These celebrity exes may be reconciling soon. What are some ways to work on a failing relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Just because the spark went out doesn't necessarily mean your relationship is over. Here are some ways to work on a failing relationship:

1. Back off a little: It's sometimes best to back off a bit and let your relationship work itself out. Give your partner some space and spend some extra time with your friends. Putting too much pressure on your relationship and trying too hard to move it forward, can ultimately lead to disaster.

Chris Pratt and Anna Faris are setting the golden standard on co-parenting. What are some ways to co-parent when the relationship is less than friendly?

Cupid's Advice:

Divorce isn't easy, especially when you might never want to see your ex again. How should you set your own golden standard for co-parenting your child(ren)?

1. Remember that you were a happy family once: Even though things are tough now and you might not be able to stand each other, remember that you were a happy family together once. Divorce isn't just hard on the both of you, but on your kid(s) too.

2. Never speak negatively about the other parent: Hearing bad things about their parents can leave a long-lasting impact on children that might cause them to act out in school or at home. Never, ever say anything nasty about the other parent. Remember, kids are like sponges. They like to repeat what they hear, and your other co-parent is likely to find out what has been said about them eventually. Would you rather get through this co-parenting thing together relatively unscathed, or hardly be able to stand each other when you're in the same room together if your child needs you?

3. The both of you need to swallow your pride: There will be birthday parties, family nights, holiday gatherings, and school events. Your child(ren) needs to feel loved first. They will need reassurance that Mom and Dad can still get along. Put aside your differences and have a board game night. If you've moved on already, include your new S.O. if the other co-parent has agreed to let your kid(s) meet them. While things might be awkward at first, eventually the less than stellar relationship as co-parents will become easier.

Cupid's Advice:

Even though you might feel it's not their business, there may be times you need to let your ex know that you're moving on. What reasons would justify telling your ex about the details of your new relationship?

1. You're still friends: Not all relationships end completely with social media and number-blocking. In some cases, you might decide to stay friends with your ex. Maybe you work together or have the same circle of friends and don't want to cause tension or strife. Letting them know you're moving on before anyone else can soften the blow.

2. You have children: Whether you are just starting to date again or are ready to propose to an amazing new person, you're going to want your ex to know. You will want your child(ren) to meet them, since the person you're in a relationship with is now a big part of your life and theirs. Letting your ex know before anyone else that you're moving on will help prevent any potential arguments and will protect your child's well-being.

effect; they think you actually want to get back with them. It's totally okay to let them know that you're moving on, but make sure you let them down easy. If you want to maintain the friendship with them eventually, they need to know that you have met someone else; potentially leading them on could turn disastrous later.

Cupid's Advice:

When it comes to love you have to give it your all even if it's the end! Cupid has 3 last-ditch efforts that could save your relationship:

1. Take the b-word off the table: You don't want a possible break-up to be hanging over your heads. So, take it off the table, because in order to make the relationship work, you must create a safe space. This means no ultimatums and no threats of any kind. This also includes planning, thinking about breaking up or pursuing other relationship as if you're going to break up. This is serious, as using the b-word creates uncertainty and pressure in a relationship. You have to completely remove breaking up from the table.

2. Opportunity to evolve: In order for a relationship to heal, vulnerability has to be reintroduced to the relationship. This means giving your partner another chance to evolve and to change in order to be a better partner. This gives them and you another chance to respond differently to your needs and to look at love differently.

3. Work on yourself: The most important relationship you can ever be in and improve upon is the one you have with yourself. By fixing yourself, you change the way you see and react to others – your partner included. This may mean they will change the way they respond to you. To save your relationship, work on yourself!

Cupid's Advice:

Is it okay to have you ex at your wedding? Cupid has some thoughts on when this is okay:

1. The relationship with the ex isn't fresh: If you have been in your current relationship longer than you were broken up and were able to be in a friendship with your ex, then having them at your wedding shouldn't be an issue. The past is in the past and both of you are currently happy with the life you live, so it should be easy to include them on the guest list.

2. The ex is a part of the couple's life: The ex shouldn't be invited to the wedding if they are just a random person brought up from the past. If the couple spends time with this person and thinks of them as a friend rather than an ex, then they can choose if they want that person there or not.

3. The ex is the other parent to your child: This is more of a courtesy to the child rather than to either of the parents. It shows that even though the parents are not together, there is no hostility between them, which gives the child an easier time of understanding the new relationship.

It’s not easy breaking up, but is it that easy to get back together with an ex? Cupid has some tips on what to consider before getting back together with an ex:

1. The break-up: Ask yourself, did the break-up end badly? Why did you break up? Can what was broken be fixed? Were you a better person while with this person, or worse? You must reevaluate your old relationship, and really give some thought to everything you have been through – the good, the bad and the ugly.

Celebrity Exes: Tate Donovan Says He was 'Dying Inside' Working with Ex Jennifer Aniston on 'Friends'

By Ivana Jarmon

In the latest celebrity news, Tate Donovan broke his silence on his break-up from celebrity ex Jennifer Aniston. In 1994, the Argo actor guest starred on the famous NBC comedy show Friends for a six-episode arc. During that time, Donovan and Aniston were unfortunately breaking up in real life. Reporting exclusively to UsMagazine.com, Donovan said, "I was just happy to be on the team. The only bummer was Jennifer and I were breaking up at the time. And so that was tricky to sort of act like we are just meeting each other, and falling in love, when we're sort of breaking up. That was tough." Donovan went on to say that because of the break-up, the arc for his character Joshua, a personal shopping client of Rachel Green's (Aniston) at Bloomingdale's, only lasted six episodes. But, those who knew of their break-up such as Aniston's co-stars, were very compassionate about the whole situation. The actors were all able to remain professional.

These celebrity exes kept it professional at work even though they were going through a break-up in real life. What are some ways to stay professional at work even if you work with your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Break-ups aren't easy, especially if you have to continue seeing your ex on a daily basis at work. Cupid has some tips:

1. Keep it professional: Work is work. Keep your personal life out of it. Even if you feel like you're dying inside, take a deep breath and keep it moving. Be civil to one another, even if he or she isn't.

3. Don't date your coworker in the first place: Plain and simple. Dating a co-worker may work for some, but certainly not all. If things go south, it may get very awkward very quickly at your work place. This won't only affect you, but also your coworkers. Tensions may escalate quickly. There's no reason you should have to see your ex daily. It's extremely hard to make a clean break, but it's almost impossible to make one when you share an office.
