Celebrity Baby News: Rachel Platten Gives Birth to First Child With Kevin Lazen

By

Mara Miller

In the latest celebrity baby and celebrity couple news, Rachel Platten gave birth to her first child with Kevin Lazen on Saturday, January 26. Back in July, UsMagazine.com broke the news that Platten and Lazen were expecting their first little one. Platten later confirmed the news on Instagram. On the 30th, Platten posted a picture of herself and tiny Violet with the caption, “Introducing Violet Skye Lazen. Born delicious & cuddly on 1.26, early in the am. There is so much about this massive love that i want to share but don’t yet know how to. I am sure the words will come soon. For now we are busy falling deeeeply in love (and keeping our heads above water). Thank YOU all so much for your kindness and support and curiosity and gentleness as i fumbled my way through this crazy brutal amazing journey to get here to motherhood. Wow. I’m a mom. :))) Xoxo, rach” Best of luck to the new parents!

In celebrity baby news, Rachel Platten is a first-time mother. What are some ways to prepare your relationship for a first child?

Cupid’s Advice:

Becoming new parents is an exciting and trying time. Here are a few things you can do to prepare your relationship for your first bundle of joy:

1. Talk about parenting philosophies: If your Mom raised you and your brothers by herself, but your spouse had a full family with both parents growing up, you both will look at parenting a bit differently. Having a conversation now about how you think you should raise your baby together will help negate any arguments down the road.

2. Accept the reality: You’re going to be parents. Accept this now, and realize there will be sleepless nights. Grandparents will try to intervene to help. Should you consider breast or bottle feeding? Are you going to co-sleep with the baby in your bedroom? You may even bicker about those things. Being prepared now for the lows as a new parent will make the highs even better.

3. Don't push romance aside: All the both of you are going to be able to talk about is the baby – how excited you are, your hopes and dreams, and your fears. A newborn in the home can make it easy to put aside your relationship, but don't let it happen. Spending as much time as you can together now, and later between feedings and nap time, will help ensure your relationship stays strong.

Celebrity Couple: Royal Celebrity Couples Face Online Bullying

by

Mara Miller

Kensington Palace is worried about online bullying against the royal celebrity couples, Kate Middleton and Prince William, and Meghan Markle and Prince Harry. In the latest celebrity news, according to People.com. Kensington Palace staff have spent countless hours monitoring negative comments aimed toward the royal sisters-in-law. These comments often try to pit Duchesses Middleton and Markle against each other, with fans of both taking sides and arguing among themselves. In some rare cases, there have even been serious threats of harm. The cyber bullying isn't just toward both women: Kate and Meghan fans often turn against, and threaten, each other.

The Royal Celebrity Couples are facing terrible comments on social media and, in response, Kensington Palace is making a peace movement.

What are ways can adults cultivate a positive experience online?

Cupid's Advice:

Kensington Palace has been locking down the comments on social media about the royal family. While it might be easy to act thoughtlessly online without caring about another person's feelings, bullying has serious emotional repercussions that have, in some cases, led to suicide when an online social interaction is not as easily monitored. We should all strive for a positive online experience. Here are some ways to achieve it.

1. Remember the Golden Rule: Remember the saying, "If you can't say anything nice, don't say anything at all?" Apply this logic to any future comments you might make online in a public forum. Realize the comments you are making are about real people, too. It's easy to get into shipping wars when we adore our royalty and our celebrities, but they have feelings and busy lives just like we do. Would you want to hurt your favorite celebrity because you've said something terrible about one of their family members when they're trying to work out their personal differences?

Related Link: Celebrity Babies: Duchess Kate Middleton Talks about the Difficulties of Being a Mom

2. Report Threatening Behavior: If you're on a forum like Facebook or Twitter, you can report any threats toward someone who is getting bullied. Often, there is the option to block a specific user. Never make any threats yourself. While there are no exact laws against cyber bullying, it is still a form of harassment and there can be legal ramifications if you're caught.

Related Link: Royal Celebrity News: Prince Harry Feels 'Responsible' For Meghan Markle 'Being So Miserable'

3. Just Walk Away: The best thing to do is ignore it, even when you might really want to make that comment to try to make an internet troll go away. Bullying can take away the enjoyment of the video or article you're trying to read and put you in a horrible mood when you could have just ignored someone else's childish behavior.

The elusive celebrity couple Emma Stone & Dave McCarry are not often seen in public together. What are some ways you and your love can prevent public expectations from influencing your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

It's important to not let others influence your ideal relationship. While public expectations may be tough to overcome, there are some ways to help prevent them from influencing how you and your partner carry on your love for one another:

1. Forget about public expectations altogether: It seems much easier than it actually is, but it's important to forget about what others expect of you. When we let go of all public expectations, we tend to enjoy our partners even more.

There are some adjustments that have to be made when intending to spend your working hours and your downtime with your S.O. To avoid putting your relationship in jeopardy, we have some ways to know your boundaries when working with your partner:

1. Maintain your privacy: Every relationship needs to have some space to survive, this is especially true while working with your significant other. Give each other enough time to respond to emails, make phone calls, and complete projects without shadowing each other throughout the entire day.

3. Be a bargain shopper bride: You don't have to have the most in-style wedding dress right now for your special day. Absolutely make sure you love it before you buy it, but make certain you're aware of your budget and don't shy away from a deal. Also, keep the bridesmaids in mind if you're going to buy their dresses. Dress shops are bound to have dresses on clearance as long as your girls are willing to be flexible. The shoes don't even have to be from the dress shop either. Discount shoe stores sometimes have buy-one, get-one-free: take advantage.

Chris Pratt and Anna Faris's amicable relationship meant they could talk about his engagement. What justifies telling your ex about moving on?

Cupid's Advice:

Even though you might feel it's not their business, there may be times you need to let your ex know that you're moving on. What reasons would justify telling your ex about the details of your new relationship?

1. You're still friends: Not all relationships end completely with social media and number-blocking. In some cases, you might decide to stay friends with your ex. Maybe you work together or have the same circle of friends and don't want to cause tension or strife. Letting them know you're moving on before anyone else can soften the blow.

2. You have children: Whether you are just starting to date again or are ready to propose to an amazing new person, you're going to want your ex to know. You will want your child(ren) to meet them, since the person you're in a relationship with is now a big part of your life and theirs. Letting your ex know before anyone else that you're moving on will help prevent any potential arguments and will protect your child's well-being.

3. You want to let them down easy: Maybe you've tried telling your ex that you're moving on, but it's had the opposite effect; they think you actually want to get back with them. It's totally okay to let them know that you're moving on, but make sure you let them down easy. If you want to maintain the friendship with them eventually, they need to know that you have met someone else; potentially leading them on could turn disastrous later.

What are some other reasons you might justify telling your ex that you've decided to move on?

Tension is running high in the Kardashian family because of the celebrity couple. What are some tactful ways of telling a loved one you don't like their S.O.?

Cupid's Advice:

It's not easy to tell your loved one that their significant other is a lousy person, especially when they aren't ready to listen to you. What are some ways you can tell them how you feel without the family drama?

1. Sit them down for tea or coffee: Don't let them know what you think about their S.O. publicly. Invite them over for a private conversation. Your loved one might not be willing to hear what you have to say about their spouse, but a private conversation in the living room will be more effective than a status post on Facebook about how much you hate the person your loved one is dating.

2. Let them know you realize they might not be ready to hear it: Don't name call and most certainly do not yell. Let them vent about the situation if they need to their feelings off of their chest. Having a conversation about your concerns over the person your loved one is dating with a level head and in a respectful manner will get your point heard faster than a petty back-and-forth through text messages.

1. Make sure you're prepared: Having children comes with a lot of responsibilities. You and your partner need to have money, space, time, and other resources to have one or more babies. Don't rush into having more kids if you and your partner aren't ready for that extra commitment.

Cupid's Advice:

Miley Cyrus and Liam Hemsworth are officially husband and wife and kept their wedding day a secret from everyone. But of course, most of us are not celebrities and there are other explanations as to why you should keep your wedding under wraps:

1. Drama-free: Along with all the added stress of wedding planning comes a lot of opinions. Sometimes we get caught up in people pleasing and forget what the day is all about in the first place. Having a secret wedding means that you are keeping the focus on just you and your partner.

2. Less pressure: No matter what weddings are a big deal. While planning your wedding issues may pop up such as inviting people you haven't seen in years, or a budget that keeps expanding, you also want to impress your guest by having the best wedding ever. Keeping that in mind you have a day that becomes bigger than you. By keeping your wedding under wraps it takes you out of the game of what a wedding should be. And allows you to do anything you want on that special day.

3. Romantic: Why? Because its unexpected and different. Weddings have become about sharing and oversharing. These days brides post their wedding photos a day after not keeping anything to themselves. By keeping your wedding under wraps you protect that love.
