Cupid's Advice:

Going through a break-up can have a serious effect on both your mental and physical health, making self-care super important. If you're looking for ways to be kind to your body amid a break-up, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Stay active: One way to take care of your body when going through a break-up is to stay active. Getting up and keeping your body moving will not only keep you healthy, but it is also a great way to de-stress and keep your mind busy. Staying in shape is also a great way to keep your body health and stay confident in yourself, even after a tough break-up.

2. Be kind to your mind: Another way to be good to your body during a break-up, is to also show kindness to your mind. Practicing time for mindfulness, showing yourself extra self-compassion and self-love, and even getting a better night's rest will help you to be more relaxed and make your body feel good. Meditation is a great tactic to practice, especially if you're still thinking about your break-up, mediation will keep both your mind and body peaceful.

3. Treat yourself: While it is definitely important to stay active and fit, it's also a great idea to show yourself some love. Treating yourself, whether it is a bubble bath, a face mask, or eating your favorite snacks can help remind you of your favorite things and keep your body feeling cared for and fulfilled. Try to do things that will stop you from thinking about your ex, and instead allow you to focus on what you want and what will make your body happy.

3. Focus on other things: The best way to stop yourself from getting caught up in the drama of your split is to take yourself away from any tempting situations. Instead of thinking about or talking to your ex, try focusing on things in your life that you love or that bring you joy. This can help distract your mind and help you achieve peace instead of constantly being upset over the break-up.

In celebrity break-up news, there may not be more to the break-up story between Ant and Christina after all. What are some benefits to keeping the details of your break-up private?

Cupid's Advice:

Keeping your break-up private can be beneficial in quite a few ways. If you're wondering what some of the benefits of keeping the details of your break-up private are, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. It shows respect for each other: If you choose to keep the details of your break-up private, it shows that you still want to be respectful person toward your ex. Instead of airing their dirty laundry and telling everyone exactly what happened, it is very considerate to respect the privacy of your ex and keep the details of the split between the two of you.

2. It prevents others from casting judgment: If you are willing to tell others all the intimate details of your break-up, you also give them the power to comment or judge your choice to break-up. If you are not willing to listen to someone else's opinion or judgements on you and your ex's choice to end things, it may be best to refrain from giving all of the details out freely.

3. It stops further harm from being done: If you continue to talk about your break-up with others or on social media, you run the risk of making the break-up even worse. Keeping things private helps to keep the drama to a minimum and moving on in a mature way rather than gossiping about or dwelling on the break-up. It can also prevent further arguments and blow-ups between you and your ex.
