This celebrity love may have been fizzling all along. How do you know if your partner is in your relationship for the right reasons?

Cupid's Advice:

Problems arise in many relationships as it did for this famous couple. One person may discover that the other was in the relationship for money, loneliness, or a number of other reasons. To avoid this issue, Cupid has some advice for how you can tell if your partner is in your relationship for the right reasons:

1. Money doesn't phase them: Whether you're dealing with financial issues or have some extra money in the bank, their attitude toward you doesn't change along with your finances. A person who is in your relationship for love won't care about how much money you make.

2. They show you they love you: Words don't mean much without strong action to back them up. So if your partner says that they love you all the time but their actions don't match, their words may not be very true. Look for the partner that says and shows that they love you, whether it's cooking your favorite meal after a hard day or surprising you with a thoughtful visit at your job.

3. There are no secrets: Honestly is the best policy in life and relationships. If you find that your significant other is the secretive type – i.e. acting defensive if you ask him questions about certain things, he may not be the right one for you. Confront your partner about their dishonesty.

Find Out Why Bobbi Kristina Skipped Dad Bobby Brown's Wedding

Bobby Brown and Alicia Etheridge celebrated their nuptials on June 18 in Hawaii and surrounded by friends and family, including Brown's three eldest children. However, Brown's only child with the late Whitney Houston, Bobbi Kristina, did not show up. Bobbi Kristina's refusal to attend the wedding made the occasion a little less joyous. "Bobby Brown was desperate for her to go to his recent wedding, but she would not return his calls," a source tells UsMagazine.com. Brown's troubled relationship with Houston that ended in their 2007 divorce made for a rocky relationship between him and his daughter, and his marriage to Etheridge has not helped matters. "She told them she was not going because she did not like Alicia, and that she was [busy] filming her reality show with [aunt] Pat Houston in New York," an insider shares. Hopefully their relationship will have a happy ending, just as Brown's love life did.

How do you involve your children in a second marriage?

Cupid's Advice:

A second marriage can be bittersweet. It's a new love for you, but a potential heartache for your children. Here are some ways to ease the strain between you and your children if you're planning on marrying again:

1. Spend time with your kids and your fiancé together: You can't force your children to like anyone, but you can make sure they get to know the person who will soon be your partner. Whenever your children are with you, have your fiancé around. This ensures that your children get a chance to spend time and connect with both of you. When the wedding comes, it won't be a stranger kissing their parent.

2. Make sure they have a major role in the nuptials: Sitting on the benches during your wedding can make your children feel like they're taking a backseat position in your life. The last thing you want to do is make your new marriage seem distant and unfamiliar to your kids, so involve them in the ceremony. Make your daughter the flower girl and your son the best man, letting them feel like they are a part of your new marriage and life.

3. Involve your children in the wedding plans: Children are creative, and even your older kids will want a say in your wedding plans. The best way to get your kids to be excited for your second marriage is to let them decorate. From the color scheme to the type of flowers, little decisions can allow your kids to feel comfortable with the wedding and bond with your new partner.

What are some cases where someone is “off limits” to date?

Cupid’s Advice:

In society, there are many cases where someone is off limits to date. Here are some examples of people in your life who you may want to keep it strictly platonic with:

1. Your friend’s ex: Even if your friend claims to be okay with it, dating a friend’s ex can never end well. After all, you probably wouldn’t want any of your friends dating one of your exes no matter how long ago you broke up.

2. A boss or teacher: Having an intimate relationship with an authority figure is inappropriate in so many ways. If you start to have feeling for someone such as a boss or teacher, wait until you no longer work under them to act on your feelings.

3. Someone who’s taken: Never get involved with someone who you know is already committed to someone else. If someone is willing to cheat on their significant other to be with you, then they don’t respect you or their current partner.

How do you help your children cope with a parent's death?

Cupid's Advice:

Though a loved one's death is hard on everyone, the situation is especially tough for a child. Here are a few ways to help your children cope with a parent's death:

1. Explain death: Understanding death is difficult at a young age. If your children are very young, you must find a way to explain it in terms they will understand. This is also a time to share some of your religious beliefs with your child.

2. Mourn the loss: Don't try to put up a strong front for your children. Grief is more easily overcome when you are able to openly talk about it. Start the healing process by mourning with your children.

3. Ask for help: Don't be afraid to ask for outside help. If coping with your loss while supporting your children is too big of a burden, hire a counselor. Professional help may enable progress when you are unable.
