In celebrity divorce news, Adele has officially filed for divorce from her husband Simon. What are some ways to announce your divorce to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Telling someone that you and your ex lover have decided to split is not the easiest tasks especially when there is family involved. Some couples live separate lives, but stay together in order to please their family members. This is not the best idea especially when you are not happy being with this person. Cupid has some relationship advice when it comes to telling your family and friends about your divorce:

1. Don't break the news at a family event: This can become awkward very quickly. You don't want to ruin a fun filled event with some bad news. Avoid making any “grand entrance” with news about a separation. You don't want to be put on the spot to answer private questions about your relationship.

2. Try not to play the blame game: Pointing fingers at why the relationship ended is the easiest way for many to avoid talking about what really happened. Even if it is the other person's fault try not to be petty about what happened. Accepting what when wrong is the first part of the healing process. Learn how to tell the story in a positive light. Use words like “this was the best decision for us” or “we've come to a mutual agreement”. Not only is this mature, but this language will be best for telling important people like your children.

3. Let everyone know that you are still processing this: Whether you called it quits or your partner its important that you take the time to process it all. You might be wondering what went wrong or how you will get over this person. The warning signals could have been there, but you didn't know it would go downhill so fast. Take your time and needed space to reflect.

What are some ways to honor your child?

Cupid's Advice:

Honoring your child is a important part of their childhood, and a necessary part of your responsibilities as a parent. It is essential that your child is honored, whether it be once a month, once every two weeks, or twice a week. It is pertinent that you honor your child! Cupid has some advice on how to do this:

1. Undivided attention: Put down your cell phone, turn it off, and put it away. Ignore your email, phone calls, and what not. It does not have to be for an entire day, but your child deserves some undivided attention. Depending on their age, play blocks with them, read them a book, ask them how their day was, tell them a story, be with them and them only. Your child will be ecstatic that you spent time with them and didn't do anything else. It shows them how much you love them, which is more than important.

2. Reward: Rewarding your child is not only exciting to them but exciting to you. If your child is receiving a reward, they did something special or grand. Your child will know that you are acknowledging their hard work. They will also be casually conditioned to receive praise when they do something good. This will make your child act better! Who doesn't want that?! The one thing here is to limit the amount of reward given. It is not a reward if your give out all the time.

3. Express love: Love makes the world go round, especially with children. Children want to feel comfortable and safe, mostly with their family and people closest around. Telling your child how much you love them, and how great they are is a treat for them. Kids love to be loved, it as simple as that. So you and your partner better be shedding out some love if you aren't already!

How does having a child affect your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Whether you and your partner have been working towards a child or you get suddenly surprised, having a baby opens up new challenges and joys. Expect change, but comfort yourself with the love and support you share with your partner on this new adventure:

1. Meaning: Your relationship is now physically represented by your offspring. Procreating and raising a child is the most tangible purpose human beings can find. Together you will be rewarded by deep unconditional love. Make sure to spread the it among all three of you. Instead of revelling in the potential of your love, you can celebrate the product.

2. Identity: No matter how you feel about it, you're no longer simply a couple, but a family. This will influence your career, friendships, and any future relationships. Your partner is now cemented with a fixed level of importance as the co-parent of your child. This shift is a major escalation of your relationship. Realize this new dynamic must change your relationship, but find stability in the aspects that stay the same.

3. Sacrifice: As a couple you've hopefully gotten used to compromise and martyrdom. Having a child will really test how you've developed these areas. Keep in mind that you and your partner are caring for this child as a team. You're giving up independence. No matter the future of your relationship, you have a duty your child.

Adele Is 'Thrilled' About Becoming a Mother

By Jennifer Ross

Adele's new single, the James Bond theme "Skyfall," is finally out and hitting the charts; yet, the thing that's most on her mind now is much bigger than her new single. The Grammy-winning singer, 24, is "thrilled" about her upcoming real-life role as mum, a source reports to People. As Adele prepares for her first baby with her boyfriend, Simon Konecki, she has no complaints about staying out of the spotlight for awhile. She has been described as "laying low and nesting." Little baby is expected to arrive sometime this fall.

How do you prepare your relationship for a first child?

Cupid's Advice:

No matter how hard you try, you and your partner can't possibly know what to expect with the birth of your first child. But there are some common pitfalls all couples can be aware of after a baby is born that could help ease the transition to parenthood:

1. Understand biological drives: Men and women respond differently when it comes to transforming into parents. Soon after a woman discovers she's pregnant, her mommy mode kicks straight into protection gear. For men, the daddy mode may not start until after the baby arrives and it usually comes with a blast of last-minute financial panic. Understanding that these feelings are normal and supporting each other through them will help ease the stress.

2. Individual roles: It's vital to agree to each other's role with the baby. Talk about what your parents did when you were a child and how you felt about the way they raised you. Do you want to follow in their path? Are there some key areas that you want to steer away from when you're a mom or dad? Figuring out who does what before the little one arrives will lead to less confusion.

3. Sleep deprivation: In the beginning, the baby will need feedings at all hours. It would be useless if both parents were getting up together at night. This would inevitably transform you both into walking zombies during the day. Instead, divide the feedings into a set schedule that both of you agree to so that at least one of you gets rest each evening.

Adele Visits a Swamp with New Boyfriend Simon Konecki

Under-the-weather singer Adele has been out and about recently. The “Somebody Like You” songstress, who’s recovering from vocal chord surgery, took a romantic walk with new boyfriend Simon Konecki in the Everglades on Monday, reports UsMagazine.com. Konecki, 36, is a founder of the charity Drop4Drop, which gives clean drinking water to those who need it. “[Konecki] watched [Adele’s] every move, especially when she was on the dock and on the boat. He wanted to make sure she didn’t fall into the water!” said a witness. “They were lovey dovey with one another [and] very into each other. She seems really happy.”

What are some unique and romantic locations to take a walk with your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes the best dates are the simplest ones. Here are a few unique and romantic places to take a stroll with your significant other:

1. The woods: Try escaping the hustle and bustle of city life and driving to a more rural location. Take your partner on an expedition in the woods. Bring along a camera and plenty of insect repellent.

2. The harbor: If you live by an ocean, there's most likely a nearby harbor. Most harbors have a boardwalk, some of which have stands that sell ice cream and other snacks. Take your partner and admire the ships and seagulls.

3. Your neighborhood: Though this seems less than exciting, chances are you haven't fully explored your own neighborhood. Take a left turn where you normally take a right, and discover the rest of your environment.
