

Celebrity Divorce: 'Vanderpump Rules' Star LaLa Kent's Married Boyfriend Is Officially Divorced

y Jessica Gomez B

In celebrity news, LaLa Kent's boyfriend Randall Emmett is no longer married to Ambyr Childers, his wife of eight years. The divorce was finalized on December 22, according to EOnline.com. The former celebrity couple tied the knot in 2009, then separated a couple of years ago, finally filing for divorce earlier this year. The former couple has two daughters together. As for Kent and Emmett, it looks like they intended on keeping their relationship on the down-low until the divorce was final – but sometimes in life, we don't always get what we intend.

This celebrity divorce is probably coming at a good time, given that Lala would more than likely want an unmarried boyfriend. What are some ways to recover after a bitter divorce?

Cupid's Advice:

Most divorces aren't pretty. Although our emotions can be running wild at a time of bitterness, we must try not to become bitter ourselves. Cupid has some tips:

1. Learn from the experience: Learn the lesson. Many times, it's hard to stay rational during a very emotional time, but we must try our very best. There is no point in dwelling on the past because we cannot change it. However, looking back in order to learn and move on is a different story – that you should do! It's easier said than done, but time does heal and you need to give it a little push as well.

2. Invest in yourself: It's time to be selfish. It's time to be about you. Do what you have to, and do what you want to. Learn something, pamper yourself, do the things you enjoy! It's all about what's best for you. Enrich yourself, grow into an even better person. Strive toward becoming the best version of yourself.

3. Look forward to a bright future: Be positive and know that there will be better days. Positive thinking really does go a long way. Think about what you have accomplished so far and be proud. B

y Karley Kemble

New year, new Kim? Kind of! According to EOnline.com, Kim Kardashian has been very open with the changes she hopes to make in 2018 on her exclusive app. In the video, Kardashian states her main goal “is to be on my phone less and more in the moment.” She also hopes to up her fitness game and work out five to six days a week with her trainer. 2018 will certainly be a huge year for Kardashian and her husband Kanye West, as they will soon be welcoming another celebrity baby via surrogate, too!

This celebrity news shows us that even celebrities like Kim Kardashian plan to make big changes with the new year. How can you stick to your resolutions once you've committed to them?

Cupid's Advice:

It's easy to make resolutions at the beginning of the year, but it's not always easy sticking to them. In fact, most people ditch their big resolutions before January even ends. If you're hoping to make sure your big changes stick, check out these tips straight from Cupid:

1. Re-frame the "resolution": Resolutions rarely see life past January is because of the immense pressure to strictly abide to them. If there is even a small deterrent, most people give up because they aren't perfecting their goal. Try re-framing and leave room for error. For example, if you want to lose weight, instead of saying "I will lose 20 pounds this year," say "I want to change my eating habits and focus on my overall health." The two coincide, and it's more likely you'll have more success!

2. Don't be afraid to restart: Slip-ups are inevitable, so don't beat yourself up over them! With 52 weeks and 365 days, you would be insane not to stray from your big resolution. When you do stray (notice: "when" and not "if"!) know that your next choice/decision is an opportunity to get back to your goal. It's better to have a slow and steady progression, rather than no progress or even backtracking and giving up completely!

3. Have a support system: Lean on others for support. It's not a sign of weakness, rather, it's a sign of strength! When you tell others about your goals, they will want to help encourage you and help keep you accountable. Making others proud is always a very empowering motivator, so you should definitely consider this option!

Cupid's Advice:

While you certainly don't have to gift your significant other a present as grandiose as kangaroos, it's nice to show your love with a romantic gesture every now and then. If you're feeling stumped, Cupid has some ideas for you:

1. Something sentimental: Do you two have a certain date that's important to you? Maybe you have a special spot you always go to, or a fun inside joke. Whatever the case, something sentimental is always appreciated. Perhaps you find the coordinates to the location you first saw your partner and have that stamped on a bracelet. The more specific, the better!

2. Something handmade: Handmade gifts are seriously underrated! Channel your elementary school days and get artsy! According to UsMagazine.com, sources close to Cyrus and Hemsworth say that pair is happy with the way their relationship is, and “have zero plans of having an actual wedding.” In fact, the celebrity couple already “considers themselves married” because of how long they’ve been together! This celebrity couple isn’t going to be heading down the aisle anytime soon. What are some reasons to hold off on marriage?

Cupid’s Advice:

While you may feel pressured to plan your wedding right after you and your partner become engaged, it's important to keep your wants and needs in mind. Long engagements are perfectly okay! Here are some reasons to consider pressing pause on your future walk down the aisle:

1. It saves money: Sometimes, it's financially smart for you and your partner to have a long engagement to save money for your big day. No matter the size of the wedding, they can be quite costly. Invites, rental spaces, dresses – they all add up very quickly. Ease the financial burden and take your time!

Celebrity News: Jason Kennedy's Wife Lauren Scruggs Defends Him After Co-Host's Exit

y Jessica Gomez

In celebrity news, Lauren Scruggs, Jason Kennedy's wife, is standing by her man! After her hubby's co-star, Catt Saddler, quit working for E! due to a pay disparity, Kennedy received criticism on social media, according to UsMagazine.com. Scruggs was there to support her hubby though. This celebrity couple stands strong together – and Scruggs had something to say via Instagram on Dec 21 to defend her man and E!. She wrote, "I believe in female empowerment and gender equality, but it's heartbreaking that a network is being deemed sexist when that is simply not true. At one time my husband had a female co-anchor [Giuliana Rancic] on E! News who made 3 times his salary. Women are paid accordingly on this network, and the difference in his salary versus hers did not affect Jason. He knows there are always more components to consider when determining one's salary than gender alone... Since Jason was named the permanent anchor of E! News over two years ago, he has had various co-hosts that rotate throughout the week. A permanent co-host has never been named since the last one left 6 months ago."

This celebrity news shows that couples stick together in the good times and bad. What are some ways to support your partner through a controversial time?

Cupid's Advice:

Supporting your partner during tough situations is important. Cupid has some relationship advice on ways to support your partner:

1. Communicate effectively. Make sure you are listening as much as you are speaking. Sometimes we mistake hearing for listening. The best way to help your partner is to try your best to understand them and prevent misunderstandings, and for that, listening is key!

This celebrity news shows us that sometimes comfort overpowers style. What are some style tips for staying comfortable for dressier occasions?

Cupid's Advice:

As awesome as it is to get dressed up, it's not always the most comfortable thing. If you're dreading an event because of the inevitable discomfort, Cupid is here to help:

1. Predict the mishaps: Nothing is more uncomfortable than getting blisters or cuts from wearing heels all night! Invest in blister bandages, and wear them before putting on those heels and leaving for the evening. Make sure to put a few extras in your purse or the back of your phone case, too. Predict the problem beforehand to prevent it from happening – it's a game-changer!

2. Have a backup plan: Don't let painful feet stop you from tearing up the dance floor! If you know you won't be able to wear your heels for longer than a half hour, bring a backup set of flats. (Or, just ditch the shoes all together if you don't mind dirty feet!) Your feet will thank you...we promise!

3. Wear what feels right: Comfort directly correlates to confidence: if you feel comfortable in your outfit, you will be more confident! Make sure to accentuate and play-up your favorite features. Cupid's Advice:

Believe it or not, style does play a role in relationships, and not just in the aesthetically pleasing department. Cupid is here to inform you!:

1. Matching has a connecting effect: Have you and your partner ever matched without planning? You both end up wearing similar outfits or the same color? In a way, it feels good. You feel like you're both connected, plus you look cute in public. Feeling like you and your partner are on the same page is a good thing, and matching is a small nudge in that direction.

2. People snap judgments: It's engraved in our society – people judge others based on how they dress and their style. Whether these judgments are good or bad, the way you dress and the way your partner dresses are both in the public eye, up for observation. You shouldn't care what people think, but you may be more reluctant to not care when your significant other is meeting your friends or the fam. We all know that a good sense of style does make a lasting impression.

3. Having a good sense of style gives you confidence: And having confidence helps a relationship. Having a style that you love is important because it can give you a self-assuring feeling – and oh, how we know that a lack of confidence is a problem in many relationships. On top of that, your style is something that you identify with, it's a reflection of you. On that note, let's do some shopping!

This celebrity news may not be appreciated by the married

Cupid's Advice:

It's not fun to deal with others' emotional baggage. Though your partner may claim to be unattached to their ex, there's always a possibility they still could be. Cupid has some signs to look out for:

1. They've purged their social media: This may seem like a small detail, but it speaks volumes. One hand they're just pictures, but it could also indicate that they have some unresolved feelings about their ex. Photos are nostalgic – so your partner might just be nostalgic about their past love.

2. They talk about them nonstop: People want to talk about topics they're interested in, people they like, or things that are on their mind. If your partner brings up an ex a little more than what seems normal, it's likely that they are still emotionally attached. Don't overlook it or take it lightly

Celebrity News: Taylor Swift's Ex Turned Her Into 'Quasimodo,' According to BFF Todrick Hall

y Karley Kemble

Taylor Swift is infamous for being dramatic about her exes. If 2017 has shown us anything, it's that Swift is tired of being defined by the media. From winning a defining court case as a victim of sexual assault, to releasing her sixth album, Swift's past reputation is slowly, but surely being forgotten. In the latest celebrity news, one of Swift's closest friend Todrick Hall has revealed some vulnerable details about her most recent celebrity ex, reports EOnline.com. According to Hall, Swift would "hunch over" at the mere mention of her ex's name – so he edited a photo of her to look like Quasimodo and told her, "You cannot turn into Quasimodo for this guy. Every time you say his name, you hunch over." Though her most recent relationship ended with a break-up, Hall said that his bestie is happier than ever with her current beau, Joe Alwyn.

In celebrity news, even Taylor Swift fell victim to an unhealthy relationship. What are some ways to know you're in an unhealthy relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Unhealthy relationships are emotionally draining, and it's best to end them before things worsen. If you think you might be in an unhealthy relationship, read these tips from Cupid:

1. They're too attached: Sure, it's normal to be a little clingy to your partner, but there is a line that must be drawn. Make sure you are aware of the differences between healthy attachment and emotional manipulation. Phrases like "I'll die if you ever break up with me" should never be taken lightly. Emotional manipulation is never, ever okay.

2. They constantly blame you: If your partner finds a way to spin every argument or disagreement you have and makes you feel like the bad guy, that is a telling sign of an unhealthy relationship. You are entitled to your feelings and opinions, and your partner should never invalidate you for being too sensitive or for overreacting. Beware of this if it arises.

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, it's better to keep your relationship between you and your partner. If you're looking to keep your relationship quiet for the time being, read these tips straight from Cupid:

1. Keep it offline: In a world ruled by social media, it's important to refrain from posting or sharing anything related to your personal relationship! While your personal life might not be as documented by the tabloids, people in your news feeds will definitely talk and share the news with those around them. If you don't want others to know, keep it off the Internet until you're ready.

2. Stay in on weekends: Weekends are the days when most people go out, so if you're wanting to keep your relationship quiet, it's better to stay in. If you and your partner want to do things together out in public, there always is a risk of seeing somebody you know. Have day dates (if you can) or go out during the weekday, when most people are at home!

3. Don't talk: Loose lips sink ships! If you feel like your best friend or members of your family will spread the news of your new relationship to everyone in their general vicinity, don't share it with them! It's your relationship so if you're not ready to talk about it – you don't have to.

When you begin a relationship, there's always an element of uncertainty. Sometimes, you just know when somebody's going to be around for longer than a few dates. Here's what Cupid has to say:

1. They're eager to be with you: Everyone's busy to some extent. However, it is important to recognize the difference between not having time and making time. If your partner seems super eager to spend a lot of time with you, and never (or very, very seldom) postpones plans, that is very telling! Even better: when the time they want to spend with you is thoughtful or seemingly mundane (i.e. offering to tag along with you while you run errands.)

2. They take a genuine interest in your life: When others

Cupid's Advice:

Adopting another person's traditions can be hard, especially if you and your partner aren't into the same things. Read Cupid's advice to help you and your love have a stress-free holiday:

1. Be flexible: A consensus is ideal, but many times we have to compromise or make certain sacrifices. Plans can also be modified to accommodate both parties. Do what you can do, but remember to accept what you may not be able to change. Also, don't forget to keep a positive mind!

Celebrity News: Robert Pattinson Spotted Holding Hands with a Mystery Blonde Post FKA Twigs Split

y Rachel Sparks

Twilight star Robert Pattinson has been seen holding hands with another woman just a few months after the split with celebrity ex FKA Twigs. According to UsMagazine.com the couple attended Seth MacFarlane's annual holiday party together. The identity of the mystery blonde remains unknown. Pattinson admitted that his engagement with FKA Twigs was not totally amicable towards the end as believed. Privacy and scheduling conflicts created tension for the celebrity couple towards the end.

This celebrity news seems to mean that Robert Pattinson is moving on. How do you know when it's time to give up hope of returning to your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Returning to an ex is great. They know exactly what you like, how to treat you, what your interests are, and, more than likely, the two of you are great friends. Getting back with an ex can be like returning home. If the two of you agreed to take a break and ended on friendly terms, it's normal to wait to jump back into dating because you want to wait for your ex. Sometimes, though, it's more important for you to move on. Read Cupid's love advice to help navigate those tough relationship waters:

1. You're ready for a relationship: This is the ultimate way to know when to move on, whatever the circumstance. If you're feeling great about life, what you have, who you are, and you're ready to share that with someone, don't wait for your ex. Love never follows a predictable path. You may be sad to be moving on when there seemed to be promises of returning to your ex, but you deserve your own happiness.

2. The problems haven't resolved themselves: Couples take a break for a reason. If those reasons haven't been resolved, returning to an ex will only start a cycle. Whether it's scheduling or distance or something else together, don't go back until you feel you can give the relationship a fair shot. If the problems won't ever go away, it's definitely time to start fishing for something new.

3. You're ok seeing your ex with someone else: The penultimate way to know you're past your ex: seeing (or imagining) them with someone else doesn't get you fired up. It's not fair to a new relationship if you're still harboring feelings for your ex. If you're truly past them, there's no reason to hold onto the hope of a reunion if that's not where you see love.

Cupid's Advice:

Regardless if you have been with your partner for a matter of months or many years, it's important to keep the spark alive! If you're looking for different ideas to reignite the romance, Cupid has some tips for you:

1. Surprise each other: Never underestimate the power of a random surprise. Leave a cute note in the pocket of their jeans or in the glove box of their car. The more seemingly random your hiding spot is, the bigger the surprise will be!

2. Embrace spontaneity: We are creatures of habit, and it's easy to feel attached to routine. Your relationship should never feel like a chore! There's another celebrity baby on the way! What are some ways to prepare for your second child differently from the first?

Cupid's Advice:

A second baby is very exciting! While you certainly are more of a parenting pro the second time around, there are still some considerations to keep in mind. Check what Cupid has to say:

1. Talk to the future big sis/bro: Your first child is used to garnering all the attention from you and your partner, so another kiddo will be an adjustment for them. Make sure you take the time to talk to the first-born so they know what to expect. Make it clear that you still love them just as much, and that nothing will change your relationship.

2. Utilize your hand-me-downs: You've probably got a lot of old clothes and necessities lying around the house somewhere, so use them! This helps keep your finances in check and is also makes it feel as though you're getting your money's worth. The toy that your first-born child played with one time will feel brand new for your second kid!

3. Take inventory of what you have and need: Sure, you have most of the necessities already, but before baby #2 arrives, get together with your partner and assess your current staples. Get rid of/donate anything you don't use or anything that is worn out. Then, make a master list of things you need and things that need to be replaced! Out with the old, in with the new.

Cupid's Advice:

At some point we all have wanted to get back together with an ex. It's normal. They know you and what you like and they're familiar and safe. While getting back together with an ex doesn't work for everyone, there are times that it can be the exact romance that you want in life. It all depends on your past with your ex. Was the breakup irreconcilable? You alone know what's best. Cupid has the relationship advice to help you decide:

1. You know each other: The best relationships are the ones where your partner knows you inside and out. They know your buttons and your insecurities, but they love you anyway. They know what makes you happy, how your brain works, your dreams, and how to support you. If your ex was great at all of these things, going back to that relationship can actually be a good thing.

2. You're friends: Romantic relationships work best when there's a solid foundation as friends. No matter what dating advice says about dating an ex again, you will know if you're ready for that kind of thing and if it will be good for you both.

When you go back to an ex, you're still the same people, but a little older and wiser. Sometimes that's all you need to make something a success. When you go back to an ex, make sure it's for the right reasons and that you're fully committed to making it work. Who knows, the person who was once an ex could become the love of your life and your future spouse. Treat them as if they could be.

Royal Celebrity Couple News: William & Kate Will Host Harry & Meghan for the Holidays

With all this holiday cheer and celebrity wedding planing fun, what's more exciting than this royal celebrity news? According They'll start Christmas Eve with Queen Elizabeth II at her Sandringham House, then spend the rest of the holiday with Prince William and Duchess Kate as their official house guests. Slated with plans, they'll spend brunch-time at St. Mary Magdalene Church and enjoy a massive feast with two turkeys, a third bird being sent up to the nursery for the royal children.

Even celebrity couples celebrate the holidays with family. What are some ways to keep the drama out of your family reunion?

Cupid's Advice:

Let's be honest, not everyone likes their family. Holidays pressure us to spend time with our more distant relatives, but that only adds more stress. Snide comments, little jabs, and passing judgements end up hurting a lot of feelings and causes drama. Our relationship advice will get you through this holiday season with as little family drama as possible:

1. Be grateful: Not everyone can visit their families, so realize that, despite the drama, there are people who are envious of you and your family. No, your family isn't perfect. There's fights and screaming children and disappointed parents, but families are messy. Revel in the fact you have so many people around you who, at the end of the day, love you. That's a lot to appreciate.

2. Anticipate triggers: It's hard to remain cheerful when you know your brother is going to comment on your weight. Expecting these snide comments can help alleviate some of the frustration and anger when they do occur. You may be able to ignore these comments and just have a good time, and that is something that will drive your family crazy if they're wanting to push your buttons. Set a new trend: ignore jabs and experience joy.

3. Banish black-and-white thinking: We all want the holidays to be magnificent. We want our kids to have the same joyful memories we did, full of magic. We want to genuinely enjoy seeing our family and reconnecting with them. People don't always meet these expectations, accidents happen, fights break out, kids cry, and that holiday cheer you pictured isn't what's playing out. Put aside expectations and realize setbacks happen, but that doesn't mean the whole holiday is ruined. Don't dwell on the problems; instead, enjoy every moment for what it is.

Celebrity News: Harvey
Weinstein Lied About Having Intimate Relations with

Gwyneth Paltrow

y Rachel Sparks

Harvey Weinstein's name has become a household warning. There's yet more celebrity news on Weinstein's decades long scandals. According to EOnline.com and The New York Times, Gwyneth Paltrow published a staggeringly long list of cover-ups and lies throughout Weinstein's career. One major lie Weinstein told was that Paltrow had consented to have sex with him in order to advance her career. Paltrow's name and Weinstein's lie was used as a weapon against other actresses in order for them to say "yes" to his advances.

This celebrity news has us cringing. What are some ways to ward off unwanted advances?

Cupid's Advice:

We all at some point will be in a position where we are made uncomfortable by unwanted advances. Male or female, someone with power can abuse their position to negotiate with you something you don't want to do. Cupid has relationship advice to help you when you're in these situations:

1. Call them out: Use your best judgement. Sometimes, calling out a person on their advances is exactly what it takes to end it. If a person thinks they can get away with something because they don't think you'll speak up, prove them wrong. Sometimes, though, the person making the advances is too aggressive and calling them out will anger them. Again, use your best judgement, but don't be afraid to speak up for yourself.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Reese Witherspoon Reveals She was Sexually Assaulted by Director at Age 16

2. Tell them to leave you alone, in no uncertain terms: If you firmly say you want nothing more, sometimes the person coming onto you will stop. If you say this in front of a group, the other people can hold the advancer accountable for their actions. But be careful, doing this makes it much more uncomfortable being alone with that person, so avoid alone time at all costs.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Matt Later Fired from NBC News for 'Inappropriate Sexual Behavior'

3. Report the behavior: If you've asked the person to stop and they haven't, told them to stop and they won't, called them out and they don't care, it's time to report this behavior.

Telling an authority figure will likely mean someone steps in and protects you. There may be backlash, so don't be alone with that person. Stay strong.
