So much goes into making the decision to take that next step from either serious dating or living together, and the big question is – does anything change on the other side as far as your own feelings go, or your feelings toward your new husband or wife? Celebrity couple Erin Foster and Simon Tikhman recently got married, and according to Foster, “It feels really nice and it feels safe and cozy that I have a husband. Like I have a person keeping me safe from the world, you know?” Many people live together and never get married, and others live together for a long time before even thinking about tying the knot.

So what, if anything, changes with marriage? How important is being married? Check out Dr. Greer’s relationship advice.

The first things that immediately change are the legalities—the rights you have to each other, in times of illness and other situations, as well as to each other’s property, become law and you are no longer operating by your own system. Marriage endows you with more protection, power, and control in almost every aspect of life together. It indicates that you have committed to sharing financially with this person. Even if you were already doing that before, it was on your own terms, and now it is spelled out and nonnegotiable. Taking this big step can solidify your sense of partnership. All of this often does change the way people feel toward each other since you are clearly in it together for the long haul, and you have made a declaration to the world that you are committed to each other for a lifetime.

That statement also ushers in public accountability and all the expectations that go with that, from your own to those of your family and friends. This changes the status of your relationship in other people's eyes, and, depending on your new family, might either bring you both more acceptance and respect from those around you, or on occasion may garnish more hostility than you did before taking the jump. Either way, it may lead you to being more invested in making things work between you, and to mustering the patience and tolerance it takes to solve the problems you face which you might otherwise be tempted to bail on. Marriage brings with it a sense of permanence. Whether you are married or not, ending a relationship is heartbreaking, but dealing with divorce brings in a whole new level of pain and anguish which makes ending your connection much more complex. Realizing how complicated it can be to break all of your official ties might compel you to continue to try to make it work and stay together.

With all of this in mind, there are a few things to think about as you decide whether or not you are ready for this next step. The first is how will becoming a spouse change your role in the way you deal with each other, as well as in your financial situation? Will it make you feel more protected or will it cause things to be messier than they are now. If one or both of you were previously married and there are children involved, how will it affect them? Sometimes they can be the determining factor for getting married as was the case for Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt who ultimately got married because it was what their children wanted them to do. Getting married can solidify the family unit. Finally, if you have been divorced, you might still be feeling the aftershocks of the marriage failing, and be afraid to try again for fear of either making a mistake or once again having things not work out. Consequently, your past may be holding you back from a better future. Evaluating what you stand to gain can help you sort of if marriage is right for you.

While being married might feel similar to living together, it can bring with it a feeling of security and comfort that you didn't have before. It becomes more about the two of you in your respective worlds fully dedicated to being together. Erin Foster talked about feeling that there was now someone keeping her safe in the world. If you get to the point of taking wedding vows, hopefully that will be your experience as well.

Celebrity Couple News: Beyonce & Jay-Z Stay Seated During National Anthem at Super Bowl

By Hope Ankney

In the latest celebrity couple news, Beyonce and Jay-Z were spotted sitting during the “National Anthem” at Super Bowl 2020- aligning themselves with Colin Kaepernick. According to UsMagazine.com, the pair and their 8-year-old daughter Blue Ivy were seated as the rest of the attendees around them stood. This didn’t affect their spirits later on in the evening, though, as they were seen having a good time for the majority of the National Championship game. They were even photographed smiling and cutting up with the likes of DJ Khalid sometime, throughout.

In celebrity couple news, Beyonce and Jay-Z stood up for what they believe while staying seated during the National Anthem at the Super Bowl. What are some ways of standing up for what you believe together can bring you closer as a couple?

Cupid's Advice:

Many times it is your beliefs that can be a catalyst for bringing two people together. Those who have a common belief system or are passionate about certain causes can actually have that aspect of their lives bring a solid foundation to a relationship. Standing up for something as a couple is such a powerful feeling. If you are wondering what ways believing in something as a couple can bring you closer with your partner, Cupid has some love advice on the topic:

1. You can go to events/rallies together: If it is a specific cause you and your partner both support, there's a chance that there are countless events, protests, or charity drives that you can go to together. It's such a wonderful thing to be working alongside your significant other on a cause you both believe in. It allows you the opportunity to get closer and feel more solidified as a unit by investing your time and efforts together on the things you are passionate about.

2. You'll have more stimulating conversation: Being able to have a common belief system or passion gives grounds for better conversation between the two of you. This is especially important if the relationship is fresh, and you're both just getting to know one another. You'll be able to bond over the cause and feel better connected to each other going forward as a couple.

3. You'll be able to build a stronger foundation: The most important aspect of standing up for the same cause as a couple is that it further aligns you as a team. A relationship is all about how both players work together as a team, and the more you both rally around one another with common causes or beliefs, the stronger that foundation will be. You'll soon realize that when the relationship gets more serious or leads towards marriage/kids, it is much more vital for you and your partner to have that team dynamic. Standing up for causes together is a sure way of building on that aspect of your relationship.

Relationship Advice: Keep Your Pregnancy Under Wraps Like Cameron Diaz

By Dr. Jane Greer

There are many different stages of pregnancy that people go through, from deciding when to have a baby to beginning to try to conceive to either becoming pregnant or not and, in that case, having to consider other options such as fertility treatments, surrogacy, and adoption. One big question that is often not addressed until it begins to happen is: when do you bring other people into the equation? Do you share what's going on right from the beginning of the journey with family and friends, or do you wait until the baby is well on his or her way? Or, like Cameron Diaz and Benji Madden did recently, do you keep the entire pregnancy under wraps until the baby is born?

The celebrity couple, who began dating in May 2014, has always kept the details about their relationship quiet. Even so, it was a surprise when the two recently announced the birth of their daughter, adding the caveat that they will not be releasing any photos or additional details because they want to protect the baby's privacy. In order to keep such a big secret, Cameron and Benji must have agreed to it together.

How can you decide when the time is right to tell other people about your pregnancy, making sure the information isn't leaked before you're ready? Check out this relationship advice.

People tend to be curious and inquisitive about when others plan to start a family, but that can sometimes feel intrusive. Your mother in law, for example, might be eager to become a grandmother. So, she might ask when you are going to give her a grandchild. Or, your sister has three kids and can't wait until they have cousins to play with, so she might be pushing you along. It can start to sound and feel like pressure. If you tell people you plan to try, then you might imagine it is all they think about when they see you, wondering how it's going. If it doesn't happen quickly, you might start to feel a sense of public accountability. If it takes a long time, you might even feel like you are failing and disappointing the people you have told. With all this in mind, Cupid has some relationship advice on when to tell others about your pregnancy before you are faced with it.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: Communicate Dislikes like John Legend & Chrissy Teigen

Talk to your partner early to decide where you each stand on the topic, and determine together when you will share the news with family, friends, and in the case of Cameron and Benji, the public. Try to do this at each stage of the process. This way both of you can always be on the same page. If one of you goes ahead and spills the beans before the other is ready, that can cause tension. Say, for example, you can't wait to tell people and share the excitement as soon as you see the positive test, but your husband is superstitious and asks you not to tell anyone until you are beginning your second trimester. It will be pretty awkward when your best friend blindsides him with a big congratulations. Along the same lines, if you tell some people and not others, the ones who are out of the loop might feel slighted if they hear the news second hand or find out later that others knew before them. It can be tricky.

It is easy to avoid all of this by having a well-thought-out and agreed-upon plan as you move forward, one that takes each of your needs and wishes into account. Consider who you want to tell, when you want to tell them, and how much information you will share. Not only will doing this allow you to support and respect each other, but it will also give you the chance to maintain control of your own space and insulate your privacy as you see fit while avoiding fallout and resentment from the people around you.

It used to seem like all babies were fair game- from the moment that baby bump began to show itself and strangers didn't think twice about patting your tummy, to every one cooing at a baby in a stroller. That has changed, and people are being more thoughtful and protective regarding how information about their pregnancy is handled. Pregnancy invites in the world, but it is up to you if you want to let the world in or not. Just as Cameron and Benji did, you can keep it private for as long as you like.

Celebrity News: Sources Say Kendall Jenner & Ben Simmons Are Dating Again

By Jessica DeRubbo

In celebrity couple news, source are saying that Kendall Jenner and Ben Simmons have rekindled their relationship. According to EOnline.com, the Keeping Up With the Kardashians star was recently spotted at a Philadelphia 76ers game supporting her alleged man and celebrity ex. “They took a break because it was difficult to sustain a relationship with their schedules. But they have stayed in touch and there was never a messy breakup or hard feelings,” a source shared with E! News. “Kendall has spent a lot of time with Ben over the last few weeks in Philadelphia. She’s been flying in to see him whenever she can.”

In celebrity news, Kendall and Ben may be giving their romance another chance. What are some factors to consider before giving your ex a second chance?

Cupid’s Advice:

When you break up with someone, it’s meant to be a final decision. That said, sometimes things change and there are good reasons to consider giving your ex a second chance. It’s important to make sure you’re doing it for the right reasons, however. Cupid has factors to consider:

1. Why you broke up in the first place: There’s a wild difference between breaking up because your partner cheated on you to splitting because you were both busy with your careers. If a trust issue was at the heart of your issues, it may not make sense to jump back into things. If it was simply a lack of time that led to your break-up, you two could very well be in a different place now, making it okay to give things a second chance.

2. What page you’re both on now: It’s crucial to have an open and honest conversation about where you both are in your lives right now. If the issues that led to your break-up before are still very real, there's no point in giving it a second shot, hoping for a different outcome. If some key things have changed that will make things easier this time around, that's great!

3. The reasons you want to be in the relationship: When we break up with someone, it leaves a hole in your heart that your partner used to fill. Not only are you missing the romance, but you're missing that person you told everything to and who you spent the most time with. When you're deciding whether to get back together with someone, you need to make sure you aren't just doing it because you're lonely. The only reason to date someone is because you really see yourself with them romantically and they'll add to your life in a positive way.

New Celebrity Couple Demi Lovato & BF Austin Wilson Go to Disneyland

By Hope Ankney

In the latest celebrity news, newest celebrity couple Demi Lovato and Austin Wilson were spotted enjoying a day at Disneyland. According to EOnline.com, the pair had a great date going on rides like Space Mountain and sharing some sweet PDA. Throughout the date, the lovebirds were given the VIP treatment, being escorted by bodyguards and given their own personal tour.

In celebrity couple news, Demi Lovato puts on a happy face with her boyfriend at Disneyland. What are some ways an amusement park visit can be romantic?

Cupid's Advice:

Some might not think theme parks can be a romantic date

location, but there's something about the smell of fried food, goofing off with one another on the attractions, and being surrounded by others who are having just as good a time as you that can actually bring you and your partner closer. Especially if your relationship is fresh, amusement parks are the perfect way to ease into more comfortable territory with one another. If you're looking for more casual places to share some romance, don't worry! Cupid has some relationship advice on how theme parks like Disneyland can bring about love:

1. Ferris wheels are always romantic: Almost every amusement park has some sort of Ferris wheel. A large contraption where you're suspended high up in the air doesn't seem like it would bring sparks, but it can. Being up there with your partner overlooking the skyline is romantic because you're trusting yourself in the hands of your significant other. Besides, sharing a kiss or two at the top is cute and it can feel just like the movies.

2. You can laugh together: If there's one thing that you'll find taking a date to an amusement park it's that you and your partner will be laughing with one another all day. Finding someone that you can goof around with and be comfortable in your own skin is important to every relationship, and if you get along well in this environment, it is pretty telling. Also, the more you laugh around someone the quicker your bond will grow.

3. Firework shows: Like Disneyland, most of these parks have some sort of firework display at the end of every night. The colors lighting up the sky and the surreal vision of the show can stir romance between you and your partner. Hold each other tight as you gaze up at the attraction or even kiss at the fireworks' finale. It's the perfect way to end the night.

loving, long-term relationship with someone. But, anyone who is in one knows that it isn't easy to maintain. You must be willing to put in the work on both sides to make it work. If you're a couple looking for ways to keep your partnership healthy, don't worry! Cupid has some love advice on how to keep a long-term relationship nurtured and healthy:

1. Keep a line of communication open: The most important part of a relationship is always how much communication you have between you as a couple. Don't overly apologize or constantly update your posts with the same thing about what happened, rather, find the way that will get straight to the point and cannot be misconstrued. Cupid has some advice on some ways you can address a rumor:

1. Make a post on social media: This is the fastest and easiest way to get what every you need to say out there. There needs to be precaution with this. Sometimes when we say things we don't actually mean what we say. Make an outline of what you're going to say first before you post it. Read it to a few close friends and get their reaction. This will help assure that the message you're releasing is taken the right way without being misunderstood.

Create a line to make people aware that you are no longer interested in answering any of their questions.
