Relationship Advice: How to Make This Valentine's Day Special for Your Loved One

By Amy Osmond Cook for Divorce Support Center

In 1653, a Mughal emperor shared with the world a token of his tragic yet enduring love for his favorite wife Muntaz Mahal, who died during childbirth. Today, the emperor and his wife have all but blended into the annals of ancient history, but the symbol of his love remains as the gleaming white marble 42-acre structure known as the Taj Mahal. While most public expressions of affection don't end up being a timeless wonder, many of today's celebrities make their mark in different and extravagant ways. As a relationship expert, I wanted to give you some unique ideas to celebrate Valentine's Day. Here's some relationship advice on how to say "I love you" to the special person in your life, like these celebrity couples.

Relationship Advice: Making Valentine's Day Special Like The

Hollywood Stars

1. Share a little bit of nature. I'm not talking about cut flowers or baskets of posies. With a little bit of creativity, you can find a bit of nature that symbolizes the unique relationship and love you share. For example, Angelina Jolie purchased an olive tree to give to her husband, Brad Pitt. Angie may have spent $18,500 on this olive tree, but you can find something just as special but much more affordable. Aloe Vera plants, palms, fruit trees, and flowering plants are excellent alternatives to cut flowers. Also, some companies manufacture innovative bouquets made out of alternative materials that last forever and offer unique scents. Ecoflower.com designs arrangements using environmentally friendly and recycled materials like wood, paper, recycled jewelry among other things, and they will provide any scent you like such as raspberry, musk or lemon.

Related Link: Celebrity Couples and Their Most Extravagant Valentine's Day Gifts

2. Share a wardrobe indulgence. For Jessica Simpson, that meant getting a $15,000 Birkin bag from her husband, Eric Johnson. For the rest of us, receiving a smart jacket, a silk scarf, a sparkling bracelet, or snazzy boots can generate the same feeling of confidence at one-third of the price. I recall a young newlywed presented his wife with a necklace made of aquamarine. It wasn't the most valuable of gems, but the color reminded him of his wife's eyes.

3. Share an experience. Angelina Jolie bought Brad Pitt flying lessons. Of course, she threw in the helicopter for good measure. Beyonce found a million-dollar token to share with husband, Jay-Z, when she presented him with a Grand Sport, reportedly one of the top performing and most expensive cars on the market. For you, a shared experience may be a hike to a cherished location, or a picnic in a secluded spot. Most people will tell you the things are nice, but sometimes it's the thought behind the gift that counts the most. A friend who lived by an Olympic training site bought her husband a ride on the bobsled track used in the 2002 Winter Olympics. It was an experience he will never forget.

With Valentine's Day approaching, it seems the extravagant gifts is what makes the news. The relationship advice to remember is that Valentine's Day doesn't have an audience nor does it need a giant price tag. It's an opportunity for you to share a moment, a knowing exchange, a personal connection that is meaningful for the two people that matter the most—you and your loved one.

Famous Couple Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt Are House Hunting in London

By Mackenzie Scibetta

The Jolie-Pitt clan may no longer be walking the concrete streets of Los Angeles, but rather the cobblestone roads of London. As reported by UsMagazine.com, the married celebrity

couple of Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt recently toured a $39 million Westminster mansion. Although this latest celebrity news hints at the family relocating, the duo are reportedly hesitant about making such a huge investment. Specifically, Jolie doesn't want to rush into anything that could potentially halt her directing aspirations. The famous couple have been spending an increased amount of time in London because Jolie wants to "slowly immerse herself in E.U. politics."

This famous couple is selecting a new home together. What are some ways to compromise on a big purchase?

Cupid's Advice:

If you and your loved one are thinking about spending big, then it is essential you both agree on this decision. Make sure you both put the bigger picture of each other's happiness above this material good. Cupid has some key factors to remember when you're splurging big:

1. Plan a way to fit it into your budget: Arguing about money is one of the quickest ways to strain a relationship, so make sure you're realistic about what purchases you want to make. Set financial goals so you can both reach that dream boat you've always wanted. The key is figuring out ahead of time where you and your partner can cut back.

2. Decide if the purchase is necessary: Buying a new house for a growing family is certainly justifiable, but if you and your partner are dropping cash on outlandish items then that can lead to an array of problems. Only make big purchases that make sense with the life you are living. Spending money is addicting so make sure you and your loved one don't end up in over your heads.

3. Communicate: Most problems in life can be solved with a simple conversation and this situation is no different. Assure yourself and your lover that you both are 100% on board with this purchase. If your partner is hesitant then ask them can be done differently to make it right.

Famous Couple Brad Pitt & Angelina Jolie: When is it Time to Seek Help?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Famous couple Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie's celebrity marriage has been reinvigorated by couples' counseling. Although things are on the mend now, there was trouble in paradise less than a year after they tied the knot. Not only did Brad see ex Jennifer Aniston alone, but he also didn't accompany Angelina to the Critics' Choice Awards in January. After months of fighting, they decided to seek the help of a therapist.

Now they plan to always keep counseling in their lives, because they say it has transformed their marriage and helped them fall in love with each other again. And they are not alone.

Cameron Diaz and Benji Madden have enlisted some outside support after just five months of marriage, as they work to put a strong foundation beneath them. This proves that it is never too early to get help.

The secret to having a lasting relationship and love life is to not let the anger and resentment build up to the point where it drives you apart. A lot of people don't realize that a lasting union is full of angry and questioning feelings which go hand in hand with the adoring ones, not unlike a seesaw. I call them "love you, mean it" and "hate you, mean it" moments, which I talk about in my book What About Me? Stop Selfishness From Ruining Your Relationship.

It is natural to shift in and out of these emotions. The challenge is to make sure the positive ones always balance the negative ones so that they don't consume you. The goal is always to continue to or to get back to loving and feeling connected to your partner. What happens, though, when that becomes more and more difficult to do, and you aren't able to get past the anger anymore? How do you know when it is time to bring in a trained professional to help you sort out the issues?

Even in today's sophisticated age, people are often reluctant to air their marital problems with an outsider, especially when it comes to sexual troubles. There are many reasons for this which include feeling embarrassed, the fear that you think something is really wrong with you or your partner, the concern that you will be told there is something wrong with your relationship that is unfixable, or maybe you do want to go but your partner doesn't. There are also those people who think that because the idea of divorce hasn't come up things can't be that bad, so you don't really need help.

It is terrific that Brad and Angelina realize and appreciate that they have a big relationship, sometimes even bigger than the two of them, and they were able to seek assistance from a counselor who can help them deal with their issues. The same is true for Cameron and Benji. You certainly don't have to be a celebrity to have issues that can weigh down your relationship and start to interfere with the love you share, but they are good examples to follow. If you are resisting therapy, try to shift your way of thinking. Know that there isn't anything wrong with you or your partner, but there is something in your connection that warrants finding help and relief. Allow your fears to propel you forward instead of holding you back. Your seeking help is not a sign of weakness in any way, but rather a measure of strength, courage, and commitment to your relationship. It proves that you care enough to not give up and find what it takes to make things better.

Keep in mind that making a relationship successful is work. If you don't do that work now, you will have to do it later either by taking your marriage apart or learning to live with unhappiness. Why not spend that energy working to find a way to stay together and live happily? A therapist can help a couple learn to communicate and identify the problem areas in their relationship, so that they can learn how to compromise and put the pieces back together. Brad and Angelina seem to be doing just that. They appear strong and are a positive testimony to the value of knowing when to get help and getting it. Hopefully the same will be true for Cameron and Benji.
