Another Jersey Shore alum is ready for her celebrity wedding ... now that she has her engagement ring! What are some ways to pick the perfect ring for your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

When it's time to put a ring on it, the biggest question is what the ring is going to look like. You found the right partner, now all you need is the right ring. Here are some ways to help figure out the perfect one:

1. Sneak a peak at her jewelry: Look at the other jewelry your partner is wearing to give a sense of what they like. Is it mostly gold, are there a lot of jewels or sparkles? What is their favorite gem? Or are the jewelry pieces simple? This can give you an idea of what they prefer as to what they'd never be seen wearing.

2. Figure out the ring size: It's not the worst situation if you put the ring on your partner's finger and it doesn't fit, but it makes for a bother to bring it back and get it adjusted. Have a close friend of theirs ask about the ring size, and make sure you can find a ring in that size. It also may help narrow the ring selection when you're searching!

3. Let them pick: If you really are unsure, maybe your partner has a better idea. Get engaged first, and pick the ring out later. What type of ring have they always imagined being placed on their left finger? Let them get the chance to choose. This way, your partner is happy with the choice, and you are happy because they are.

When you're with that special someone, you're going to know you want to marry them. But how do you know when your partner is ready to tie the knot? Cupid is here with some relationship advice:

1. Look for the hints: Your partner may drop a couple "when we get married" or "for our wedding" into conversations when they get reminded of something wedding related. They may keep the hints subtle without directly confronting you, but that's just their way of saying they see a future with you.

Everything's going to be all right. On Friday, November 11, at his press junket for Bad Santa 2, Billy Bob Thornton revealed that his ex, Angelina Jolie, has been doing pretty well amid her celebrity divorce from husband Brad Pitt. According to UsMagazine.com, Thornton and Jolie were a celebrity couple who got married back in May 2000 while in Vegas. However, their relationship ended in 2002. “She seems, you know, OK to me when I talk to [her],” Thornton said. “I don’t talk to her that often, though. You know? We’re still very good friends, but she’s got her world, I’ve got mine.”

This celebrity news sheds some light on how Angelina is doing amid her divorce. What are some ways to deal with divorce drama in an effective way?

Cupid’s Advice:

Emotional hurt won’t last forever, which is something to think about if you’ve gone through divorce. Cupid is here to make the drama a little easier to manage:

1. Ignore the petty communication: If your ex is not trying to solve a solution, but rather egg on a fight, then it’s not worth a response. For example, if you dropped off your child, and your ex-partner sends you a text negatively commenting on the parenting you did, you do not have to answer. This will take out some of the fight, and you will be the more positive person.

2. Take a break: Going through a divorce is stressful, and you’re going to feel overwhelmed. It’s okay to take a step back for a little while to give yourself room to breathe. You can’t go on with an unclear head. Get back to it when you’re ready. Make sure you are healthy!

Celebrity Couple Bella Hadid & The Weekend Call It Quits After Almost Two Years

By

Kayla Garritano

Celebrity couple Bella Hadid and The Weekend (ne Abel Tesfaye) have broken up after almost two years of dating, and they have their schedules to blame. “They still have a great deal of love and respect for each other and will remain friends, but it has been too hard to coordinate their schedules with him finishing and promoting his upcoming album,” a source close to The Weekend says. “They really tried to make it work.” According to UsMagazine.com, the now celebrity exes first met when The Weekend asked Hadid to model for his breakthrough album, Beauty Behind the Madness, back in April 2015, and then starred in his music video for “In the Night.” The couple first started dating publicly in May 2015.

It’s clear this celebrity couple didn’t want their relationship to end. What are some ways to recover after a tough split?

Cupid’s Advice:

When a couple breaks up, it may not always be because they want to, but because they have to. Busy schedules, like what happened with Bella Hadid and The Weekend, may affect your relationship. Cupid wants you to be happy, so here are some ways to feel better:

1. It's not goodbye, it's "see you later": Just because you're broken up now does not mean that you won't get back together. If your schedules end up working out in the future, and you still have those feelings for one another, then you can go forward in your relationship. It doesn't mean you should sit around and wait, but once you're both on with your lives, see if you can rekindle that flame.

2. Grab your girls: Through a tough time, your girls are always there for you. They will take you out on a day full of things you love. Maybe a road trip to the beach, or even just a night-in watching a comedy eating pizza. They will put the pep back in your step!

3. Cry it out: It was a tough break-up! You're not over your partner, and that's understandable. You are allowed to cry at how it didn't work out, because you didn't want it to end. Let the emotions flow, and you'll probably end up feeling a little better. Relieve that pain.

In this celebrity news, Hilary Duff finally opens up about her relationships. What are some ways to keep an open mind in your relationships?

Cupid's Advice:

Relationships can be tricky, but it is good to always have an open mind when you're with someone. Cupid is here with some relationship advice:

1. Act, don't react: If your partner is trying to confront you about a problem the two of you are facing, it is best to act upon it instead of getting upset over it. Reacting in a negative way can cause a fight, and you don't want that happening! Maybe there's something you can do to change for the better, as opposed to getting defensive.

2. Be flexible: In a relationship, not everything is going to go as planned. You can walk in with high expectations of how you perceived your partner to look and act, but they may not always be who you planned, and that's okay. When you meet someone new and you feel a connection, don't judge the other person based on a preconceived notion of what you wanted.

1. Silence: Sometimes it can be easy to say a relationship is over when there is a lot of fighting and screaming going on. While fighting isn't necessarily a good thing, when a relationship becomes silent and there is no longer any communication, this can be the clearest indicator it is over.

Former 'Bachelor' Ben Higgins

Feels 'Disconnected' from Celebrity Wedding Planning

By

Kayla Garritano

Will the wedding drama ever stop? In the Tuesday, November 1 episode of Ben & Lauren: Happily Ever After? Ben Higgins and Lauren Bushnell made another attempt at wedding planning, then quickly moved on to other things to avoid more planning. According to UsMagazine.com, the little bit of planning they did included Lauren's sister, Mollie, helping the celebrity couple with their wedding registry. Ben immediately became defensive over everything and didn't want anything that they don't need. Mollie and Lauren ignored most of Ben's negative comments and continued making the registry. As the episode continued to show them arguing and disagreeing with things such as houses and what they "don't need," Ben took a moment to admit to the camera, "I'm very disconnected from wedding planning.”

This former Bachelor is feeling isolated from celebrity wedding planning. What are some ways to involve your partner in wedding plans?

Cupid's Advice:

A wedding is a joint ceremony, where you learn a lot about your partner and deal with the craziness of planning a wedding together. You want to make sure neither of you feel isolated in the planning, especially if you both want to be involved. Cupid will tell you how you can plan your wedding together:

1. Take them on the hunt: When you're testing out cakes, or trying out the food, or picking out your wedding registry, make sure your partner is there with you. Show them the journey you're going on, and let them experience what you're experiencing. Your partner should be allowed to try what it is that you're trying, and have the same opportunity to plan out the wedding that you're both a part of.

2. Let them have opinions: When you have a dream wedding in mind, you don't want to let anyone else's opinions in. Well, what if your partner has something to say about the situation? What if they prefer something different? Make sure their voice is heard, and that you consider what they say. You should learn to talk to each other about what you're thinking. If you don't, that may foreshadow some problems in the marriage.

3. Compromise: Marriage is about compromise, as is a wedding. You are taking two lives and melding them into one. You are creating a new life for yourself the minute you say “I do” to each other. Do something for each other that seems fair. Take something out of the wedding that you love in exchange for putting in something your partner loves, and they should do the same for you.

Cupid's Advice:

New relationships are a big deal! They can sometimes be scary as well, especially if you're new to it or haven't been in a serious one in a while. Cupid is here to help you ease into your relationship with some dating advice:

1. Take it slow: Easing into a relationship may mean not seeing each other every day, or only hanging out a few times a month. Still make sure there's time apart to focus on yourself. You may need some space in order to get closer. Get to know your new partner and enjoy your time together, all while keeping yourself going in the right path. There's no need to jump into it.

2. Communication always: As per usual, communication in a relationship is a major key. But when you're in a new relationship, it's best to lay out everything and let your partner know what you want. This way, there are no secrets, and questions you may have later on can be answered ahead of time. Also, make sure your partner knows that you want to take the relationship slow at first and ease into things. They should respect your decisions.

3. Be honest: Honesty is the best policy. There's no sense in lying in your relationship, it's unhealthy for future progression. If you don't like something, let your partner know. If you need space, let them know. It's your life, make sure you're comfortable with your relationship.

According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity couple got married in April 2015, and the Vampire Diaries actor could not be any more in love. "The second we were around each other, and not [dating] other people, we just knew. Oh, I will one day have amazing children with my beautiful wife. Absolutely, definitely," he told Modern Luxury Magazine. "I live with someone who strives to find happiness and peace in the smallest things – whether it's sitting for five minutes under a tree or getting out into the country and spending time on our horses or even just going for a walk around the lake or riding a boat."

This celebrity news has us hoping the couple starts a family soon! What are some ways to discuss having a family with your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Once you and your partner are ready, you are going to be starting a family of your own. Although it may be what you want, you and your partner have to talk about it to make sure you're both happy. Here are some ways to help get the ball rolling:

1. Talk before marriage: If you're going to spend the rest of your life together, it is best to make sure you discuss what the future holds for both of you, meaning whether or not there's potential to start a family. Hopefully if you talk about it, you'll be able to decide if a family is what you really want, or if your partner is the right person for you.

2. Find a way: If you're both willing to have a family, make sure you are both able to make it happen, and figure out how you want it to happen. Maybe you want kids of your own, or maybe your best answer is adoption. Are you financially stable enough to raise a child, or do you have a plan for eventually having a kid? Just make sure when you have a child, you are ready.

3. Drop hints: If your partner is not quite ready to discuss children, dropping a clue here and there may help stimulate their thinking process. For example, if you pass by the baby department at a clothing store, you can acknowledge how cute their little shoes are, or tell your partner that, one day, you want your kids to wear those overalls. Don't bombard your significant other to the point where you scare them, just let them know you've been thinking!

When fighting with your spouse, divorce doesn’t have to be the answer. Sometimes, it’s best to separate for a while until a decision is made. Cupid is here with some relationship advice:

1. Distance makes the heart grow fonder: It may just be that you and your partner need space from each other. Take a break from the constant fighting and split up to see if you end up missing each other more than you thought. If you both do, then you know the situation is worth trying to fix.
