1. Don't feed into it: The best thing you can do is to not feed into the rumors. Giving attention to this hurtful gossip will make things worst by allowing the gossip to grow and potentially spiral out of control. When someone asks if you heard it? Say yes and keep it moving. Eventually your silence will show the person who started the nasty rumor that you could care less and the rumors will stop. Silence is stronger than any other answer, remember that.

2. Actions speak louder than words: Remember, actions speak louder than words. Show your haters that you and your partner are still going strong and you are un-bothered. Not only will this shut down the person who started the rumor, it will shut down and questions or thoughts anyone else has about your relationship. To avoid ridiculous questions, this is the easiest way to keep the rumors away.

3. Talk about it: Make sure you and your partner are on the same page when it comes to these rumors. Talk it out in private about what you both know. This will just create more chaos and strain on your relationship and life in general. We cannot control what others do, but we can control our reactions. 2. Be blunt if they are: If your partner's parents really make it clear that they are not a fan of you, be blunt and ask them sincerely what you can do in order to gain their trust.
