The saying, "breaking up is hard to do" isn't a cliché for nothing. Things can get really tough when trying to end things with your partner, so check out some of these tips from Cupid if you've found yourself in the same spot:

1. Be honest: If you have specific reasons for breaking things off with your significant other, the least you can do is be honest with them. By Marissa Donovan

This couple is apparently never getting back together. Tyga has no bad feelings towards Kylie Jenner, but has no intentions on rekindling their past romance! According to EOnline.com, Tyga blames their relationship for giving him bad press in the media. The rapper likes to keep his relationships a little more private, while the cosmetic designer likes keeping her romances public. Although the former celebrity couple had their happy moments, it's safe to say they have both moved on.

There won't be any happy reunion for these celebrity exes! How do you know when it's best to leave a past relationship in the past?

Cupid's Advice:

Reflecting on a past relationship is something you may catch yourself doing when thinking about an ex. Here are some ways to know it's best to return to an old relationship:

1. You're already dating other people: If you are already dating or have a connection with someone else, there's no need to go back to your ex. There's plenty of other people you could be having a fresh start with! Returning to an ex will only waste your time in the long run.

2. You can remember the bad times: Like Tyga, if you can remember when things were really bad, you can imagine your life becoming bad again. If a relationship felt toxic or made you feel unhappy, a reunion has no guarantee on making things better.

3. You haven't spoken since the break-up: Sometimes break-ups can keep things silent between you and your ex. You could also be on speaking terms as well. If you have not had a full conversation with each other, then is a good way of knowing you and your ex have no desire to return to the past.

According to EOnline.com, Higgins is letting it all out when it comes to the end of his celebrity relationship on his upcoming podcast with fellow reality TV star, Ashley Iaconetti. In the first episode, Higgins claimed, "Lauren will always be one of my best friends. I learned a lot about myself; I think she learned a lot about herself. It's tough." Higgins went on to share that his heartbreak over celebrity ex Bushnell is still "very fresh" because he truly thought that, "[she] was the one." However, Higgins is also the first to acknowledge that the Hollywood relationship had real problems. "Mutually Lauren and I saw that life was getting more difficult," Higgins admitted, "I would say the joy that we felt toward our relationship at the beginning was—for some reason—slipping away." He confessed there was "no real saving or redemption to be done" and that ultimately he felt that their split was "for the best." Regardless, Higgins has hope for both of them, even if it's as individuals, instead of a celebrity couple and stated, "I am a better man today because of Lauren and because of our relationship.”

This celebrity break-up proves that when a relationship becomes more work than pleasure, it's time to let go. What are some ways to know your relationship has run its course?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be tough to know when a relationship is really over, but here are the top three ways that you can be sure:

1. When you no longer see a future together: A good way to figure out if what you're experiencing is a rough patch or really the end is to analyze whether or not you can still imagine a future with your partner. Can you picture a time when realistically things get better and you as a couple move past whatever it is that's causing stress on your relationship? Or is this conflict destined to be a part of your relationship forever? Your answer can help you determine whether or not it's time to move forward or move on.

Related Link: Celebrity Break-Up: 'Bachelor' Stars Lauren Bushnell & Ben Higgins Split

2. When the love is gone: If you genuinely feel as if you've fallen out of love with your partner, then it's time to move on. If the thought of leaving provides you with more relief than you won't have to fake it any more than sadness, you can be sure that ending the relationship is the best thing for both of you. Don't try to force love or affection after a certain point. If you're not feeling it, you're just not. Let go.

3. When you feel trapped constantly: If your relationship has been reduced to nothing but a ball and chain around your ankle, think long and hard about whether or not you want it to continue. If you feel that the only thing your partner does is hold you back, consider the fact that you both might be able to go farther without each other. Sometimes the most loving thing you can do for another person is set them free knowing that both of you will actually be better off without one another, even if at first the split is painful.

We wish nothing but the best for each other, and ask for your support and understanding at this time." Although the romance of their Hollywood relationship was well-documented on The Bachelor and on their follow-up show, Ben & Lauren: Happily Ever After? audiences also witnessed some tumultuous signs of trouble in the couple's celebrity relationship, especially when it was revealed that Higgins had also confessed his love to contestant Joelle Fletcher during the run of the show. Bushnell acknowledged this did not sit well

This Bachelor couple has decided on a celebrity break-up. What are some ways to know you’ve done all you can to salvage your relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

When it comes to working out a rocky relationship, things can get tricky, and sometimes it’s just time to call it quits. Here are Cupid’s top tips on how to know when it’s time to throw in the towel:

1. When you’ve tried talking it out... and failed: If you’ve sat down together, maybe even with a third party like a therapist, and honestly tried to work out your problems with little to no progress, that’s a serious sign that you may have reached the final hours of your relationship. Of course, working through your problems takes time and effort, but if you feel like you’ve really committed to spending time working on the problem and nothing has been changing or getting better, it may be time to take a step back and take a long, hard look at whether or not this is a relationship you feel you should stay in.

Related Link: ‘The Bachelor’ Celebrity Couple Lauren Bushnell & Ben Higgins’ Relationship ‘Ain’t Perfect’

2. When they’re in love with someone else: If you feel as if your partner has some serious feelings for someone other than yourself and they’re distracting them from being in a committed relationship with you, that’s a serious problem. If your partner is in love with someone else (assuming you’re in a monogamous relationship) that's a major deterrent to the success of your relationship. It may be time to acknowledge that it's time to let go and let you both move on to something even better than what you have right now.

3. When all that's left is fighting: Every couple has rough patches and seasons of their life together when they argue more than others. But if it seems that you two are constantly locked in a battle for the upper hand, and can't even spend any amount of time together without a big fight blowing up, it's time to call it quits. Let each other go, and let yourselves find someone else who you won't be in constant conflict with.

Celebrity Break-Up: Demi Lovato & Guilherme 'Bomba' Vasconcelos Split

By Noelle Downey

There's trouble in paradise for one celebrity couple this week! According to UsMagazine.com, Demi Lovato and MMA fighter boyfriend, Guilherme "Bomba" Vasconcelos, have officially called it quits. The celebrity exes first started seeing one another in July of last year, shortly after Lovato and long-time boyfriend Wilmer Valderrama had their celebrity break-up. Although Lovato and Vasconcelos were "just having fun" a source close to Lovato confessed, the two rekindled their Hollywood relationship in January of 2017 and have since been verbal on social media about their celebrity love story. Lovato gushed over her celebrity relationship to TV talk show host Ellen in April, saying, "I'm very happy. Life is really good." So what happened to break apart this famous celebrity couple? A source close to the exes claims, "It wasn't a dramatic split. Bomba is a good guy, but the relationship just ran its course."

This relationship has ended up a celebrity break-up. What are some ways to know your relationship is done for good?

Cupid's Advice:

Break-ups are never fun, but Cupid is here with the top tips on how to know when your relationship has officially run its course:

1. When the end feels inevitable: If you feel as though you're just counting down the days until something snags and you guys finally have the final fight that leads to the demise of your couplehood, it may be already time to call it quits. Relationships generally shouldn't feel like they have a looming expiration date, and if you feel as though any good times you have are constantly overshadowed with your gut-feeling that this relationship isn't going to last, then you should trust your instincts.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Demi Lovato Supports Rumored BF Guilherme Vasconcelos at MMA Fight

2. When neither of you is upset: If you feel as though your relationship has deflated to the point that neither of you is particularly invested in it continuing, then do yourself both a favor and cut it off so you can go find something that really fills you both with passion. If you can broach the topic of your break-up without either of you feeling like you're really losing anything of value, then it's probably time to cut the cord and get on with your lives, separately.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Joe Jonas 'Likes' Pic of Ex Demi Lovato with On-Again Boyfriend Guilherme 'Bomba' Vasconcelos

3. When you feel consistently unhappy: If you're in a relationship where you feel as though you're always waiting for the "good time" and the moment when you'll really feel like you and your partner are clicking, then take a step back and consider why that is. It could be that your relationship isn't really what you want it to be, and that could be because of the person you're in that relationship with. Remember, you don't need to have a million reasons to leave someone, you just need one good one, and being consistently unhappy in your relationship is a great reason to call it quits permanently.

By Christa Ganz

In the song, Drake raps “I drunk text J.Lo / Old number, so it bounce back.” According to UsMagazine.com, the couple had split after just two months of dating, claiming their relationship had “died down a bit” shortly after the start of Drake’s European tour. Chalk up another celebrity break-up for this Bachelor Nation couple. What are some pieces of advice for breaking the news about your break-up to family and friends?

Cupid’s Advice:

When you’re in a new relationship, it’s exciting to think about introducing your loved ones to your partner, but no one ever thinks about the potential reverse side of that. Rightfully so. But when that time does come to help soften the blow, here are some tips to keep in mind:

1. Don’t be embarrassed: Love’s a gamble. Breaking up can be mortifying, especially if you’ve had major plans and expectations. If a break-up hits you abruptly, take it in stride and know that things happen, especially in relationships. There's no reason to be embarrassed, because it's a normal part of life.

2. Be strong in your decision: Make sure this is a serious breakup and not a petty disagreement. If it's serious, give it some time before you make any major denouements. Don't let the sighs and the sad faces break you down. If you've made the decision to breakup, either collaboratively or independently, don't forget that you've already accepted that.

3. Allow your loved ones to have their feelings: Although they weren't the ones who were in the relationship, it's obvious they'll feel some sort of emotion (be it good or bad) towards the breakup, especially if they were close with your partner. Respect that and allow them some time to register the break-up.

This celebrity news sheds some light on how Angelina is doing amid her divorce. What are some ways to deal with divorce drama in an effective way?

Cupid's Advice:

Emotional hurt won't last forever, which is something to think about if you've gone through divorce. Cupid is here to make the drama a little easier to manage:

1. Ignore the petty communication: If your ex is not trying to solve a solution, but rather egg on a fight, then it's not worth a response. For example, if you dropped off your child, and your ex-partner sends you a text negatively commenting on the parenting you did, you do not have to answer. This will take out some of the fight, and you will be the more positive person.

2. Take a break: Going through a divorce is stressful, and you're going to feel overwhelmed. It's okay to take a step back for a little while to give yourself room to breathe. You can't go on with an unclear head. Get back to it when you're ready. Make sure you are healthy!

1. It's not goodbye, it's “see you later”: Just because you're broken up now does not mean that you won't get back together. If your schedules end up working out in the future, and you still have those feelings for one another, then you can go forward in your relationship. Taylor Swift and Calvin Harris' celebrity break-up comes after over a year of dating, and according to UsMagazine.com, "Taylor Swift thought Calvin Harris was the one." The celebrity couple celebrated their one year anniversary this past March. Reportedly, they have grown apart and decided to end things for that reason. Calvin Harris tweeted about the break-up saying, "The only truth here is that a relationship came to an end & what remains is a huge amount of love and respect."

This celebrity news still has us down in the dumps. What are some signs things are headed toward the end in a relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

No one could have foreseen this celebrity relationship coming to an end, but it is important to know what signs to look for in your own relationship that could mean you're headed for a break up:

1. Last place: If you are repeatedly put at the bottom of your significant other's list of priorities, prepare for the worst. Having your S.O. choose friends or work over you every time means that he/she doesn't consider your relationship a top priority. You deserve first place, don't settle. This shows a serious lack of effort.

2. At a loss for words: When you realize that you two are having less and less to talk about it's a sign that you're growing apart. If conversations are becoming boring, or draining, it's time to rethink your relationship status. Hanging out shouldn't feel like a chore.

3. Not the time or place: Sometimes it can be as simple as this—you're not at the same place in your lives. If you are both trying to pursue a career, or need to be close to your family, things can get in the way. Life gets complicated and if you are both dedicated to something that is pulling you away, it may be time to decide as a couple not to be a couple anymore.

Relationship Advice: 4 Ways to Break Up with Your Partner In the Nicest Way Possible

By: Josh Ringle

Breaking up is not the easiest thing to do. It may hurt your heart to do it, and it will most likely break the heart of your soon-to-be-ex as well. While calling off your relationship and ending your current love life isn't the easiest, it is important to do it in a nice way if at all possible. Almost everyone knows of those celebrity relationships that ended in tears and celebrity divorce, or those celebrity couples who have remained friendly after all their heartache and drama subsides. The same is true for us "normal" people. Use the following relationship advice pointers to make a difficult decision a little easier for both you and your partner.

These pieces of relationship advice will help you to make ending it a little less heartbreaking. If you are considering breaking up with your partner, take a look at how to do it nicely below.

1. Do it in person: A great piece of relationship advice is to do anything that is of importance in person. Whether it is initially getting the relationship going, or ending it, doing so face-to-face will only make the situation better. Look at some former celebrity couples like Jennifer Aniston and John Mayer, or Taylor Swift and Joe Jonas. Those celebrity break-ups were initiated by a text message or a phone call. They did not end well, and if you want yours to end well, do it while you can see them, be there to comfort them and talk through any heartache they may be experiencing.

2. The date and place matters: There are definitely some key dates and places where breakups should never occur. Anniversaries, birthdays, holidays, and times of death in one's family are not times to call things off. If you want to stay friends, or if you just want to be as nice as possible, save it for some other time. If they are on a vacation or doing something important like starting a new job, you should consider waiting if it is possible. Some places should be off the table, too. You shouldn't break their heart in public, if possible, and you should try to do it in a place where the memory won't "haunt" them. Their bedroom, for example, is probably not the best option.

3. Ease into the conversation: Reality TV stars make break-ups look overly dramatic and super painful. Heartbreaking moments are typically over-dramatized, but they don't have to be that way at all. Instead, ease into the conversation about the future of your relationship. Conversations like this will never be easy, but easing into the conversation will make it more bearable. A good piece of relationship advice is to keep the communication open, and that should continue even if things are about to end.

4. Be honest: While this piece of relationship advice goes along with open communication, it truly is important to remain honest and open when deciding to call it quits on a relationship. If you want to break up, but remain friendly and on good terms after, follow this piece of relationship advice and remain honest. That being said, it's important to not take that to an extreme and be brutally honest. Say what you need to, but no need to get into the gory details. While breaking up is difficult to do, the conversation and how it goes is essential to determining the future of your friendship.
