At the end of the day, there's nothing I can't do with God by my side, and I know I am fully capable of handling anything that is put in front of me with dignity and grace."

Some celebrity pregnancies aren't happy occasions. What are some ways to announce your unexpected pregnancy to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

If you weren't planning on getting pregnant, it can be a tough thing to break to your close friends and family. Cupid has some love advice:

1. Have an intimate conversation: Sometimes being direct is the best course of action. Plan to have an intimate conversation or series of conversations with those close to you. Make sure the mood is calm and positive before you start, and just let them have the news. Make sure you have thought things through and have a pregnancy plan in place so they know you're handling things well.

2. Choose a time not associated with another event: Don't choose your partner's birthday as the time to break the news about your unexpected pregnancy. It's important to be prepared for a wide range of reactions, so you don't want to ruin the lighthearted happiness that typically goes with a birthday celebration.

3. Buy a sentimental gift: Just because a pregnancy is unexpected doesn't mean it's not a happy occasion. Consider buying a small pair of booties or a onesie that says "Daddy" to announce the pregnancy to your partner. Showing that you're happy about the situation will let your partner know it's okay to have his own feelings about it without having to worry about yours right away.

While this celebrity baby will have a very high profile life, others are not as fortunate to be able to look online and see baby photos of themselves everywhere, or even pre-baby photos of their parents. Below are a few ways that you can document your pre-parenthood experience, even if you and your significant other aren't a celebrity couple:

1. Scrapbook: It may be "old fashioned," but having something tangible for your child to look at as they grow up can be very special. Document your time with your significant other through photos to put in a scrapbook. Take pictures of trips that you took together while pregnant, take photos of the first crib, etc.

Celebrity News: Chris Brown Brings 11-Month Old Daughter as Date to Billboard Awards

By Courtney Omernick

In latest celebrity news, it seems as though Chris Brown wasn't the only good looking celebrity at the Billboard Music Awards this past weekend. Chris brought his adorable, 11-month-old celebrity baby daughter, Royalty, along as his date. Royalty stole the show with her golden colored tutu, white fitted jacket, and her Timberland kicks, according to E! Online.

Latest celebrity news shows that Chris Brown clearly values his role as a father. What are some ways to know your partner will do the same?

Cupid's Advice:

Although this celebrity news article shows Chris Brown as a great dad, he hasn't built the best reputation for himself in the past. Even if you've been with someone for a long time, it can be hard to tell how they'll act once you bring a child into the picture. Cupid has some tips:

1. They know what you need: Do you need to be left alone? Do you need comfort? If your partner is able to sense your mood and what you need, chances are they'll be a good parent. If they can tell what you need, they'll be able to tell what your child needs.

The Real Girl's Kitchen host's rep stated, "Both mom and baby are doing great! Haylie and Matt are thrilled to finally meet their baby girl and become a family of three." The baby Haylie Duff named her baby girl Ryan, this could work for both boy babies and girls alike! Here are some advantages to giving your child a universal name:

1. Name them early: Having a gender neutral name gives you the opportunity to have the name ready, even before a baby is in the belly! It will make it tangible for you and your partner, and you will be able to speak to the baby the second you know he/she is there.

Reality Star Kim Kardashian: How Does a Marriage Survive Infertility?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Kim Kardashian recently opened up about her fertility struggles, as she and Kanye West have been trying to have another baby for several months. Kim is even seeing fertility doctors to try to diagnose the issue. However, they've had no luck so far, despite trying "as many times a day" as they can to conceive.

Infertility or struggles to have a child can strongly affect a relationship and love life like reality star Kim Kardashian's, sometimes even leading to divorce.

Rather than sex being simply about pleasure, it is now connected to the goal of getting pregnant. When that doesn't happen right away, couples find themselves feeling disappointed month after month. This can impact the desire to have sex with each other spontaneously, and as a result affect their intimacy.

It's interesting, because making the decision to have a baby feels like a solid taking control of your future, often without even thinking about how hard it might be or what obstacles could get in the way. You have made this life-changing choice, are ready to begin, and expect it to happen. But then, it doesn't happen right away. The first month comes and goes and you get your period, then the second month. As the time passes, uncertainty comes into play, leading to waves of anxiety that this thing you want so much isn't happening.

These feelings build sometimes without your even realizing, and before you know it six or more months have gone by and suddenly what at first felt like taking control of your future feels like anything but. On the contrary, you feel like it is completely out of your hands. That is one of the most distressing parts of living through infertility. You thought a few months ago that you were taking the reins, but really, you have completely handed them over. Now where all the hope and excitement once was is pressure and tension. How, then, can a couple live through this daunting experience without its taking a toll on their marriage?

The challenge is for couples to work together to strategize a plan for navigating their way through the steps, options, and choices that are available to help facilitate and achieve pregnancy. And there are many: fertility drugs, diagnostic procedures, in vitro fertilization, or choosing an egg donor, to name a few. Try to decide as a couple what each of you are willing to do both emotionally and financially to achieve your goal. After that, arrive at a timeline to determine how long you are willing to spend on each phase before moving on to the next. These decisions will bring some sense of control to what otherwise feels like a floating in space experience. In addition, it will allow you to know that if one thing doesn't work, there are still other options to turn to.

The most challenging piece of all of this is to try not to let this consume who you are as a married couple. Do your best to go on with the other parts of your life and do the things you have always liked to do together. Despite the fact that sex now has a functional side to it that it didn't have before you were trying to have a baby, you want to find other ways to keep the fun and joy alive between you. Spend time with friends you both like, schedule a dinner out, enjoy a weekend away, or plan a lazy day just the two of you full of your favorite food and activities. Make time to build in the smaller pleasures so they can be the glue that keeps you together during your difficult journey.

The most important thing is to support each other and go through this as a team, which will keep you close and connected. That appears to be what Kim and Kanye are doing. Kim is still looking towards a second pregnancy, and hopefully she and Kanye will be able to welcome a new addition to their family soon enough.

Even if you aren't a famous couple, birth announcements are fun. Name three unique ways people can announce the birth of their child.

Cupid's Advice:

Are you having a baby and can't decide how to announce the big news to family and friends? Cupid has some "out of the box" ways to announce the birth of your child:

1. Gender reveal party: In today's society, it is becoming a common pattern to have a gender reveal party when you and your partner are expecting a baby. Typically people will have a cake, and inside will be dyed either pink (girl) or blue (boy). People tend to invite family and friends over, and then during the party they cut the cake and reveal the gender. It's a fun way to announce you're pregnant and what gender you will be bringing into the world soon. Super cute!

2. Newborn photo announcements: A common practice still today is newborn photo announcements that parents mail to all of their friends and family following the birth of their infant. Get creative with the announcements. For example, put the message and newborn photo in arts and craft eggs that say with your partner when it comes to parenting?

“just hatched” or choose a funny theme on the announcement. A great way to capture this happy time is by having family photos taken now that the baby has arrived. Go have a portrait session with your favorite photographer!

Cupid's Advice:

It isn't only Hollywood couples who get in tiffs about parenting styles, almost all parents are known to do things a little bit differently than their partners. To make sure you two are on the same page when it comes to raising your little ones, here is Cupid's relationship advice about making compromises:

1. Create a list: If your partner does something in his parenting style that you don't agree with or you find ineffective, sit down with him or her and compile a list of these actions. They can do the same thing, and if you both list a similar action, it can be something you both can work on eliminating.

2. Don't make someone be the bad guy: It is very common in a couple that one will be the 'nice' parent, who lets their kids eat ice cream before dinner, while the other one is labeled the 'mean' parent, who enforces the rules and puts the kids in timeout. Rather than creating this tension, make sure to share the responsibility of who has to discipline the kids.

3. Let the little things go: You will drive yourself crazy trying to control every aspect of you and your partner's parenting style. The little things, like you saying bedtime is 8:00pm while your partner says 8:30, shouldn't cause you to stress.

Hilary Duff Says She Loves Her Post-Celebrity Baby Body

By Meranda Yslas

Having a baby changes a woman's body and it is can be difficult or even impossible to get the body you had before the pregnancy. These aren't the end of the world and Cupid can offer some self love advice on how to be comfortable in your post-baby body:

1. Say it out loud: For the most part, coming to terms with your body is something you have to accomplish in your mind. Standing in front of the mirror and saying, "I love my body" everyday for awhile just might make you believe it.

2. Talking with other moms: It can be hard for friends to try and console you about your post-pregnancy body insecurities if they haven't been through a pregnancy themselves- they don't understand the changes. 1. Respect their decision: There are some things about your partner that you can't change, either it's something as small as them snoring at night or something as big as not wanting to have kids. Either way you should respect their decision rather than forcing them to change.

2. Find a middle ground: If you and your mate both want kids, but disagree on when it should happen, try to find a compromise. If you want kids now while your beau wants to wait four years, try to agree on two years so that you both feel ready.
