

Disclaimer

Cupid's Pulse is not affiliated with any celebrity or individual. The content of this website is property of NV Media, Inc. Stories found on other sites are referenced and given full credit. However, if any content that appears on Cupid's Pulse is impermissible for use and you are the rightful owner, please request that the content is immediately removed. Cupid's Pulse never intentionally violates copyrights and will comply with these requests. Additionally, we do not claim to be experts, and the opinions shared on Cupid's Pulse are strictly written from the viewpoint of the individual writers based on their personal knowledge or experience.

In addition, Cupid's Pulse is open to paid advertisers on our site, whether it be in the form of banner ads, links, or sponsored posts. In some instances, we are provided with free products from companies, some of which are used as giveaways and prizes for contests. In either situation, we place the integrity of our site first and foremost, only promoting products or services that we feel comfortable with and ones that have value for the visitors to Cupid's Pulse.

If you have questions or concerns about our policies, email us at cupid@cupidspulse.com or contact us here.