Relationship Advice: How Can You Tell If Your Partner Is Having an Affair?

By Courtney Omernick

You've just found out that your significant other is having an affair; and it's something that you never wanted to hear. That being said, it can be worse wondering whether they're betraying you or not, and there are signs to look for in that situation.

Whether you're dating, in a relationship, or single, read these pieces of dating and relationship advice below on how to tell if your partner is having an affair.

It can be tough to tell if your partner is having an affair, and you don't want to wonder about it too much. Cupid has some red flags:

1. Their behavior changes: If your partner suddenly breaks an established routine or stops wearing their wedding ring for no reason, these could all be signs that he or she might be having an affair.

2. Showering/cologne/perfume: If your significant other comes home and showers right away when they work an office job, that could be a bad sign. If they smell differently when they come home, or if they're starting to buy new fragrances at the store, it's cause to at least check things out.

3. Discomfort: If your partner seems less comfortable around you and gets easily angry when they weren't in previous months, this could be a sign. If h also stops attending social gatherings with you, you may want to start asking questions.

Top 5 People Tools for Relationships and Love

By Alan C. Fox

I describe relationships and love as a “journey from me to us.” As romantic as that sounds, it also implies a lot of hard work. Two unique people with distinct tastes, thoughts, feelings, ambitions, and personalities are now sharing a single life. And no matter how perfectly compatible you are, you’re bound to face challenges along the way.

I'm a pragmatist at heart and so I like to use "tools" to help me navigate the challenging terrain of relationships and love. In fact I've developed many of them for my new book on relationship advice and love advice, People Tools for Love and Relationships: The Journey from Me to Us.

Below are my top five pieces of relationship and love advice:

1. Be (not find) the right person: Many of us spend years of our lives searching for the perfect person to build a life with. But we're often disappointed to find that our prince or princess charming turns out to be imperfect. It's just as important to learn how to be the right person as it is to find the right person. Work on perfecting yourself, rather than endlessly searching for that perfect other.

Related Link: Love Advice: How to Make Your Partner Happy in 5 Minutes a Day

2. The Best Defense is No Defense: While having a strong defense is helpful on the battlefield, being defensive in your relationships can cause serious problems. If your partner is upset with you or offers criticism, rather than automatically defending yourself, try adopting an "intent to learn," and quietly listen to their point to learn what they have to say.

Related Link: Dating Advice: 10 Kissing Tips to Read Before Your Next Makeout Session

3. It's a Movie, Not a Snapshot: It's all-too-easy to lose sight of the big picture during times of emotional strain and conflict. In times like these you need to remember that your relationship is more like a movie than a snapshot. It's a series of events and memories, and not a single particular event.

4. More Is Not Always Better: I often refer to relationships as "a journey from me to us," because sharing your life with another requires surrendering a degree of your independence. Each of you should maintain your own interests, hobbies, and time to yourselves.

5. Apologize: This is the simplest and most effective thing you can do when fighting with your partner. Yet it's often the most difficult, especially when you're convinced that you're right, which is most of the time, if not always. You have to put aside your pride and be willing to compromise on some points, even when you feel strongly about them.

1. Chad Michael Murray and Sophia Bush: This celebrity couple not only broke up, but they went through a celebrity divorce. Even though they split, they still had to work together on the hit show, One Tree Hill.

It may be time to visit a therapist with your significant other, and in terms of practical love advice, that's not necessarily a bad thing! Going to counseling is one of the best ways to save your relationship, and you might find that your it becomes stronger after this rough patch is over. But, how do you know if you need couples' counseling?

See what relationship advice Cupid has for you as signs that you really need couples counseling!

1. You're not as affectionate:

If you've been less intimate or less emotional with one another, it may be time to go visit a therapist. Every couple goes through dry spells, but usually a lack of intimacy is the sign of a deeper issue, such as a lack of trust or comfort in the relationship.

Related Link: Love Advice: 5 Signs You're in a Lukewarm Relationship

2. You keep things from another:

Relationships and love thrive when you are open with your partner. If you're keeping things from him or her, such as hiding the credit card bill, it could be a sign your relationship isn't healthy. It's important to see a therapist who can help you open up to one another, something that can be accomplished with more trust, understanding, and communication.

3. You think the OTHER person is the issue:

Not being able to recognize that there are two sides to every story could be a reason your relationship is in trouble. Yes, it may seem like your partner is the one who has been causing problems, but it's important that you take a look at yourself and see where you can improve, too. Relationships and love are all about compromise, so look to a therapist for relationship advice about how to achieve this balance.

4. You don't speak up:

The classic love advice about communication being the key to a healthy relationship is true. You may feel as though there is an issue in your relationship, but you keep it to yourself because you are afraid of the fight that could happen if you speak up. No one should feel this way in a loving relationship; you should feel comfortable enough to express your feelings. A therapist can give you the love advice you need to find your voice.

5. You think about having an affair:

You could just be fantasizing about that coworker and have no plans on acting on your thoughts of infidelity, but even just thinking about being unfaithful is a clear indicator that you should go to counseling. When you have an affair, it's usually because there's something lacking in your relationship, something you need from them that you just aren't getting. A therapist can help you identify this issue and communicate it to your partner so you can work to save your relationship and love.

Ben Affleck: Can You Forgive a Betrayer in a Romantic Relationship?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner's celebrity divorce announcement may have sounded amicable, but allegedly their celebrity marriage was shattered by Ben's partying and inappropriate behavior with other women. There were rumors of cheating, which may have caused Jennifer's trust in Ben to be forever damaged. Insiders close to the couple say there was suspicion throughout their marriage, adding that Jennifer tried to leave him a few times, but Ben would always convince her to stay.

So what can a couple do if a cloud of suspicion is affecting their relationship and love life?

It can be incredibly difficult to forgive someone after a betrayal, and even more challenging to trust them again even after you've forgiven their infidelity. Sometimes, despite a couple's best efforts, it's difficult to get past it and stay together.

Explore rebuilding the relationship.

After finding out your spouse has been unfaithful, or exhibited other negative behaviors that defy the vows you said to each other at your wedding, the knee-jerk reaction is often to get angry and get out. But a lot of times there is so much at stake – family life, financial situations, the fear of starting over – as well as so many attachments and good memories, that the one who was betrayed is willing to try to stick it out. Even in the face of hurtful behavior it is hard to balance that against what came before. Those who are able to deal with the anger and disappointment are even able to rebuild the relationship into a healthier and stronger connection than it was before. Maybe that's what Jennifer was hoping for, and why she stuck around so long.

Remember when Ben accepted the Oscar for best picture in 2012 and he thanked Jennifer, saying that marriage is hard work, but it is the best kind of work? He took a lot of heat for saying that, but in truth it is a lot of work, especially when it is peppered with things that lead to mistrust and betrayal. He was probably referring to all the effort it took to preserve the celebrity love they shared and their family life in the face of the things he had allegedly done.

Determine what needs to change and follow through.

It can take a long time before someone is ready to say it's over. The beginning of the healing process is the same for those who do get through a betrayal, as well as for those who try to but ultimately don't. That first step is determining what needs to change – whether it is keeping secrets, seeing other women, gambling, or some other addiction or behavior that might make it difficult for the other person to live with them. The most important step is the follow through. The person with the negative behavior has to demonstrate that he or she has stopped doing whatever it was that has brought them to this point. If that doesn't happen, then there are no grounds to keep the relationship going.

End the relationship if nothing changes and disappointment persists.

Ben might have promised he would change over and over again, and Jennifer most likely wanted to believe him. Maybe she gave him numerous chances to show he meant it. But in the end, evidently he did not do what he said he would. When you are left swimming in a pool of broken promises, disappointment and betrayal, it is inevitable that the time will finally come that you can no longer give the other person the benefit of the doubt and allow them to continue to try to earn back your trust. No matter how much you love them, you reach a point when you no longer believe your partner can really change. This is when the relationship comes to an end.

That might explain Ben's speech at the Academy Awards, as well as why they persevered for as long as they did. Unfortunately, though, the damage was too great and perhaps the promises of change were too empty to keep them together in the end.

Dating Advice: 10 Kissing Tips to Read Before Your Next Makeout Session

By Courtney Omernick

Whether you're just dating, in a relationship and love, or single, it never hurts to get some extra dating and relationship advice; especially when it comes to important things like kissing.

Below are some special pieces of dating advice and kissing pointers.

Cupid's Advice:

1. Have fresh breath: It seems like common sense, but a lot of people are guilty of bad breath. Make sure your teeth are clean. It doesn't matter how good of a kisser you are, as bad breath can ruin everything.

Related Link: Love Advice: 5 Signs You're in a Lukewarm Relationship

2. Build up the moment: No matter if it's the first date, or if you've been dating for awhile; there's going to be some tension. And, kissing is a great way to break the tension. Don't wait too long for that first kiss, however. You want to make sure they still understand that you're interested in them.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: A Couple's Guide to Better Arguing

3. Use your eyes: Obviously, don't keep them open while you're kissing. But, try speaking with your eyes to initiate the kiss.

4. Don't try to control it: A good kiss is powerful. The moment will be broken if you put too much thought into it.

5. Relax: Kissing isn't a "win or lose" situation. Try to gauge what the other person is doing, and go from there.

6. Be spontaneous: Give your partner a gift when they least expect it. Catching them off guard with a kiss can be just what they needed.

7. Pay attention to the surroundings: Special and new surroundings can make things interesting. Because your eyes are closed, you'll be able to see and feel new sensations more clearly.

8. Control your saliva: Don't create slobber that runs down your face. Keep your saliva in check.

9. Use your hands: Don't just fixate on someone's face. Touching their neck, sides, or holding them close makes the kiss better.

10. Don't drink: The best kisses and makeout sessions occur when you're sober.

By Molly Jacob

From work to social lives, our days can get pretty hectic. Although we love our partners more than anything, some days we just don't have enough time to give them all of our attention. You could do any sort of similar chore around the house, which would just as well add happiness and gratitude to your relationship and love life.

3. Give a gift:

This gift doesn't have to be a big or extravagant one; it can simply be a candy bar or latte you picked up on the way home from work. Your sweetie is sure to love a treat, and little gifts are an easy way to add a nice surprise to your partner's day.

Mariah Carey: Moving Quickly in a Celebrity Relationship?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Singer Mariah Carey is already talking celebrity marriage with her new boyfriend, James Packer. Typically, it's the woman who's eager to start talking marriage, sometimes even early in the relationship. Although they've only been dating for a matter of days, James already believes he wants to marry

Mariah. The duo in a new celebrity relationship have visited several countries together since last week.

Deciding to get married is a big step for so many reasons, and thinking about doing it when you are just beginning to get to know each other might not always be the best idea.

Consider reality.

When two people fall in love, anything seems possible. You might quickly begin to think about spending the rest of your life with that person, and even fantasize about how wonderful it could be. That is what love does – it makes everything look wonderful. The trouble is, a lasting relationship is made up of much more than the immediate chemistry and romance people experience when they first come together and the rest of the world falls away. That world doesn't stay away forever, and when it creeps back in with finances, job responsibilities, the possibility of having children, and other things that take place during daily life, it is helpful and important to have a strong foundation underneath you to know how to deal with these things as a unit.

Related Link: Mariah Carey Reunites with Celebrity Ex-Husband Nick Cannon for Easter with Twins

Understand each other fully.

If you have time to get to know each other, allowing you to establish and understand your commonalities, shared goals and values, methods of communication, and ability to compromise and problem solve, you will be in a much better place to make your joint life work. These are the nuts and bolts that determine whether or not you will be able to go the distance together. Too often when you lead with love, moving too quickly, you eliminate and edit out the opportunity to experience your partner in the real world and you might not be equipped to deal with the curve balls that life sends your way.

Take time.

Time also allows you to establish a good balance between the me and the we, which is necessary in sharing a healthy relationship. The risk of rushing in to making the decision to spend your life with someone you don't know well enough, despite the fact that you think you do, is that you can wind up in a situation that requires making concessions that feel more like sacrifice rather than compromise. If it starts to seem that you are giving up what is important to you, it can be the beginning of your partnership no longer working effectively. So unless you have had the time to navigate your shared life and the demands that it entails, you might want to slow down a little.

Related Link: Nick Cannon Opens Up About Split From Mariah Carey

Move forward when it makes sense.

When, then, is it okay to start that conversation about happily ever after? It's probably best to begin once you've determined you're exclusive and your individual worlds are clearly merging into a joint world. That's the point at which you can look toward creating a future together and therefore discuss marriage, whereby you and your partner can see yourselves continuing together over the course of your lives. Look to avoid bringing marriage up out of the blue because if there's nothing concrete to attach it to, then the relationship may not be at that point and you may scare your partner off by being too premature with the idea. He or she may completely push back as a result. Sometimes talking about moving in together before bringing up the subject of tying the knot is a good starting point. There are times, however, when people are forced to talk about marriage sooner than they might otherwise – if one person has to move to another part of the country (or even the world) for a career opportunity, for example.

Don't get too caught up in the excitement.

The bottom line is that everything looks great at the beginning of a relationship and it is easy to get caught up in the excitement and fanfare. Be aware though of looking too far ahead. Give yourself a chance to be sure you are truly compatible before you walk down the aisle. Keep in mind also that if you are just coming out of a relationship and dealing with the aftermath of rejection, it can make this new relationship even more attractive and can be a way to put the pain in the past. If that is the case it is even more important that you take a deep breath and leave yourself the time you need to make sure this is right for you, so that you don't wind up getting blinded by love and perhaps make another mistake.

It seems that Mariah and James don't have these qualms and are ready to get serious and move forward with a shared life together. Only time will tell if they are moving too fast.

So many people have dating and relationship advice for every aspect of your courtship. However, some are stumped when it comes to having a great plan for arguing.

Below are a few pieces of love advice for creating the best outcome in your arguments.

1. Stay Calm: It's easy to get flustered and upset quickly when you're trying to prove a point and you feel like you're not getting anywhere. But, the worst thing you can do is scream or throw a temper tantrum. The other person is feeding off of your energy. Stay calm, and hopefully they will too.

Love Advice: 5 Signs You're in a Lukewarm Relationship

By Molly Jacob

Are you afraid you've been settling in your relationship? Some people love the security of having a significant other and have a hard time being alone. So in exchange for the uncertainty of single life, they stay in a tepid, dispassionate relationship. Although it may be hard to deal with the fact that your relationship isn't that great, it's important to evaluate your relationship and never give yourself less than you deserve in your relationships and love life. Take this love advice: you should never settle for anything less than the most fulfilling relationships.

Cupid has dating and relationship advice to help you determine if you're in a lukewarm relationship!

1. You spend less time together:

When you are passionately in love with someone, you always want to be around them. You want to experience new things with them and show them the best parts of your world. But as your relationship and love grows from hot to lukewarm, you have less of that desire to spend time with them. Instead of looking forward to your dates or alone time together, you feel as though your one-on-one time is an obligation, not a treat. Your relationships and love life should be one of the most wonderful and fulfilling parts of your life, not just something to check off a to-do list.

2. You're less intimate:

Intimacy adds passion and depth to a relationship. If your sex life is cooling down, your relationship may be experiencing the same thing. But this is about more than just sex; being intimate means not only being physically close, but also emotionally close. Are you sharing less of yourself with your honey? Are you closing yourself off emotionally? If so, take our dating and relationship advice that your relationship is losing its passion.

3. You never fight:

Some couples never fight and always seem to get along, and that can be a totally healthy relationship. But to a certain extent, couples argue because they care about each other. Oftentimes, couples who argue are fighting to repair a relationship or finding a solution to relationship troubles. If you find your partner not even worth the trouble of arguing with, you may be in a lukewarm relationship. As they say, apathy, not hate, is the opposite of love.

Related: Paula Patton Says "Passion" is Key to a Successful Relationship

4. You talk less:

If you find yourself communicating less and less with your partner, your relationship may be lukewarm. While you once discussed your passions and deep emotions, your conversations are now filled with recounts of grocery shopping and dentist appointments. While it's not bad to talk about these things, it's also a sign of an unhealthy relationship when that's all you have to talk about. See if you find yourself making conversation just for the sake of filling the silence at dinnertime.

5. You care less about each other:

Relationships and love should be exciting and consuming, not half-hearted or mundane. While this may go without saying, if you find yourself caring less about your partner and what's going on in their lives, your relationship has gone from simmering to lukewarm. If this is true, take time to evaluate the benefits of being in this relationship. Love advice: you deserve better than settling for a relationship that doesn't bring you happiness.

Pros of Breaking Up in a Social Media World

By Courtney Omernick

Relationships and love can be complicated, but the break-up doesn't have to be. Sometimes, we're very lucky that we live in a world filled with social media that provides us with faster ways to connect with more people.

A lot of relationship and dating advice will tell you that it's a terrible idea to break up with or find a new partner via social media, however, there are some positives. Cupid has some ideas.

1. Remove the awkwardness: If you do decide to break up with your significant other, you have the option of making things a little less awkward by doing it through social media. If you're too nervous to face them in person, or haven't been dating for too long, you have the option of sending them a private Facebook message and then moving on with your life.

Leading Non-Verbal Expert Shares Online Dating Love Advice

Interview by Jared Sais. Written by Rebecca White.

Relationships and love are not always easy to find, and in this day and age, many people turn to online dating as they search for that special someone. This approach can be extremely effective, but it's important to keep a few things in mind in order to increase your chance of finding The One. In our celebrity interview, Dr. Paul Ekman, an expert in non-verbal communication, shares his best love advice to help you get through a first date with someone you met online.

Dr. Paul Ekman Shares Love Advice For Online Dating

Before you even go on a date, chat with your potential partners on Skype or FaceTime. That way, you'll be able to tell if they're authentic from the get-go. You can watch their facial expressions and hear their tone and pitch, gathering the non-verbal cues needed to get a better understanding of who they are. After all, you can't tell if they're lying via e-mail or text!

Related Link: Love Advice: How To Tell If a Guy Likes You

When it comes to your first date, Dr. Ekman's expert dating advice is simple: Be prepared to ask the right questions. He recommends that you find out the answers to these five questions below:

1. What do you like to do on vacation? If you can't travel together, you can't live together! Find out what your date likes to do for fun and see if you have any similar interests.

2. Why didn't your previous relationships and love work out? Really listen to how your date responds to this question and be on the lookout for any red flags. Of course, there are a few acceptable answers, like illness or death of a past lover and differing opinions about topics such as having kids or where to live.

3. Do you have a good relationship with the opposite sex parent? If the answer is no, they may look to you to fill that void. A bad relationship with any parent could cause issues in your love life, as they may have a skewed perspective of the family unit.

4. What is your online dating history? While this question isn't a necessity, it's helpful to know what sort of online dating success your date has had thus far. How long have they been looking for love online? How many dates have they been on?

Related Link: Dating Expert Gives Five Body Language Cues to Look For on a First Date

5. What type of relationship do you want? Asking this question on a first date will let you know if you should continue this particular romance. If you have different answers, then it's time to move on!

Besides these verbal questions, don't forget to look for classic non-verbal cues while you're on the first date. Is your date leaning towards you? Are their eyes dilated? Are they making eye contact with you? These are all positive signs! Dr. Ekman even has a training tool called micro expressions, which can help you learn how to read people. Be sure to keep this love advice in mind the next time you go on a first date.

Single Celebrity Ariana Grande: Tearing Down Double Standards?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Singing sensation and single celebrity Ariana Grande wrote an elaborate, empowering essay about male and female double standards after her celebrity break-up with rapper Big Sean. She said, "If a woman has a lot of sex (or any sex for that matter)... she's a 'slut.' If a man has sex... HE'S. A. STUD. A BOSS. A KING... If a woman even TALKS about sex openly... she is shamed!"

Ariana touched on one of many examples of double standards when it comes to relationships and love and is hitting a nerve because what she wrote about does often seem to be true.

Choose a course of action.

In today's world, women want to be able to make mindful choices when they decide to be intimate and sexual with their partner. But that isn't always easy to do. When a woman has an active sex life, she might be viewed as being loose. On the other hand, men are expected to seek it out, and if they brag about a few notches on their belt then they are respected and thought of as manly. Women are finally looking to move beyond these images and not let them hold them back anymore. Along those lines, the most recent Bachelorette openly said she made a conscious decision to be intimate with one of the men she had met on the show, because a sexual connection is such an important part of a relationship that she wanted to have a sense of their chemistry before they moved too far forward. She chose a course of action, and so can you.

Related Link: Single Celebrity Ariana Grande Says She Doesn't Want to Be Called Big Sean's Celebrity Ex

Be the manager of your sex life.

If you consider what you stand to gain by exercising your sexual expression, as well as what you stand to lose if you are not in touch with it, you will see how important it is to be the manager of your sexual life. By challenging these stereotypes that have trapped, confined and limited women for too long, you can work to redefine your sexual identity and what it means to you in terms of your happiness and your sexual esteem. If, for example, you want to be intimate with someone when you first meet them, if you are on vacation and want to have a fling, if you are at a wedding and want to have a romantic escapade, or just a one night stand, the most important thing is to know what you are doing and why you are doing it. In other words, own it. This means recognizing that you are with that person to enhance your sexual experience and pleasure, and still feel good about it regardless of whether or not it leads to something more serious down the road.

Related Link: Ariana Grande and Big Sean Step Out as Celebrity Couple at Grammy Awards

Sit in the driver's seat.

If you are in the driver's seat, you can give yourself the permission to say "yes" to your desires and feel empowered by them when it comes to your sex life decisions, rather than feeling bad about yourself. The essential thing to be aware of is that whatever your action may be you are doing it by choice, one that you are making for yourself and thereby can feel confident about. When you do this, you free yourself from blame and judgment so that you will not feel objectified or used in any sexual experience you share. You no longer have to be in a position where you are compromising your own values or worrying about what other people think.

Be honest and guilt-free.

It follows that if you are in a new relationship and your partner asks how many sexual encounters you have had, you can have a clear sense of your history and how it came to be, free from guilt. You will be able to level the playing field so that what was once only acceptable for men can also be acceptable for women. Saying no always remains a powerful choice as well, what matters most is that you are determining what is going to be most comfortable for you. In this way, you will be a woman who takes charge, is in control, knows what you want as well as what you don't want, and will be better able to build your inner security which will reflect in your emotional and sexual wellbeing.

Love Advice: How To Tell If a Guy Likes You

By Molly Jacob

Relationships and love can be very difficult, especially when you're not even sure where you stand with your crush or guy friend. Does he like you as more than a friend? Should you take your relationship to the next level by confessing your feelings? Let our dating advice help you out in this gray area of relationships and love.

Check out Cupid's love advice about how to tell if a guy likes you!

1. He finds every excuse to see you:

Sure, good friends want to spend a lot of time together. But in the area of relationships and love, a guy who is interested in a girl will find a reason, no matter how far-fetched, to see you. He's going to the grocery store and wants you to come help him get ingredients for dinner. He's shopping for a new pair of shoes and wants your advice. Dating advice: if it just seems like he can't get enough of your presence, he probably has a major crush on you!

2. He approaches you:

This one is pretty self-explanatory: a guy who strikes up a conversation with a girl at a bar, bookstore, or the gym is obviously interested in her. But look at how your crush or guy friend communicates with you. Is he always the first person to text you? Does he always seek you out at parties? If so, take our love advice he may have a crush on you, too!

3. He has positive body language:

With relationships and love, body language is everything. Things we might be too afraid to say can subconsciously appear in our physical gestures. Here are a couple signs he's into you: his pupils are dilated when he's looking at you, he leans close into you when you talk, he subtly licks his lips when speaking to you or looks at your lips, and he points his feet towards you when you're both sitting down. All of these are indicators that his body is using to communicate his interest in you.

4. He's different around you:

Maybe you notice that he makes cruder jokes around his other friends, but says nicer things when he's alone with you. If he likes you, he could act nervous around you or appear to be trying to impress you. This may be a relationship and love sign that he's interested being more than just a friend with you. It's great love advice to see how he treats other women and reflect on how he treats you. This could give you a few clues about his true feelings for you!

5. He gets jealous:

Next time you talk about a date you went on last week or your newest celeb crush, check out your real life crush. Does he seem to get upset when he hears you talking about other guys? Does he seem to be jealous or protective when other guys check you out? If so, he could be jealous because he likes you!

6. He teases you:

Most of us can remember a time where we were made fun in elementary school by a boy who thought it was so hilarious to sprinkle grass in our hair at recess. It wasn't until our parents gave us the early dating advice that those boys on the playground actually liked us and weren't just bullies. Although we think men have grown up since then, they really haven't changed all that much! A guy who teases you for silly things and is physical with you (touching your hair, playfully touching your shoulder) definitely likes you. Also, if he smiles and laughs a lot around you, that's a great sign that he might be into you!

Former 'Bachelor' Chris Soules: Is it Over Before it Begins?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Former The Bachelor star Chris Soules and fiancée Whitney Bischoff announced they have mutually and amicably decided to call off their celebrity engagement. Chris shared that the split has been “really tough,” but they continue to be supportive friends. Despite the fact that the way in which couples meet on The Bachelor and The Bachelorette is so exciting, it seems many of the relationships and love don't work out in the long term. Even so, the show carries intrigue for the viewers in the same way it does for the participants.

It gives everyone the chance to think about the possibilities of meeting someone new and starting over, finding Mr. or Mrs. Right, and having the sense that anything can happen, the world is your oyster. It can seem like a dream come true.

Being a contestant on one of these reality shows is available to only a few people, but many of us have had the experience of meeting someone new in a more exciting than real life situation such as on vacation or at a big event like a wedding. When that happens, there can be an immediate connection, and the sense that you have known that person all your life. Those feelings can be fueled by chemistry and the attraction you have for one another, as well as the fanfare of the situation in which you met. In the same way that people meet on The Bachelor and The Bachelorette, it can be a key in the ignition that turns the relationship on, but then how do you keep it in motion? And why do so many of these relationships, whether they begin on the television show or in an out of the ordinary setting, end sooner rather than later?

Related Link: Chris Soules and Celebrity Love Whitney Bischoff Celebrate His 'DWTS' Performance

It probably has a lot to do with the fact that these couples aren't having the opportunity to experience the other person under typical circumstances. On the show, for example, there is an intended outcome, goal, and timeline for a decision to be made which can disrupt the regular flow of getting to know each other. In the case of those couples who meet in other places, on a whirlwind vacation or swept up in the romance of the wedding they are attending, the same can be true because things might move faster than they would otherwise. It's all about the excitement and celebration – capturing relationships at the very beginning, where almost everyone starts out excited about falling in love. For many people, however, making a relationship succeed requires work that has to kick in once you're past the first stage of making the connection. This entails being able to communicate effectively with each other, dealing with compromising, sharing goals, and finding a balance between personal lives and their life as a couple. Those are the elements that make a relationship durable and enduring.

Related Link: Former 'Bachelor' Chris Soules Spends Time with Family in Iowa Post Celebrity Break-Up

The inability to navigate their way through these important steps, paired with the idea that they are no longer in a glamorous world or on a television set, can very often diminish desire. The more frustrated, disappointed and angry you get, the faster you can lose your footing and grasp on what is keeping you together, and the more likely you are to get turned off to your partner.

Of course, it helps to know what you are looking for before you embark on the search for a new mate, whether through participating in a show like this or not. In other words, consider the values, temperament and energy level you are hoping to find in a new partner. Do you hope to be with someone who is a go-getter, or on more of an even keel? Are you searching for someone who is ambitious and looking to make a lot of money, or someone who is more creative and not so focused on the finances? The most important thing in all of this is figuring out how you feel when you are with the other person, and how he or she makes you feel about yourself. If all of that falls into place, it might be worth making the effort to stay together even after the band goes home or the camera people are no longer a part of your time together.

For Chris and Whitney, getting back to the ordinary elements of living and away from the show may have shed a light on a reality they no longer wanted to be a part of. At least they are making the best of it and continuing their friendship.
