By Maggie Manfredi

In the light of familial drama this family shows only love! According to UsMagazine.com, Kris Jenner says she and celebrity ex Bruce Jenner were perfect for each other. The upcoming Keeping Up With the Kardashians special "About Bruce" has been airing clips for the two episode release. The celebrity "momager" stated in one of the previews, "We had so much in common that it was kind of a match made in heaven. We went to races. We played golf. We went snow skiing. I mean, there wasn't anything we didn't do, and we could not keep our hands off each other." Bruce Jenner is in the midst of his very public gender transition, with what appears to be full support from his family.

These celebrity exes have nothing but kind words for one another. How do you keep things amicable with your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Break up and make up! Moving on from an ex doesn't necessarily mean you never see or hear from them again, it is possible to eventually become friends:

1. Exit gracefully: When the break up comes, make sure that you go out as peacefully as possible. Creating extra drama or arguments will only make the post break up more stressful. The aftermath can be a time of coexistence and growth, be sure that you are not the one to hinder that.

2. Work together: Counseling can do nothing but help. Be a team even if things are not working. You can come to a resolution even if it means a separation, together. Seeking outside help is a good thing, but make sure to stick to professionals and keep the conversation between you and your ex open and honest.

3. Family first: If there are children involved continue to push the primary rule, they come first. Put your children and their care and well being above everything else. If you and your ex can agree on this you will be able to continue to be partners even if you are not in a relationship.

Transgender Facial Surgeon Discusses Celebrity News Surrounding Bruce Jenner

By Katie Gray

Since Bruce Jenner's celebrity interview with Diane Sawyer aired on Friday, April 24, the world has been Keeping Up with Bruce.

Jenner's gender transition and bombshell interview has been making celebrity news since it aired. During his conversation he stated that he has been slowly transitioning since the early '80s but never felt completely comfortable to go through with it until now.

At 65-years-old the star of Keeping Up with the Kardashians says he is now "relieved and happy about moving forward and going public about his transition." Jenner also said that he is on a mission to help others in the transgender community who are facing discrimination. In our recent celebrity interview with Dr. Jeffrey Spiegel, a world renowned facial plastic surgeon specializing in facial feminization surgery, we were able to gather some great insight.

Transgender Facial Surgeon Comments on Bruce Jenner's Celebrity News

Facial Feminization Surgery (FFS) is defined as a group of surgical procedures that alter the face to increase its femininity. In addition to FFS, Dr. Spiegel specializes in advanced facial aesthetics for both male and female patients. His patients come to him from around the world in order to complete the final, and most important step in the process. "A lot of people assume that the most important part would be the sexual reassignment surgery or the genital reassignment surgery," explains Dr. Spiegel. "But a transgender woman knows she's a woman. The problem is, that people she meets don't see her that way. I help a person to present to the outside world exactly the way that they feel on the inside," he says.

When talking about Jenner's transgender decision the physician isn't surprised. "Bruce Jenner's story is very consistent with others, especially because transgender men and women know their identity at a very early age." He adds, "While trying to come to grips with these feelings, often those who are transgender will try to pursue something that is extremely manly or extremely macho: becoming a police officer, a firefighter, joining the military."

Related Link: Kim Kardashian Reacts to Latest Celebrity News of Bruce Jenner's Transition

Transgender men and women often struggle during their lifetimes with how they really feel inside, which is why the age in which a person transitions tends to vary. This could explain why Bruce Jenner is coming forward now in his sixties and addressing this matter. Dr. Spiegel points out that Jenner grew up in an age without the Internet and that could be a good reason why he didn't decide to do anything until now. "As a young child feeling like a woman, there weren't many resources for him to figure out what was going on. Therefore, there was probably a lot of confusion when he was a child due to the fact that he felt like a woman on the inside while still retaining the outward appearance of a man."

Dr. Spiegel also advises that there are a few things that Jenner must consider before taking the next step in his journey. "Bruce needs to decide what choice he's going to make. He needs to decide how he wants to live. If he wants to live as Bruce Jenner, someone people see as a man, but one in which he feels like a woman, or if he wants to transition and live full time as a woman," explains Dr. Spiegel. If he wants to fully transition, there are a few surgeries that he would need to undergo over a period of time.

Celebrity Interview with Dr. Jeff Spiegel Reveals Family Expectations

Big life events such as the gender transition of a family member can also be difficult for loved ones to handle initially. Dr. Spiegel says, "In general there is a sense of disbelief followed by examination and they look for clues of the behavior of the person that may have manifested over the years." When it comes to the family, Spiegel says family members actually go through a mourning of their loved one. He explains, "If you have a brother who becomes a sister, you lose your brother; your brother goes away. [But] you gain a sister. It's the same person. It's a happier person in many ways and eventually they become a better person because they become whole."

Another topic that people are unsure about is the sexual preference of a transgender person. "A person's sexual preferences and who they are sexually attracted to, doesn't really seem to be predictable when a person transitions. As with any other woman, some transgender women are heterosexual, some are homosexual, some are bisexual," says Dr. Spiegel. There is no real connection to predict which preference an individual may have. In Jenner's case, he told Diane Sawyer in his interview that he is "asexual."

In reference to his profession Dr. Spiegel says, "The most rewarding part of being a plastic surgeon is making people feel whole." He enjoys helping people outwardly look the way that they feel on the inside. "They feel comfortable. It gives them self-esteem, it gives them pride, confidence and improves [their] health."

In terms of what Bruce's Jenner's public announcement means for the future of the transgender community he believes that this will create a greater awareness of the transgender community and that people who face this same challenge will look to Jenner as a role model. "I think Bruce Jenner has a lot of responsibility to the transgender community now and in the future, particularly those who are undergoing a transition process." He concludes, "They will watch how Bruce Jenner handles this and will potentially model their own behavior because of his actions."

Bruce Jenner's Ex-Celebrity Wife Reacts to ABC Special

By Jessica DeRubbo

Bruce Jenner left it all on the table in the recent ABC special where he confirmed the truth about his gender identity. In the highly anticipated 20/20 episode with Diane Sawyer, the Olympic athlete discussed his transition from male to female. According to UsMagazine.com, his ex-celebrity wife, Chrystie Crownover, was by his side during the airing of the special. Crownover spoke to Good Morning America on April 27th about her thoughts on his transition, saying, "It was just kind of surreal. It was great because the family was together and that's what I'm most proud of." Jenner told Sawyer that Crownover was the first to know about his gender identity issues. "Understandably, I was speechless. I didn't really know what to say. I was really pleased that he shared that intimacy with me, that he trusted me with his deepest darkest secret."

Bruce Jenner kept his gender identity a secret from celebrity ex-wife Chrystie Crownover for quite some time. What are some reasons to keep a secret from your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes keeping a secret is good in a relationship and love, while other times it can destroy a good thing. Cupid has some reasons to keep a secret from your partner:

1. It would unnecessarily hurt them: If by keeping a secret, you're avoiding hurting your partner, sometimes it's okay to do so ... of course depending on what that secret is. For instance, if your partner asks if she looks heavy in a white pair of skinny jeans, it's probably in your best interest to avoid affirming the concern. This type of secret doesn't hurt your partner; whereas telling her may hurt her feelings.

2. It has nothing to do with them: If you have a secret that does not affect your partner, then you may want to simply keep it. Perhaps a secret pertaining to your family comes out; it's not your responsibility to enlighten your partner unless you want to do so.

3. It's someone else's secret: If a friend tells you something in confidence, you're not obligated to tell your partner. In fact, it's probably best not to do so, as things like that easily spread. If the secret doesn't affect them and is someone else's secret to tell, don't feel bad about keeping your partner in the dark.

By Katie Gray

It's the most wonderful time of the year! On December 24th, former Olympian Bruce Jenner joined his daughters Kylie and Kendall at his ex-wife Kris Jenner's annual Christmas Eve party. The Jenner/Kardashian clan partied the night away, and they even had festive photobooth fun. According to UsMagazine.com, Kris Jenner said of their divorce, "You just have to be grown-ups. And say, 'We're better apart than we are together.' At the same time, we have children together, and we have memories and holidays and traditions. I don't want to give that up. I don't want him to take that away from me, and I don't want to take that away from him."

What are some ways to remain amicable with your ex around the holidays?

Cupid's Advice:

Remaining civil with an ex is always a challenge, but it becomes even more important when you have kids and are set on making the holidays a happy time. Cupid has some tips:

1. Negotiate: It's extremely important to remain amicable with your ex around the holidays if there are children involved. It's a special time for family to come together, and even if you're separated, you are still connected through your family. This means it's a good idea to learn how to enjoy the company of one another during holiday celebrations. You don't have to spend a ton of time with your ex, but you should at least tolerate being around them for the sake of everyone else involved. Plus, it's not good to be bitter and hold onto negativity. You will be much happier when you forgive and are at peace.

2. Set an example: Traditions are a crucial part of the festivities this time of the year. Whether it's making a gingerbread house, seeing the lights, attending midnight mass, decorating the Christmas tree, or visiting Santa, you should keep these traditions alive! Your kids want to be surrounded by you both, so don't make them choose and don't suffer by being alone. Put your differences aside.

3. Just smile: Don't worry; be happy. No matter how you may be feeling, push through it and stay strong for your family. Put on a happy face because your kids and family want to see you that way. It will not only make them feel better, but it will help you as well. This is the time of year when we are thankful for our blessings and are grateful for the relationships we have with loved ones. Cupid's Advice:

A divorce is never easy to deal with, but making it easier on your kids should always be the goal. Cupid has some tips:

1. Feelings: Someone's feelings are always going to get hurt in this situation. However, if you do not sway your kids to thinking one way or the other about your partner, they will be able to form their own opinion with less emotional connections involved.

Why Do You Want to Be Friends With Your Ex?

By Lori Zaslow and Jennifer Zucher, founders of Project Soulmate

While it is possible to be friends with your ex, it's very hard and circumstantial. Everyone's relationship is different, but we believe that the general rule of thumb is to cut all ties unless there are third parties involved.

If you have kids together, it's mandatory to maintain a friendly relationship. Putting aside the differences that exist between you and your ex-partner is vital for the wellbeing of your family. A divorce means that children must make so many adjustments, but they still need both of their parents in their lives in consistent ways.

Related Link: Bruce and Kris Jenner Announce Their Separation

Turning to Hollywood for inspiration, Kris and Bruce Jenner are making a good business decision as well as a smart choice for their kids by choosing to still film their show despite their separation. There is nothing worse than divorce for a family, so why make it any harder than it has to be? By choosing to put aside their personal differences for the sake of their empire, they're keeping the Kardashian-Jenner crew connected and together.

Similarly, Miranda Kerr and Orlando Bloom were recently spotted kissing only a day after they announced their split. They appear to be on great terms despite their separation, which will certainly help their young son Flynn cope with the changes in his life.

Now, let's look at relationships without children involved. It'll be especially difficult to maintain a friendship with your ex if one or both of you still have lingering feelings. However, if both of you are happy in other relationships and enough time has passed, then the possibility does exist. Even then, we still think the relationship should be kept “minimally friendly” – no need to try to be best friends.

If you're in one of the above situations, the real questions to ask yourself are: Why do you want to be friends with your ex? What makes his or her friendship so important to you? And does your ex feel the same way? Are you secretly hoping that sparks will fly again? Figuring out the answers to these questions will help you determine what path to take.

Remember: It may be possible to be friends with your ex, but that doesn't necessarily mean it's healthy to do so.

Facing a Divorce? Don't Take the Adversarial Approach

By Lisa LaBelle for Hope After Divorce

In any divorce situation, the ideal way to settle disputes is by finding solutions together. Keeping a semi-friendly, amicable relationship with your soon-to-be ex-partner is definitely the wiser choice. With that being said, both spouses must be willing to work together on their divorce settlement; otherwise, the adversarial approach will play out. Unfortunately, much of the advice given in our society today concerning divorce is oppositional. Dissolving a marriage by force and “winning” is far more common than showing mutual respect and making decisions as a team.

Related Link: Must We Remain Friends With Our Ex-Husband?

What Will You Choose?

If rebuilding your marriage is not an option, will you choose to work out your divorce settlement peacefully, or will you choose to take the adversarial approach? Bruce and Kris Jenner, who recently announced their separation, are a good example of a celebrity couple facing this question. The estimated $125 million net worth of the Kardashian empire is serious business, and they have NO PRENUP! California is a community property state, meaning they’ll have to split that net worth 50-50. Hopefully, neither of them will choose to take the adversarial, “fight to win” approach if they indeed divorce. In a perfect world, the best solution for this couple is to rebuild their marriage. However, if they do choose to divorce, working through their financial settlement respectfully will be in their overall best interest.

When Divorce Is Unavoidable

When divorce is unavoidable, issues to be aware of are: temporary support, custody and visitation (if you have children), financial worth and combined income, property division, spousal support, child support, retirement, assets, debts, insurance, and everything acquired as a married couple. Be transparent; otherwise, you'll need to hire a forensic accountant, which will further drain your financial reservoir. Costly attorney fees take a financial toll on divorcing couples if they take the adversarial approach. Staying on friendly terms with a peaceful exit strategy is always the best choice.

Taking the Adversarial Approach

Choosing to take the adversarial approach puts an emphasis on "winning the fight." Our society has taught us to take sides. If you and your spouse choose to battle as a way of protecting yourselves, you end up spending negative energy and money fighting for survival instead of finding solutions. No one wins! Actually, the only ones who win are your attorneys and legal and financial teams. Years down the road, you will most likely find that this approach wasn't worth it financially, emotionally, physically, or mentally.

Related Link: Maintaining a Positive Image While Going Through Divorce

When you are facing divorce, do your part to be a peacemaker. If your partner is leaning towards being adversarial, encourage him or her to not go there. It's up to you both to take the high road, which will allow you to move on and rebuild your lives in a much healthier, more positive manner. Someday, you will thank each other and so will your family!

What are some ways to help each other through heartbreak?

Cupid's Advice:

Even though you two may be on the outs, true love can get through everything. When a crisis is at hand, you both need to connect and work through it together. How can you do so? Cupid has some suggestions:

1. Listen to each other: You have to be a shoulder to cry on and he should be the same for you. When you listen and show you care, you're giving your partner the opportunity to connect with you on a deeper level – something you both might not have done in a while.

2. Open your heart: Share your feelings on the subject, too. This makes your boo see that it affects you too. It's something that you're mutually going through. Once he realizes that, the connection will only deepen and it'll be easier to get through what's going on between the both of you.

3. Make sure you're in it together: Your man may be moody or upset and it's possible that he could get a little snippy. Don't take this personally. Know that this is only because he's hurting and because he's stressed over the whole issue. Just remain calm, strong, and let him know that you're there for him.

What are some ways to work on your troubled marriage?

Cupid's Advice:

Keeping a marriage healthy can be tough after 20+ years of marriage. So what are some ways you can work on a troubled marriage? Cupid has some advice:

- 1. Communicate: You and your partner need to sit down and communicate your feelings and emotions. Try making a list for each other of what you think is wrong with your marriage and ideas for your two to improve on your relationship. Talking about your feelings can be difficult, but talking through your problems needs to be done so you are aware of what is going on.
- 2. Listen: Communicating may seem like the hardest part of fixing a troubled marriage, but listening is even tougher. Make sure that you listen to what each other are saying. If you don't listen, you won't get anything accomplished.
- 3. Plan: Make a plan with your partner once you've communicated and listened to each other. Making a plan will provide a path so that you can sort out what was wrong in the first place and help you work on the problem areas.

Kendall Jenner Opens Up About Parents' Divorce Rumors

By Kerri Sheehan

According to UsMagazine.com, the Kardashian-Jenner clan will not be going through a divorce any time soon. Kendall Jenner, the 17-year-old daughter of Kris and Bruce Jenner, dismissed claims that her parents are heading to splitsville. "It's just stupid; that's not true," said Kendall when asked about reports that said otherwise.

How do you keep gossip from affecting your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Rumors have a tendency to tear even the strongest lovers apart. Cupid has some advice about how to keep gossip from affecting your relationship:

1. Find the source: Going to the source of the problem will often help you resolve the issue at hand. Figure out why the rumor developed in the first place as this will help you decipher if it means more than you think. Relationships can be made or broken with theses lies.

2. Be confident: The rumor at hand is about your life, so you're the only one who knows the whole truth. If you and your lover remain confident about the situation and don't act defeated then those around you are more likely to believe the lies being spread.

3. Stick by those who support you: Whoever started the gossip is probably looking to get a rise out of you or else tear you down. Don't let them! Stay close to your support system and people who you know you can trust. Don't let gossip get between you and your partner.

Cupid's Advice:

A new and important step in your relationship is meeting each other's family. Family has a lot to do with who a person is and how they grew up. So how do you prepare for such a step? Cupid has some advice:

- 1. Communicate with the family beforehand: You want to have built some sort of relationship with at least one of the family members beforehand, to get a feel for how they are. It'll relieve some of the stress before you meet them all.
- 2. Get background info: Ask your partner about their family. You don't want to be completely clueless about the entire family until you meet them. Plus, they'll probably be impressed that you know so much about them already.
- 3. Invite them over: If you're the host, you have time to give a good first impression. The fact that you invited them all over to begin with is already a good first step.

How much should you trust your parents to help you choose a mate?

Cupid's Advice:

Some people are close with their families while others aren't, but your parents may have better instincts than you think about your potential partners, and their opinion can prove quite useful. Cupid has some tips to help you sort through your emotions verses your parents':

1. Honesty: When it comes down to it, your parents want what they believe is best for you. They may not always be right, but they're not going to shy away from telling you their honest thoughts about your partner or fiance.

2. Knowledge: Although we would all like to believe that there's no way our parents have ever been in our situation or felt the way we have, most likely they've been there and done that. Listen to what they have to tell you about their own experience, and you might get some very helpful advice.

3. Opinion or fact: Only you and your partner truly know your relationship, because you experience it 24/7. Sometimes parents will make assumptions or share biased opinions, so don't let their lack of knowledge about you and your partner get in the way of something great!
