In celebrity baby news, Sadie Robertson and husband Christian Huff are expecting their first child together. What are some ways to announce your pregnancy to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

While posting pictures of your pregnancy announcement on social media may be a great way of informing people you don't speak with everyday, you may be looking for a more intimate way to tell those closer to you. If you are looking for some ways to announce this milestone to your close friends and family, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Baby clothes: One way to announce your pregnancy to your family, and to prepare for the arrival of your baby, is to start picking up baby clothes. Whether you are simply throwing a few baby outfits in your cart while you are out shopping with someone, or deliberately giving your parents a pair of baby shoes to keep at their house, people will catch on quickly and start asking you for all the details.

Celebrity News: 'Pump Rules' Tom Sandoval & Ariana Madix Weren't Invited to Co-Stars' Gender Reveal Parties

By Nicole Maher

In the latest celebrity news, Vanderpump Rules stars Tom Sandoval and Ariana Madix revealed they weren't invited to any of their co-stars' gender reveal parties. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity couple didn't make the guest list for at least three gender reveal parties hosted by their co-stars. However, Sandoval and Madix were not the only couples excluded from these gatherings, as cast member Scheana Shay and her boyfriend Brock Davies also weren't invited to one of the parties.

In celebrity news, the drama is heating up off-screen for current and former Vanderpump Rules stars. How do you decide who to invite to important events in your life?

Cupid's Advice:

Social gathering restrictions or not, it can be hard to narrow down the guest list for important events in your life. While you may not be looking to hurt anyone's feelings, leaving someone off the guest list can cause drama. If you are looking for ways to decide who to invite to important events, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Establish a limit: The first step in planning a gathering is to determine how many people you want to invite. If the event you are hosting is at a venue, this number may already be established for you. Don't let the pressure of feeling the need to invite everyone overpower how many people you actually want in attendance.

2. Make a priority list: After establishing a number of people, you need to decide who exactly you want to invite by creating a priority list. If the event involves more than one person, such as a gender reveal or wedding, make sure each host has a priority list of about the same length.

3. Acknowledge others after: In the world of social media, it's impossible to have a party without people who weren't invited finding out about it eventually. Rather than ignoring these people, try to make them feel included in some way. By creating a post thanking all those in attendance and those who showed their support through social media, you will make everyone feel like they had a part in your event, even if they weren't there in person.

2. Switch the gender: Sometimes the gender of the child is different from that of the past family member. celebrity couple has maintained their relationship in the public eye throughout the pregnancy, although they have not yet released the baby's name.

The latest celebrity baby news is that this Bachelor couple welcomed a baby daughter. What are some ways to work on your relationship while at the same time having a young child?

Cupid's Advice:

Having children is a beautiful gift, but that does not mean being a parent with young children is easy. Add the stress of now having a young child who solely relies on their parents to your relationship and you might find yourself asking how your relationship will survive. Cupid has some advice to keep your relationship working after having kids:

1. Have adult conversations: Just because you have a child doesn't mean all of your conversations have to revert to baby talk. You still need to communicate with each other, and as much as your young child is a very important part of your lives, they cannot be the only thing you discuss. Don't cut out your conversations just because you have a child, even if time alone is limited just have your conversations in front of your child because they will likely interrupt even if you try to take a moment and step out of the room.

2. Work as a team: It is important for both parties in a relationship to remember that you both had a child, and that means sharing more than those adorable baby grins. It means that you need to share the work with each other. You both have to help with the fun parts and the bad parts like when they have a meltdown. Be a united front when your child is having a tantrum because it will only add to your stress if you are not on the same team.

3. You both deserve time out: Every parent needs an occasional break. A break from your partner and even the occasional break from your child. We all need a little me time now and again. Give each other that time out and away to just be alone and revel in their own thoughts. Even though this time alone may seem like a strange way to help work on your relationship, your partner will love you for offering them a break.

In celebrity baby news, baby makes four! What are some benefits to having two kids versus just one?

Cupid's Advice:

Having one child might seem easy, but having two means your children will have a friend for life. There are also added social benefits to having a second child. Cupid has some benefits to share that might have you thinking twice about stopping after baby number one:

1. Your children learn how to socialize and share with others:

When you have a second child, both will have to learn to get along and share with each other because they don't have much of a choice. Siblings are in each other's lives all day, every day for the first few years of their lives. This social interaction will help them when it is time to go to school and start making friends.

2. They will have a life-long friend: Siblings may fight, and they may suffer from sibling rivalry from time to time, but they will also play together and love each other. They will be each other's first friend, and friends for life.

3. You are an expert now: With baby number one you had so much to learn, and you had to learn it fast. You disinfected everything, washed your hands so often they were like sandpaper, and packed half of the household whenever you left the house. However, with baby #2 you already know what you're doing because your first child taught you to be an expert, so you know what's coming with sleepless nights, feeding, and everything else involved with having a baby.

Celebrity News: 'Bachelor' Alum Ashley Spivey Reveals She Suffered a Miscarriage

By Bonnie Griffin

In celebrity baby news, The Bachelor alum Ashley Spivey shared her celebrity pregnancy story of suffering through a miscarriage in what was a “very wanted pregnancy.” According to UsMagazine.com, Spivey learned of the pregnancy early on, but the devastating news came only two weeks later when her doctor revealed that “the embryo actually had shrunk and the doctor concluded that [she] was experiencing a miscarriage.”

In celebrity news, Ashley Spivey is dealing with the devastation of a miscarriage. What are some ways to support your partner during pregnancy difficulties?

Cupid's Advice:

Pregnancy difficulties leave broken hearts and scars for both parties in a relationship. Remember to support one another during this devastating time, without trying to find fixes that will only prolong the pain. Cupid has some advice:

1. Understand there is no quick fix: Losing a child or finding out you are unable to get pregnant is a devastating loss for anyone trying to become a parent. When someone we love is in pain, the knee-jerk reaction is to find a way to fix the problem, but there is no quick fix for a loss this painful. Like the loss of any loved one, only time will bring healing, so give yourself and your partner time to grieve and the healing will come naturally.

2. Do not jump into discussing having other children: When a mother has a miscarriage, to her she just lost a unique child, and that child is irreplaceable. It may seem like telling her that she can always have another baby offers reassurance, but it will likely only add to her pain and frustration. Instead, just support her by showing and telling her that you love her and staying by her side as long as she needs you there.

3. Be supportive and lift her back up: When a woman goes through a miscarriage or learns she is unable to get pregnant and have children, it often leads her to thoughts that she is broken. Whether she expresses this feeling out loud or not, it is common, and she needs her partner to be there for her. Hold her, love her, tell her she is not to blame and that it is not her fault.
