Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes space is needed in a relationship, but too much space can hurt your relationship. Cupid has some advice on some things to consider before having an on-again-off-again relationship:

1. Time: Having a permanent on and off relationship is never healthy. You can't spend most of your time broken up because it poses the question of why you are even together in the first place. When deciding to break up, make sure you pay attention to how much time you are spending apart. Remember, when you are apart, you are teaching each other how to live without each other. Be careful; you might end up falling in love with the single life instead of your partner.

Related Link: Dating Advice: 4 Signs Your Partner Is the Right One for You

2. Respect: If you and your partner anticipate getting back together, make sure you both respect your relationship. A break is not meant for one or both of you to be out partying and hooking up with other people. Remember, a break is because things aren't working and if you are considering getting back together, then you need to spend the time working on yourself. Sometimes space is needed, but don't do anything you will regret.

Compromise: Being in an on and off relationship is hard enough, but remember to work through the issues. Relationships are two sided so as you're working through things, keep in mind that sometimes you have to negotiate. While you shouldn't have to put up with disrespect or cheating, simple things like communication and quality time problems can easily be solved.

The celebrity couple met in 2015 on Bachelor in Paradise and eventually became close friends. This celebrity wedding proposal has been a very long time coming, and Bachelor Nation is ecstatic! What are some ways to get a long-time friend to recognize his feelings for you?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be frustrating when you have feelings for a close friend. How do you tell them? What happens if they don't feel the same way? More importantly, how do you end up staying friends? Talk about anxiety! Cupid has some advice on ways to get a long-time friend to recognize their feelings for you:

1. It's the little things: In this case, it's the little things that can take you a long way. Pointing out these things the two of you do for each other may make your friend think. Maybe, you are stuck doing a double shift and your friend brings food without you asking. While that is being a good friend, it is also thoughtful and shows that your friend went out of their way to make sure you were okay. Reminding each other of the little things could help the lightbulb go off.

2. What if?: The easiest thing you can do is the “what if” game. There are so many questions to ask but the obvious one would be, “What if we dated?” Remember, this question could go either way so be prepared. This casual, fun way to bring up a relationship will get you an indication on how your friend feels.

3. Say it!: Flat out asking your friend is a sure way of getting an answer. Sometimes beating around the bush not only can make you even more anxious but can be frustrating if your friend isn’t catching on. As scared as you are, telling your friend how you feel will relieve all the built up feelings you have. No matter what, you will always have your friend so just relax and speak your mind.

Celebrity Break-Up: Jillian Michaels & Heidi Rhoades Split After 9 Years Together

By

Rhodesia Williams

In celebrity news, celebrity couple Jillian Michaels and Heidi Rhoades have called it quits. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity relationship has come to an end after nine years. Although the two share two children together, the couple expressed that the celebrity break up was mutual. “We’ve found we’re better as friends and parents living apart than staying together.”

This celebrity break-up comes after a long-term relationship. How do you decide whether to call it quits on a long-term relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

Sometimes it’s hard breaking up, especially when you have been together for a very long time. As hard as it can be, you have to do what is best for the relationship. You can’t let time play a factor in this decision. Cupid has some advice on how to decide if you should call it quits on a long-term relationship:

1. Foundation: Without a strong foundation, your relationship won't be able to weather any storm. Coming up with a decision like ending a long-term relationship is hard, but an excellent point to start is at the core. Do you and your partner have the basics down? Just in case you aren't sure what the basics are, we are talking about trust, communication, understanding, and compatibility. When there are problems, it usually stems from one of those components. Think about it.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: How to Stay Confident in a Long-Term Relationship

2. Future: Think about your future. Granted, we never know what can happen in the future, but knowing your partner, you can take a pretty good guess. Have you come to an understanding about the things you both want? Children? Marriage? Housing? Pets? You have to think about all of the things that you want. Coming together and discussing the future will help, but if ultimately you are having difficulty coming to an understanding, then maybe you have to rethink your future with your partner.

3. Feelings: You may have a strong foundation, but your feelings do matter. If you have a gut feeling about something or something just doesn't feel right, maybe you should hold off. The saying, "what's done in the dark will always come to the light" couldn't be more true. Listen to your intuition! While we aren't talking about cold feet, there may be something lingering that is bothering you. Pay attention, and give it time. When the feelings are right, you won't have to second guess anything.

Celebrity News: 'Bachelor in Paradise' Couple Adam & Raven May Be Headed Toward Engagement

By

In celebrity news, it looks like Adam Gottschalk and Raven

Gates may take their celebrity dating right into engagement. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity couple met on Season 4 of Bachelor in Paradise and have been going strong ever since. Although the couple are now in a long distance celebrity relationship, Gates believes “communication is key.” She also said, “I told Adam we can’t go more than two weeks without seeing each other because I just think that’s too long of a time.” Besides the communication, Gottschalk’s family had their doubts, but after getting to know Gates, it seems like the family has given their blessing.

In this celebrity news, there may be another engagement soon! What are some ways to know you’re ready for marriage?

Cupid’s Advice:

After dating your partner for a while, you start to hear those wedding bells. How do you know when you are ready for the big “I do?” Cupid has some advice:

1. Communication: Communication is very important. However, Cupid isn’t referring to the selective hearing we all fall victim to. Good communication is one of the biggest foundations of a relationship. Expressing yourself and having healthy conversations or arguments is important. Like the relationship as a whole, communication is a two-way street, and if you feel like your communication is one way, then work on it. Better to work out the kinks now than later.

Related Link: Dating Advice: 4 Signs Your Partner Is the Right One for You

2. Happiness: If you aren’t happy, don’t get married. Too many times you see people getting married for every reason under the sun except for truly being happy together. Why spend the rest of your life unhappy? Marry someone who continuously makes you laugh and smile, someone whose company you enjoy; whether you are hiding out at home with junk food and Netflix or having a little too much fun at Dave & Busters. Your happiness, as well as your partner's, matters.

In celebrity wedding news, Pete Davidson's ex is seemingly laughing at his engagement to Ariana Grande. What are some ways to keep your ex from affecting your new relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

When starting a new chapter in your life, make sure you completely finished the previous one. Cupid has some advice on ways to keep your ex from affecting your new relationship.

1. Distance: Make sure you distance yourself from your old life. Sometimes exes have a hard time moving on and if you are constantly in contact with an ex, your new relationship could begin with a rocky start. Bringing your new flame to the restaurant where you and your ex enjoyed your favorite meal could stir up trouble. If you run into your ex, what do you do? It isn't worth the risk. New relationship, new beginnings.

2. Cut communication: Cutting off communication with an ex is an effective measure to take when beginning a new relationship. Whether you are cool with your ex or absolutely cannot stand each other, when starting a new relationship it's never safe to have your ex talk to your new flame. You are better off cutting off communication and moving forward. Some ex's are like guard dogs, they may look friendly but they won't let anyone get too close.

3. Be respectful: Be respectful of your previous break up. Believe it or not, considering your ex's feelings can go a long way. Being respectful and mature about the break up will help with moving forward and for you to enjoy your new relationship. Not suggesting you hide your new relationship, but possibly keeping it on the low for a while will keep your ex away and hopefully focused on what they have going on.

Getting engaged can be one of the most exciting and emotional times in your life. You are making a decision on whether or not you would like to spend the rest of your life with your partner. In some cases, you are so overwhelmed that you say "yes," but when the smoke clears, you start to really think it through. Cupid has some advice on ways to know when it is the right time to get married:

1. Happiness: Are you happy? Think about your relationship from the beginning to now. Forget about wanting to get married or the pressure from others to get married. Can you see yourself marrying this person? Ask yourself if you can live without your partner. As cheesy as it may sound, marriage is serious, and it is important that you are happy with this person. Remember the saying, "happy wife, happy life."

2. Time: Jumping into marriage never ends well. Look at the time you and your partner have spent together. What are their views on marriage? Spending enough time together will allow you to find the answers you are looking for. While someone can say they want to get married, their actions can tell you otherwise. Remember, with time comes knowledge.

Cupid's Advice:

Moving on isn't always easy, and while it can be a sensitive time, it still has to be done. Cupid has some ways to keep your new relationship from hurting your recent ex:

1. Respect: Respect is the most important part of this whole situation. You and your ex called it quits, and it's important to respect the fact that it takes time to move forward. Not only should you respect this, but your new partner should as well. Parading your new partner around can be hurtful and can cause unwanted drama. Your new love interest may be inclined to stir the pot; don't let them. Make sure everyone respects each other and things go smoothly. Who wants the drama anyway?

2. Distance: Distance can actually very much help the situation. Keeping your new relationship separated from the old is one of the best things you can do. Keeping a respectful distance helps to build a healthy relationship for all parties involved.

3. Time: Time is an important part of the healing process as well. To "soften the blow," allow your ex to have some time to heal. With some time, your ex should be better about the situation, and you and your new partner will be able to thrive with no drama. They say time heal all wounds, so, in this case, give your ex time to adjust to the fact that you are moving on. Just think about if the shoe were on the other foot.

Expert Relationship Advice: The Exclusivity Trap!

By

Megan Weks

Are you stuck in an exclusive relationship but not really ready for a monogamous one on one? While we all yearn for that special someone to be just ours, jumping into exclusivity too soon can be damaging, especially to women. Read the expert relationship advice below to help you make healthier dating decisions.

Expert Relationship Advice to Help

You Stand Up for Your Best Interests in a Relationship!

What angers me the most about being a relationship coach is the same reason I am a relationship coach: women are breaking their own hearts. Yesterday, three women reached out to me in desperation. They each have a man but they are feeling frustrated and nervous. Their stomachs are in balls of knots, they are crossing their fingers for luck, and they are extremely anxious. Why? Because their needs are not being met in their new relationships. Interestingly, these women happily agreed to jump into the situations they now find themselves in. Didn't they want a boyfriend? After all, that was their goal. Now, however, they feel trapped in exclusivity with men that may not be right for them.

The "going steady" dating model, by the way, did not occur until the 1940s. It was born out of the desire for – and the more acceptable view of – casual sex. Before that, people would take their time to really determine if someone was a match, and then get married through a leisurely process called "courting." The "going steady" dating model, or "linear" dating, as I call it, can be extremely disempowering for a woman who has the goal of getting married within the next couple of years.

You meet a man. You date and spend time at his place and at yours. You get close, enjoy his compliments, and share laughs. Things are going great. You feel attached to him. You are excited to finally find someone who sees what you have to offer: how special you are. You feel like a celebrity couple at first. You feel comfortable and slip into that girlfriend role with ease...heck, you've been waiting a while for this. You're sick and tired of being "out there." Now it's your turn.

Or, is it...?

Suddenly, he starts to get a bit lazy. The communication isn't what you feel it should be from a boyfriend. He said he wasn't dating others, and you aren't supposed to, either. However, you don't know if you're seeing him this weekend or not. You're playing the waiting game...again. The nervousness, the anxiety-stricken feeling, the knots in the pit of your stomach return. You start thinking that you're running out of time and that you're back in the waiting game. You want this all to be over. It's a familiar feeling, and it's awful.

Related Link: Expert Relationship Advice: How to Move on After Being Ghosted

"How did I get here again? Why is dating, and men, in particular, so difficult? What can I do to save this relationship?" You don't want to make plans with your friends and then have to cancel on them if he comes around. You think to yourself, if you just see him again you'll get the magic back. So you push to see him again. You will accommodate his busy schedule. You make excuses for him. You accept less than you deserve. You lack integrity for yourself. You worry that if you stand up for yourself or push for more time, it will backfire. It's like your fate is dependent on his next move, which is determined by a stupid little flashing red light on a digital screen. You peek at it all day while at work.

Ladies, if you find yourself in this position, get yourself out of exclusivity. Exclusivity is a trap! You have no business spending your precious mind, sanity, and time waiting for a man to choose you. While it may not be what you want to hear in relationship advice, you must get yourself back out there and explore your options. Allow a man to get to know you, and allow yourself to get to know him and his intentions deeply before you jump into an exclusive relationship.

Rushing over to his place and getting cozy is the lazy dater's way to find relief. You both can't wait to drop the pesky formalities of dating, jump in the bed, and experience what the relationship would be like – now. The problem with this is, the formalities are actually an important part of the courtship process, and a courtship process is exactly what you need to go through in order to avoid getting into “the exclusivity trap!”

Sometimes people say they are over their ex when they religiously still check their social media or drive past their ex's house. Whether you miss your former partner or not, Cupid has some advice on some ways to show the world you're over your ex:

1. No pettiness: This is probably the hardest one. While you may or may not be over your ex, either way, the worst thing you can do is be petty and do something out of spite. Cupid believes in karma and that whatever you do can very well come back to bite you in the butt. Celebrity Couple News: Gwen Stefani & Blake Shelton Attend Wedding Together

By

Rhodesia Williams

In celebrity news, celebrity couple Gwen Stefani and Blake Shelton attended a wedding together this past weekend. According to UsMagazine.com, although Shelton, 41, was already a part of the wedding, Stefani was nowhere near left out. She posted a video of the bridal party dancing to her song, "Hollaback Girl," on her Instagram. When on the Ellen show, Stefani, 48, said she always thinks about marrying Shelton. This celebrity relationship has been going strong since 2015. I guess we all want to know when this celebrity dating will turn into a wedding? Stay tuned!

This celebrity couple is just like us – attending weddings and dancing together. What are some ways attending a wedding can bring you closer as a couple?

Cupid's Advice:

Date nights are great, but attending special events like weddings helps you figure out just where your relationship is going. Cupid has some advice on how attending weddings can bring you closer as a couple:

1. Presentation: Weddings aren't like attending the annual 4th of July family BBQ. This event is family and friends seeing the two of you dressed to impress. People will see you as a real couple; your parents or even Nana may even ask, "So, when are you two tying the knot." When you get all dressed up, it just gives others another view of you and your partner. Embrace it! While it can be embarrassing at the moment, they just want the two of you to have your own special day like this one... until they get the bill that is.

2. The talk: There you are, sitting at the table watching the bride and groom dance their first dance. Right there in that moment you will think, "that will be us one day." Eventually, you and your partner will have "the talk." Weddings help you to see yourselves as the ones getting married, even though it is not your wedding. Talking about marriage is important because ultimately, that is why you date someone; to grow and build a future. While you shouldn't force the issue, a light discussion to see where your partner's head is at when it comes to marriage is a good idea.

3. Fun: While it is natural to consider your own wedding, this is the time to still have fun. While you might take mental notes and may secretly be planning your own wedding in your head, remember to actually enjoy the wedding. When its time to dance, have fun. You and your significant other are dressed up and looking good. Dance the night away. Take pictures, participate in the dance contests, and you know there is always that one drunk person(s). There is plenty of time to plan your day, today isn't the day. Have fun!

New Celebrity Couple: Jesse Williams Is Dating Sports Reporter Taylor Rooks

By

Rhodesia Williams

In celebrity news, Jesse Williams is now dating Taylor Rooks. According to EOnline.com, Jesse Williams, well known for his role in Grey's Anatomy, is now dating Taylor Rooks, an anchor for SportsNet New York. After Williams' celebrity divorce, he dated actress Minka Kelly. After they called it quits earlier this year, Williams met Rooks. The new celebrity couple were seen Memorial Day weekend in Atlantic City, attending Kevin Hart's comedy show.

Celebrity couple alert! Jesse Williams has moved on after his divorce. What are some ways to know you're ready to date after a split?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes you don't want to start over, but in most cases you have no choice. Cupid has advice on ways to know when you're ready to date after a split:

1. You need time: Nine times out of 10 if you think you are ready to date after breaking up with someone a day earlier, you aren't ready. Once you've taken a good amount of time for yourself, then you will be ready. There is no specific amount of time, but when you are ready, you will feel it mentally and emotionally. Don't be afraid to take time for yourself; date yourself. It sounds cheesy, but this will help you in the long run because we all know you will kiss a few frogs before you meet your prince.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: I'm Scared to Get Back Out There and Date!

2. Listen to your feelings: Are you waking up every day with a smile or a frown? When you finally start waking up with a smile and are able to go about your day, you are just about ready. On the contrary, if you are still hurt and cry a lot, you may not be ready. Some say the best way to get over someone is to jump back on the horse, but sometimes we are just not emotionally ready. Be mindful and careful because just like you don't want to get hurt, you don't want to hurt someone else either.

Related Link: Dating Advice: How Long Should You Date Around, After You Meet a Man You Like?

3. Check your vibes: Putting time and feelings together pretty much makes up your vibes. What kind of vibe will you be giving off? When you project positive vibes, you usually get them back. Will you be able to go out on a date without mentioning your ex? Will you be able to mention the break up without getting upset? Your vibes have to be just right because people will pick up on them. Nobody wants to go on a date with the person that constantly brings up their ex or, once they mention the break up, the mood of the date changes. The best practice is with friends and family.

After a split, what are the indicators that you use to know when you are ready? Share below.
