What should you do if you can’t agree on a baby name?

Cupid’s Advice:

The problem with choosing a baby name is that there’s no telling why some people like a name and others don’t. It’s all about opinion and feeling, which can make things difficult. Cupid’s got some things to consider:

1. Check out some books: Baby name books offer great suggestions for possible names and with thousands to choose from you and your significant other are bound to agree on one of them.

2. Ask your friends and family: If you and your significant other can’t seem to agree on a baby name maybe it’s time to turn to the ones you love and hear what they have to say. The more people you ask, the more options you will have and it will make making a decision that much easier.

3. Have a focus group: Ok, so maybe this isn’t the most reasonable option, but on the trailer for the new series “Pregnant in Heels”, Rosie Pope (a maternity concierge) set up a focus group for one of her client’s in order to choose a baby name. For a more realistic version of this, why not put a poll on Twitter or Facebook and see what feedback you get.

2. You're healthy: If you're a woman, depending on your age, the later you have a child, the more likely there will be complications at birth. Make sure you are healthy enough to carry a child in the first place.

3. Different strokes: The bottom line is, there's no age limit when it comes to having children. Some prefer to have them younger while others prefer to wait. Have children whenever you feel ready.

Should you name your child after a family member?

Cupid's Advice:

When choosing a baby name, you can go the traditional route and name your child after a family member, or you can come up with a totally new and different name. Cupid has some tips on how to know what name is right for your baby:

1. Keep it in the family: If there is someone really special to you in your family that you want to honor, name your child after a family member. Many people use their father or mother's names or reuse an old family name and make it new.

2. Use the middle name: Just because you don't choose a family name for your child's first name doesn't mean you can't still respect tradition. If you want, use a relative's name for your child's middle name.

3. Try something new: If you want to totally depart from traditional family names, go for it. Name your child after a song, an actor, a writer... or just pick a name you heard and liked.

2. Be honest: Lying to your kids is just wrong, especially in this scenario. It's best to let them deal with it for as long as possible before the big day arrives.

What are ways to keep family and friends from pressuring you to have a child?

Cupid's Advice:

Family pressure to have children can get overwhelming pretty quickly, so Cupid thought of a few ways for you to handle yourself in the situation:

1. Show: Without saying it, make it clear to your guests that you're simply not ready for a child. Reference work a lot so they realize a child doesn't fit well with your schedule, and let them see that the house isn't baby-proofed. Sometimes actions speak louder than words.

2. Tell: If they can't take the hint, it's time for a family meeting. With your spouse or partner by your side, very calmly explain to your family and friends that having kids is a huge decision, and it's not theirs to make. Tell them that the pressure is too much and reassure them that when you do make the decision, they'll be the first ones to know.

3. Consider: The most effective way to get rid of the pressure is to give into it. Sit down and have a serious talk with your partner to see if having a baby is something you want to do. Are you both emotionally, mentally and financially ready? If the answer is still 'no,' it will at least reassure your family that you've thought about it.

for each one can vary. Cupid has some tips on how to prepare for a baby boy versus a girl:

2. Baby boy themes: You want to design the nursery with your new baby boy in mind. Trucks, airplanes and trains are always safe picks for boy nursery decor. Dinosaurs and farm animals are also great choices.

3. Plan of action: Before your baby is born, make sure to discuss how you want to raise him. Put together a plan for how you're going to instill values (like how to treat women) in him.

What should you think about before having a child?

Cupid's Advice:

Bringing home a baby is one of the most exciting new chapters a relationship can take on. But before you and your partner decide to add on to your family, sit down and consider just what all goes into raising a child:

- 1. Cost: Not only are babies expensive, but the pregnancy and birth is as well. New clothes for your growing belly and a new room to furnish are two other factors, so there's a lot of preparation that goes into those nine months leading up to the birth.

2. New roles: After your maternity leaves ends, decide who will be the breadwinner and who will be the caretaker. Decide whether daycare is an option. Sometimes it is more convenient for the father to become a stay-at-home dad. Find out how he feels about that.

3. Values and morals: You and your husband may connect on every level and feel like you've discussed every topic there is, but bringing a child into the world will bring out a whole new slew of conversation starters. Come to a consensus about what values you will raise your children.

How can you deal with the pressure to start a family?

Cupid's Advice:

1. Analyze: You need to be sure of you and your partner's maturity, financial stability, and ambitions. Only commit to pregnancy when you and your partner are ready to devote 100 percent of your time to a new baby. Don't sacrifice your dreams of traveling the world just to please the in-laws.

2. Reality check: Not everybody is ready for a baby at 25. Your best friend who has been playing with dolls and babysitting since the age of 12 is probably more eager to start a family than you are. Follow Beyoncé's advice and only try for pregnancy when you are ready.

3. Don't rush: New advances in medicines and procedures, like in vitro fertilization, have made it easier for women to become pregnant later in life. Your doctor will help you to become pregnant whenever you wish for it. Don't race against any biological clock.

1. Support each other: At a time like this, you need to be a couple more than ever. No one can go through losing someone close to them alone. However, remember that everyone grieves differently. When one person may feel angry, the other may be deeply saddened. Pay attention to and respect the way your partner wants to grieve.

2. Kids come first: If you have other children, they are certainly feeling this loss, as well. Both partners must be strong for the other children and make them feel as secure as possible.

3. Moving on: Though the sadness surrounding the loss of a child never really goes away, it's important to celebrate and remember your child's life together as a family. A small memorial can be a wonderful reminder of the life they led, and the act of building a memorial can also be a great way to reconnect with your partner and family.

How soon is too soon to have a baby after marriage?

Cupid's Advice:

Plenty of people want to jump straight from marriage to children. The exact time frame depends on the couple, but there are certain things you should consider before making that decision:

1. Dating game: Couples who get married shortly after they start dating should take some serious time to have a relationship with each other before they have one with a child.

2. Age matters: For couples who marry young, as well as those who wait until later in life, should consider age when thinking about children. Talk to your doctor and get a professional opinion.

3. Talk it out: The biggest key is to know what you both want, both in terms of when to have the child, and how to raise it after its born. Do this before trying to have a baby – it's not something you want to have disagreements about when you've already brought a life into the world.

What can you do to prepare your child to be an older sibling?

Cupid’s Advice:

A new baby can take up most of your time, and it’s easy for older ones to feel left out. Here are some of Cupid’s ideas on preparing your child for a baby on the way:

- 1. Involvement: Keep your child involved by letting him or her help with baby preparations, like decorating their room, or picking out clothes.
- 2. Minimize jealousy: Don’t make too many changes to your child’s routine right before the baby is born. This might foster resentment towards their new sibling, as those changes will be associated with his or her birth.
- 3. Practice: Give your child an idea of what he or she has to look forward to by visiting friends or relatives who have infants.
