Celebrity News: Matthew Koma Calls Hilary Duff 'Wife' Sparking Marriage Rumors

By Hope Ankney

In the latest celebrity news, Matthew Koma has, seemingly, sparked rumors that he and Hilary Duff have secretly tied the knot. According to UsMagazine.com, the musician referred to Duff as his “wife” in an Instagram post shared on Saturday night. In the photo, you can see the actress mid-laugh as she’s dressed to the nines. Many fans began speculating about a possible wedding ceremony, but neither party responded.

Instead, Duff posted a photo to her own Instagram the same night of the two, detailing that they were attending the AdoptTogether's 2019 Baby Ball in Los Angeles.

In celebrity news, is it possible that Hilary Duff and Matthew Koma tied the knot in secret? What are some benefits to keeping your nuptials on the down-low?

Cupid's Advice:

It's not uncommon for celebrity couples to secretly get married. Their entire lives are handed to the public on a silver platter. Privacy is something they don't take for granted, so it's understandable that there are some aspects of their world that they would like to keep separate. But, this isn't just helpful for celebrity relationships. It can be just as beneficial for anyone to keep their private life... well, private. Here are some of Cupid's best relationship advice on why getting married on the down-low can actually be a good thing:

1. Filtered social media: The advancements in the visual aspect of social media has changed how we get attention from our peers. However, if you become obsessed with recognition and likes, it can negatively affect your relationship. It begins to blossom when a couple notices that they're more in love with the idea of their relationship being flaunted online than they actually are being in the relationship. Keeping your marriage private can help in keeping both of your motivations pure as you step into the next part of your lives together. It's important to note when you're in a partnership with another because you have a genuine bond versus when you love the views that social media gives you for that partnership.

2. Fewer riffs due to privacy: When you share almost every waking moment of your marriage online or with others, it hinders the relationship from having a bond that should be shared only with each other. Most spouses aren't exactly excited to know that the majority of their relationship is exposed to third parties. This can cause drama and unnecessary issues in your marriage when others know about problems or complications that are normally kept quiet.

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: Justin Bieber & Hailey Baldwin Tie the Knot for the Second Time

3. Less opportunity for exes to meddle: No matter what, it seems like some exes just don't allow you to ever be happy. The only thing worse than friends or family being in your marriage's business is if an ex is meddling in it as well. This can damage your relationship if your marriage isn't built on the strongest of foundations. Disclosing information to your ex or those who know your ex can be harmful, and it should be something that isn't taken lightly. Don't allow yourself to be vulnerable, and always be wise.

What are some ways that you've found being private with your marriage has been beneficial? Let us know down below!

But, knowing when you're ready to walk down the aisle is an important decision for every couple. If you've been with someone for a while, and you're wondering if you're both ready to dive headfirst into marriage, fortunately, Cupid has some love advice on signs you should look out for:

1. You recognize that effort is necessary: There's a certain stereotype that claims when you find the right one, everything will be easy. But, that isn't the case. In fact, every relationship has hardship and takes two people coming together to make an effort to keep their love alive. If you or your partner hasn't realized that being in this marriage is a long-term commitment to making an effort with one another, then maybe you're not ready to say "I do."

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: Justin Bieber & Hailey Baldwin Tie the Knot for the Second Time

2. You make long-term plans together: If you're in it for the long haul, chances are both you and your partner have talked about your future together. Making serious life plans with your significant other is a big sign that you're ready for marriage. You've talked about your hopes and dreams, and you've supported one another when discussing them. Never plan a wedding if your future doesn't feature your partner as being apart of it.

3. You've done your fair share of soul-searching: Before you commit to someone else, you first must commit to yourself. The most important step of being in healthy relationships is to know your worth and love every aspect of who you are. If you're expecting your partner to love you, you've got to invest in loving yourself, too. You've got to be willing, to be honest with yourself and to know every facet of who you are under different circumstances. Soul-searching is a hard part of life, and it can be very uncomfortable. 1. Unique walks down the aisle: The famous Office scene where the entire cast dances down the aisle in Jim and Pam's wedding is one that has been cemented in iconic television history. Everyone has seen that clip or even other ceremonies that implemented this idea. It's a fun and easy way to incorporate your family and friends into a part of your wedding that'll be incredibly memorable. You can have one song that is playing as everyone jigs down the aisle or you can try different songs for different groups. You can give the bridesmaids and grooms a song, the parents a song, and the flower girls and ring bearer a song. It'll liven up the ceremony and make everyone feel included.

2. Musical loved one: Instead of hiring a DJ, if you or your partner have a talented family member, allow them to either open or close the wedding by singing or playing a beautiful song. It's even better if the loved one has created their own, personalized song for the occasion. It proves to be very intimate, and it can give the family member such honor to perform at your ceremony.

3. Honoring the deceased: It's always a very personal and touching part of a wedding if the bride and groom take time to honor family members and loved ones that are no longer with them. There are many ways to do this. You can ask for a moment of silence for the departed. You can have family members come light a candle out of remembrance. Or, my personal favorite, is for a tree to be planted in honor of those that have been lost. Make it an uplifting part of your ceremony where it seems like they're celebrating alongside you.
