1. Focus on the moment: Your kids will likely remember the moment you tell them about the divorce for their entire lives. Make sure you're sitting down as a family, with all your kids and your partner, when having this conversation. Think about where you're having this conversation and if it would be comfortable for your children.

2. Listen to your children: It's impossible to know how your child will react to this news. 3. Be united with your partner: While your divorce is hard on you, you need to be mature around your children. When announcing your separation, do not blame your partner. In celebrity break-up news, Jordana and Andrew have separated, but are co-parenting their kids as a team. What are some tips for co-parenting successfully?

Cupid’s Advice:

Co-parenting isn’t anyone’s ideal situation, but it’s a lot of people’s reality. It can be hard to maneuver the best way to co-parent with your ex. Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Always communicate: It can be difficult to keep talking to your ex after you break-up, but if you have children together it’s so important to keep communicating. You are both still parents whether you’re together or not, and that means you still need to make decisions together pertaining to your kids. Keep your ex informed, and they should do the same with you.

2. Have a plan: Once you and your partner break up, you need to create a plan when it comes to the kids. Sit down with your ex and figure out who the kids are going to live with, when the kids are going to visit the other parent, who's going to have the kids on which holidays, who's going to take the kids to school and all of the other little details. Agree on the details, and stick to them for consistency in your kids' lives.

3. Try not to involve to kids: You and your ex broke up for a reason. Whatever that reason may be, try not involve your kids in your adult business. Don't talk negatively about your ex to your children, because that's their parent and you wouldn't want that done to you. Try to portray you ex in the best light possible in front of your kids.

'Dallas' Star Jordana Brewster Welcomes a Son Via Surrogate

By Kristyn Schwiep

Fast & Furious 6 star Jordana Brewster and husband Andrew Form

recently welcomed a baby boy. According to People, the couple had their son Julian via a surrogate. And they're not done yet: They hope to add another child to their family someday. "I definitely want to have kids. I want two. I grew up with a sister, but I know Andrew would love boys. I'll take what I can get," the new mom said earlier this year.

What are some advantages of using a surrogate to have a child?

Cupid's Advice:

Using a surrogate to have a child is a great option for couples who want to have a baby but aren't able or ready to go through a pregnancy on their own. So what are some of the advantages of surrogacy? Here's what Cupid thinks:

1. You won't have to change your lifestyle: Does your career require that you be in tip-top shape? Or maybe you want to continue your fast-paced schedule until the baby arrives. Using a surrogate gives you another option besides adoption if you and your partner are having trouble getting pregnant or simply don't want to slow down quite yet.

2. You can still have a biological child: If you are having trouble conceiving naturally, using a surrogate allows you to be genetically-related to your child. It's a great alternative to adoption.

3. It allows same-gender couples to have a child: If you are in a same-gender relationship and are ready to have a baby with your partner, this is a great option for you to expand your family.
