up married with two kids! The celebrity couple began dating in 2011, and just a year later, Polizzi completely changed her ways and settled down. In 2012, she and her best pal Jennifer "Jwoww" Farley signed a contract for their own reality series, Snooki & Jwoww, which concluded in 2015.

Rumors began to fly at the end of 2011 that Polizzi may be pregnant, and the star confirmed the celebrity baby news in early 2012. She also announced that she and LaValle were engaged. Welcoming son Lorenzo on August 26, 2012, the world began to see a whole new woman. The star turned her image around, going from party girl to loving mother and fiancée. She announced in spring 2013 that she was expecting again. 2014 proved to be yet another year of excitement, as the star welcomed daughter Giovanna on September 26, 2014, and tied the knot to LaValle on November 29, 2014, during a Gatsby-themed celebrity wedding.

Giuliana Rancic

Giuliana Rancic is the epitome of a fiery Italian: She's opinionated, intelligent, and sure knows how to rock a red carpet! The entertainment journalist was born in Naples, Italy on August 17, 1974, and her family moved to the United States when she was a little girl. She graduated with a Bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Maryland and later received a Master's Degree in journalism from American University. While attending American University, Rancic worked for Capitol Hill News Bureau, covering stories related to the Pentagon, Supreme Court, and the White House. In 2002, the bubbly star joined the E! News team as a correspondent, and in 2005, she became a solo anchor and managing editor for the show, taking it from one of the lowest-rated shows on television to one of the most popular in just one year!

The host met now-husband Bill Rancic during an interview for E!, and the celebrity couple was married in Italy in 2007. They co-authored the book I Do, Now What? and scored their own reality TV show Giuliana & Bill, which now airs on E!. When they were ready to have a baby, they had trouble conceiving and turned to in vitro fertilization, which is when Giuliana Rancic found out she had early stage breast cancer. True to her positive nature, she fought the cancer and decided to get a double mastectomy; she even filmed her experience for her reality TV show. She has been cancer-free ever since and uses her story to inspire others. She created Fab-U-Wish, a program that grants fashion, celebrity, and beauty-themed wishes to women battling breast cancer.

She didn't let breast cancer dampen her dream of becoming a mother either: The Hollywood couple decided to use a surrogate, and they now have a son named Edward Duke, born in July 2013. In 2014, they tried for a second child, but unfortunately, their surrogate had a miscarriage.

Nikki Reed

Nikki Reed was born on May 17, 1988. She describes her early life as complicated and moved out of her family's home when she was only 14 years old. She became known in 2003 after the release of the film Thirteen, for which she was credited as a co-writer and played the lead role. Since then, she has appeared in several films, including Lords of Dogtown, Mini's First Time, and The Twilight Saga.

Nikki Reed met American Idol alum Paul McDonald at the red carpet premiere of Red Riding Hood in March 2011. The famous couple began dating and moved in together not long after. They confirmed their celebrity engagement in June 2011 and married in October 2011. In March 2014, the Hollywood couple announced their separation, and in May 2014, Reed filed for divorce. Their celebrity divorce became final in January 2015. The actress and singer moved on quickly though: She began dating actor Ian Somerhalder in July 2014. They confirmed their celebrity engagement in February 2015 and were married in April 2015.

Somaya Reece

Genie Castro, publicly known as Somaya Reece, is a Salvadoran-American model, actress, rapper, and television personality. Reece was born and raised in Los Angeles, California. Growing up in a household without much money, Reece dropped out of school at age 11 and became involved with local gangs. After a near death experience, she turned her life around, earned her GED at 17 and even went on to attend the University of California, Los Angeles, where she studied theatre arts.

In the early 2000s, Reece began her career in entertainment, earning small roles in The Scorpion King, American Psycho, and Girlfriends and Entourage. At the same time, she began her modeling career and appeared in high-profile campaigns for Ralph Lauren, DKNY and Pepsi. In 2009, the model was nominated as the “Internet Hottie” by Spike TV’s Guys Choice Awards and was voted “Hottest Woman on the Web” by E!. Aside from Reece’s good looks, she’s also a successful musician. Her career was instantly boosted when she became a viral sensation on the social networking site MySpace. Reece’s success as an artist ultimately led to her being cast on VH1’s reality TV show, Love & Hip-Hop.

Most recently, Reece was a cast member on E!’s reality TV show, Famously Single which focuses on the relationship problems of eight single celebrities. With the help of relationship expert, Dr. Darcy Sterling, Reece examined her failed past relationships. After the show’s filming ended, the star was able to find love. She is currently in a celebrity relationship with rapper Lady Luck.

Ryan Reynolds

Hollywood hunk Ryan Reynolds has continued his rise to fame since becoming an actor in 1991. He was born on October 23, 1976 in Vancouver, Canada. He began his career by starring in a Canadian-produced teen soap opera titled Hillside, which aired in the United States on Nickelodeon. He is more famously known for his roles in action movies like X-Men Origins: Wolverine and romantic comedies like Just Friends, Definitely, Maybe, and The Proposal.

As one of the sexiest men in Hollywood, there is always speculation about his romantic life. In 2002, he began dating Alanis Morissette, and they announced their celebrity engagement in 2004. However, in 2007, the famous couple split. Soon after, the actor began dating actress Scarlett Johansson, and they quickly became one of the hottest Hollywood couples. The duo announced their engagement in May 2008 and were married four months later in a quiet ceremony in British Columbia. In 2010, the pair announced their separation, and they filed for celebrity divorce later that year.

While filming Green Lantern in 2010, Ryan Reynolds met his current wife, Gossip Girl star Blake Lively. In 2011, it was reported that they had started dating, and in 2012, the celebrity couple bought a home together in upstate New York. They were married that September, and they welcomed their first celebrity baby, a daughter named James, in December 2014.

Rihanna

Rihanna is the embodiment of the word “sexy.” She is constantly changing her image, and she certainly does it with style. Born Robyn Rihanna Fenty on February 20, 1988 in Barbados, she signed with Def Jam records at the age of 16, thanks to then-president Jay-Z. She moved to the United States and released her first album Music of the Sun, which sold more than two million copies worldwide. In 2007, the singer transformed from cute teen pop star to full-fledged sex symbol with her third album Good Girl Gone Bad and its hit single "Umbrella" featuring Jay-Z, which earned her her first Grammy Award. Continuing to slay the music industry, she's since released three more albums, most recently her album Anti.

Rihanna first made headlines for rumors that she was having a celebrity affair with her mentor Jay-Z, who shot down the allegations and called them ridiculous. She made headlines again when she was the center of a media frenzy after a domestic violence incident with her then-boyfriend Chris Brown, who assaulted her before an award show. The incident brought an outpour of support for the singer. Since then, she hasn't had a serious celebrity relationship but rumors have said she's had flings with rapper Drake, baseball player Matt Kemp, actor Ryan Phillippe, model Dudley O'Shaughnessy, and playboy Leonardo DiCaprio. We have hope that Rihanna will find Mr. Right, but she's currently busy touring the world.

Kelly Ripa

Kelly Ripa was the daytime host of Live with Regis and Kelly! and then later Live with Kelly & Michael. Now she hosts Live with Kelly! as the show looks for a replacement for Michael Strahan. While Ripa was also on Hope & Faith, Dancin' on Air, and Dance Party USA, one of her most prominent roles was from her 12 years on All My Children, where she portrayed a troubled party girl.

Not only is Ripa's TV career astounding, but her love life has also done pretty well. In 1995, she met Mark Consuelos as a new cast member on All My Children. A year later and they were happily married. The celebrity couple has three children: Michael, Lola, and Joaquin. The famous duo has been married for over 20 years and have even had to be long distance often. Their relationship is a rare success story in Hollywood, which is full of scandals, cheating, and horrible celebrity divorces. Her husband believes that with their children growing older, things are a lot easier for them. Ripa believes that a good date night, or just alone time between two partners can lead to great success for a long-term couple.

J.P. Rosenbaum

J.P. Rosenbaum is a construction manager, best known for stealing Ashley Hebert's heart on The Bachelorette season 7. Their celebrity love story is one to remember: Since The Bachelorette, they've celebrated their celebrity wedding in a televised affair and welcomed a new addition to their family, son Fordham (Ford) Rhys. The famous couple recently moved to Miami and are getting the hang of being first-time parents. In our celebrity interview, J.P. Rosenbaum revealed that he's excited for his son to follow in his footsteps and play sports someday.