Cupid's Advice:

Everyone is different, and they have different things that they are attracted to. While one person may be all about one thing, another could feel the exact opposite. Here are a few ways you can be attracted to someone:

1. Looks: Although some people may deny it, the first thing we notice about someone is the way they look. You can be drawn in immediately by their eyes, hair or even their style. If you are intrigued by someones style, what they wear or the way they carry themselves, it is easy to be attracted to the person as a whole. So, if looks are your thing, then flaunt what you got!

2. Intellect: To many people, looks are not everything. They need to feel intellectually stimulated by someone in order to feel attracted to them. If they aren't drawn in right away by the way you look, dazzle them with your incredible mind. Brains over brawn are very true for them and you should not shy away from showing off your nerdy side.

3. Personality: In the end, personality reigns supreme over all other forms of attraction. Having a good personality, can make anyone's feelings about you turn a full 180 and make them like you even more. On the flip side, if they were at first attracted to your looks or your brain, having a poor personality can make them want nothing to do with you.

This celebrity wedding to be has officially been confirmed! What are some ways to keep your engagement on the down-low prior to announcing to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Getting engaged is a big deal and a huge step in a relationship. The first people you want to tell are your family and friends, but before you do the news may get out.

Here a few ways to keep your engagement on the down-low until you can tell those close to you:

1. Stay off social media: As tempting as it may be to share those adorable engagement photos, resist. The fastest and easiest way for news to spread is to put it online and your family is sure to find out. If you do have pictures or special moments you want to share on your profiles, wait until after you tell your family and friends.

2. Hide your ring: The most obvious tell tale sign of an engagement is your ring. Everybody knows that a diamond ring on your left finger has major significance to your relationship and they are bound to spill the news. Before you are ready to tell your family and friends the news, keep your ring out of the lime light. Afterward, however, show off your bling every chance you get. It's gorgeous!

In celebrity news, this dad is not thrilled at his daughter's rumored love life. What are some ways to deal if your parents aren't fond of your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

When starting a new relationship, it is important to have support from those you love, especially your family. However, your parents may not always like the person you bring home. Here are a few ways to handle a situation like that:

1. Talk with them: Many times, the reason your parents don't like your partner is because they don't know anything about them. If your parents have heard rumors about them, only know about their past, or are making predetermined judgments of any kind, then they simply need to get to know your partner. Sit down with your parents and let them know how much you care about your partner and explain why. Often times, when they realize how much you like the relationship they come around.

2. Compromise: Sometimes the best thing to do when your parents dislike your partner is to compromise. If they have an issue with your partner coming to major family events, then don't bring them along. However, make your parents understand that it is important to you that your partner comes over to family night once in a while. This way, your partner still gets to be apart of your family dynamic, without impeding on your parents wishes

3. Accept it: You can't force people to like each other and sometimes there is just nothing you can do. If your parents are dead set on not liking your partner, you will have to accept the situation as it is, and move on. As long as your parents understand that you and your partner are happy, and your relationship is important, then it shouldn't matter what they think.

While drama can be interesting from afar, nothing is more draining than being in the center of it. Especially, if the drama is coming from false accusations of an ex! Here a few ways to deal with the crazy drama:

1. Confront your ex: In many situations, rumors can be put to an end by going straight to the source. If your ex is spreading lies and making accusations, your best bet is to approach them and talk it out. Odds are, they will take back what they said and stop talking about you.

If anyone knows this situation well, it's definitely Leo and Toni! If you've found yourself in a similar dilemma, check out some of Cupid's advice below:

1. Reflect on the past: Although when you look back on the relationship all you may remember are the good times, but you need to look past that. Reflect and remember the reasons why things didn't work out in the first place, and realize that those issues will most likely continue to arise in the potential new relationship with your ex. You broke up for a reason!

Related Link: Fergie & Josh Duhamel Call It Quits

2. You're not moving forward: By getting back together with your ex, you're not moving forward with your life whatsoever. In fact, some could argue that you're simply living in the past and stunting potential emotional and mental growth by getting back together with this person. Throughout life, it's important to make sure you are constantly growing, so do yourself a favor and say goodbye once more.

3. You're missing out on the potential new lovers: By getting back with your ex-lover, you're missing out on all the potential new partners! Instead, you're essentially just re-living the same relationship from before. Unless you truly believe (and see) a change in your ex and in the budding relationship, there is really no reason why you should get back with them.
