Mara Miller

Celebrity couple Mike Caussin and Jana Kramer had a miscommunication when Caussin claimed he would call it quits on their celebrity marriage if his wife was unfaithful, according to UsMagazine.com in the latest celebrity news. While at the iHeart Radio Wango Tango Podcast Suit sponsored by Sugarbear Hair in LA on June 1 with Us, Kramer said, "I am still scratching my head about that, too, because it feels very one-sided to me, and honestly it kind of hurts my feelings that he wouldn't stand by me if I did that." Kramer and Caussin split briefly in 2016 after he cheated on her with multiple women. They later reconciled and renewed their vows in 2017.

In celebrity news, Jana Kramer is scratching her head after a comment from her husband. What are some ways to clear up miscommunication with your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Miscommunications between you and your partner like the one Kramer and Caussin had can happen between couples occasionally. Cupid has some advice on how to clear up any misunderstandings:

1. Avoid always having to be "right": In a situation where you've had a misunderstanding with your partner, things can escalate quickly if you try to stand your ground and say you're right. The "always right" mentality stonewalls any farther communication. Be willing to admit that you might not have understood your partner so the situation does not get worse.

2. Listen: Listening to your partner not only shows them you are willing to work together but it will also that you value their opinion. It's easy to misword something when you speak so if one of you misunderstands what the other says, don't immediately get angry with your partner.

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: Scarlett Johansson & 'SNL' Star Colin Jost Are Engaged

3. Take a break if the situation escalates: Sometimes it's better to just walk away and cool down. Take this time to reflect on what was said between you and your partner. Once you've both calmed down, give each other both a chance to speak so both sides have a chance to explain what happened.

Here are some of Cupid's tips to keeping the spark alive in your relationship when you have multiple kids:

Welcome a Baby Girl

By

Bonnie Griffin

In the latest celebrity baby news, Bachelor stars Arie Luyendyk Jr. and Lauren Burnham are parents. After meeting and falling in love on The Bachelor, the celebrity couple has maintained their relationship in the public eye throughout the pregnancy, although they have not yet released the baby's name.

The latest celebrity baby news is that this Bachelor couple welcomed a baby daughter. What are some ways to work on your relationship while at the same time having a young child?

Cupid's Advice:

Having children is a beautiful gift, but that does not mean being a parent with young children is easy. Add the stress of now having a young child who solely relies on their parents to your relationship and you might find yourself asking how your relationship will survive. Cupid has some advice to keep your relationship working after having kids:

1. Have adult conversations: Just because you have a child doesn't mean all of your conversations have to revert to baby talk. You still need to communicate with each other, and as much as your young child is a very important part of your lives, they cannot be the only thing you discuss. Don't cut out your conversations just because you have a child, even if time alone is limited just have your conversations in front of your child because they will likely interrupt even if you try to take a moment and step out of the room.

2. Work as a team: It is important for both parties in a relationship to remember that you both had a child, and that means sharing more than those adorable baby grins. It means that you need to share the work with each other. You both have to help with the fun parts and the bad parts like when they have a meltdown. Be a united front when your child is having a tantrum because it will only add to your stress if you are not on the same team.

3. You both deserve time out: Every parent needs an occasional break. A break from your partner and even the occasional break from your child. We all need a little me time now and again. Give each other that time out and away to just be alone and revel in their own thoughts. Even though this time alone may seem like a strange way to help work on your relationship, your partner will love you for offering them a break.

By

Emily Green

These negative comments come after new celebrity couple Farley and boyfriend, Zack Clayton Carpinello, were seen celebrating Memorial Day in Las Vegas, according to UsMagazine.com.

In celebrity baby news, Roger Mathews is supporting his ex JWoww through criticism about their parenting. What are some ways to keep parenting criticism from affecting your children?

Cupid's Advice:

As a parent, receiving any criticism about how you are raising your children can be hard to hear, especially if it's from an outside source. These criticisms can make you begin to question if you are truly raising your children in the "right way." Every parent has their own unique way that they want their children to be raised. Here are Cupid's advice on remembering that your parenting style is the "right way" for you:

1. Ask yourself about their intentions: Some parents are what some would call "too confident" in their parenting style, thinking their way is the only right way to raise a child. Consider where their criticism is coming from: are they a random stranger that wants you to do things a certain way, or are they a close friend or family member offering advice? Through experience, you will find the parenting style that works best for you and your family.

2. Everyone is different: No parents are going to have the exact same type of parenting as others. Every household is different, with different parents and children, with different morals and ideals. If you are not sure about how to go about a situation, that's okay! Reach out to your partner, any close friends or family members, even do some research! It takes time to figure out exactly how you want to raise your children, so don't be afraid to try new things or ask for help.

3. You know your children best: No one knows your children better than YOU! You've been the one who has seen them grow up first hand, so you know how they react and adapt to certain situations and experiences. If you want to change up something in your parenting to better fit your family, that's fine! Just stick to what you know will benefit your family, don't conform to any criticisms from any outside perspective. You know what is best!

The location not only sets the overall tone for your wedding theme, but it can affect the number of guests you're able to invite, and even the type of attire you and your wedding party wear. Cupid has some advice:

1. Prepare your guest list: When considering where you want to have your wedding, you need to know how many guests you want to invite because you will need to make sure you find a location that can accommodate all of the people you really want to be there for your special day. If you are planning your wedding at a faraway location, you will want to consider whether the guests you truly want to be present will be able to travel.

2. The location's price: Before you tour a possible location

The celebrity couple plan to seek counseling after they regain custody of their children and life begins getting back to normal.

These celebrity parents are fighting for custody of their kids. What are some ways to avoid a custody battle amid a split?

Cupid's Advice:

Splitting up when you have children doesn't need to result in a custody battle. If both parents agree to be reasonable, then a custody agreement can be made without ending up in a conflict. Cupid has some advice to keep things amicable:

1. Get informed: A good place to start working towards an amicable custody agreement is to become informed in your state's custody laws. Learn what "a child's best interest" means based on the laws in your state because that is what the court will base their decisions on when it comes to the custody of your children.

2. Ask your family attorney questions: Your children are the most important people in a custody case, so don't be afraid to ask your attorney lots of questions, and do not let them pacify you with vague answers. This will not only help you better understand the matter at hand, helping you become more informed but will prepare you for all possibilities and help you fulfill the role of being reasonable so you can avoid an ugly battle in court.

3. Be open to working with your ex: Just like you want to spend time with your children, to be there for them and meet their needs, so does your ex. When you are in a relationship that has true potential to become long-term, you and your partner should enjoy each other's company, have chemistry, and feel comfortable just being yourselves around one another. Cupid has some advice to help you decide if your relationship is built to last:

1. You feel at ease being your true self with your partner: Everyone is on their best behavior when dating someone new, but once you have been together a while and have reached the point you are considering your relationship becoming long-term you should be comfortable around your partner. Each of you should feel at ease being yourself with one another without worrying the other will be put-off by your personality.

Cupid's Advice:

There are benefits to a small or secretive wedding you may not have considered before. So, if you and your partner are feeling overwhelmed with wedding plans, Cupid has some reasons why ditching those plans might be a good idea:

1. You and your partner are private: The idea of a big wedding irks you. Your wedding day is about you. Why not have a smaller ceremony in the courthouse with you, your partner, and two of your closest friends?

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: Scarlett Johansson & 'SNL' Star Colin Jost Are Engaged

Celebrity Parents: Eva Mendes

& Ryan Gosling Are Running Into Trouble Teaching Their Daughters Spanish

By

Bonnie Griffin

In the latest celebrity baby news, celebrity parents Eva Mendes and Ryan Gosling are discovering that children learn the language they hear the most. According to EOnline.com, Mendes, who is Cuban, wants her children to learn Spanish, but the actress is finding that what the children are actually learning is Spanglish. Mendez told The Talk that she speaks “Spanglish, and that’s what they’re picking up. So it’s adorable, but it’s technically not a language.” Even celebrity children say the darndest things.

Even celebrity parents have issues with various parenting efforts! What are three tips for teaching your child a foreign language?

Cupid's Advice:

Teaching children a foreign language can be difficult, but if you start when they are young and remain consistent, you can teach them to be bilingual. Cupid has some advice:

1. Start teaching them while they are young: Young children have minds that absorb knowledge like a sponge. If you teach your child both languages from the beginning, they will learn quickly. When children are first learning to really speak, typically at ages 2 to 3, they can learn words quickly, even in two languages.

Related Link: Parenting Advice: How to Manage Being a Working Parent

2. Teach them one word at a time: While formal lessons are an option, they are not a necessity to teach your child a foreign language. Use pictures and objects to teach them one word at a time, teaching them that the object or picture can be called two different things – one in each language they are learning.

3. Communicate with them in the second language: Choose specific times throughout the day where you communicate using the second language. Another option for this method is to have one parent communicate in English while the other communicates with their child in the foreign language they are learning. Consistency is key when your child is learning another language.

In celebrity news, the alleged rivalry may be over between the two Duchesses, in favor of bonding over motherhood. What are some ways being parents can bring you and your partner closer together?

Cupid's Advice:

A new baby in the family is an exciting time for you and your partner. Here are a few ways that being new parents can bring you closer together:

1. You'll learn to lean on each other more: Sleepless nights with a crying baby, frustration over breastfeeding, learning to cope with new feelings that come along with having a new baby... All of these things will lead to you and your partner learning to lean on each other in ways you didn't before. You have a new little person who needs you and it won't work if you don't learn how to lean on each other.

2. Sleep deprivation: Sleep deprivation has a tendency to bring out our true selves. You won't realize how true your love for your partner is when the baby is screaming and you're both sleep deprived. Or how wonderful your partner is until they tell you to get rest when they tend the baby after nearly biting their head off.

3. You'll savor moments alone together: The first few months after the birth of your baby will give you both little time to be together.
