

Marni Battista

As the founder of Dating with Dignity and with more than 25 years of personal relationship and dating experience, Marni Battista dated, was married for 17 years and divorced, and then successfully dated and married again in the 21st century. On our Marni Battista page, there are articles from the dating expert herself with prime dating advice like how to take control of your love life and how to move on after a rough break-up. As a dating coach, Battista isn't your mother, best friend, or therapist but rather the professional relationship expert who will stand beside you to provide love, compassion, support, and honest guidance as you embark on one of the most important, fulfilling adventures of your life. Dating with Dignity will show you how to succeed with the expert love advice and guidance you are given. What's even more fun is that Battista talks about current events, including whether it's really possible to find love on The Bachelor and the pros and cons of a long engagement.

Widget not in any sidebars

Articles:

