No comments from the stars have been made addressing why they split.

It sounds like Lourd's family could be sad over this celebrity break-up. How can you share the news to your family about your recent break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Revealing an update about your current love life to your family can be sometime be uncomfortable, especially when it's a break-up. Here are some tips on how to talk about your recent break-up to your family:

1. Be honest without oversharing: Let them know your side of the story without sugar coating any details. It's always good to be honest with your family because it will make them understand what you are going through! You are allowed to leave some minor details out, because some quirks in your relationship should be between you and your ex.

2. Advise your family on how to respond: Tell them how you would like them to act during this time. Their first reaction might be to be spiteful towards an ex. Advise them to be silent on the issue or optimistic about your future love life. This will set the overall tone on how they will respond to your break-up!

3. Ask them not to bring up past memories: Your family may have loved or hated your ex, but let them know right now is not the best time to recall past memories of the relationship. You probably have been overthinking your break-up as is, so having a family member put in their two cents doesn't help the situation. Ask them to not bring up your ex until you are ready to talk about old memories.
