There's more happy celebrity baby news in Hollywood! What are some ways to compromise with your partner when it comes to naming your child?

Cupid's Advice:

Naming your child is exciting, but it can also be aggravating. There's a possibility that you and your partner may not agree on a name. However, Cupid has some advice to help you compromise with your partner when it comes to naming your child:

1. Ask questions and listen: Instead of telling your partner what to name the child, start to asking question to get their point of view on something. Ask your partner what is it that they really want. When they are ready to answer your questions and tell you, listen. Don't assume you know the answer; be open.

Related Link: Ne-Yo Celebrates Celebrity Engagement and Baby Announcement

2. Be a team player: Approach the situation as a team player. Instead of blaming each other, solve the problem as a team. For instance, make a list of baby names you each like, and then swap that list to cross off any names of which you disapprove.

3. Be open-minded: Learn how to step out of your comfort zone and see your partner's perspective on things. Naming your baby is a touchy topic and can be emotional to discuss. Imagine how you'd feel if you had your heart set on a name and your partner shot it down. Baby names are usually tied up with one's identity, and when rejected by a partner, it feels like a personal rejection. Be conscious of your partner's feelings when figuring out a name for your baby.

Sometimes you see a future with somebody and then you realize that what you had envisioned is different from what your partner had in mind. In some cases, this means it's time to go separate ways. Cupid has some advice on how to know if you're not meant for a long-term relationship:

1. Different goals: Sometimes you love a person a lot, but when it comes down to it, you have different goals. If one person really wants to get married and have children, but their partner doesn't ever want that, then they either need to compromise or part ways. It's important for a majority of life goals to be the same!

2. Different paths: Oftentimes people travel different roads in life at different times, and that's okay, because we are all unique. We create our own paths in this beautiful thing called life. If you're not going the same direction as your partner though, it could be a sign that you're not meant to be. You have to be at least headed in the same direction when it comes to life aspirations and routines.

3. Different lifestyles: Opposites do attract, however; birds of a feather flock together too. If your lifestyle is completely opposite from your partner's, then you may run into issues at some point and need to call it quits. If one partner wants to go out and party a lot, but the other partner is a homebody – there will be a clash. The person you spend forever with, needs to have somewhat of a similar lifestyle!

Celebrity Couple Bridget Marquardt and Nick Carpenter Are Engaged

By Katie Gray

Celebrity love is in the air, and diamonds are a girl's best friend! Former Girl Next Door, Bridget Marquardt, is engaged! Nick Carpenter gave her a diamond spider celebrity engagement ring, which is fitting because Halloween is her favorite holiday and time of the year. This celebrity couple have been dating for a long time and are ready to tie the knot. According to UsMagazine.com, Marquardt and Carpenter met at the Playboy Mansion. Marquardt said, "I've heard that people want to marry their best friends. I think that should be partially true. You want someone you can sit with in sweats, plus go out with. You want them to have a lot of best friend qualities, but you want to make sure that you have the spice and passion that you wouldn't have with your best friend. You want the relationship to be one step beyond that."

This celebrity couple will soon be walking down the aisle. What are some ways to choose your partner's engagement ring?

Cupid's Advice:

Although the love between you and your significant other is the most important part, the ring does matter. When choosing your partner's engagement ring, it's important to keep in mind their taste, interests and personality. Cupid has some relationship advice:

1. Taste: You need to select an engagement ring for your partner while taking into account their tastes and interests. If they are into opulence, then make sure to wow them with the size and clarity of the gem stone. If they are more conservative and classic, choose a classic cut and setting.

2. Personality: Personality plays a huge role! If you are going to spend the rest of your life with someone, you clearly know them very well as a person. Perhaps they have a special interest where you can create a ring around that aspect, similar to how Bridget's ring is a spider because she's the Queen of Halloween. If they are into horses you could have a horseshoe shape in the pattern or if they love pearls than add a pearl into the ring and have diamonds circling around it.

3. Quality over quantity: The most important thing to remember is that an engagement ring is an investment. It's something your partner will be wearing everyday and it should be meaningful and special. This is something you will spend a lot of time and money on, but it's worth it. The quality of the diamonds are more important than the amount of them. If you can only afford so much, make sure the main stone is flawless instead of buying lesser quality stones to have a bunch of diamonds everywhere. One beautiful diamond is more pretty than a bunch of stones that are not of good quality. Besides; they will love you regardless!

On her blog, she continued to show signs of complete bliss as she promised to share some “exclusive details and pics” with fans in the next few days.

We’re excited for some happy celebrity engagement news! What are some ways to creatively utilize social media to announce your engagement?

Cupid’s Advice:

After becoming engaged, one of your first instincts will be to frantically post on social media. However, by resisting that initial urge to ramble on social media with a blurry and unfocused picture, you can wait to post and produce a well-planned engagement announcement. Cupid has some suggestions to keep your engagement announcement on social media from being too cliché:

1. “How we met” caption: Everyone already knows you’re in love, but most people probably don’t know the story of how you and your fiancé fell in love. Caption your engagement photo with the heart-warming story of where, when and how you met each other, as it will be sure to capture the hearts of your audience members.

Pick one that perfectly describes your relationship, whether it be posing with your dogs or modeling at the beach, and you can create an engagement photo that is unforgettable.

Sean Penn and Charlize Theron Break Off Celebrity Engagement

By Katelyn Di Salvo

Famous couple Charlize Theron and Sean Penn are no more! According to UsMagazine.com, the pair were friends for years and, like many friendships, that blossomed into celebrity love. The two secretly got engaged during a trip to Paris, and now, almost a year and a half into their relationship and love life, the couple have called off their celebrity engagement! This comes as a shock to many, being that the couple seemed to be very happy together. Theron was quoted saying, "I'm a very, very, very lucky girl," to Esquire magazine just this past April! Penn was also quoted with similar sentiments in an interview with Esquire UK this past March saying, "It's a lot more romantic and a lot more fulfilling to be in a relationship and to think you're a good person within it."

Another celebrity engagement that didn't make it down the aisle! What are some ways to know it's time to break off an engagement?

Cupid's Advice:

Not all relationships and love are meant to last forever. How do you know when it's right to call off an engagement? Cupid has some tips:

1. Avoiding each other: If you find yourself looking for any excuse to not be with each other then you may want to consider a break up. Engagements are supposed to be a happy time where you want nothing more than to come home to each other and spend time together, not the opposite.

2. You DON'T: If you are putting your wedding plans on the back burner and have already postponed, it may be time to reconsider. Thinking about saying "I Do" should bring forth a whole bunch of emotions, but dread should not be one of them.

3. You fight... A lot: Every couple fights, it's normal to get into fights with the people you love. But if most of the time you spend together is spent on fighting then thats a problem.

This much awaited celebrity wedding is drawing near! How do you know when to have your wedding?

Cupid's Advice:

With a lot of celebrity relationships turning into celebrity engagements, it can be tempting to try to model your wedding after a celebrity couple's. However, a wedding is your time to decide what's right and what will work best for you and your situation, not someone else's! Below are some ideas to help you figure out when to have your wedding:

1. Weather: The weather might be the number one factor in deciding when to have your wedding. If you'd like an outdoor wedding, but live in the Midwest, you might want to hold off on getting married until June, July, or August.

According to UsMagazine.com, "The "Try" singer, who celebrated her 30th birthday on May 28, tweeted a photo of herself on a boat with longtime love Justin Young, a fellow musician. In the pic, a ring is just barely visible on her left hand, which rests affectionately on Young's shoulder." She made it cute with a Friends quote to announce it by saying, "This sweet man asked me to be his lobster...And I said yes." It seemingly alluded to the episode where Phoebe (Lisa Kudrow) tells Ross (David Schwimmer) that Rachel (Jennifer Aniston) is his lobster. (According to her, lobsters “fall in love and mate for life,” and then walk around their tank “holding claws.”)

This singer used a Friends quote to announce her celebrity engagement. What are some other ways to use pop culture to announce something special?

Cupid’s Advice:

Jennifer Aniston's Celebrity Engagement: How Long is Too Long?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Actors Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux celebrated their celebrity engagement in August of 2012, and their wedding has been much-anticipated by their many fans. However, reports last week revealed the two have been fighting and are now living separately. Justin has asked Jennifer to be patient, but being no closer to a celebrity wedding date after being engaged for over two years “makes her feel like a fool.” Couple that with the fact that they both have incredibly busy schedules, and it’s no surprise that they are having a hard time scheduling their wedding.

The fact that this celebrity couple has been planning to get married for over two years raises the question, how long is too long? Is there a shelf life to an engagement?

What's holding you back?

That may depend on whether the issues getting in the way are practical ones or emotional ones, and if the couple will be able to give themselves time to work through and get past them. Consider first what is holding you back from setting a date and walking down the aisle. If you both have full-time jobs, for example, or are celebrities like Jennifer and Justin, the demands of the office and of upcoming projects might make it very difficult to plan a wedding.

Where will you live?

On top of that, there's the expectation that once you are married you will share a home base. If you are living in separate parts of the country or world, or have a work assignment far away from where your partner spends most of his or her time, deciding where to call home might not come so easily. Sometimes that requires one person to compromise and make a choice that could end up feeling like a sacrifice he or she isn't ready to make. So whether it is a work commitment, or even an illness in the family that is time-consuming, and thereby keeping you from saying, "I do," you might find yourself in a perpetual state of engagement.

Are you used to your long engagement?

You may even adjust to a long engagement, and it can become what you are used to. So if it works for both of you, then there may not be any rush. Sometimes the end goal of marriage is no longer front and center, and you might not feel compelled to take the next step. You are each happily doing your thing, and haven't taken the time to figure out how to officially merge lanes. Getting married would be nice, but right now it doesn't feel necessary. If that is the case, the shelf life on an engagement can be evergreen.

Are your feelings in the right place?

If the thing that is holding you back has more to do with your feelings than with logistics, take stock of what is going on so you can better understand it and deal with it. Has one of you been married before, maybe even suffered a betrayal as was the case with Jennifer, and therefore may be feeling afraid to take the plunge for fear something similar might happen again? Or, like Justin, has one of you never been married? If that is the case there is the possibility that the fear of a change in identity and the concern over what there is to lose, such as personal freedom, is what is creating the roadblock.

Practical vs. Emotional

Layer the two together, the practical piece and the emotional piece, possibly even throwing in a financial piece, and it is no wonder some people take longer to get to the altar. If one of you is pushing to do it sooner than the other, things might get complicated. But if you are both willing to wait it out, and you are able to work through some or all of these issues, then there is really no downside to waiting. The bottom line is, there is no clear expiration date on an engagement unless you plan to call off the relationship itself. As long as you are on the same team, and are aware of what is keeping you from taking the plunge, you could stay engaged for years or even decades.

Only time will tell if Jennifer and Justin fall into the category of both being okay with the long engagement, or if they will start to move apart in terms of what they each wish for. Hopefully, though, they will be able to move forward in their joint life together, proving their commitment to each other is enduring whether they are married or not.

This former Bachelor couple did not split amicably. What are some ways to reconcile after a bitter break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Not every relationship and love ends happily, and when a split occurs, it's not always amicable. Cupid has some ways to reconcile after a heated break-up:

1. Kiss and make up: The best way to reconcile after a break-up is to put everything on the table and tell one another your true feelings and hopes for the future. Make amends by being honest about your genuine feelings for each other. Kiss and make up!

George Clooney Reveals Surprise Celebrity Engagement Proposal Details

By Jessica DeRubbo

George Clooney recently revealed a juicy piece of info about his celebrity engagement to Amal Alamuddin – namely, that it was a huge surprise to her! According to Clooney, his bride-to-be had no idea he'd be popping the question when he did. In an interview with CBS, Clooney said, “When I asked her, we had never talked about it, so it was all – there wasn't like a, ‘Maybe we should get married.’ Literally, I dropped it on her.” Clooney said that Alamuddin needed a moment to take it all in, reported UsMagazine.com.

Amal Alamuddin ended up with a surprise celebrity engagement. What are three ways to romantically surprise your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Surprise engagements aren't the only way to throw your partner for a loop. Cupid has some tips:

1. Surprise party: Maybe the most obvious, but many people go a lifetime without having a surprise party thrown on their behalf. Even if your partner claims they don't like surprises, there's a 95% chance they will still be thrilled with a surprise party thrown in their name. Consider your anniversary or their birthday.

2. Candlelit dinner at home: This is something your partner definitely won't be expecting when he or she gets home from work! 3. Plan a trip: Whether it's a trip you eventually tell your partner about after it's booked or a trip he or she doesn't even know they're going on until they get to the airport, a surprise getaway is always a good idea. Just make sure it doesn't interfere with your partner's work schedule, and be sure you bring clothes for them!
