

When is it OK to Be Friends with an Ex?

By Relationship & Sex Talk, Jane Greer, Ph.D., for GalTime.com

“You know, Justin and I are great friends. We love each other. We want the best things for one another,” Cameron Diaz told “Good Morning America” in 2011, long after her relationship with Justin Timberlake had ended and while they were promoting the comedy “Bad Teacher” together.

While the former pair have publicly complimented each other, even since Timberlake become engaged to Jessica Biel, is being friends with an ex only the stuff of scripts and on-screen romances?

Often when people end a relationship they say, “Let’s be friends.” It makes sense. You’ve been the most important people in each other’s lives for a long time, maybe even years. It's hard to make that clean break – it can feel like a gaping hole in your life. So you decide to continue to be a part of each other's life. But staying connected isn't always easy or the best choice. So when, if ever, is it OK to be friends with your ex?

Couples rarely break up on equal footing. Instead, one person might be eager to get away while the other wishes to continue to be together. That's where it gets tricky. If you are on the side of hoping for more with that person, you run the risk of remaining attached and not allowing yourself the possibility of meeting someone new who might be better able to fulfill your needs. And if staying connected was a problem while you were dating, imagine how hard it will be to get your ex's attention now. You may just be setting yourself up for frustration and disappointment which ultimately might make you feel more empty and sad. If you remain focused on your ex, it could hold you back from finding your future.

The rule of thumb, generally, is this: It probably isn't such a good idea to try to be friends unless neither one of you holds any hope to be with the other romantically.

Give it time. And if one of you calls the other after years of talking? Maybe then there will still be good feelings remaining and enough time and space will pass so the two of you really can be friends.

Heidi Klum Opens Up About Celebrating First Holidays

Post-Split from Seal

By Jennifer Ross

Christmas in California – is what Heidi Klum has in mind for the holiday season. The supermodel, 39, opens up about the holidays, planning a lovely Christmas at home with her four children from ex Seal, according to UsMagazine.com. On Saturday, when asked about her specific plans, while she was at the Children's Hospital of Los Angeles gala, Klum stated, "We're going to get a big Christmas tree and we might go to Disneyland. We go all over the place." In all this, one question remains. Will Seal, 49, join the family? No news has been said yet. Klum and Seal have recently begun to speak again after the nasty comments Seal made about Klum's new relationship with her ex bodyguard Martin Kirsten. Seal contends that his words were taken out of context.

What are some ways to avoid feeling lonely during a first holiday post-divorce?

Cupids Advice:

Whether you are recently divorced or in the process of one, your first holidays sans your ex can be a very challenging time for you. Although it is natural to feel sadness, that doesn't mean you have to go through it surrounded by gloom. To get you into the spirit of a "different" style of holiday season, here are a few tips in keeping your happiness alive, even after New Year's:

1. No worries about the ex: During the holidays, pay no mind to how your ex will be spending his time. Instead, focus on yourself and necessary loved ones. Obsessing about what he might be doing will only prevent you from having a happier time.

2. Put negative feelings on hold: Any jealousy, heartache or anger needs to be stored in the back of your mind until after the holiday season; this is not the time to hash them out. Don't worry; you are not in denial. There will be plenty of time later to deal with the pain.

3. Keep yourself busy: In keeping your mind out of the negativity pool, it is best to accept as many party invitations as you can. If partying is not your thing, then try spending your time volunteering at your favorite charity. Just do anything constructive that will help to get your mind off your divorce and keep your spirits up.

How do you know if your new partner is a player at heart?

Cupid's Advice:

There's nothing more painful than a one-sided relationship. Don't pour your heart down a bottomless pit. Relationships need sharing, vulnerability, and devotion. Find out if your partner has these qualities by looking for these signs:

1. Values: Getting a baseline for the personal values of your partner is a good way to decide if they're ready for a serious relationship. Discuss the principles you hold when you enter into a relationship, such as monogamy and honesty. It should be clear if they're looking for one person, or if they have a constant flirtatious attitude.

2. Priorities: Does their lifestyle support your relationship? Recognize if they'd rather spend time with you, or go out drinking with mixed company. If they don't have room for you in their schedule, it could be that they're very career oriented, but make sure you're their preference. If they're willing to spend the time to develop as a couple, it shows sincerity.

3. Intimacy: Fostering a connection with your partner, takes time and patience. If they're afraid to open up to you, maybe they're afraid to be honest. Players, though charismatic will be reluctant to share too many details of their life. As zealously enigmatic creatures, the fact that you haven't yet figured out if they're a player or not is a bad sign.

Carrie Ann Inaba Calls Off

Her Engagement

By Jennifer Ross

Dancing with the Stars judge, Carrie Ann Inaba, and her fiancé, Jesse Sloan, have called off their wedding. The two came to this decision back in early summer and have remained friends since then, according to People. There is no news yet of the official reason for the break-up. Sloan had proposed to Inaba, on Live! With Regis and Kelly in March 2011.

What are some circumstances in which you should call off your engagement?

Cupid's Advice:

You have just begun to plan for your wedding, but something seems wrong with your vision. Is it the venue, the dress, the caterer...or the fiancé? Before you pick out the invitation card, you had better confirm your fiancé is the one. Here are a few warning signs that it is best not to move forward with the wedding:

1. Simply too young: As you think about your future wedding day, you notice your fiancé thinks about future clubbing days. Are you two on the right path? Sometimes, an engagement can make a person realize just how young they are and whether they are ready for the life-long commitment of marriage. If being engaged is too much too soon, do not fret. There is plenty of time to get there, as long as you are willing to work it out.

2. I don't know you: As exciting as it is to become engaged, it is also added pressure to your relationship. It is during this new level of stress that deeper levels of a personality will come out and they are not all positive. Is your partner the same person you thought you they were? Do they handle the pressure in a good or bad way? If the engagement had brought out a bad side you have never seen, you may have not known them after all.

3. Avoids discussing the wedding: It is only natural that one partner may be more interested in the wedding details than the other. However, if your fiancé completely objects to speaking about any details at all, there is a bigger problem. To have any annoyance or hostility to an event that is suppose to join you two as one means one of you either is not ready to get married or believes they are marrying the wrong person. Either way, all plans should stop.

How do you know when it's time to move on from an ex-partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Once the relationship has ended with your ex, there may be a period where you still have feelings and not ready to move. However, lingering in this break-up purgatory is dangerous over time. No worries; Cupid's Pulse has a few tips to tell when it is time to emotionally say good-bye:

1. Please leave a message: Does it seem lately that you spend less time talking to your ex-partner and more time talking to their voicemail? If so, it is time to start moving on. Whether your ex is avoiding you or simply unable to answer the phone, it does not matter. The fact is, your ex is not there and neither should you.

2. Too busy for you: On the days that you do run into your ex, do they linger in conversation or keep it short and to the point? When your ex is too busy to talk about the good-old-times, or anytime for that matter, it is a clear sign that things are no longer lovey-dovey between you two. Do not focus on how to keep the conversation going. Instead, keep it positive and short so you, too, can be on your way.

3. They have moved on: An obvious sign that it is time to move from your ex is when they have a new partner. Nothing says "I don't love you anymore" like seeing your ex with their new love interest. Why stick around and be the third wheel when you, too, can be out in the world with someone new? The only way to get there is to let go!

Have you finally moved on from your ex? What made you realize it was time? Comment below.

What are some ways to know that your partner is being unfaithful?

Cupid's Advice:

Being in a relationship, no one wants to find out that the person they trust the most is the one that is hurting them. Here are a few tricks on how to find out if your partner is being unfaithful:

1. Hot and cold: If your relationship has been on the rocks or unstable recently, that could be a huge clue that your partner is experiencing a wandering eye. When we are not happy in current relationships whether it be due to the spark dulling or constant arguments, we tend to look elsewhere to see if we are missing out on anything. Keep an eye out for your partner being out of tune with you emotionally and keeping you out of their schedule.

2. Excuses, excuses: Honesty is one of the most important ingredients in a healthy relationship. When you start hearing excuse after excuse, it's time to start looking for more clues. One late night at the office is understandable, but when the same excuse comes up over and over again, chances are it's not just an excuse anymore.

3. Sudden changes: Sudden changes in mood, behavior and scheduling may be indicators that your partner is unfaithful. Constant canceling and postponing plans that your partner has with you is a red flag. It may be a sign that your partner is seeing someone else, or it may be a warning that the spark is dulling in your relationship.

'Bachelor Pad' Star Chris Bukowski Says He Still Has Feelings for Emily Maynard

By Jennifer Ross

Even though time has passed since Emily Maynard, 28, dumped Chris Bukowski earlier this year on The Bachelorette, Bukowski says he's still not over her. Bukowski, 25, has since moved on to ABC's the Bachelor Pad, and has found a new love interest, Sarah Newlon. On a date together, he admitted to Newlon, 28, that being dumped by Maynard was probably one of "the worst things I've ever experienced...it's heartbreaking." A good thing he has going for him is how Newlon is willing to lend a shoulder to his pain.

What do you do if you're having a hard time getting over an ex?

Cupid's Advice:

One of the hardest things to go through in life is a break-up, especially when you were the one that was dumped. Many questions arise and the pain can seem unbearable. However, there is light at the end of the tunnel. Here are a few tips to getting over that heartbreak:

1. Get your ex off that pedestal: You may want to remember all the funny or loving moments your ex created, but keep in mind, your ex also created many, many horrible ones too. There's a good reason why this break-up happened, even if you cannot see this right away.

2. Get rid of the reminders: The way to ensure you do not relapse into despair is to remove anything that reminds you of the relationship. Trash those cute pictures of you two or that stuffed puppy dog holding a heart that you received at last Valentine's Day dinner. While you are at it, clean your space of your ex's personal belongings fast!

3. Dust off those hobbies: Chances are you have let many of your hobbies go while you were in a relationship. What better way to get over your ex than by getting back your swag? Exercising, whether indoors or out, is a great way to relieve emotional pain, along with extra pounds. An added bonus is you'll start to feel better about yourself. If physical activity is not your style, then find something else.

How do you spend your time forgetting your ex? What hobbies have you rekindled? Tell us below!

Rihanna Says the 'Slightest Things' Remind Her of Chris Brown

We all remember the tragic ending to Rihanna and Chris Brown's relationship in February 2009 after he physically assaulted her. But, recently on Oprah's Next Chapter, the pop star confessed that her ex will always have a special place in her heart. Rihanna continued to tell Oprah Winfrey, "I am reminded by a lot of things. A lot of memories we had. By the slightest things: hotel rooms, tour venues. Any little things: music, songs." Not only is Rihanna still reminded of the singer, but she felt protective of him when he was being charged for assault. She felt he needed help rather than to be locked up. Rihanna revealed a lot of mixed feelings in this interview, which could ultimately lead her back into the arms of Brown.

How do you keep thoughts of your ex from preventing you from moving on?

Cupid's Advice:

Usually when a couple has a dramatic break up, there's a lot of baggage that comes along with it. Here are some ways to prevent that from helping you move on:

1. Accept it as the past: A big problem of past relationships, is that you continue to dwell on things that already happened. You have to accept them as things that you cannot change and just learn from any past mistakes. Accept it and move on.

2. Become friends with your ex: You don't necessarily have to become best friends with your ex, but if you have friendly conversation from time to time, you're most likely to get any thoughts about them out of your system. Hopefully by having a friendly relationship you can learn to be happy for them in the present, and having their support will help you move on.

3. Go out and meet people: The best distraction from an ex, is someone else in your life. Go out and meet new people. Go on dates and allow yourself to be distracted from any thoughts you may have about a past relationship.

Jenni "JWoww" Farley Tells Off Her Boyfriend Roger

Matthews

Arguments between reality-TV star Jenni “JWoww” Farley and her boyfriend of two years Roger Matthews have been heating up since the start of JWoww’s Jersey Shore spinoff: Snooki & JWoww. While in Mexico with her pregnant co-star Snooki, the couple got into a fight regarding the fact that Roger had made plans the day that Jenny was supposed to return to the U.S. The argument continued to get worse until Roger suggested that Jenny reunites with her ex-boyfriend, and alleged abuser, Tom Lippolis, reports UsMagazine.com. In a sneak peek of the upcoming episode, JWoww can be quoted saying, “By telling me I should be with my ex, you can go f–k yourself! And you can burn in hell.” The two have been through many ups and downs throughout their relationship, but this argument may prove too hard to come back from.

What are some ways to avoid heated arguments in your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, a problem can get out of hand between you and a loved one. Cupid has some advice on how to avoid an argument with your partner:

1. Be open with your feelings: When your partner says or does something that upsets you, be honest. Don't assume that they will understand why you are upset; it is your responsibility to explain what they are doing wrong and why it hurts your feelings. Open communication is one way to not only stop arguments, but to avoid them all together in the future.

2. Stay calm: One thing that will escalate an argument is yelling at your partner. Make sure to explain the problem calmly. If you raise your voice, your partner may feel attacked and the need to defend their actions can lead to a full-blown fight. If you can explain your side peacefully, your partner is much more likely to listen and take in what you say.

3. Watch your words: Words can be hurtful, especially when in the midst of a heated argument. It is important that no matter how mad you are, you try your best not to say something you will regret. Saying something you don't mean can make an argument much worse, and lead to a breakup, so try to be honest and don't say something merely to hurt your partner.

EXCLUSIVE: The 'Hollywood Ex' of Will Smith, Sheree Fletcher, Says, "I Never Should've Filed For Divorce"

By Bernadette

McCadden

In the first season of 'Hollywood Exes,' which premiered on VH1 on Wednesday, June 27, viewers will see the real life of Mrs. Sheree Fletcher – not to be mistaken for that of ex-Mrs. Will Smith. In the season premiere, Fletcher goes to dinner with the other cast members, where she meets Andrea Kelly, the recent divorcee of R&B artist, R. Kelly. Kelly desperately seeks advice from the other women about how to get through the hurt of a break-up, and Fletcher encourages her to focus on her kids – something that she did in the wake of her own divorce.

Smith and Fletcher, who divorced in 1995, had one son together, Willard Christopher Smith III, better known as Trey, who is now 19 years old. Looking back on it, Fletcher realizes she had been naïve about marriage, forgetting that it takes hard work to keep a relationship strong. “I went into that marriage with false expectations of what marriage should be. I thought I would be happy every day; I didn’t know there would be up’s and down’s,” she shares. “Based on my situation with Will, I never should’ve filed for divorce. It wasn’t that bad, it wasn’t that serious.”

The divorce took a toll on Fletcher, who now understands that no matter what, after a divorce, you have to give yourself time to mourn. You can’t just ignore the heartache and rush into another relationship. She says, “I went to a therapist; I cried, I cussed and I screamed. It was a safe place. She made me think, and she made me do the hard work necessary to overcome the pain.”

For Trey’s sake, Fletcher and Smith have remained friends. In fact, the two families have even spent Christmas together, just so Trey wouldn’t feel bad about choosing one parent over the other. So how does Fletcher’s current husband Terrell feel about this arrangement?

“Terrell absolutely loves Will and Jada, and we all get along well. It wouldn’t have worked otherwise. I needed someone who would be on the same page as us and put my child first,” Fletcher explains. “I felt so guilty after the divorce, like I did my child a disservice. I needed to forgive myself and then become a good co-parent with Will to ensure that Trey remained the priority. Terrell completely understood.”

The two have been happily married now for over a decade. Fletcher’s husband is a pastor at Hope International Church in San Diego, California, where she also works. As seen on 'Hollywood Exes,' the couple only get to see each other a few days a week because her primary residence is in Los Angeles, not San Diego. "Because we're in different cities, it can be easy to get caught up in your day, so we always make the effort to stay connected," she says.

So when they are together, what is their favorite thing to do on a date? Go to the movies!

"We're simple people," Fletcher says. "There's this movie theatre called iPic in Pasadena, California. We drive thirty miles just to go there because they have these big plushy seats, and you push a button to order food! They'll bring you lamb chops and filet mignon sliders – it's very gourmet!"

You can catch Fletcher on 'Hollywood Exes,' which airs on Wednesdays at 9/8 CT on VH1.

What are some ways to tell it's time to move on after a split?

Sometimes one partner may want to hash out old feelings while the other just wants to forget their feelings. Don't be the one who can't let go! 1. No phone calls: If your ex no longer calls you to set up a date or texts you to let you know what time he's getting home, then it's time to move on.

2. They have moved on: If you see that your ex is already talking to other people or just focusing on themselves without you, then you need to do the same.

3. Other people acknowledge the break up: If the people around you no longer refer to you as a couple, then its time to keep it moving.

What are some ways to avoid an awkward confrontation with your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Since you can't ban your ex from going to your favorite places, there's always a risk you'll run into him or her. Here are some ways to avoid confrontation if you happen to have a run in with a past flame:

1. Pretend you don't see them: This doesn't have to be as immature as it sounds. If you happen to notice your ex is at the same place you are, don't make it obvious. Discreetly keep it to yourself; that way, if they see you, the ball is in their court.

2. Don't try to show off: The worst thing you can do is attempt to make your ex jealous by dangling a new prospect in front of him or her. This behavior will not only make you look silly, but your attempt will send a message that you're trying way too hard, which gives your past lover a reason to confront you.

3. Play it cool: Don't get upset or flustered and remember that they're most likely feeling the same uneasiness. Take a deep breath, smile and carry on as you were. A light conversation may be nice, but it's certainly not necessary.

Five Ways Being Friends With Your Ex Can Ruin You

By Ashley DelBello

Let's be honest: remaining friends with your ex usually doesn't work. It might sound like a good idea in the beginning, especially if your relationship ended amicably. However, a few months later, you're sure to find yourself either pining away for them when they only see you as a friend or participating in late night hook-ups while one or both of you are dating someone else. To remind us about these consequences, here are Cupid's top five reasons why being friends with your ex isn't such a great idea:

Related: Spring Cleaning: 5 Types of Guys to Dump

1. You will be single forever: Okay, so maybe that's a little extreme, but being friends with your ex can keep you from moving on and looking for someone new. Not only is hanging out with them precious time you're wasting when you could be finding someone who does want to date you, but it also prevents you from opening yourself up to the idea of being with someone else.

2. It will damage your new relationship from the start: With your ex still in the picture—even if you claim your feelings are just platonic—how can you be fully committed to your new relationship? Give the new person a chance and dump the ex.

The beginning of a new relationship is always a little hard, so don't make it any harder by keeping your ex around.

3. You will end up with a jealous partner: This is related to the second point, but it's a little more specific. Think about how your current partner must feel with your ex still hanging around. Jealousy might not be attractive, but it's definitely warranted if you're constantly spending time with your ex.

4. Your ex won't be able to move on: While this won't necessarily ruin you (unless they become a stalker), it's not fair to your ex if you're giving them a false hope that there might be something more. While it may seem innocent on your end, there needs to be time after a relationship when both of you go your separate ways.

5. You could hook up with your ex while you're dating someone else: Whether you're the one with the new partner or they are, hooking up with each other isn't going to end well, and it's easy to consider doing so if you continue hanging out together. Remember this though, you broke up for a reason.

Maybe being friends with your ex won't always ruin you, but it's likely to cause additional heartache when you've already had your fill.

What are some ways to remain amicable with an ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Breaking up is hard to do, and staying friends after the break-up can sometimes feel impossible. However, you can keep a meaningful friendship intact when the romantic connection is gone. Here are some ways to remain amicable with an ex:

1. Let go of grudges: If you want to get past the reason your relationship didn't work out, forget about the past and focus on your future as friends or just being civil with one another.

2. Take baby steps: Do not go from a huge break-up to a dinner and movie date with your ex. When the time is right, go out for coffee or a quick chat in the park.

3. Group meetings: To make things even more relaxed and friendly, meet with your ex in a group of each other's friends or family.

How do you deal with a vengeful ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Moving on from a breakup is difficult no matter what terms the relationship ends on. If you find your ex saying mean things that he knows will get your attention, it's usually a sign that he isn't as over you, or the split, as you thought:

1.No response is the best response: Don't give your ex the satisfaction of dropping to his or her level. If your ex is reaching out to you, it's obviously for a reason, so if you want to keep that relationship in the past, don't let them get a rise out of you – which was likely their goal in the first place.

2.Take it as a compliment: If a past partner is taking time out of their day to say things about you, it's because you're on that person's mind. Smile that they still care enough about you, as they took time out of their day to vicariously reach out to you.

3. Use it as fuel: If your ex is going to say cruel things about or towards you, just remember how much better off you are without that person. You deserve someone who is going to make you happy and your ex's immaturity can be used as a push in the right direction towards the one.

How do you move on after a divorce?

Cupid's Advice:

After a divorce, you can feel like you've lost your entire world or your best friend, but it doesn't have to be so bad.

Cupid has some tips to help you stay positive and move on gracefully:

1. Don't waste time: After a split, a grieving stage is necessary, but don't let it take over your life because regret can be a difficult emotion with which to cope. Give yourself time to accept the past, settle into the present and embrace what the future has in store for you. Life is filled with ups, downs and unexpected turns, so be strong and carry on because things will get better again.

2. Get out of denial: The marriage is over, and there's no use in thinking about the "what if's," or the "if I would have done this," because you can't go back. The only way to move is forward with a new perspective on how you're going to learn from your mistakes and improve your life.

3. Find yourself: You can't be that person you were when you were with your ex, because life is going to be different without them. There's an authentic "you" in there somewhere, and maybe you haven't revealed it in a while, but it's time to be independent again.

When your partner makes a mistake, how do you know whether to forgive them or not?

Cupid's Advice:

It's hard to know when to give your sweetheart a second chance or not. Cupid has some advice:

1. Weigh your options: Will this same thing happen again? Will you be more miserable with or without your beau? These are some important questions to consider when dealing with mistakes made by your lover.

2. Consider the mistake: Breaking up or staying together after a mistake all depends on the magnitude of the error. If your man cheated on you, say goodbye and move on. If your guy made a fool of himself in front of your parents, talk to him about it and ensure it won't happen again.

3. Wait for an apology: If your partner realizes they are in the wrong on their own and they apologize, breaking up with them is too extreme. However, if your significant other does not even realize they've upset you, you probably need to let them know and consider breaking things off.

Cupid’s Advice:

So you and your ex didn’t make it to the altar like you thought would, but that doesn’t mean the two of you still can’t be friends. Don’t know how to get over the awkwardness ? Cupid has some tips:

2. Get over the grudge: The breakup might not have ended so well, but if it’s been years since then, you shouldn’t hold onto a grudge forever. Sometimes, not holding a grudge with your former flame can be what you need to move on to the next best thing.

3. Be friendly: If you have the same friends, you might run into each other often. When this happens, smile and make small talk. This may not reignite the spark in your old relationship, but it may lead into becoming friends again.

Is Dating Your Ex Off Limits?

By Erika Mionis

After a tough breakup, many people gorge themselves in the nearest pint of ice cream and attempt to forget their sorrows. Shortly thereafter, it's common for them to experience a rush of self-confidence; they're determined to enjoy being single. However, the rush and the ice cream therapy can't last forever.

It's easy to assume going back to your ex is okay if you have a change of heart. And in some cases, it's acceptable to retry a failed relationship. However, it's important to fully analyze your breakup, your ex and your plans for the future before rekindling the flame. Here are a few things to consider:

The cause:

Even the most pointless breakups happen for a reason. Before restarting your relationship with your ex, make sure to figure out why the two of you split up in the first place. If your breakup was caused by a petty argument, feel free to reconsider the relationship. If the parting of ways was the result of a wrongdoing on your partner's part, think about moving on. Though there are exceptions to every rule, for the most part, people don't change. Starting a relationship with someone you don't trust may only lead to more distress in your life.

Possibility of forgiveness:

If your ex was the one who ended the relationship, reconnecting with each other will be even more difficult. Work on the small personality issues that your partner may have disliked and ask your ex for another chance. Though this will take time, eventually you will be a better person because of it. If your breakup was caused by a personal mistake on your part, your ex may not consider dating you again. Be prepared to accept rejection.

Your ex:

Is your ex really worth it? Trying to rekindle the flame will take enormous effort on both of your parts. You should only date again if you truly feel that your ex could be "the one."

The future:

Don't run back to your ex if you feel optimistic about the future. If you have a close friendship with someone that could potentially lead to more, go for it. Contemplating the past may be a waste of time. There are probably better relationships still to come.
