

David Arquette Celebrates Celebrity Wedding with Christina McLarty with Intimate Ceremony

By

Celebrity weddings are seen on gossip websites and magazines, and many of them are extravagant events with tons of well dressed A-listers gathered in an exotic location. But some Hollywood couples prefer to keep their ceremonies a bit more low-key. In the latest celebrity news from UsMagazine.com, famous couple David Arquette and Christina McLarty celebrated their celebrity wedding in Los Angeles this past Sunday, April 12. The newly married celebrity couple held an intimate nuptial ceremony in front of their families and closest friends. The couple got engaged in July of 2014, and have an 11 month old son, Charlie West.

There was no lack of intimacy in this celebrity wedding! What are some advantages to keeping your wedding small?

Cupid's Advice:

If you're not a millionaire or part of a Hollywood couple, a lavish and expensive wedding may be pretty difficult to pull off. Plus, small and intimate weddings definitely have their perks. Here is Cupid's advice for why you should keep your wedding small:

1. Save money for the honeymoon: Not only will your special day be more intimate, but cutting down on the cost of the wedding will allow for you and your significant other to splurge on an awesome romantic honeymoon. Spend a week soaking up the sun in Bora Bora, or explore a whole host of European cities while drinking expensive wine and feasting on the local cuisine.

2. Give your guests awesome wedding favors: It's the end of the wedding reception and you're saying your goodbyes, when the bride hands you a set of personalized coasters commemorating "Jessica & David's Everlasting Love," which will probably gather dust in a junk drawer at home. But having a smaller wedding will allow you to give your guests thoughtful and cool gifts they'll actually use. Wrap up the supplies for your guests to make a delicious cocktail, or gift them some beautifully scented candles in mason jars.

3. Have food that's actually delicious: You've probably been a guest at a wedding where the standard fare was dry and less than appetizing. Instead of serving your guests the regular steak, chicken, or fish options, a small wedding will allow you to feed your guests some really delicious and unique food. If you know that your guests like Japanese food, get a variety of sushi and sashimi and make a DIY sushi bar, or serve up some fancy mini sliders and french fries in paper cones.

We hear wedding bells! According to UsMagazine.com, David Arquette is soon-to-be a married man. The 42-year-old actor proposed to his girlfriend, Christina McLarty, while in Malibu on Wednesday, July 2nd. Just shy of a week ago, news broke that Arquette's ex-wife, Courteney Cox, announced her engagement to Snow Patrol's Johnny McDaid. A source reports the Scream star asked for the entertainment reporter's hand during a family dinner at the restaurant Mastro's Steakhouse with their 2-month old son, Charlie West, and Arquette and Cox's 10-year-old daughter, Coco. The insider also revealed Arquette had the proposal "planned it for a while" and has "known he wanted to marry Christina for a long time." Coincidental or not, the engagements between the former married couple are days apart. "David was just waiting for the right time," says another source, "He and Courteney both talked about taking the next step in their relationships ... They both want what's best for each other."

What are some ways to surprise your partner with a proposal?

Cupid's Advice:

Lately you have been thinking about getting on one knee and asking your love for their hand in marriage. Many ideas have crossed your mind, but you are unsure of how to keep it all a secret. Cupid has a few tips that will help:

1. Keep them out of the loop completely: The first thing to do is to keep your lips sealed. Do not disclose any information or clues that will leave your partner curious. Once they begin to think you are about to pop the question, the “surprise” is ruined. This also applies to anyone else who may be in on the game plan. Remember, secret is the keyword!

2. Act normal: Try not to be unusual – be yourself. If your soul mate starts to suspect you are up to something, they will begin to snoop until they find out what is going on.

3. Be creative: Ask the big question in a way they will not expect. Maybe put it in the local newspaper that they read every day, or at one of your most memorable places.

David Arquette Says Having a

Second Child Is 'Less Scary'

It can be pretty scary becoming a parent, but David Arquette reveals the second time around is much easier as he discusses preparing for the arrival of his baby boy. "I know I've done it once so there's not that fear that a first-time parent has because you just don't know what to expect," the actor told People after the TCAs panel at the Langham Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, California on Sunday. "Animals across the world have babies and they know how to take care of them instinctually. Us humans get so in our heads about it all but as soon as the baby comes it is just instinct." Although not as nervous, Arquette knows how much children can change his life, learning this from the arrival of his daughter Coco, now 9, with his ex-wife Courtney Cox. He is making sure to schedule his work around his girlfriend Christina McLarty's due date.

How do you prepare for a second child differently than your first?

Cupid's Advice:

Although preparing for your second child is less stressful regarding what to expect during the pregnancy, the labor process, and when you first bring your sweet baby home, there are some new things you'll have to prepare for now that you have another child around during this process:

1. Cherish your time with your first child: Although expanding your family is exciting, things will change and you will sometimes miss that special time as a threesome. So when preparing for the arrival of your second baby, make sure you take advantage of all the moments you can while it's just the 3 (or 2) of you.

2. Explaining the new addition to your first child: A card in the mail that says, "we're expecting!" simply won't do. Your little one is probably going to be wondering why mommy's belly is getting so big, so you'll have to explain, and be prepared for lots of questions. You'll also need to explain to your child how things will change when their little brother or sister is born. If your first child is old enough, they might need to be taught how to help out when the new baby is brought home.

3. Sharing your time and attention: When you bring home the first baby, they consume you; their every move and cry is attended to. But with a second baby, you have another child in the picture. They won't stop needing you simply because the new baby has a dirty diaper or needs to be fed. Whether it's working out a system with your partner, or hiring extra help, be prepared to figure out a way you can manage your time so both of your children are feeling the love.

What are some ways to cope with an unexpected pregnancy?

Cupid's Advice:

Getting pregnant can be a hard time for many couples, but dealing with an unplanned pregnancy can be even scarier. So how can you cope with an unplanned pregnancy? Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Don't give up: If you had other plans before you got pregnant, don't give up on your dreams. Take a moment to sit down with your partner and figure out a way that you both can follow your dreams with a baby in the picture. Keep telling yourself that everything will work out and it will.

2. Think positively: Stop thinking negatively about the situation and start thinking positively. Being negative will only add to your emotions and not in a positive way. Think about all the positive your baby will bring to your life and things should start looking up.

3. Talk to someone: Don't keep your emotions and feelings bottled up inside. Seek support from family and friends and talk about how you are feeling about the situation. Unplanned pregnancy can be a hard thing to deal with, but if you talk about how you are feeling with people who care about you things will get a lot easier.
