What are some ways to show your excitement about your engagement?

Cupid's Advice:

You are more than happy at the idea of spending the rest of your life with that special person and want to shout it at the top of your lungs. In the meantime, you would rather show your enthusiasm in other ways, but not exactly sure how to. Here are a few of Cupid's tips:

1. Speak highly of your partner: This will become second nature if you are completely over the moon with your significant other. You will find yourself talking about their greatest traits that make you blush or have butterflies. For example, if they are selfless, you may find yourself telling others about this characteristic.

2. Inform others: Share with everyone that you are soon to be happily married. Tell family, friends, whoever is in sight! Broadcast it if you feel the need, unless you both have agreed to keep it a secret). If the highest mountain top were accessible, you would do it.

Source Shoots Down Kim and Kanye Marriage Rumors

By Louisa Gonzales

Kim Kardashian and Kanye West are not married, yet. According to People, the rumors about the recent Vogue cover couple getting hitched in a secret ceremony over the weekend in Los Angeles are false. A close family friend of Kardashian, 33, confirms this news, while the rapper's reps have no comment about the gossip. West, 36, and the Keeping Up With The Kardashians star are set to tie the knot on May 24 in France at opulent Chateau Louis XIV.

What are some advantages of keeping your wedding under wraps?

Cupid's Advice:

Planning to get married is an exciting time in any couple's relationship, but it also can be stressful. Marriage is a big decision and commitment, so it can be nice to be able to share news of your engagement to people, however there's nothing wrong with not saying anything about it until you're ready. Cupid has some advice on some advantages of keeping your wedding under wraps:

1. It will make it more special: There's something exciting about having something known just between you and your special someone. Holding onto information until you are ready, is not a bad thing, it can be a good thing in fact because it can help strengthen your relationship. Marriage is between you and your partner, no one else, sure you're both becoming a part of each other's families as well, but that doesn't mean you can't have things on your own.

2. You can make it your way: There's a lot of time, energy and effort that goes into wedding planning, but also in other new life changing things like deciding living arrangements. So, it can be nice to get advice from others, such as friends and family sometimes, but not on everything, especially the big decisions. Just think the less people who know, the better chance you have at not getting influenced by other's and actually making your dream wedding, not anyone else's.

3. Less pressure: One big upside of keeping your wedding under wraps is you won't feel the pressure of others, which will in turn make things less difficult for you. Sometimes wedding planning can get stressful, especially when you're worrying about other people's expectations, when really you should just be focusing on yours and your better half. Don't worry about what other people will think, about the wedding, your partner, your union, whatever, instead remember why you want to get married.

Haylie Duff Is Engaged to Boyfriend Matt Rosenberg

By Sanetra

Richards

'Tis the season for wedding bells! Actress and singer Haylie Duff announced her engagement to boyfriend Matt Rosenberg on Thursday, April 3rd. According to UsMagazine.com, the 29-year-old posted an Instagram photo of the two smiling and her showing off her nice sized rock, with the caption reading, "The future Mrs. Rosenberg #Love @mr_sts." She went onto share the news with her food blog's fans: "This week has seriously just become the best week of my life! As if announcing The Real Girl's Kitchen tv show wasn't enough, Matt just took me by total surprise and proposed...on April Fool's Day of all days! The moment was genuine and sweet (like him!) and I couldn't wait to say yes!"

What are three unique proposal ideas?

Cupid's Advice:

Planning a wedding proposal is far from an easy task. Just like the wedding, it takes preparation (and lots of meditation). You have to strategically map out every single detail, from who is going to be involved, where it is going to be, and what day! Not to mention, you have to keep it a secret. Before you can worry about all of this, thinking of how you want to ask for your partner's hand in marriage is most important. Cupid has a few cute ideas to make things a little bit easier:

1. The museum: Ask your local museum if you could place an enlarged framed photo of you and your partner in the photography section with the proposal as the caption. Take your significant other to the city's museum for what will seem to be a regular date. Look at the various pieces and critique each, as usual. Once you get to your 'proposal piece,' wait for his or her reaction as they read the picture's caption.

2. Write 'note' cards: Send or leave your love sweet note cards throughout the day, whether it is of a favorite quote or a reminder of their beauty. Do about five to ten cards. On the final one, ask for their hand. Priceless moment!

3. Deliver it in the mailbox: Make sure your significant other is the one to check the mail the day you want to propose. Set the ring in the mailbox beforehand. Watch him or her as they open the mailbox to see the box among the other envelopes. VoilÃ ! Here is your chance to propose.

What are some ways to show your excitement about your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

You are not ashamed in letting the world and your partner know that you are more than happy to be with him or her. If possible, you would shout it out at the highest mountain top. In the meantime, you would rather show your joy and gratitude

1. Speak of your partner: This will come naturally if you are happy with your significant other. You will find yourself wanting to bring up their characteristics that make you blush or have butterflies. For instance, if they are sincere in helping others, you may want to let others know.

Cupid's Advice:

Although you are overwhelmed by excitement and joy, you do not want to broadcast your engagement just yet. However, there are some challenges you must overcome in order to successfully conceal the news. Cupid is here to help you out:

1. Secrecy: You must swear by this step, which means seal your lips. Temptation will sneak up quite a few times, and you may want to tell even your closest friends – do not give in. It may seem easier said than done, but definitely can be done if you are serious about not spilling the beans.

3. Leave the ring at home: The urge to flaunt your ring is all a part of temptation's 'evil' plan – do not give in. If you really want to keep the engagement a secret, wearing the ring is probably not the brightest idea. People are easily drawn to sparkly jewelry and will begin to question you. Instead, you may want to choose something simple that is sentimental and symbolizes your engagement.

Finding genuine love is hard and so is finding someone you connect with. Love can come in all shapes and forms. If you found love with someone older it doesn't make your love any less important or significant. However, no matter who you are with there are going to be challenges. Cupid has some advice on things to consider when you're in a relationship with an older man:

1. Does he have children: One of the biggest things to consider before getting involved with an older man is does he have kids? What do you do if your parents don’t approve of your partner?

Cupid’s Advice:

One of the main things we tend to fear the most in the beginning stages of a relationship is the meeting of the parents step. We want it to go smoothly with absolutely no problems – all rainbows and unicorns. So the thought of your parents disliking your companion only adds to the discomfort. However, this does not always mean you should end the romance right away. Cupid has a few tips on what to do if your parents disapprove of your significant other:

1. Don’t fret: For many, a parent’s opinion matters the most, but do not let this tear your relationship apart. You may constantly find yourself between a rock and a hard place if you allow outsiders, including parents, to jeopardize your companionship.

2. Speak well: Try to avoid sharing any negative comments about one to the other. Your parents have already formed a perception of your partner in their heads, and all it could possibly take is an emotional rant to worsen the situation (same goes for the other). Inform them of the good things that are happening in your romance.

3. Give them time: Some say first impressions are everything and maybe even a deal breaker; while others believe in second chances. If you follow the first two steps thoroughly, there is a possibility your parents will eventually come around. Don't be afraid to all come together and share dialogue . . . cordially. Once it is shown you and your partner are genuinely happy, they will likely be happy for you. Keep in mind, your parents will always have your best interest at heart.

What are some things to consider around the timing of your wedding?

Cupid's Advice:

A wedding is a special occasion and it is lovely to be able to share your special day with family and friends. Of course, you want everyone important in your life to attend the witnessing of your wedding vows, but sometimes life gets in the way. It's sad when your loved ones are unable to make it to the wedding celebration, and there could be many reasons why, maybe they're sick, or can't afford to travel to the wedding destination or maybe it conflicted with prior engagements, you know as they say timing is everything. Cupid has some advice on things to consider around the timing of your nuptials.

1. Plan your wedding months in advance: Doing this will give people a considerably amount of time and a heads up to make arrangements to come to your wedding. Let guests know exactly where and when the wedding is taking place so they can make plans accordingly and make all necessary arrangements. It's harder for people to plan to do things in such short notice no matter what it is, just think wouldn't it be hard to plan your wedding on a short time frame? Think about your guests, everyone has their own lives and schedules.

Related: Kim Kardashian and Kanye West Visit Paris: Wedding Plans?

2. Ask friends and family when's a good time to get married: See when is the best day for all your closest family and friends to attend. Ask them things like when they will be off work, or have time to take off. It is wise to consider the people you both hold dear when making wedding decisions and who knows they might even be able to share some good advice. Another thing to consider before saying your "I do's", is if you plan to travel or to invite guests who have to travel to your wedding think about things such as the weather, time and month. You wouldn't want people to not be able to attend because of the weather or work conflicts when it could have been resolved by picking a better wedding date.

Related: Backstreet Boy Singer Nick Carter Proposes to Girlfriend Lauren Kitt

3. Check up on who is and isn't coming: Don't assume all the people you sent invitations to are going to attend your wedding nuptials. Include on the invitation a R.S.V.P line as this will let them know they need to reply if they're going to attend so you can plan accordingly. Ask them to send back their reply on whether they can make it by the "Reply by" date. If certain guests don't reply by your set deadline, check up on it by contacting them to confirm because maybe the invitation could have gotten lost in the mail or they forgot. Remember though, sometimes no matter how much you hope and try to pick a date that can work for everyone you plan to invite it's just not possible, so don't be too bummed out if certain people can't make it and focus on the ones that can.

How do you introduce your child to a new partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Finding romance with someone new is fun and exciting, especially after your previous one didn't work out like you had hoped. When you are happy in a new relationship you want to tell everybody and shout it from the roof tops, but how do you tell your child about your new beau? Cupid has some Advice on how to introduce you new partner to your child:

1. This is the next step in your relationship: First make sure your relationship is serious and solid enough with a potential long-lasting future. Children can become attached easily and if you break up your partner or they leave you, the child will suffer the loss as well. Introduce them to your new 'love' when your relationship is stable and in a good place.

2. Ease your child into your new relationship: Don't just drop this new relationship development in you life on them without giving your children the proper warning. Warm them up to the idea, by casually starting to name-drop this new romantic interest in your life and bring them up during your daily conversations. Mention how you have spent more time with a new friend, someone you would like them to meet very soon.

3. Choose the proper place for them to meet: The introduction between your new lovebird and child should take place where the child feels safe, happy and secure. If you introduce them during a time or place they feel distressed or frightened they will associate this new person in their life with that. If it is in a fun social environment, a place where they associate as the norm to meet new people, say the park, the child will feel more at ease and open to the idea of you and your new partner.

Kelly Osbourne and Matthew Mosshart End Engagement

By Brittany Stubbs

Not all engagements make it to the white dress and fancy ceremony. Kelly Osbourne and Matthew Mosshart have called off their engagement after two years together. "Kelly Osbourne and Matthew Mosshart have decided to end their engagement," Osbourne's rep tell UsMagazine.com. "The split is amicable and the pair continue to have nothing but the utmost respect for one another. Kelly is looking forward to a new year full of fresh beginnings." Meeting in the summer of 2011, the TV personality and vegan chef had confirmed their engagement in July 2013 in a romantic Anguilla proposal.

What are some reasons to call off an engagement?

Cupid's Advice:

Although the thought of calling of your happily-ever-after is tragic, there are times when it is unfortunately necessary. Granted, it might be one of the hardest decisions you will ever have to make, but remind yourself that calling off an engagement now is much easier than ending in divorce down the road:

1. Infidelity: Everyone has their own opinions on cheating—whether it's always a complete deal-breaker or just depends on the circumstance—but if your partner is already being unfaithful before you tie the knot, what will they be doing after several years of marriage? Think about it, is a ceremony and contract going to suddenly change their ways?

2. Serious second thoughts: It's important to preface this item by clarifying there's a difference between getting cold feet and rethinking the entire engagement. It's normal for one to get nervous as the wedding date begins to approach, but if one of you is seriously wondering if you're ready to make this commitment or are not convinced your union will last, it may be a sign the engagement needs to be called off, or at least put on pause.

3. Unresolved issues: Every relationship has their conflicts, but if there are some serious issues between the two of you that have yet to be worked out, it's important to resolve them before walking down the aisle. Issues don't go away just because you're married. Often times, couples believe if they just seal the deal, the old problems will disappear, but they'll still be there at the end of the day, with or without that marriage certificate. So if there are issues weighing on your relationship, consider calling off the engagement until they're resolved.

What are some ways to keep your engagement under wraps at first?

Cupid's Advice:

You're newly engaged, but you're not entirely sure if you're ready to tell all of your loved ones yet. Sometimes, couples just want to enjoy the moment by themselves for a little while and that's perfectly OK. Cupid has some tips:

1. Keep it a secret: Hiding such exciting news from your friends and family can be easier said than done, but it's also the simplest way to keep your engagement just between you and your partner. Until you're ready to tell your loved ones what's going on in your relationship, keep this bit of information to yourself.

'Bones' Star TJ Thyne Proposes to Model Girlfriend Leah Park

By Brittany Stubbs

The engagement of TJ Thyne and Leah Park sounds like it came from a movie! While the couple was vacationing in Cologne, Germany, they were walking the grounds of the castle they were staying when the Bones star popped the question to his model girlfriend, confirms People. Thyne shared photos of the Hollywood-worthy moment, including him down on one knee, and then kissing his new bride-to-be in a candlelit heart in front of the gorgeous castle. What are some ways to make your marriage proposal unique?

Cupid's Advice:

So not everyone has the luxury to get down on one knee in front of a beautiful castle and then be taken away in a horse-drawn carriage, but there are other ways to make your engagement as special and unique as your love.

1. Skip the expected: While a fancy dinner followed by a velvet box and diamond ring is nice, it's definitely been done a million times over. So if you're wanting to make your proposal totally unique, cancel those dinner reservations.

Source Says 'An Engagement Is Coming' for Ashton Kutcher and Mila Kunis

By Brittany Stubbs

Could there be wedding bells in the future for Ashton Kutcher and Mila Kunis? Multiple sources tell UsMagazine.com yes! The couple has been dating for nearly two years, and now that Kutcher and Demi Moore have finalized their divorce, Kutcher is most-likely getting ready to pop the question. "They talk about getting married and having kids. An engagement is imminent," says a source.

How do you determine the right time for a marriage proposal?

Cupid's Advice:

Getting engaged is not only about finding the right person, but the right timing:

1. Financially stable: Money isn't everything, but if you or your partner are currently going through a hard time financially, it's probably not the right time to start planning a wedding. Not only could money problems have influence on the wedding details, but it's also an extremely stressful time, which is not the state of mind one should be in when getting excited about an engagement.

2. Family approves: If you've talked to both your family and their family about an engagement in the near future and they're supportive, this is a great sign it's the right time to propose.

3. It's a stable time in your relationship: Sure, couples will have their fights every now and then, but if you've been going strong for a while without any serious fights or having to "take a break," this is a sign your relationship might be ready to take the next step. Many couples will try and get engaged to fix their problems when they're going through a rough patch, but their conflicts will still be there at the end of the day. Wait till you feel you and your partner are strong and secure as a couple before popping the question.

Source Denies Rumor that Pippa Middleton and Nico Jackson Are Engaged

By Brittany Stubbs

Pippa Middleton's exciting engagement news is just a rumor! Although there was speculation about Middleton and her boyfriend Nico Jackson getting engaged during their trip to India earlier this month, a source tells People, "It is not true." Although the couple has been dating for a year, it doesn't look like wedding bells are in the near future...at least at the moment!

How do you keep your engagement under wraps?

Cupid's Advice:

Want your big news to stay a surprise for a while? There's a couple things you should consider:

1. Don't tell a soul: Even your most loyal friend might have trouble keeping your exciting news a secret. So until you're ready to tell everyone, don't tell anyone. It can be difficult holding the big news in, but just think of it as exciting and romantic that you and your partner are the only ones that know about your future plans.

Related: Pippa Middleton is Dating Investment Banker James

2. Don't go crazy on Pinterest: Okay, most of us are guilty of occasionally pinning the wedding dresses, cakes, and cute invites on Pinterest; no shame, ladies! But if all of sudden your friends see you've added 50 new pins to your "Dream Wedding" board in one night...they might assume something is up. If you can't resist, make your board private so you can get a head start on planning without giving your engagement news away.

3. Avoid your best friends if possible: That sounds silly, but your friends know when something is going on with you. You may think you're playing it totally cool, but they notice when you're holding something back, randomly smiling, or seem eager about something; that's what makes them best friends. So until you're ready to shout your news from every rooftop, skip that girls' night offer and go get planning on exciting ways to share your engagement.

What are some ways to compromise with your partner about wedding plans?

Cupid’s Advice:

Your big day is slowly approaching, but there are still so many details left untouched. You and your significant other can’t seem to agree on much these days and it’s not from lack of trying. Don’t worry, Cupid is here to help:

1. Share ideas: Let your significant other what you have in mind for your wedding and vice versa. Once all ideas are out on the table, try to find a way to combine the two to make something new and unique. If mixing plans isn't what you're looking for, maybe the two of you can think about what you're willing to give up. For example, your partner might want fresh flowers, while you could settle for artificial.

2. What's important: When you and your partner end up in an argument about the details of the wedding, think about what's really important. At the end of the day, the marriage you have with your significant other is what counts not the wedding. Yes, you still want to be able to look back and have fond memories of your reception and ceremony, but do you really think 10 years from now you'll still be upset over what flavor your wedding cake was?

3. Keep an open mind: You might not be a fan of your honey's ideas for the reception and ceremony, but keep in mind that it's their wedding too. When your family and friends come to your wedding, they should be able to recognize the elements you incorporated and what your partner chose as well.

Leighton Meester and Adam Brody Are Engaged!

By Brittany Stubbs

Cue the wedding bells, Leighton Meester and Adam Brody are engaged to be married, a source confirmed to UsMagazine.com. After less than a year of dating, Wonderwall was first to announce the unexpected wedding news for this private couple. Although the Gossip Girl and O.C. star have rarely commented on their relationship in the past, they have been spotted together at a handful of low-key appearances around Hollywood this year. These lovebirds not only have plans for the chapel, but will be working together in the upcoming comedy Life Partners.

What are some ways to make your proposal a surprise?

Cupid's Advice:

There is nothing more exciting than the moment you decide to spend the rest of your life with someone. Making the moment a surprise instead of something she's expected and been building up will make it all the more special!

1. Don't drop any hints: Avoid mentioning things that might arouse her suspicions. Talking about the big night or romantic weekend you've been planning for the two of you is just building her expectations. Also, stay clear of comments like "when we're married" or "hold off on deciding if you should renew your lease" is just obvious.

Related: New Couple: Adam Brody and Leighton Meester Are Secretly Dating!

2. Tell as few people as possible: Despite how loyal your family and friends may be, it's hard to keep such exciting news in. This is especially true when it comes to her friends. Girlfriends tell each other everything; even if they're not sharing the news, it's usually easy to tell when one of them has something on their mind. So unless her friends are actually involved in details of the proposal, let her be as surprised as your girlfriend.

3. Avoid the cliches: Romantic getaways, five star restaurants, and big Valentine's Day plans are fabulous, but they're usually a giveaway that something big is about to come. Surprise her by taking her somewhere unexpected. Maybe you tell her you're just having to run a quick errand while the two of you are on your way home. Maybe you just surprise her at work to see if she wants to grab lunch and instead, take her to whatever you have planned. Think out of the box and get creative!
