Sometimes, we get comfort out of our day-to-day relationship routine. However, in order to keep things fresh, it's important to take relationship risks. Below are a few pieces of relationship advice regarding ways you can take your relationship to the next level by taking risks:

1. Disagree with their opinion: Obviously, you don't want to disagree with everything your partner has to say. But, if you don't have the same view as they do on a big topic like politics, speak up. Nobody wants a partner that says "yes" all the time.

Dakota Meyer after all. While People.com reported that neither Sarah nor Bristol officially canceled the celebrity engagement, they did say that both Palin and Meyer families will be gathering in Kentucky to “celebrate life in general” on the date the official ceremony was supposed to take place.

Celebrity wedding no more! What are some reasons to call off your wedding?

While the celebrity engagement between Bristol Palin and Dakota Meyer didn't work out as planned, it's important to note that this isn't uncommon. Unfortunately, many relationships take a turn for the worst before the big day. Below are some reasons you might want to call off your wedding:

1. Cheating: Unfortunately, this isn't an obvious turnoff to some people. However, this is a huge, red flag, and there are deeper issues at hand. Call it off right away!

2. You're hoping they'll change: If you think that your partner will “settle down” or “become more mature” because they're married, think again. Someone's personality isn't going to change overnight just because they have a ring on their finger. Reevaluate what you expect from your partner.

Relationship Advice: 3 Reasons Not to Break Up Via Social Media

By Courtney Omernick

Relationships and love are never easy roads to navigate. However, when you know you've hit a dead end and it's time to move on, it's natural to feel scared at the prospect of taking a new path. Sometimes letting your significant other go via social media can seem like the ideal situation. But, it isn't the best option.

Cupid has a few pieces of relationship advice below as to why you should not break up via a social media channel.

1. It doesn't bring closure: The abrupt "we're over" via a Facebook or Twitter message feels impersonal. The person you're breaking up with is going to have some additional questions beyond 140 characters. They'll be able to find more closure if they're seeing and hearing your feelings rather than reading them via the internet.

2. It makes you look cowardly: It's been said that it's easier to express our feelings via the internet because the computer screen is a "wall" between us and the other person. Breaking up via social media makes you look like you'd rather hide behind a wall than confront your true feelings.

3. It shows that you don't care: Granted, if you're breaking up with them, you might not "care" about them anymore. However, breaking up via social media makes it seem like you would rather not treat the other person as a human being with actual feelings. If you're breaking up with them via social media, it gives off the vibe that you're just checking another item off of your "to do" list.
