Cupid’s Advice:

Every relationship is bound to run into issues at some point, whether it is early-on or after some time. While tough to navigate, these issues can point you to the areas of your relationship that need some more attention. If you are looking for some signs that your relationship needs help, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. You’ve stopped trying to problem-solve: In a healthy relationship, most issues are addressed with problem-solving and compromise. However, if these issues have caused you to avoid discussing possible solutions and led you to avoid the topic altogether, then it is a sign that your relationship needs help. Looking for new areas of compromise or different communication strategies may help you work through this rocky period.

2. You’ve purposely spent less time together: Everyone needs a break from the partner occasionally, even if it is just for a few hours. But if you find yourself looking for extra opportunities to spend some time away from your partner, it may be a sign that your relationship needs help. This person should be considered a safe-space in your life, not someone you are looking to avoid.

3. You have fundamental differences: Especially in newer relationships, it can be exciting when you have a lot in common with your partner, but challenging when you start discovering differences. By Nicole Maher

In the latest celebrity news, Lamar Odom and Sabrina Parr have decided to call off their engagement. The couple was engaged in November of 2019, just three months after first being seen together in Atlanta, and had planned their wedding for November 2021.

According to Sabrina, this celebrity break-up is a result of Lamar Odom needing to work on himself. How do you know if you're in a good place mentally and emotionally for a relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes the state of a relationship is dependent on internal factors, such as mental and emotional readiness, rather than external factors. If you are wondering if you're mentally and emotionally ready for a relationship, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. You have other outlets of happiness: Being in a relationship should be one of the highlights of your current life, but it should not be your only outlet of happiness. If the only thing that truly brings you joy is being around your partner, then you may not be mentally or emotionally ready for a relationship. Placing all of your happiness on one person can lead to unhealthy standards and more disappointments even if neither partner is in the wrong.

2. You're happy with the timing: When you are in a sound mental and emotional place, you are often happy with the progression of your life. If you are content with the rate at which your relationship is moving, as well as how it fits into your life overall, then you are ready to be in that relationship. However, if you feel that this relationship will cause you to miss out on different areas of your life, you may be in the spot to commit mentally.

3. You've processed past experiences: An obstacle that many people face in relationships is getting over negative past experiences caused by an ex. If you are entering a new relationship but are still holding onto issues caused by a past partner, you may not be emotionally ready. However, if you've processed and coped with these past issues, then you are likely in a good spot to go forward with a relationship.

Cupid's Advice:

Whether you are a fan of more traditional engagements or are looking for a modern approach, there are a few steps to take before popping the question. If you are looking for some must-dos before an engagement, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Rehearse your speech: Whether you're looking to keep things short-and-sweet, or want a more detailed speech, it's a must to rehearse what you're going to say before the big day. Engagements are exciting and emotional, and may cause you to freeze up in the moment. By having an idea of the points you want to get across beforehand, you will make sure your partner knows just how much thought you put into asking the question.

2. Select the perfect location: Selecting the perfect location to pop the question is also a must-do before an engagement. rather have a public or private engagement when planning out the location.

It will also allow them to get excited and potentially help you with the rest of the planning process!

In celebrity wedding news, Sienna Miller is in planning mode for her marriage to Lucas Zwirner. What are some ways to incorporate both of your personalities into your wedding day?

Cupid's Advice:

Your wedding should be a great day for both you and your spouse. It's easy to get caught up in your ideas on how the day should go, but it's just as much your partner's special day as it is yours. If you're not sure how to involve your future spouse in the wedding process, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Start on the same page: Set the tone for your wedding planning process. Let your partner know that their ideas are just as valid as yours and that you want their help. A good jumping-off point is making a list of must-haves for each of you and coming together to see what's most important to the other.

Cupid’s Advice:

It’s a fact of life. Friends get married and then, eventually, have babies. Even if you aren’t attached to someone yet, you don’t need to rush to get married and have babies of your own. Cupid has a few ideas on what to remember when everyone around you is getting married and having babies:

1. Don’t rush: You’ll have marriage and babies when you are ready for it. Even if you’re single, you don’t need to put pressure on yourself to meet “the one”. Rushing can lead to a lot of mistakes you’ll regret later, like marrying the wrong person, and will make your life more difficult once children are involved.

2. You’re not selfish: So what if your career is more important than marriage and kids right now? It’s okay to focus on the things you want to do while you’re still young. Write that novel, take that trip to Scotland for an Outlander tour, or soak up the sun in the Bahamas on a mini-vacay.

By Bonnie Griffin

Now that the time has come where the couple has taken that next step, it seems that Irwin is excited to marry the love of her life.

This celebrity engagement has been a long time coming! How do you know when you're ready for marriage?

Cupid's Advice:

This celebrity couple took their time falling in love and enjoying their lives together before deciding to get engaged.

There are no rules that say that you have to get engaged or married at a certain point in a relationship. Maybe you just want to enjoy your lives together without the pressure of what society thinks you should do like Irwin and Powell, or maybe you just want to take your time before making a lifetime commitment. Cupid has some advice to help you know when you're ready for marriage:

1. You know yourself: Before you tie yourself to another person for life it's important to be confident in the person you are. According to MyDomaine.com, therapist Kimberly Hershenson, LMSW, says, "A successful marriage is more likely if both partners feel secure independently and are able to work as a team moving forward." One way to help you learn yourself is to experience independence. That may mean being single a while, living on your own, or being financially independent.

Related Link: Celebrity Engagement: Sarah Hyland and Wells Adams Are Engaged!

2. You include your partner in future plans: When you think about your future do you automatically envision your partner there with you? If so then you might be ready for marriage. It doesn't mean that you want or need your partner/spouse present at every social event in your life. It does, however, mean you consider them when you're thinking about or planning the important, meaningful events in your future.

3. You are okay with the fact it won't just be about you anymore: As an adult, you might be set in your ways. Maybe you like the house organized a certain way, want to eat dinner at a specific time every night, or have big dreams. When you find a partner and you know you're ready to get married you will understand that you must learn to put their wants and needs ahead of your own at times. You may have to compromise on things you've gotten used to on your own, but you are okay with that because you want a life with your partner.

1. Stay calm: Listen to your partner and the reasons that they are jealous. 1. Breakfast in bed: It may seem like a stereotype, but you can't go wrong with breakfast in bed. You get a chance to show off your cooking skills and make it so your partner starts their day on the right foot. It also gives you an excuse to spend a little extra time before you go about the normal business of your day.

2. Get them off their feet: Surprise your partner with a day that's all about them. Give them a massage, make dinner, and run any little errands they may have needed to do.

Celebrity Exes Chris Pratt and Anna Faris Give Co-Parenting Tips!

By Mara Miller

In the latest celebrity news, celebrity exes Anna Faris and Chris Pratt remain on good terms while they co-parent their son, Jack. According to US Weekly, Pratt and Faris remain close for the sake of their child. Jack's well-being has been their main focus, especially now, with Pratt's celebrity engagement to Katherine Schwarzenegger and Faris's long-term relationship with Michel Barrett. Faris said, "I think the general idea is making sure he's surrounded by lots of love and happiness." Jack is a lucky kid to have two parents who work together to make him safe and happy even though they are no longer together. Pratt and Faris should start offering parenting advice!

Chris Pratt and Anna Faris are setting the golden standard on co-parenting. What are some ways to co-parent when the relationship is less than friendly?

Cupid's Advice:

Divorce isn't easy, especially when you might never want to see your ex again. How should you set your own golden standard for co-parenting your child(ren)?

1. Remember that you were a happy family once: Even though things are tough now and you might not be able to stand each other, remember that you were a happy family together once. Divorce isn't just hard on the both of you, but on your kid(s) too.

Related Link: Celebrity Exes: How Chris Pratt Told Anna Faris About His Engagement

2. Never speak negatively about the other parent: Hearing bad things about their parents can leave a long-lasting impact on children that might cause them to act out in school or at home. Never, ever say anything nasty about the other parent.

Remember, kids are like sponges. They like to repeat what they hear, and your other co-parent is likely to find out what has been said about them eventually. Would you rather get through this co-parenting thing together relatively unscathed, or hardly be able to stand each other when you're in the same room together if your child needs you?

Related Link: Celebrity Wedding: Chris Pratt & Katherine Schwarzenegger Are Engaged!

3. The both of you need to swallow your pride: There will be birthday parties, family nights, holiday gatherings, and school events. Your child(ren) needs to feel loved first. They will need reassurance that Mom and Dad can still get along. Put aside your differences and have a board game night. If you've moved on already, include your new S.O. if the other co-parent has agreed to let your kid(s) meet them. While things might be awkward at first, eventually the less than stellar relationship as co-parents will become easier.

What are some ways you suggest making the co-parenting relationship work when things aren't great with your ex?

This celebrity wedding must not have taken long to plan! What are some benefits of a quick engagement??

Cupid’s Advice:

Long engagements are the norm when it comes to getting married, but short engagements are the new trend. Cupid has some benefits of a quick engagement:

1. You get married sooner: By having a short engagement you get to marry the person you love faster. If you truly love your partner, what's the point of delaying something truly beautiful?

Related Link: Celebrity Couple News: Gwyneth Paltrow Gushes Over Newlywed Like with Brad Falchuk

2. Less time to quibble over decision making: With a short engagement, you are limited, which isn't necessarily a bad thing. What that means is that your options are limited on vendors, dates etc. When you have less options, it makes it easier to make a decision. It also means less time to battle over every pro and con on your wedding.

It looks like John and Nikki are experiencing a celebrity break-up yet again. What are some factors to consider before reconciling with an ex?

Cupid’s Advice:

Are you feeling like you might want to reconcile with an ex? Cupid has some factors for you to consider:

1. Will it last?: Before getting back together with an ex, you want to make sure that the reconciliation will actually last. For Bella and Cena, their reunion was short-lived. Getting back together just to break up again shortly after can cause you more pain than the initial break up did. If you reunite with your ex, make sure you are completely committed to doing so and you are sure things will last for the long term.

2. Have things changed?: You shouldn’t get back together with someone if all the problems that made you two break up are still there. If you choose to reconcile with your ex, all former arguments should be quelled and you two need to have worked through your problems. If a past issue is still present, it's likely to cause more trouble for you further on in your relationship.
